Quick work by Police Chief Henry Filler resulted in the almost immediate arrest of a group of youths who tossed beer cans through windows on DePaul Street last week. Almost two hours after the incident the Chief had apprehended those responsible. They were made to pay the damages. It proves that with just a little public assistance our policemen can do a much more efficient job. Too often citizens withhold information from the police, which results in the detriment of their fellow citizens.

Face-lifting of local properties continues and several more Emmitsburg properties are under-going a face-lifting at this time. As you ride up and down our streets you can't help but notice the new paint jobs, aluminum siding, etc. It really stands out and it is a sign we are very happy to observe. Let's keep up the work, citizens, and in no time at all we'll have this old town looking spic and span. A little beautification is really an asset to our town.

Since Rainbow Lake has been opened to fishing by permission, many local residents are taking advantage of the opportunity. However, anglers report action there a trifle slow. We are wondering if the State could be persuaded to dump just a few decent size fish in the reservoir to make the action a bit more exciting. Don't forget, though, you MUST have a Town permit from the Chief of Police before you toss in a line. There is no charge for this permit.

For those of you who like your Chronicle early, it is obtainable at the Postoffice on Thursday evenings. People who have local boxes can pick up their favorite newspaper Thursday evening between 5 and 7 p. m. I understand that this pertains only to lockbox holders... all others must wait until Friday a.m.

The eyes of the world will focus on our fair State of Maryland this weekend. Just imagine, the World Series is to take place just about 50 miles away from dear ole Emmitsburg! I suppose more people from Emmitsburg will attend the World Series this year than ever before... and why shouldn't they? Maryland sure is getting national publicity over its sports teams what with the Champion Colts and our beloved Orioles. Let's go you Birds!

Our local squirrel season opens today and soon it'll be rabbits, etc. The season can bring a lot of pleasure to many individuals and families but at the same time it can bring disaster and harm. Be mighty careful, you hunters, and also respect the rights of local property-owners. The land belongs to them and it is through them that you are allowed to hunt at all, so why not respect the landowners' rights. Hunting ground is getting scarcer every year so it wouldn't be a bad idea to cultivate the friendship of those good people who do permit you to hunt on their premises. Happy hunting!

Firemen Thank Scouts For Work

Fire Chief Guy R. McGlaughlin, in behalf of the Vigilant Hose Co., was loud in praise of the local Boy Scouts who went into the streets Wednesday evening and asked residents to plan home fire drills in observance of Fire Prevention Week.

The firemen thank the Scouts for their community work and commended them for the excellent job they did. The Scouts, about 40, uniformed, went from door-to-door and made personal contact with the local families.

Card Party

Plans for a Card Party have been announced by St. Joseph's High School Alumni. The affair will be held on October 23, in the Fire Hall, starting at 8 p.m.

Admission to the event will be 50c per person and nice prizes will be offered. On sale during the party will be refreshments and delicious baked products.

Mount To Honor Senator Mathias; Msgr. O'Donnell

U. S. Senator Charles McC. Mathias of Maryland and Monsignor Joseph P. O'Donnell of Reading, Pa., will be honored by the Mount Saint Mary's College National Alumni Association next week during the college's annual alumni Homecoming.

Senator Mathias will be awarded the Dubois Medal, named for the college's founder, "in recognition of his constant service for the advancement of mankind in his community, state and nation."

Monsignor O'Donnell will be given the Brute Medal "for distinguished service by an alumnus."

Between 400 and 500 graduates and their wives are expected to attend Homecoming at the college.

Priest alumni will assemble on campus on Thursday, Oct. 16 and hold a banquet followed by a business meeting starting at noon on Friday, Oct. 17.

Priests will be joined by laymen at the Grotto on the mountainside overlooking the campus at 4:30 p.m. on Friday for benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. Later in the evening there will be a President's reception followed by seafood smorgasbord in the Student Union Building.

The annual business meeting of the National Alumni Association is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. on Saturday, October 18. The medals will be awarded to Senator Mathias and Monsignor O'Donnell at the banquet that evening.

Homecoming weekend will be concluded with Mass and brunch on Sunday morning.

This is the citation that will be read in connection with the Dubois Medal award to Senator Mathias:

"The times in which we live have shown us many things. Assuredly one of these is the increasing need for men who have the courage of their convictions. The National Alumni Association of Mount Saint Mary's College takes extreme pleasure in honoring just such a man.

"We honor a humble man of many talents who has for twenty years been a member of the Maryland Bar Association and has for the past fifteen years involved himself in the responsibilities of the United States Supreme Court Bar.

"With national service as the backbone of his activities, he now emerges as an outstanding son of the state of Maryland who has exhibited leadership, integrity, and perceptive insight on both the state and national levels.

"Having served in the House of Delegates, victorious in Congressional elections, he comes to us today, a United States Senator. Active on many committees, he has been a leader in shaping civil rights legislation. He has been active in advancing legislation to improve law-enforcement and to combat organized crime."

Monsignor O'Donnell, a member of the Mount Saint Mary's College Board of Trustees and pastor of St. Peter's Church in Reading, Pa., will be cited as follows when presented the Brute Medal:

"The world belongs to those who give it hope. This evening we give recognition to a distinguished Mountaineer who stands as a beacon of hope in a world darkened by suffering and man's forgetfulness of his own dignity.

"Mount Saint Mary's College and Seminary was the scene of his spiritual and intellectual formation and in 1935 this man was elevated to the Priesthood, thus enabling him to enjoy deep and meaningful relationships as a priest among men. He returned to the Transforming Words of Life and received a Licentiate Degree in Sacred Scripture, a key to a fuller penetration of the mysteries of life.

With a self-consuming zeal he has shared his priesthood as a faculty member of his Alma Mater and St. Joseph College. When the responsibility of Rector of Mount Saint Mary's Seminary was placed upon his shoulders his influence as a man of hope touched thousands. In recognition of his scholarship he was elected President of the Catholic Biblical Association of America during 1950. At present, he continues his role as the instrument of God in the pastorate of St. Peter's Parish, Reading, Pennsylvania.

"His life is rooted in God and when he sees the dreams of his fellow men fall one by one he is able to stand and tell them of a life called the Divine Life which never fails and is all embracing."

Then there was the man who was for free trade because he thought it meant that he wouldn't have to pay for the goods he got.

Local Fire Unit Outperforms All Others

Several thousand persons lined Fairfield's streets Sunday to see the parade which officially opened the observance of Fire Prevention Week and later moved on to the firemen's grounds to watch the contests and demonstrations by fire departments from the area.

The Special Hook-up contest was won by the Emmitsburg firemen who completed the hook-up in 24 1/2 seconds. Biglerville came in second with 26 seconds; third place was a tie between Fairfield and Pennville at 29 seconds. The tied companies had a run-off in which Fairfield triumphed to become the third-place winner and Pennville was placed fourth. Fifth place went to the Littlestown firemen.

The Bucket Brigade contestants were divided into teams from two fire companies competing against each other. York Springs triumphed over Pennville, Emmitsburg over East Berlin, Fairfield over Biglerville and Brushtown over Abbottstown. Emmitsburg again copped the first place spot by completing their bucket passing in 27 1/2 seconds. York Springs was second, Brushtown third, and Fairfield fourth.

Even the ladies got into the act. Wives of the Fairfield drill team did a fast hook-up in 47 1/2 seconds and drew much applause from the audience.

Among other special events was a hose-laying demonstration by East Berlin firemen who attempted to lay 400 feet of hose in one minute.

Abbottstown firemen gave a demonstration in which they "rescued" a victim from a smoke-filled hotel room after the "victim" started a fire by smoking in bed. Artificial respiration was given after the rescue and the York Springs ambulance was called but the "patient" was lost.

A Littlestown fireman gave a demonstration of the new type of foam used in fire-fighting.

The parade was led by the Emmitsburg Municipal Band and their twirlers, followed by Miss Nancy Nelson of Biglerville, the Adams County Fire Queen. Fire companies which participated in the parade were from East Berlin; Fountaindale, with their queen; Emmitsburg, with Smokey the Bear who made a hit with the children by handing out buttons; Cashtown; Gettysburg Junior Firemen; Blue Ridge; York Springs, with their queen; Abbottstown, with their queen; New Oxford and their queen; Littlestown; Arendtsville and their queen; Pennville; McSherrystown; Brushtown; Kingsdale; Irishtown and Bendersville.

Registration will end this evening (Friday) at Sperry Ford Sales.

The contest will get under way promptly at 2 p.m. and is expected to draw a host of local youngsters. County Sells Over $5 Million In Bonds

The money from the $5.5 million bond sale by Frederick County is earmarked for eight projects in the county school system, and the amounts allocated to each vary greatly.

The estimates for the projects were provided by the Board of Education, and, minus $400,000 in state aid for one of the items, the total comes to over $5.8 million. State aid for the other facilities is not realized in this total.

The estimates, which will change greatly or not much at all depending on construction cost rises and the costs of equipping the facilities, are for the Thurmont Middle School, Green Valley Elementary School, Linganore High School addition, East Frederick addition, Rock Creek Center, Urbana school addition, Myersville school, and renovation of old schools.

The estimates show Thurmont will cost $140,000; Green Valley, $1,100,000; Linganore High addition, $1,400,000; East Frederick, $275,000; Rock Creek Center, $1,800,000; Urbana addition, $175,000; Myersville, $900,000; and renovation of old schools, $500,000.

The total, as added up, shows $6,290,000, but $400,000 of it will come off due to state aid for the Linganore High vocational-technical center addition to the school.

The amount of state aid for the other projects, which will drop the figure down into the coverage of the $5.5 million bond sale, has not been determined for all projects.

Rev. Carl J. Fives was named Knight of the Year at Saturday's annual banquet held by Brute Council 1860, Knights of Columbus, at the Cozy Restaurant, Thurmont. Father Fives is the Council's chaplain, and expressed his gratification at the honor extended him at the regular meeting of the Council held Monday evening, Grand Knight Eugene R. Rosensteel presiding.

A letter from the local CYO was read asking for volunteer chaperones at CYO affairs. A thank-you note from Rev. Charles G. Stouter, C.M., and Mrs. Jesse Best were read. A letter of resignation from M. D. Gilligan, State Master of the Fourth Degree, was read and was effective immediately. A request from the United Appeal was read and a contribution was authorized as well as a $25 donation to the Emmitsburg Community Fund. The Council approved purchase of an advertisement in St. Joseph's High School yearbook.

The Grand Knight announced that a District Mass will be celebrated in Pangborn Council, Hagerstown, on Nov. 5, and named George L. Danner as chairman to arrange a group to attend the Mass.

Carl A. Wetzel reported on the recent crab feast and also the Knight of Year Banquet held last Saturday. He reported both highly successful events. Paul A. Keepers, chairman of the readmissions and admissions night held Sept. 28, reported the event a success. The Council voted to hold an Open House on November 16. The Grand Knight asked that as many members as possible be present to help with the Pass, Punt and Kick Contest which it is co-sponsoring this Saturday afternoon.

The social action chairman, Leonard Gmeiner, announced that another visit of his group to Victor Cullen School has been scheduled for October 19 and asked as many members as possible to attend. New members voted into the Council were Rev. John E. Hurley and Rev. Harry T. Kuhn. The Council authorized the purchase of a record player for the new Day Care Center located in the former Mother Seton School.

Attend Wedding

Mrs. Genevieve R. Elder, Mrs. William C. Smith, and Miss Lynn Ann Paidakovich, Silver Spring, attended the wedding of John Carroll Elder, Jr., to Miss Patricia Marie White at St. Cyril's of Alexandria Church, Pittsburgh, Pa., on Saturday, Sept. 27.

Mr. Elder is the son of the late J. Carroll Elder and Mrs. Catherine Elder.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Oster, Emmitt Gardens, have returned home from a week's visit with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. David Cummings, Smyrna, Georgia. They were accompanied by their son, Richard, Jr., who was recently discharged from the U. S. Marine Corps.

Town Council Meets; Routine Business Handled

Several local residents were present and asked various questions at the regular monthly meeting of the Burgess and Commissioners of Emmitsburg, held in the Town Office Monday evening. Mayor Robert A. Seidel presided in the absence of the Chairman of the Board who is hospitalized at this time.

Mrs. Frank Shuff and Mrs. Albert McCleaf asked the Council what water rates were charged while private residents were accepting roomers. Mrs. Helen McNair, in behalf of the Senior Citizens Club, asked the Town for a donation to help maintain the Center on the Square. Sterling Goulden called the Town's attention to the storm water that traverse his property on School Lane and the Town ordered a drain pipe installed to alleviate the condition. Mrs. Ralph Valentine also stated that storm drain and surface water was creating a problem on her property in Emmitt Gardens. The Town took the matter under advisement.

Mr. Thomas Fogle, Thurmont, was present and asked the Town for financial assistance to purchase band and athletic uniforms for Catocin High School, Thurmont. He stipulated an amount of $500. A motion to pay the money was made but was failed to be seconded and the matter was dropped.

Patrick B. Boyle was present and asked the Town Council as to the exact number of water meters it planned to install and what the actual cost would be. He also questioned the authority of the Council to spend such an amount of money when it was not included in the Town's budget. His question raises the legality of such an expenditure until it is included in the annual budget.

The financial report prepared by the Town Clerk, Mrs. Regina Rybikowsky, was approved and accepted. In an effort to discourage littering and loitering, Council voted to have a street light installed on DePaul Street near the church rectory grounds.

Police Chief W. Henry Filler presented his monthly report and asked Council for permission to remove all old unused cars from Lincoln Avenue. He also reported that new tires were needed for the police cruiser and Council ordered that a new set be ordered from Keepers Ezzo Service, at this time. Council authorized Sperry Ford Sales and the Knights of Columbus to use Community Field to promote the Pass, Punt and Kick Contest this Saturday. A donation of $50 was authorized for the local Community Fund.

The Council approved the auditor's monthly report and discussed the Town's Christmas decorations, some of which need repairing. It was decided to have a decoration company representative present at the next meeting to discuss present needs and possibly order some replacements.

Couple Uninjured In Car Mishap

A Rockville couple escaped injury when an unknown hit and run motorist forced their Cadillac off Route 15 three miles south of Emmitsburg about 4:15 Sunday afternoon. Their vehicle went down a 30-foot embankment.

Frederick State Police said they are seeking a couple operating a 1966 red Pontiac. Police said that Rosemary West Lavbach, 41, was in the act of passing the south-bound hit and run auto, when the driver of the other auto attempted to pull into the passing lane, striking the Lavbach car and causing it to veer off the east side of the highway where it ran down the embankment.

Mrs. Lavbach and her husband, Maynard Leroy Lavbach, were not injured. Damage was estimated at $600 to their 1965 convertible.

Frederick County Backgrounds

BY SAMUEL CARRICK
More Tom's Creek Families

In the historical and genealogical survey of Tom's Creek Presbyterian churchyard there are several rows of rather ancient grave stones that stand out as being among the oldest and most interesting in this burial ground.

Included among this particular group are those of the Heugh and Bigham families. The inscriptions follow:

1. In memory of John Heugh, died April 26, 1822, aged 57 years and the 30th year of his married state.

2. In memory of Anne Heugh consort of John Heugh, a native of Scotland, died November 10, 1847. Note: These are the only two markers erected to the memory of the Hough family to be found in this burial ground. At one time, an earlier day, there may have been others which are no longer to be found. Anne Hough, wife of John, was a "born Scot" and her husband was probably a "first generation American."

There is a tradition that John Hough, as a very young man, took part in the War of the American Revolution during its latter stages. Although no record of his service can be found it is possible that he did take part in the conflict, for records at that time were, in the main, badly kept, if at all.

The four Bigham graves are located next to that of William McCreary. The inscriptions are as follows:

3. In memory of Margaret Bigham, died Oct. 13, 1739, aged 70 years.

4. In memory of Robert Bigham, died Nov. 25, 1798, aged 89 years.

5. Sacred to the memory of James Snodgrass, died May 6, 1794, aged 30 years.

6. In memory of William Bigham, died May 9, 1829, aged 72 years.

Note: From the dates and ages on these tombstones it would appear that Margaret Bigham was the mother of Robert Bigham who is buried beside her. William Bigham, in his turn, was probably the son of Robert Bigham. Just where the Snodgrass names come into the picture is not known but apparently there is a relationship, for James Snodgrass is interred between Robert and William Bigham. It will also be noticed, that with one exception, all members of this clan died in the eighteenth century.

It is interesting to note that the Bighams were early settlers in the Marsh Creek Settlement in what is now Adams County, Pa. They have an old gravestone in the Upper Marsh Creek Presbyterian cemetery with the family coat-of-arms cut thereon. They were Scots from the North of Ireland and came to America in the early part of the eighteenth century. They settled on the then far western frontier. Like all of their race they were good pioneers and helped to lay "a firm foundation."

The Munro, another family of Scotch descent, is buried next to the Houghs. The inscriptions follow:

7. In memory of Isabella Munro, born May 7, 1749, died August 12, 1846.

8. In memory of Robert G. Munro, born Nov. 3, 1769, died Nov. 3, 1823.

9. In memory of Isabella Munro, born Nov. 1780, died Aug. 31, 1823.

Note: One thing is certain, Isabella Munro, Junr., was the daughter of the Isabella Munro, born 1749 and died in 1846. It is hardly likely that Robert G. Munro was the husband and father, for he was some 19 years younger than the senior Isabella. Again, there may have been other grave-stones in this plot which would have helped clarify matters—but if so—they have long since disappeared, thanks to time and vandals.

The early Pattersons are represented at Tom's Creek with five comparatively old graves, as follows:

10. In memory of George Patterson, died April 9, 1850, aged 75 years.

11. In memory of Matthew Patterson, died March 27, 1851, aged 80 years.

12. In memory of Elizabeth Snitzel, died July 4, 1857, aged 47 years.

13. Sacred to the memory of William Patterson, son of George M. and L. Patterson, died Jan. 21, 1861, aged 1 month.

14. In memory of Lydia Patterson, mother, died March 19, 1880, aged 81 years, 9 months and 2 days.

Note: The last inscription obviously marked the grave of Lydia, the wife of George Patterson and the mother of William Patterson, who lived but one brief month.

The other Patterson inscriptions present somewhat of a puzzle—they do not appear to fit together. That all belong to one family is apparent, for they are interred in the same plot. At this time there is no additional data.

It is interesting to note that Pattersons, of a later generation, also are interred at Tom's Creek, thus preserving the family tradition of the "kirk and burial ground."

The McKees, also of Scotch descent, have their burial plot just a little distance away from that of the Pattersons—in the same row of graves. There are only three stones bearing that name.

15. "In memory of John W. (?) McKee, died November (7), 1804, aged 88 years. Note: The inscription on the gravestone of John W. McKee, is badly worn and in parts, indecipherable.

16. In memory of Thomas McKee, died Sept. 20, 1843, aged 88 years.

17. In memory of Susanna McKee, wife of Thomas McKee, died May 9, 1846, aged 72 years.

Note: Again a Marsh Creek Settlement tie must be noted. There are members of this clan buried in the Upper Marsh Creek Presbyterian graveyard (Black's) and they too, can boast of a coat-of-arms. It would appear, in comparing the dates and names, that the McKees of Tom's Creek Hundred came to Maryland from what is now Adams County, Pa.

There is no further data on the McKee clan to be given at this time.

Next week the Hayes and other old families buried at Tom's Creek Presbyterian churchyard will be included in this series. The Murdocks, represented by only one gravestone, located in the center of the plot, will also be among "those present."

Mexican Horses To Be In Show

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Mexico, scene of the colorful 1968 Olympic games, has entered a crack team of riders and horses in the Washington International Horse Show scheduled for its eleventh edition at the D. C. National Guard Armory from Monday, October 27 thru Sunday, November 2.

Horse show leaders, headed by President Austin Kiplinger, announced with considerable joy and pride the official word from Mexico City that a six-man equestrian team, captained by the talented Lt. Col. Alberto Valdez Ramos, would hurl its challenge at the American squad and those from other countries in the many international jumper classes.

Foremost among the classic jumping events will be the President's Cup, won the past four years by the United States, and the General Dwight D. Eisenhower Memorial Perpetual Trophy, to be placed in competition for the first time this season.

If the Shoe Fits...

Will foot health be improved by talking about it?

In a way yes, I would not say that mere talk has reduced the death rate caused by tuberculosis, but I do believe that the educational program of the Tuberculosis Association has saved many lives by uprooting the old custom of labeling tuberculars "Consumptives" and shutting them up to die.

Talk will not cure cancer either but discussing early signs of the disease will lead to many early diagnoses and cures.

I believe that this decade will be known in health education history as the most productive in foot health thinking in three hundred years because modern young parents are studying the subject and discussing what they read. Bunions, hammer toes, corns, callouses and even a large percentage of weak-foot are rooted in ignorance which cannot withstand the light of intelligent discussion.

Public Relations Chairman

Professor To Lecture At St. Joseph College Monday

Dr. Robert L. Beisner, Associate Professor of History at American University, will present a public lecture Monday evening, October 13, at St. Joseph College, entitled "The Philippines, Vietnam and the American People: 1898 and Asia Today: A Parallell for Dissent."

He will be the guest of Dr. Thomas M. Leonard, chairman of the Department of History and Government at St. Joseph, and will witness the initiation of two St. Joseph students into the Kappa Sigma Chapter of Phi Alpha Theta, the International History Honor Society. Dr. Beisner also is a member of Phi Alpha Theta in addition to his being a Phi Beta Kappa.

Senior Judith Rulewich, Hagerstown, Md., and Junior Deborah Houston, Washington, D. C., will become members of the society at a dinner preceding the lecture with Sister Margaret Hughes, Academic Dean, Dr. Beisner, Dr. Leonard, and chapter members Suzanne McKenna and Katherine Fitz.

A native of Nebraska, Dr. Beisner earned his masters degree and Ph.D. at the University of Chicago, where he later taught social sciences before becoming an instructor in History at Colgate University. He joined the American University in 1965.

His book, "Twelve Against Empire: The Anti-Imperialists, 1898-1900," published in 1968, won the John H. Dunning Prize of the American Historical Association that year.

Also in 1968-69 he was the recipient of a National Endowment for the Humanities Fellowship and an American Philosophical Society Grant. In 1966 his doctoral dissertation won the Allan Nevins Prize of the Society of American Historians.

Dr. Beisner has written a total of 16 book reviews for the American Historical Review, the Journal of Modern History, The Journal of American History and The Washington Star. Additional works have been published in the New England Quarterly, American Heritage, The Baltimore Sun and The Historian. In November 1968, The Washington Star published his article, "Betting on the Presidential Outcome? A Few Tips," and American Heritage soon will publish his article, "Elbert Hubbard: The Messenger from East Aurora."

"My, it was a pleasant surprise when I took my Farmers and Mechanics National Bank Savings Account Passbook to their Emmitsburg Office on October 1st and had interest added for the third quarter of 1969. It seems like such a short time that I opened my Savings Account and with 4% interest per annum, compounded quarterly, savings really grow pretty fast."

HIDDEN HAZARDS OF TV ANTENNAS

Electrical shock is a "killer." This "killer" most often strikes when least expected and takes many forms. One of the more potentially hazardous, yet familiar, of these forms is a television antenna.

Increasing in popularity, novice-installed TV antennas can make the inauspicious claim of taking many lives. This is due primarily to carelessness, lack of knowledge, or both. Whatever the cause, this useless waste of life should be eliminated.

Power lines probably offer the most significant hazard to novice-installed antennas, for a careless move can result in instant death. Even a qualified technician can make the fatal mistake of contacting one of these deadly lines. Therefore, if you are a novice, use all possible caution, but preferably, use a technician who knows what he is doing.

Surprisingly enough, a vast number of persons still believe a television antenna acts as a lightning rod and protects the house. These people couldn't be more wrong. Being the highest point on a house, the antenna does attract lightning bolts, but, without a proper ground, a charge can sidflash and cause a fire or blow-off part of the roof, siding or chimney.

Every antenna mast should be well grounded in strict accordance with the National Electrical Code. This code calls for metallic connections to run at least 8 feet into the ground. Current leakage into the TV set is another apparent grounding problem and is reduced by an antenna discharge unit with the two lead-in wires grounded through this unit.

Many people believe that appliances should not be touched during an electrical storm. They are half-right, for lightning charges are capable of entering appliances through power lines. To prevent this entrance, a device called a lightning protector is used. Such a device acts similar to a fuse but will not "blow" as a fuse does. Perhaps a lightning protector's biggest advantage is that it allows appliances such as radio or television to operate safely during storms. But beware, a protector is not 100% guaranteed and current could manage to leak through. All in all, it's wise to refrain from touching any appliance while lightning persists.

If, after reading this column, you still must install your own antenna, remember these two basic things which may save your life. Stay away from power lines, and always use a proper ground for antenna and lead-in wires.

U.S. Trade Policy

Every man, woman, and child in Maryland has an interest in the foreign trade which is conducted by the United States. I have requests from Cumberland, for example, for assistance in moving the products of that area to foreign markets and this has a very direct relationship to the payrolls in Cumberland. I have appeals from various industries which are threatened by foreign goods entering American markets and seek protection. I am constantly in touch with the city administration of Baltimore and with the officials of the great Port of Baltimore which depends for its continued vitality on an increased flow of goods both into and out of the United States through the Port facilities there.

Our international balance of payments, the stability of our gold supply—all of these things hinge on the health and vigor of American trade and the policies which govern it. The sad fact is that our trade with other nations is not in a very healthy state. We are running a deficit in international trade. We're not selling enough American goods abroad, and we have to find ways to return to our traditional and historic position as one of the great producers for the markets of the world rather than running in the red in our commercial dealings. Because of these problems, I have introduced a joint resolution to establish a Presidential Commission to report on American trade and tariff practices and policies. I know of no single area of our national economic life where there is a greater need for this kind of study to determine all of the results which flow from present tariff policies and practices, both of the United States and of our trading partners.

In 1962, when I was a Member of the House of Representatives, we passed the Trade Expansion Act, which was designed to establish a trade program which would be in the best international and domestic interests of the United States. Since that time agreements have been negotiated under the Act. But, unfortunately, since 1962 there has also been constant controversy and bickering on all sides of these issues, from those who seek a greater liberalization of trade and from those who want higher tariff barriers.

In this Congress, and in the last several Congresses, a great number of bills have been introduced which, in one way or another, would reduce the flow of imported goods available to American consumers. At the same time that some interests are seeking to restrict imports, others tell us that industry and Government alike can do a great deal more by way of expanding United States exports abroad. The arguments on both sides are frequently persuasive. But, all too often, we are asked to take a position in the field of trade and tariffs in the almost complete absence of hard facts as to what has resulted from our present programs and what will result if we either increase or decrease tariff barriers, or embark on a really intensive export exchange program.

The Commission I am proposing will call upon some of this country's best qualified leaders, both in and out of Government, who will, first, develop and report the facts and second, advocate future courses of action, including legislation, if necessary, and new government and private initiatives. Our purpose will be to make the American economy healthier, to protect American payrolls, to make our role in international commerce the historic and traditional American position of being one of the great suppliers to the markets of the world. I hope that the Congress will endorse this resolution, that the President will appoint this Commission, and that we will look forward to a healthier American economy as a result.

What joy and triumph, after all, to be sincerely honored by the ones we loved

Tips From Mr. Eginuity

Preparing Outdoor Power Equipment For Winter Storage, Or Winter Chores

Proper servicing of outdoor gasoline engine powered equipment should be done at regular intervals, if you intend to get the most benefits from your investment. Fast starts, a smooth-running engine, a well-maintained lawn or productive garden, and long operating life are worth it—don't you think? Now, here are a few timely tips on what you at least should do before the snow flakes fly. First, if you have equipment that permits use of various attachments, and you will be hooking up a snowplow or snow blowing attachment, you should get your equipment to a servicing dealer now for a complete check-out. It is especially important that this servicing dealer be completely familiar with the make of your engine. You'll find him listed in your Telephone Book "Yellow Pages" under the heading of "Engines—Gasoline". For those of you with a power mower you won't be using until next Spring, it is equally economy-wise to have your servicing dealer take a good look-see before storing. By doing it now, you'll gain two big advantages. Your mower will be ready to roll as soon as the first blades of new grass sprout next year. Also, you won't get caught in the "it-happens-every-Spring" servicing traffic jam. Give yourself and your dealer a break. Get your mower serviced now, and then take these steps prior to storage. 1. Completely drain fuel from engine to prevent gum deposits from forming on vital carburetor parts, fuel filter, and in fuel lines and tank. Check your owner's manual on how to do it right. 2. Next drain your carburetor and crankcase lubrication oil according to the procedures discussed in your owner's manual. 3. Remove spark plug. Pour recommended type oil, in the amount suggested in your manual, into cylinder through plug opening. Crank engine slowly with spark plug removed to distribute oil over cylinder walls. Once preceding is accomplished, install new spark plug ready for next year's use.

5. Clean all grass accumulation from underside of mower.

6. Clean air filter per your owner's manual.

7. Check blade condition. Replace bent or badly out-of-balance blades that could damage engine. Might as well start next season with a sharp blade.

8. To prevent rusting, cover all bare metal parts with grease, such as the edge of the cutting blade.

You've noticed we have referred you to your owner's manual a number of times.

Sponsors Hearing Aid Course

Growing public interest in hearing aids and the search for solutions to hearing problems has prompted the creation of a new course at New York City Community College, entitled "Hearing Aid Dispensing." The National Hearing Aid Society has donated educational materials and textbooks for the course, taught by NHAS official Alfred R. Dunlavy, New York City, (above, right).

Raymond Z. Rich, president of NHAS, explains that the course has been designed to educate persons interested in hearing problems and the use of hearing aids. Study included proper fitting of hearing aids, and the evaluating of their effectiveness. Technical aspects of hearing aids, such as circuitry, frequency responses, sound physics, and ear anatomy were also covered to provide a comprehensive view of the subject.

The inauguration of the college course is only part of the NHAS efforts to accommodate the public need for information about the hearing field. The Society has recognized the importance of reaching the many hearing handicapped persons in the country who are reluctant to seek corrective help.

Over 60,000 copies of the popular NHAS booklet "How to Choose the Right Hearing Aid for You" have been distributed in the last few years. The booklet answers the most commonly asked questions about hearing aids and hearing aid dealers. Such questions as, "If I wear a hearing aid will I become too dependent on it?", "Can I wear a hearing aid that cannot be seen?", and "How can I make sure that I choose a reputable hearing aid dealer?" It also features a special section explaining how to determine if there is a hearing loss, and what can be done about it.

Rich indicated that a new, updated edition of the booklet is coming off the press. It will cover much material included in earlier editions, but with special attention to current problems and solutions. A free copy of "How to Choose the Right Hearing Aid for You" may be obtained by contacting any local NHAS member or by writing National Hearing Aid Society, 24261 Grand River Avenue, Detroit, Michigan 48219.

Positive Identification To Credit Cards

Ask any banker, and he's likely to tell you that within ten years your cash and even your checkbook may be obsolete.

Cash purchases are rapidly becoming a thing of the past, and banking experts predict that the day is not far off when virtually all of your purchases will be made with credit cards or their electronic equivalents.

But the advent of the check-less-cashless society and the popularity explosion of credit cards of every type, particularly bank cards, has created many problems for both the average consumer and bankers alike — specifically in the area of fraud.

Many banks launching credit card programs issue cards unsolicited from mailing lists or customer lists owned or purchased by the individual bank. The recipient is given the opportunity either to destroy the card on receipt or accept and use it.

Therein lies the problem. Regardless of his decision, the recipient faces a strong possibility that the card bearing his name will be lost or stolen; that his signature will be forged; and that purchases will be made with the card. This fraudulent use of credit cards has exploded into a multi-million dollar business in recent years.

Many states have adopted legislation absolving the intended recipient of an unsolicited credit card from any liability prior to his acceptance of the card. However, most of these statutes do not relieve the cardholder of at least a minimum liability if the card is lost or stolen and used prior to his notifying the issuing bank.

Even if the holder gets off, the bank bears any losses. There's a simple, inexpensive solution to the problem — one which provides positive identification for the cardholder as well as security to banks and merchants. And it's being adopted by hundreds of banks throughout the country which are affiliated with the nation's two largest bank credit card programs, BankAmericard and Master Charge.

Shown here are the front and back of the new photo bank credit card being issued to millions of BankAmericard and Master Charge cardholders throughout the country. The new card produced in 60 seconds with the Polaroid ID-2 Land Identification System makes it virtually impossible for anyone other than the actual cardholder to use the card.

The solution makes fraudulent use of credit cards virtually impossible by guaranteeing that the user is actually the authorized card holder. This has been accomplished by incorporating a maximum-security identification card, complete with color photograph of the bearer into the standard credit card. The front of the new BankAmericard and Master Charge cards appears no different from standard cards, but the photo ID card is sealed to the back.

The new BankAmericards and Master Charge cards are produced in two minutes, while the customer waits, using the Polaroid ID-2 Land Identification System. All the customer has to do is come into the bank, fill out an application and pose in front of the Polaroid ID camera. Sixty seconds later he can see his finished photo ID card. Both the bank and cardholder benefit from this innovation since a merchant can tell at a glance whether the person using the card is the one to whom it was issued. Should the card be stolen or lost it is worthless in the hands of anyone other than the person to whom it was issued.

The security of the Polaroid photo ID card is so highly regarded that five states in the U. S. are using the ID-2 System to produce their driver's licenses; the Department of Defense and many other government agencies are using the instant color ID cards for area access control, and hundreds of industrial concerns throughout the country have adopted the system for employee ID cards and badges.

However, the most important testimonial, is that not a single incident of fraud has been reported by any of the banks issuing instant photo BankAmericards or Master Charge cards.

"Revolution and Education."
 "What we have to realize above all else, is that our enemy, and that which we in fact are struggling against is not an individual college president or high school principal, or a board of regents or the board of education, but it's the entire social structure, we're struggling against the capitalist system . . ."
 "The process of breaking out of a set of social arrangements, of a social organization that is killing us, this process is named revolution: we are revolting and rebelling and moving against a system that is our enemy . . . (Note: Much of the press still calls this "student unrest.")"
 "In order to transform the American social order, we have to destroy the present structure of power in the United States; we have to overthrow the government . . . So we're out to destroy this, to smash this machinery and to erect new machinery, but new machinery cannot be erected until the present machinery is destroyed." (student unrest?)
 "Violent Overthrow"
 "It is not the task of revolutionaries to keep their heads up in the sky, wondering about what they would do, when they're in power; what they have to do at the present time is to have their mind centered on destruction, we're out to destroy the present machinery of the ruling class; that is our task and that's what we must be about. And we say that we will do this by any means necessary. We must do this by the only means possible, because the only means possible is the means that's necessary, and the only means possible is the violent overthrow of the machinery of the oppressive ruling class. (student unrest?)

 "We must destroy their institutions from which they derive their power . . . we must not get into a bag of thinking that we're involved in a game; a revolution is not a game; it is a war. We're involved in a war (student unrest?) — a people's war against those who oppress the people and this is the war in the clearest sense of the word."
 Focal Point: Campuses
 Cleaver clearly rejects the call, voiced by Stokely Carmichael, for an all-Black revolution. He sets forth the plan which the Communist agents in America have pushed for decades: "Black people, Mexican - Americans, Puerto Ricans, Indians, Eskimos, virtually every ethnic group including poor white people and also middle class college students—we find ourselves in the position where our lives are manipulated and controlled by those who have advantaged social position . . . Today, as always, the struggle of the exploited people within the United States is taking place on all fronts, but the most sensational and explosive clashes are being centered and focused more and more on the college campus and on the high school campuses."

 This is precisely what highly qualified intelligence men, from government agencies, Congressional investigating committees, and metropolitan police departments throughout the nation told the McClellan Committee: "We are faced, on campuses and in the streets, with armed revolution; it is serious; it is a part of the international Communist plan; it is growing, worsening . . . it is virtually unchallenged." The press coverage was encouraging but still wholly inadequate. The fact about the armed revolution under way in the United States are the most important facts in our world today—for every American. Yet, these facts were censored out of many influential papers, were downplayed in most of the others. Television covered only a few dramatic highlights. America generally continues to hide its head from the clear and present danger. Will we open our eyes in time?

The Revolutionaries' Bugle

Eldridge Cleaver, Black Panther leader, a convicted felon hiding out in Communist Cuba to escape return to the California penitentiary, has surfaced long enough in print to restate the revolutionary goals of all the revolutionary gangs and organizations now operating in our country. In The Black Panther newspaper he sends up from Castro's Communist guerrilla warfare training center a 4,000 word article embracing the Communist ideology as set forth by V. I. Lenin, father of 20th Century Communism.

Cleaver has become the oracle for most of the revolutionary groups—a theoretician glorified no less than Che Guevara (the guerrilla tactician), Mao Tse-tung (the political activist) and Ho Chi Minh (master organizer of "people's" war). His long article is a Communist call for the overthrow of the United States by military revolution, and an admonition to the comrades to keep the strife and turmoil boiling on college campuses in preparation for revolutionary D day.

This Is "Student Unrest?"

Because Cleaver's every word is a command for SDS, the Black Panther Party, and the conglomeration of other revolutionary groups working to overthrow the U.S.A., it is well for all Americans to see the words in print. Here are excerpts from Cleaver's article:

BABSON'S POINT OF VIEW

Airlines—Is The Fog Lifting?
By Babson's Reports Incorporated, Wellesley Hills, Mass., October 9, 1969—Plagued by the weighty restraint of inflating costs, the nation's airlines continue to suffer from a severe profits squeeze. Thus far in 1969, reported earnings of nearly every airline have nosedived. The outlook for the remainder of the year does not indicate any significant rebound.

There were some extraordinary reasons for this poor performance, including the 21-day labor strike against American Airlines. Nevertheless, the main causes of this lackluster earnings picture have been rising expenses, inadequate fares, and declining load factors. Revenues have continued to trend upward, but costs have risen faster. As a result, profit margins have been subjected to an intense

STORY OF THE RAZOR'S EDGE

While history has established prehistoric inhabitants were bearded, archaeologists discovered Egyptians shaved face and head over 7,000 years ago. As with other cutting implements, these first razors were made of flint.

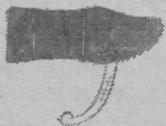

Discovery of copper one thousand years later resulted in better instruments. Then, around 2400 B.C., bronze was invented and, with it, razors became sharper and longer-lasting. Many other styles gained limited favor before the straight razor eventually became the barber's stock-in-trade.

Home shaving was primarily instigated by King C. Gillette and his invention of a double-edged safety razor with replaceable blades. Other versions followed but it was not until 1965 that the next revolutionary change came about — the Gillette Technomatic Razor with Razor Band. This has completely eliminated the inconvenience of blade handling.

squeeze. In short, the airlines are in a period of profitless prosperity.

Help From Fare Boosts
Earlier this year a fare increase of 3.8% was authorized. Despite this advance, several airlines reported lower 1969 second-quarter earnings than in the corresponding period last year. Three major carriers were forced to omit quarterly dividends on their common stock. Primarily, this was due to increased expenses, but, also, traffic did not grow to the degree anticipated. Furthermore, this profit decline is being accentuated by the huge capital outlays for new jumbo jets and supporting ground equipment.

In the future, these new jets are expected to provide major cost reductions and allow productivity gains. However, some airlines are having difficulty arranging financing for this equipment. Western Air Lines, a financially hard-pressed carrier, canceled a $150-million aircraft order. To stop further deterioration of the airlines' finances, the industry requested and received a second fare increase this year. Although this increase amounted to 6.35%, it is still not sufficient to allow an adequate rate of return.

Intense Competition Rules
Why the airline industry's floundering fortunes? The fierce competition that exists between the carriers is a major cause. In an attempt to gain a greater share of the market, the airlines add more, costlier, and bigger planes to their fleets. They also provide more services, try to lure more travelers with economy plans.

But the fact is that there are too many carriers serving the same routes. The CAB, which is responsible for route awards, seems to grant new operating territories to satisfy every line's demands as much as possible. This type of policy inevitably leads to smaller and smaller pieces of the pie until each of the carriers is left with only a few crumbs. Under these conditions, there is an awkward period when profits from lucrative routes dwindle to marginal proportions because traffic simply cannot grow fast enough.

Emphasis On Boosting Profits
Airlines are pursuing another tactic which could enhance their profitability. The holding company concept recently employed by the nation's railroads to facilitate diversification is being adopted by some airlines. United Air Lines has already established such a corporate vehicle to facilitate non-airline ventures. This provides an easy way to separate airline activities from related ventures such as hotels, car rentals, and restaurants — which are peripheral to passenger and freight transportation. By isolating their transportation business, airlines hope to achieve a more equitable fare structure.

Looking Ahead
Despite the gloomy near-term outlook, prospects for the 1970s seem brighter. Capacity additions are expected to be less than traffic increases, allowing load factors to bounce back. Due to the industry's leverage factor, traffic gains above the break-even level permit larger amounts of revenue to flow through to operating profit. There is a good possibility that next year could see some earnings turn-arounds. Hence, current problems of the airlines should diminish in intensity during the decade ahead. The bulk of the industry's problems seem already to have been discounted by the stock market.

Pick Your Baby's Sex
NEW YORK — The millenium when you can choose a son or a daughter as easily and confidently as you pick chocolate or vanilla ice cream may be on its way. Clearly, it is not yet here but a physician at the College of Physicians and Surgeons at Columbia University has worked out recipes for encouraging the conception of a baby of a chosen sex. Results have been gratifying, according to Dr. Landrum B. Shettles.

His system rests upon certain scientific facts, some long-known, some uncovered in the doctor's own laboratory:

The Facts Of Sex
1) Genetically, a woman contributes nothing to determining her baby's sex. Only the sperm carries the X (for a girl) or Y (for a boy) chromosome.
2) Sperm come in two sizes and shapes with different characteristics. Dr. Shettles believes that small, roundheaded sperm carry the boy-producing Y chromosome while the oval-headed, elongated sperm carry the girl-producing X chromosome. Male sperm are agile and faster but lose their pep more readily than female sperm in an acidic environment. Female sperm are sturdier and longer lived.

3) The ordinarily acidic vagina and cervix become more alkaline as ovulation nears.

4) Most men produce a mixture of boy and girl sperm among the millions contained in each ejaculation. Sperm count tends to diminish with frequency of intercourse. The higher the sperm count, the greater the likelihood that there will be an overwhelming preponderance of male sperm. Recipes

From all of this emerges Dr. Shettles' recipes. For a boy: a preliminary alkaline douche (two tablespoons of baking soda to a quart of water), abstinence from intercourse until just at the time of ovulation (so as to insure a high sperm count and to compensate for the male sperm's fragility). For a girl: a preliminary acidic douche (two tablespoons of vinegar to a quart of water), no abstinence (the lowered sperm count favors female sperm), intercourse until two or three days before ovulation (so that the male sperm will die off before the egg appears on the scene).

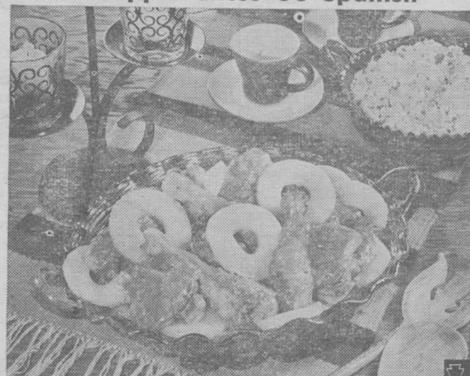

Unfortunately, some men consistently produce sperm that are almost exclusively of a single sex. All Dr. Shettles can do for such a man is to warn him that he must resign himself to an all-boys or all-girl family. Or, if a boy is wanted, the couple could try artificial insemination. Since sperm are placed beyond the acidic vagina, artificial insemination results in a marked preponderance of boys, according to Dr. Shettles. and then, of course, for absolute, total, unshakable certainty, there is always adoption.

Life would be more pleasant if pay days came more often than collection days.

4-H's Improve Photographic Skills

In the fall a young photographer's camera may be aimed at nature's display of beauty, action on the gridiron, or hundreds of other subjects waiting to be snapped. And if he is a 4-H member enrolled in the photography project, you can safely bet that he is having fun looking for the best way to record the scene on film. Some 100,000 boys and girls are enrolled in 4-H photography projects conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service. And they keep the shutters of their cameras busy shooting pictures for their records, their families, schools and clubs.

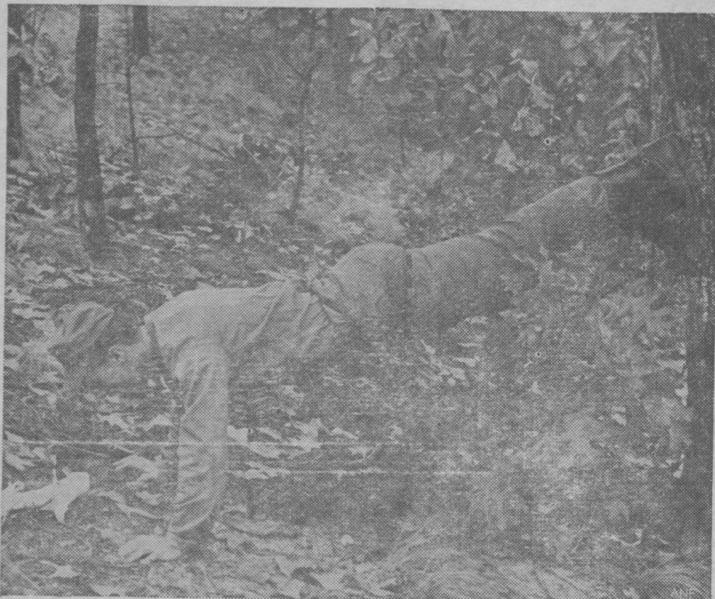

Sparkling the youths' interests and goals of gaining photographic and communications skills are opportunities for recognition. Eastman Kodak Company offers a maximum of four medals of honor to the best 4-H photographers in each county. The company also provides an expense-paid trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago to a winner in each state and $600 scholarships to six national winners. The awards are distributed through the National 4-H Service Committee, Chicago.

The young people study a series of manuals written and illustrated for 4-H member photographers and then try their newly found knowledge in actual picture-taking situations. In this learning by doing program, 4-H'ers look to adult volunteer and teen leaders for advice and counsel.

To help with the instruction, leaders are provided with guides which outline learning activities for the members. And a recently introduced 4-H Photography Leaders' Training Kit is expected to give added educational dimension to the program, according to its designers.

The Extension Service, Eastman Kodak Company and National 4-H Service Committee jointly developed the kit and other educational materials used in the program.

More information about 4-H Photography can be obtained from the County Extension office. Membership usually is limited to boys and girls 9 through 19 years of age. Teens and adults, however, can find an outlet for their photographic interests and skills by serving as volunteer leaders of clubs.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS

from The Bible
Strength and beauty are his sanctuary.—(Psalms 96:6).
Let us cultivate the habit of looking for beauty. Nothing brings us in closer touch with the omnipresence of God than seeing the beauty He has created everywhere. We do many things to develop our mind and our body, but to cultivate the habit of seeing beauty develops the soul.

VFW Auxiliary Meeting Held

The regular meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary to Emmitsburg Memorial Post 6658, Veterans of Foreign Wars, was held at the Post Home on Thursday with President Gloria Martin presiding. Nineteen members were present.
A new member, Susan Sanders, was initiated into the Auxiliary. A letter was then read from the Community Fund and it was decided to send a donation to this organization and also a member was appointed to represent the Auxiliary in the Community Fund.
It was decided to hold a Food Sale on Saturday, November 15. Evelyn Ott and Dixie Vivaldi will be in charge of the sale.
A report was given on the District meeting held in Emmitsburg on September 21 at which the District President Catherine Hodge presided. The Department Officers were also present for the meeting. Mary Topper, the Membership Chairman, reported that 59 members were paid up for 1970 in the current drive being conducted. A report was given on the wedding catered on September 27 and the President expressed her thanks to those who helped at this affair. The Auxiliary was asked to take an ad in the St. Joseph's High School yearbook and it was decided to do so. The President advised the members that she had been contacted regarding the possibility of the Auxiliary conducting the Mother's March of Dimes in January and it was agreeable to undertake this worthwhile project. Further information will be given out at a later meeting. A committee composed of Dolores Henke, Lois Hartdagen, Catherine Hodge, and Dixie Vivaldi was appointed to make plans for the annual Christmas party. Corrine Seiss won the draw prize at the meeting. Refreshments were then served by Dolores Ray and Mary Theresa Miller.

NO. 22,553 EQUITY
In the Circuit Court For Frederick County, Maryland
ORDER OF PUBLICATION
The Bill of Complaint in a suit to procure a divorce A Vinculo Matrimonii from the Defendant, John Sterling Funt.

The Bill recites that the Complainant is a resident of Frederick County, Maryland, where she has resided for more than one year last past; that the Defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland whose last known address was East Berlin, Pennsylvania; that the parties to this cause were married on the 6th day of March, 1950, at Westminster, Pennsylvania, by Rev. Barbach, a regularly ordained minister of the Gospel; that as a result of the marriage of the parties to this cause four children were born, namely, Larry Eugene Funt, who is at the present time eighteen years of age, John S. Funt, Jr., who is at the present time seventeen years of age, Susan Elaine Funt, who is at the present time fifteen years of age; and Deborah Ann Funt, who is at the present time thirteen years of age, all of whom are in the care and custody of the Defendant, John Sterling Funt; and that the parties to this cause have lived separate and apart, without any cohabitation or interruption by the parties, for more than five years prior to the filing of this Bill of Complaint, and that the said separation is beyond any reasonable hope or expectation of reconciliation. The Complainant then prays for a divorce A Vinculo Matrimonii and for such other and further relief as the nature of her case may require.

It is thereupon this 30th day of September, 1969, by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, sitting as a Court of Equity, ORDERED that the Complainant give notice to the Defendant of the object and substance of this Bill, by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in the County of Frederick, once each week for four successive weeks before the 1st day of November, 1969, commanding him to be and appear in this Court, in person or by Solicitor, on or before the 2nd day of December, 1969, and show cause, if any he has, why a Decree should not be passed in this cause as prayed.

THE STORE WHERE YOUR DOLLAR BUYS MORE

The ZIP Column

The 6-cent stamp honoring President Dwight D. Eisenhower will be first placed on sale on October 14, 1969 at Abilene, Kansas, where he spent his boyhood and where he is buried.

This vertical stamp will be jumbo size, measuring 1.05 by 1.80 inches. It will be issued in panels of 32 stamps. The stamp, designed by Robert J. Jones of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, is based on a photograph made by Bernie Noble of the Cleveland Press. This photograph captures the grin which was President Eisenhower's trade-mark.

Collectors desiring first day cancellations may send addressed envelopes, together with remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to the Postmaster, Abilene, Kansas 67410. The outside envelope should be endorsed "First Day Covers Eisenhower Stamp," and postmarked no later than October 14, 1969. Since this is an over-sized stamp, envelopes must be addressed as close to the bottom as possible.

This stamp will go on sale at our office on Wednesday, October 15, 1969.

Senior Citizens Work On Bazaar

The regular fall meeting of the Senior Citizens Clubs of Frederick County will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 22 at 11:30 a.m., with luncheon at 12 noon, in the Calvary United Methodist Church at West Second and N. Bentz St., Frederick. Director, Harry P. Walker of Maryland, will be present and all are invited to meet friends and get to know the new officer.

The price of the luncheon is $1.25 and should be sent, together with reservations, to the Senior Citizens Fellowship Center, 10 S. Court St., Frederick, by October 18, 1969. See you-all there!

The Thurmont Senior Citizens Club is to be congratulated on its first Bazaar, held in their headquarters last Thursday and Friday. An excellent crowd attended and enjoyed taking part in the event. A number of people from the Emmitsburg Club attended. It is hoped the Emmitsburg Bazaar on November 8, 1969, will be equally successful.

Don't forget the bus trip to Skyline Drive on October 14. The bus will leave the Center at 8 a.m. sharp. All seats have been filled, so if you haven't registered yet, you are out of luck.

Tuesday, Oct. 21, is the time for the monthly meeting of the Senior Citizens Club, which promises to be an interesting one with an excellent film to be projected. More later on this.

Hospital Opens New Wing

The new maternity wing of the Annie M. Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, was opened Friday and received its first patients.

In the meantime rooms in the former maternity department will be used for overflow patients, according to a hospital spokesman.

Other use for space in the oldest section of the hospital complex, which will no longer house patients, will be announced later, he said.
