Most Anything At A Glance

- By Abigail -

The view of the eclipse that Emmitsburg saw last Saturday wasn't too spectacular as overcast skies all but clouded out the phenomenon. This was true, particularly on almost the whole east coast. There couldn't have been much eye damage done after all the warnings that had been issued not to look directly at the eclipse, plus the fact that cloudy skies prevailed. Those who took to television to witness the spectacle really got the best view of all. Oh well, we won't have to worry about any more eclipses in our time, as the next one occurs well after the year 2000.

Seems as though the Christmas spirit still lingers on in the fair little town of Fairfield. This week I had occasion to visit Fairfield and as I drove along the main street, I was almost flabbergasted to see overhead, that the Christmas decorations were still swinging briskly in the March winds. I imagine that some day soon, the spirit will move the citizenry to take action and store the decorations for another year. Or perhaps, they are waiting for spring cleaning?

Quite a bit of vandalism has transpired in the Emmitsburg District the past two weeks. Quite a number of mailboxes (rural) were taken or wantonly destroyed, State Road signs removed or damaged, other types of signs stolen and rocks tossed through windows of business places. This is an aggravating thing and costly also. It is hoped that authorities can cope with the situation and that the vandals will be apprehended and made to pay for their nefarious activities.

At the present time there is being conducted what is called an Environmental Conditions Study. This study, I am told, is part of the Frederick County Overall Planning Program. It appears that students from Frederick Community College are doing the field work. It has been reported by local rural residents that their doorbells are rung at around 9 o'clock at night, which naturally scares the daylight out of elderly people living in lonely rural sections. The survey consists of three typewritten sheets of questions, most of which are ridiculous, meaningless and considered an invasion of your personal privacy. We can see no practical purpose for a questionnaire of this type when in a couple of months all this information can be had from the Census Bureau. People are becoming resentful of these nuisance calls, especially at night.

Little League Meeting Called

An important meeting of the Emmitsburg Little League has been called for Tuesday evening, March 24, at 7:30 p.m. The meeting will be held at the Francis X. Elder Post American Legion Home, and all officers and others interested in the operation of the league are urged to be present.

PTA Bazaar Saturday

St. Joseph High School PTA will hold its annual bazaar at the school on Saturday, March 14, beginning at 1 p.m. Features of the bazaar will include: games, prizes, flowers, delicatessen, parcel post, handicrafts, refreshments, white elephant, dinner of hot turkey sandwich and trimmings, and new arts and crafts. The bazaar is the major project of the PTA. Mrs. Loretta Adelsberger is general chairman.

Mounties Drop From Regional Competition

A fine 20-game victory season ended on a disappointing note for the Mt. St. Mary's College dribblers Saturday evening when they lost to Old Dominion 93-90 in the consolation game of the NCAA Small College South Atlantic Regional tournament at Statesboro, Ga.

The loss was the third in a row for the Mountaineers which left them with a 20-6 season record.

Old Dominion, which had dealt the Mount a 61-59 loss in regular season play, led throughout the first half and at one time was on top by 15 points before the Mountaineers spurred to pull within 48-43 at halftime.

Coach Jim Phelan's outfit kept coming on and took the lead at 65-66 on Bob Riley's goal with 10:30 left in the second half. From then on the lead see-sawed before the Monarchs went ahead for good at 80-76 on three straight outside shots by Dick St. Clair.

The closest the Mount could come in the waning moments was at 90-88 but the Monarchs held on to clinch the decision.

Both teams shot well, Mt. St. Mary's bagging 39 goals in 79 tries while converting 12 of 19 fouls. Old Dominion made 36 tries from the field on 76 attempts and netted 21 of 26 fouls. The Mount led in rebounding 49-43.

Riley topped the Mount scoring with 20 points with Austin Leonard looping 16.

In the semi-finals on Friday, the Mountaineers dropped a heart-breaker to Stetson of Deland, Fla., 78-77, with Stetson scoring the winning goal with three seconds left. Stetson went on to win the regional title by topping Georgia Southern 93-86 in the finals, to win the trip to Evansville, Ind. this week for the NCAA Small College finals.

Lou Grillo of the Mount was named to the all-tournament team.

School Bus Drivers Place Demands

Frederick County school bus drivers presented a petition to the Board of Education last week declaring that unless the drivers receive an adequate pay raise, they will not report for work this September.

Mary Fulmer, spokesman for the group, presented the Board with three demands voted by the drivers at their Feb. 26 meeting.

Drivers want the base pay raised from $155 to $225; same hospitalization plan provided other county employees; and 30 days accumulative sick-leave.

Presently, if a driver does not use his ten days annual sick-leave, he loses them.

Co-spokesman Charles Tobery told the Board, for years, we've been waiting for the supervisors to take a stand for us and we've finally decided to stand up for ourselves.

"Drivers are not going to accept the fifty-cent raise they have been offered, that's one thing for sure," Tobery said.

Tobery said there isn't a driver in Frederick County who doesn't work more than 20 hours a week, when the time he spends cleaning and otherwise maintaining his bus is taken into consideration. An employee must work more than 20 hours to be eligible for group hospitalization.

"To drive a school bus with 60 children every morning is a terrible responsibility," said Mrs. Fulmer. "I've been driving a school bus for five years and I can't understand why other county employees get raises and we don't."

Board President Richard Kline agreed that the job involves a great deal of responsibility. Kline said Transportation Director James Masood is "as proud of the bus drivers as anybody could be," and that the Board is extremely pleased with the efficiency of the bus system.

Board member Pete Bowers pointed out that any adjustment in the salary of county-employed bus drivers will have to be reflected in a corresponding adjustment in compensation made to contract drivers. Contract drivers are paid for the use of their bus as well as for their time.

BAND MEETING SET

The monthly meeting of the Emmitsburg Municipal Band will be held Wednesday, March 18, at 7:30 p.m., in the band room. This is an important meeting and all members are urged to attend.

Seniors-Mothers Honored At Catoctin High

By Roxie Aubol
On March 3 Catoctin High School held its second annual Senior Night during the Cougars' last home game of the season with St. John's.

On this night the seniors, who are members of the varsity basketball team and the varsity cheerleading squad were presented and honored. Each participant's mother was presented with a corsage by the Junior Varsity cheerleaders. The varsity cheerleaders also received corsages.

Varsity basketball coach George Kuhn, gave a short address to the spectators commenting on how well the CHS senior boys have played and have showed sportsmanship throughout the season. He also congratulated each parent. Mr. Kuhn then introduced Lana Brack, co-captain of the varsity cheerleaders. Lana introduced each member of the basketball team, cheerleading squad and the senior scorekeeper.

The six graduating seniors and the cheerleaders who presented their mothers with corsages were Lee Koontz, whose mother was presented her corsage by Debbie Sprankle; Charles Gearhart by Carol Gearhart; Dave Swomley by Susie German; Calvin Chatlos by Shelia Chatlos; Gerald Clabaugh by Mary Ann Rice and Steve Buchanan by Vicki Stambaugh.

The senior cheerleaders were then introduced. Captain, Peggy Mathias' mother was presented her corsage by Phyllis Heims; Wanda Riffle by Sheila Chatlos; Diane Weant by Bonnie Beard and Sue Fitzgerald by Tina Clarke.

Liz Williard, the scorekeeper for the boys' varsity team, also was honored. Mrs. Williard was presented her corsage by Susie Long.

Mother Seton School Play Sunday

Attention is drawn to Cindy Green, a Duckling, by second grade classmate, Lloyd Parker, as two students, Maria Le Croce and Joseph Antolin look on in the Mother Seton School presentation of "Hans Christian Anderson." Doug Wivell and Carol Seidel add to the musical entertainment with other boys and girls from Copenhagen.

Friends and relatives are invited to Mother Seton School Auditorium on Sunday, March 15, at 3 p.m. to see this production — Admission free!

Masons Plan Ladies' Night

Thursday, March 19, has been set for the annual Ladies' Night banquet of members of Tyrian Lodge 205 A.F. and A.M. of Emmitsburg, at the Rocky Ridge Fire Hall, starting at 6:30.

Following the dinner, Past Grand Master Edward R. Saunders will show a film entitled "Quo Vadis". This film depicts the history, origin and present day operations of the Masonic Homes of Maryland, better known to many persons as "Bonnie Blink."

Intersection Site Of Another Wreck

A Taneytown woman and her two children were hospitalized following a wreck at the intersection of 97 and 15 in East Emmitsburg at approximately 10:45 a.m. yesterday morning.

The injured were taken to the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, in the VFW ambulance and treated for minor lacerations.

The accident occurred when Virginia Lee Barnhouse, accompanied by her two daughters and driving a 1964 Ford, travelling east toward Baltimore, on Rt. 97, entered the intersection on a green light. She was struck by a tractor-trailer driven by Paul Metiver, Montreal, Canada, traveling north on Rt. 15. The impact pushed the Barnhouse car into the parked truck owned by Keilholtz's Express, Thurmont, operated by Henry Ramsburg, of Frederick. The Keilholtz truck was parked in the west-bound lane of Rt. 97 preparatory to making a left turn, heading for Thurmont.

State Trooper Donald C. Higgins, who investigated, charged Metiver with failing to obey a traffic warning signal.

Alertness Avoids Serious Fire

Quick action by two seminarians and the Saga Foods Inc. staff, averted a serious fire in Mount Saint Mary's College Student Union Building Saturday night.

The seminarians, John Califano of Schenectady, N. Y., and Rudy Peko of Jamesburg, N. Y., were eating in the snack bar when they saw smoke rolling up from the grill.

Peko, who is a member of the Jamesburg Rescue Squad, and Califano, who had fire training with the Boy Scouts, searched out fire extinguishers and attacked the raging fire that quickly enveloped the deep fat fryer.

After emptying two extinguishers, they doused the flames which at one time were licking the ceiling. They wrapped the fryer in a rug and wet tablecloth to prevent a flashback.

Donny Patterson, a Mount student who was operating the frier department, remarked that several orders had gotten brown too quickly. He had checked the thermostat, which was at 300 degrees. Suddenly, the fryer flashed up and Patterson pulled the electric cord out of the wall socket, then threw baking soda and salt on the blaze with little effect.

Meanwhile, his supervisor, Paul Kreger, called the fire department. At 7:48 p.m., Frederick Central Alarm sounded a call for the entire Vigilant Hose Co. of Emmitsburg, two trucks from Thurmont, and a truck from Fairfield to fill the Fire Hall at Emmitsburg.

Over 50 men were on the scene within five minutes.

The fire flashed up twice more after the fire department arrived and was finally extinguished by application of dry chemical extinguisher.

Chief Guy R. McLaughlin of Emmitsburg stated that if the hood and exhaust system had not been spotlessly clean, there could have been a total loss of the entire student union building.

Bob Keller, Saga Foods manager at the Mount, commended his employees for quick thinking and for keeping a spotless kitchen. Three times each week, all hoods, and vents, are scrubbed down so no grease accumulates, he explained.

As the hoods are not protected by an automatic dry chemical system, as advocated by the National Fire Protection Association, "cleanliness is the first line of defense" for Mount fire safety, officials said.

Damage was confined to the area of the fryer. The snack bar reopened on schedule Sunday.

CYO Plans Senior Citizen Entertainment

On Friday, March 13, at 7:30 p.m., the CYO group will again meet at the Senior Citizens Center for another interesting social evening. It is to be hoped that the weather will be quite "Lambish," so that more members of the Senior Citizens Club will be able to attend.

There will be a Board meeting at the Center on Monday morning, March 16, at 10 o'clock. All board members should attend to help decide on future programs and decide upon a date for the Spring Festival, sponsored by the Senior Citizens Club. All members welcome.

The regular monthly meeting of the Emmitsburg Senior Citizens Club will be held at the Center, on Tuesday, March 17, at 7:30 p.m. An interesting film will be shown and other entertainment in keeping with St. Patrick's Day will be provided.

VFW AMBULANCE

Miss Elizabeth Myers, Emmitsburg, Mrs. O. B. Scott, R2, and Mrs. Lillian B. Koch, R2, Fairfield, were transported this week to the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, via the VFW ambulance. Drivers were Michael L. Boyle, James Kittinger, and Paul E. Humerick.

IN PLAY CAST

Included in the cast of characters for the presentation of Lysistrata by Western Maryland College, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, March 19, 20, 21, are Marjory J. Richards and Betty L. Tokar, both of Emmitsburg.

As an environmental control measure, International Nickel is erecting in Canada the world's tallest chimney—1,250 feet high—at Copper Cliff, Ontario. The chimney's base will be 100 feet in diameter; the top, 40 feet.

Bloodmobile Will Operate At Local College Today

The Red Cross Bloodmobile made its annual visit to the campus of Mount St. Mary's College on Thursday, March 5, and donors were registered in the Student Union Building from 11:00 a.m. until 4:30 p.m.

During this time, 157 persons appeared to donate blood. This number included 134 students of the college (87 of them new in the Frederick County program and 47 had donated in past years), 17 seminarians (10 of them first time donors in the County program and 7 repeaters), 5 civilian donors (1 of them new) and 1 student from Hood College. There were 11 persons deferred for medical reasons, and 5 were unsuccessful donors, making a total of 141 pints of blood collected.

The Bloodmobile will return to the Emmitsburg area on Friday, March 13. On this day it will make a blood collection at St. Joseph College, and registration of donors will be held in the Student Center Building beginning at 10 a.m. and closing at 2:45 p.m.

Residents in the Emmitsburg area are again invited to stop at the Bloodmobile site on March 13 and participate in the Frederick County Red Cross Blood Program by donating a unit of blood. Each donor will receive full blood coverage for himself and his family for one year from date of donation. If you are not an active blood donor, take this opportunity on the 13th to insure yourself and your loved ones of blood protection, and at the same time help someone whose life may depend on you.

Chorus To Sing Easter Music

The Emmitsburg Community Chorus will present John Steiner's Easter Cantata, "The Crucifixion," on Sunday evening, March 15, at 7:30 o'clock, in the Incarnation United Church of Christ. The chorus is again directed by Sister Jane Marie Perrot, D.C., music instructor at St. Joseph College. Soloists will be Mr. James Spahr, tenor, Thurmont, a member of the faculty at Catoctin High School, and Mr. Paul Snyder, bass, Severna Park, Md., director of instrumental music at Severna Park Junior High School. Miss Penny Hallett, music instructor at the Emmitsburg Middle School, will be the organist.

This Easter concert is being sponsored by the Emmitsburg Council of Churches. Everyone is cordially invited to this performance and to the social hour that will follow in the Fellowship Hall.

The Community Chorus also wishes to announce the date for the Spring Concert to be held in DePaul Auditorium, St. Joseph College, on May 17. Plan now to attend both the above dates — March 15 and May 17. These concerts are our way of saying "Thank you" for your loyal support.

School Registration Next Week

Registration for the 1970-71 school year will be held at Mother Seton School next week at the following times:

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, March 16-19, from 9:30-11:30 a. m. Saturday, Mar. 21, 10 a. m. - 12 noon; 2:30 to 4:30 p. m.

It will be necessary to bring the child's birth and baptismal certificates (unless he has been baptized in one of the local churches) and a $5.00 registration fee.

Any child entering the first grade should be six years of age by December 31, 1970.

Lions Plan Ladies' Night

Milton A. Sewell, president, presided over the regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Lions Club held Monday evening in Mt. Manor Restaurant.

The meeting, held in conjunction with the Zone Advisory Committee, brought members from the following Lions clubs: Thurmont, Francis Scott Key Club, Frederick, Glade Valley and Liberty-Unionville. Zone chairman Charles Clipp presided over the zone meeting, following the regular meeting.

One new member, Marvin Laws, was admitted to the club. The president announced that the Lions' Ladies' Night would be held on April 13. President Sewell named the following nominating committee: William H. Kelz, Norman J. Shriner and Arthur Elder.

Frederick County Backgrounds

BY SAMUEL CARRICK
Some Galt Family Notes

Life, as a historian once wrote, is made up of many facets. Most experiences are common to all—birth—the interval for living—death. King or commoner—there is little difference insofar as the essentials are concerned. A lonely or crowded grave—isolated or in a churchyard—man is allotted six feet or less for his final rest.

The line of demarcation is sharply drawn in one respect only—that which remains or lives beyond the grave. It is for what is left behind in material gains or losses—but the spiritual impact of a life upon the world in which that life is lived.

In the early days of this great country the young men who chose the ministry as a vocation must have known full well that the life would be one of hardship with but little reward in "worldly goods." However, to balance the ledger, they left behind a heritage upon which the foundation of the church today was safely built—they did not "labor in vain."

Among the young ministers of the early Presbyterian Church—a son of the Piney Creek congregation—was the Rev. Sterling M. Galt, the son of Sterling and Margaret (Grayson) Galt. Some biographical data pertaining to the Mr. Galt was given in last week's column—it is continued at this time.

After graduation from Princeton College (now University) and Theological Seminary, Sterling Galt was licensed by the Presbytery of New Brunswick in 1861. He began his labors in Newark and Red Clay Creek, Del., within the bounds of the Presbytery of New Castle. He was ordained by this Presbytery in 1862 and installed pastor over these two churches.

After three years of a successful pastorate in this, his only charge, the young minister fell a victim to typhoid fever, a scourge in that day which nearly always terminated fatally. The Rev. Sterling Galt died October 4, 1865 in the 28th year of his age, at the home of his good friend, the Rev. Thomas Love, who wrote of him after his untimely death:

"In every view he was most amiable. He honored me as a father—I loved him as a son. To his Lord and Master he was a servant—faithful unto death. A clear head, a warm heart, and a flowing tongue, were manifest in all his public services. To the pious of his charge—particularly the young—he was a pastor dearly beloved. At his death great lamentation was made over him."

The Rev. Sterling M. Galt was buried from the home of his brother in Washington, D. C., and at this time the exact location of his grave is not known. It is reasonable to assume that it is in one of the burial grounds in or near the city for at that time it was not the customary or practical to convey the dead long distances for burial.

There are a number of Galt family burial plots in the Piney Creek churchyard and, in due time, they will be discussed in as detailed a manner as possible. Before that can be done, a great deal of historical and genealogical research on this particular clan remains to be done.

Another son of Piney Creek church who intended to devote his life to the ministry was John W. Smith. Death brought an end to his plans but due credit should be given the young man. Cut on his gravestone in the old burial ground are the words: "He was a candidate for the ministry."

The burial plot of the Smith family is located about the middle of Piney Creek graveyard. The inscriptions follow:

8. In memory of Frances Smith, wife of Stephen Smith, Born July 9, 1827. Died February 10, 1888. Aged 66 years, 7 months, and 1 day.

9. In memory of Stephen Smith, Born February 25, 1813. Died September 3, 1881. Aged 68 years, 6 months, and 8 days.

Note: Stephen and Frances Smith were the parents of John W. Smith and this young man was their only son.

10. Sacred to the memory of John W. Smith, Died May 26, 1872. Aged 19 years, 4 months, and 1 day. A candidate for the ministry.

Note: After the death of John W. Smith a friend wrote of him as follows: "In the record of what Piney Creek has done to replenish the ministerial ranks, we may not forget the premature decease of one, who had his life been spared, would have attained the goal of his hopes. He was an only son of Stephen and Frances Smith, and filled a large place in the parental heart. But alas! for a fond father's expectations and a loving mother's sincere desire, John W. Smith was summoned hence, May 26th, 1872, in the 20th year of his age. He was a young man of good talents, and ardent piety, and gave promise of eminent usefulness in his Master's service. At the time of his death he was a student in Pennsylvania (now Gettysburg) College, at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania. His remains were interred at Piney Creek."

11. In memory of Ella J. R. Smith, daughter of Stephen and Frances Smith, Died August 14, 1837. Aged 2 months and 3 days.

Note: A sister of John W. Smith and probably the first child born to the marriage of Stephen and Frances Smith.

12. In memory of Mariah Smith, daughter of Stephen and Frances Smith, (?)

Note: The place of Mary Smith on the family tree is somewhat obscure. In other words her exact relationship to Stephen Smith and his family is not known. According to the date of her birth she could be a sister of Stephen Smith and therefore "aunt" to his children.

One thing is certain Mary Smith is interred on the Smith family plot and this in itself denotes some degree of relationship. All the graves in this lot appear to be marked and there are only six to be listed.

This historical and genealogical study of the Presbyterian church of Piney Creek and its burial ground will be continued in this series next week.

Announce Birth

Mr. and Mrs. Brent L. McElwain, Colton, Calif., announce the birth of a son, Brett Lewis, on March 6, at the Kaiser Foundation Hospital, Fontana, Calif.

The child's maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John Lewis Harbaugh, and paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude C. McElwain. The child is the first great-grandchild of Mrs. Maude E. Harbaugh, Emmitsburg.

Egg Etching Contest Rules

The Catoctin Mountain Tourist Council held its regular monthly dinner meeting at Cozy Restaurant February 26.

President of the Council, Mr. George Germand, conducted the business meeting. A new printing of placemats is almost complete and will be distributed among the members for sale by the chairman of the placemat committee, Samuel Royer III. These placemats are used in most of the restaurants in the Thurmont-Emmitsburg-Fairfield area and feature local scenes in this tri-town section.

A multi-colored map of the area is in the making and will be on sale through members and businessmen when it is available. Discussed was the upcoming Wild Flower Weekend which will

Members of the board of directors were reminded of their monthly meeting which should entice the gourmets of the group since refreshments for the evening will be handled by the "Big Game" hunter, Pat Buch.

The main event being sponsored by the Council right now is the Easter Egg Engraving Contest. Rules for the contest have been sent to all of the area schools with the hope that a large group of the students will participate and compete for the prizes which will be announced at a later date. Adults also are eligible and the Council also hopes that the older generation will compete.

SCIENCE TOPICS

The land masses of the earth rise and fall, as the ocean does, every day, pulled by the sun and moon and pushed by the sea, say Columbia University geologists. They have found that earth tides are greatly influenced by the action of ocean tides, more than previously believed, even at points far inland. Results of the study may lead to development of new techniques for predicting earthquakes, prospecting for oil, and measuring the little-known tides of the open ocean.

Patients may some day use

Rule 1: Contestants can enter in one of three classes: Class C—Students of the 5th thru 8th grades. Class B—Students of the 9th thru 12th grades. Class A—All persons past high school age.

Rule 2: In any class, contestants may enter one egg in each of the following categories:

Traditional—These eggs engraved as "love tokens," similar to modern valentines.

Patriotic—These are eggs engraved with appropriate patriotic messages or themes.

Easter—These are eggs engraved with symbols and/or messages traditionally associated with the Easter season.

Rule 3: A first prize will be awarded for each category in each class. Ribbons or certificates will be awarded 2nd and 3rd place winners.

Rule 4: Eggs will be judged on the basis of originality, appropriateness, and craftsmanship. Special consideration will be given eggs colored with natural dyes. A panel of independent judges will be announced and their decisions will be final.

Rule 5: All entries must be accompanied by a 3x5 inch piece of paper on which is given the name, address, and telephone number of the contestant; the class and category of the entry; and the type of dye used.

Rule 6: Entries will be placed on exhibit in Thurmont and Emmitsburg from Palm Sunday, Mar. 22, through Easter Monday, Mar. 30.

Rule 7: Entries must be received before 3 p.m., March 21, at schools, the Thurmont Library, or the Emmitsburg Pharmacy.

Rule 8: While the Catoctin Mountain Tourist Council will do everything possible to protect entries, they cannot be responsible for any damage that might occur.

computers to help the physician diagnose their own illnesses, says a Brown University medical researcher. He said it would help eliminate the need for a physician's listening to medical history and symptoms at the beginning of a patient's visit to his office. This would save precious time for the physician, permit him to learn more about the patient as a person and help him zero in on a solution to the patient's specific medical problem more quickly.

Tremendous growth in the use of welding by new, automated shipyards that will use vertical welding processes such as the electroslag method is predicted by National Cylinder Gas, Chicago. In the continuous electroslag process, which involves the deposition of molten weld metal under a fused slag covering, steel plates up to 20 inches thick can be welded economically. NCG says entire ships will be placed on mechanisms that will move them into position for welding.

The complicated, ultra-microscopic effects of viruses on bacteria cells may hold clues to how cancer starts and how cancer cells differ from normal cells, reports a University of Southern California microbiologist. She is studying how phage, a bacterial virus, acts on the host cells it infects. There are striking similarities between this process and the way other kinds of viruses cause animal cancers. "The viruses known to form animal cancers don't kill the animal cells, but rather alter them," she said. "Particularly, they change the surface of the cells, and also change the frequency at which the cells divide. This, individual cancer cells and groups of cancer cells often look quite different from the corresponding normal cells."

"That's gold in them low-grade ores," says the U. S. Bureau of Mines. It has developed a method for recovering 65-95 per cent of the gold in deposits that are either too small or too low in grade for conventional techniques. Such ores are piled in heaps and leached with a cyanide solution that is then processed to remove the gold.

What Are Your Children Doing?

A local TV station in Little Rock opens its 10:00 p.m. news program each evening with a challenging question to parents viewing it. "Do you know where your children are?" The implied question is "Do you know what your children are doing?" In the America of today this is the $64 question. The impulse of all parents is to say, Yes. The tragic fact is, probably half the parents of teen-age and college-age youngsters are unable to answer or cannot give a true answer to the implied question.

The other night we watched and listened as a tall, skinny, 17-year-old youth, his black hair flopped down over his forehead in the "Mod" sheep-dog manner, stood before an audience of 500 PTA parents at a school in North Little Rock (Arkansas).

"Eight months ago," he said, "if my father had been told that I was regularly using LSD, he would have been outraged at the suggestion; he would have bet his life it wasn't so. He would have lost. I was on acid (LSD), and continued to be on it until a month ago. In between "trips", I sniffed glue, swallowed amphetamines (pep pills), and barbiturates, and smoked Maryjane (Marijuana). I smoked opium and peyote in a pipe." He knows he faces recurring "bad" reactions from LSD "for perhaps 20 years."

Are You Mistaken?
He showed the audience a very small porcelain pipe. He asked the mothers and fathers of school-age youngsters: "Have you got a drug problem in your family? Hold up your hands, please." Not a hand showed among the 500 parents. The boy shook his head. "Unfortunately, a great many of you are as mistaken as was my father. I have come here to tell you that your children, every day and every night, are prime targets of the drug avalanche—if they are not already hooked! No family is immune." He estimates that 65% of the youth population is experimenting with Marijuana or other drugs.

"Bart," as he was introduced by Narcotics Agent Tom Davis of the Pulaski County (Greater Little Rock) Sheriff's Office, had been apprehended in the midst of the central flow of a far-reaching drug traffic which, in 1969, made Little Rock a "Midway" point in the nation. He was "pushing" (selling drugs) to finance his own expanding drug "needs." Sheriff Monroe Love gave the bright and sincere boy a choice when he was arrested—a penitentiary sentence or a challenging mission. The mission: To help reach Pulaski County's half million citizens with the shocking facts gathered through his experience as an addict and pusher.

Warnings From Two
"Bart," whom Sheriff Love identified as "the son of one of Arkansas's most prominent industrialists" ("Bart" is not his name), chose to dedicate his life to combating the drugs and the illicit and dangerous forces now flooding the United States (every community in the nation) with an amazing variety of the deadly chemicals. In three weeks, he has made about 20 talks. The sheepdog hair over his forehead is a disguise of sorts. He wears a wig. "This boy's life is in jeopardy," Narcotics Agent Tom Davis said. "He has been in touch with some of the bigger suppliers."

"Bart" wore bell-bottom trousers of denim, a denim jacket over a light T-shirt. The Sheriff's party also included another youth—"Tom." He was a powerfully built fellow with bulging tattooed biceps. He was dressed in denim. The jacket was elaborately decorated with symbols; there was a big colorful decoration on his T-shirt, and little chains hung from his jacket, his neck, his trousers; there were even chains on his shoes. This young man had been, as he said, "in serious trouble with narcotics." He said: "When you see a person dressed like this, he is either already hooked on drugs, or is a prime target for every drug pusher that sees him."
The Awful Life

"I've been in trouble for several years," he said. "I was hooked on the needle at age 17. Have had the most horrible withdrawal experiences you can imagine. I've been on pills, goof balls, mainline needles, the whole package. I've been in the penitentiary. I'm trying now to extricate myself from the awful way of life of the addict, and prepare myself to be of help to the youth of America by 'telling it like it is'."

"Like it is," he said, "is this: Every child in every household in America is susceptible to the danger of drugs. Parents must face this fact."

So what to do (this was the question spontaneously asked from the audience)?
Create a stable atmosphere in the family. In everything they do, parents are setting an example for their children, good or bad. Show evidence of love and confidence toward the children. Go to church—as a family. Get busy NOW learning all there is to know about the drugs of disaster. Communicate, parent to child, child to parent. Join in a nation-wide crusade to combat the spread of drugs abuse.
Will you enlist?

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The Bill of Complaint is a suit to procure a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the Defendant, Donald Raymond Gibson.

The Bill recites that the Complainant is a resident of Frederick County, State of Maryland, where she has resided for more than one year last past; that the Defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, whose present address is Donald Raymond Gibson, c/o Eddie Mays Inn, Hood River Village, Oregon; that your Complainant was married to the Defendant on the 28th day of September, 1964, at Frederick, Maryland, by Rev. Sharpe, a regularly ordained minister of the Gospel; that as a result of the said marriage one child was born, namely Donna Jean Gibson, five years of age; that your Complainant and the Defendant have voluntarily lived separate and apart without any cohabitation for more than eighteen months prior to the filing of this Bill of Complaint, and that the separation between the parties is beyond any reasonable hope or expectation of reconciliation.

The Bill then prays that the Complainant, Norma Jean Gibson, may be divorced A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the Defendant, Donald Raymond Gibson; that she may be awarded the care and custody of the infant child in these proceedings mentioned; that she may be awarded a reasonable sum of money for the support and maintenance of the aforesaid infant child; and for such other and further relief as the nature of her case may require.

COURT ORDER

It is thereupon this 13th day of February, 1970, by the Circuit Court For Frederick County, Maryland, sitting as a Court of Equity, ORDERED that the Complainant give notice to the Defendant of the object and substance of this Bill by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in the County of Frederick, once each week for four successive weeks before the 21st day of March, 1970, commanding him to be and appear in this Court, in person, or by Solicitor, on or before the 21st day of April, 1970, and show cause, if any he has, why a Decree should not be passed as prayed.

ary School and Gov. Thomas Johnson High School. Computers located at Western Maryland College and University of Maryland serve the project.

Included among the project's purposes is that of providing research information as to the effectiveness of computer assisted instruction. The ease with which local students have adapted to the procedural concepts and theoretical considerations of Computer Problem Solving seems to indicate positive findings concerning its effectiveness.
Computer assisted instruction, as demonstrated by the local project, provides an experience unique among mass communication instructional media. Other media such as television, motion pictures or radio require only passive behavior on the part of the learner while the computer demands active behavior. Conversely the computer itself is capable of analyzing and adapting teaching sequences to suit individual learning abilities.

TECHNOLOGICAL PROGRESS REPORT:

New Processes For Producing Copper

New York—(HK)—New processes for producing commercial copper from concentrates will be tested this year in a multi-million dollar pilot plant in Tucson, Arizona. The plant, now about half complete, will have a capacity of 4,000 pounds of copper per day.

Treadwell Corporation owns the patents for the process and Anaconda Company has financed and cooperated in process development since 1967.

Robert Spitzer, chairman of Treadwell Corporation, described the hydrometallurgical processes to be tested as alternatives to present conventional smelting and refining. He emphasized that much additional work must be done. He said that if the pilot plant proves successful, present indications are that the copper industry will have a process that produces copper—plus elemental sulphur and the usual by-products—

1. at lower capital and operating costs,
2. in less than one day compared with the present average processing time of 60 days and,
3. without air or stream pollution.

Most copper is conventionally produced by smelting concentrated copper ore to produce metallic anodes which are electrolytically refined into commercial copper. In the course of conventional smelting operations, sulphur dioxide gas produced from the sulphur in the ore is released. Most smelters convert a large portion of the sulphur dioxide to sulphuric acid, but the portion which is not converted results in air pollution.

Refined Copper In One Operation

If the new processes prove successful, they will permit production of refined copper in one operation and will practically eliminate the emissions now produced by conventional methods.

Treadwell Corporation, which is wholly owned by its management, is engaged in the engineering, construction and equipment building businesses. It has served the metals producing industries, including smelting and refining, for 75 years.

Steel Helps Conquer 'Inner Space' Problems

MODERN STEEL SHELVING sets the scene with its qualities of strength and rigidity combined with some of the new finishes that make such items as steel shelves an attractive addition to living rooms. These new steel shelves feature walnut woodgrain finish, pewter-colored posts with no hardware showing and shelves that can be raised, lowered or removed without dissembling the unit.

Skokie, Ill. — (HK) — The squeeze is on to save space in the home.

It's been estimated that there are more than 400 million rooms, garages and attics that need some kind of shelving or storage aid to save space.

A shelving manufacturer here has come out with a new line of steel shelf units that makes shelves more than a place to put things. He says the decorator shelving has luxurious pebbled walnut woodgrain finish with softly polished pewter-color posts.

A new design provides a completely enclosed post with no unsightly screw holes in view; all hardware is hidden. The post sections snap and lock firmly together without hardware.

The maker also claims the steel sheet shelves provide a strength and rigidity never before available because they feature wrap-around girder construction.

Servicemen, Veterans Have Many Tax "Fringe Benefits", While Farmers Have Many Forms To File

In April, 1965, Vietnam and adjacent waters were declared a "combat zone" for income tax purposes. This provides that any enlisted member of the armed forces on active duty in Vietnam may exclude his pay from Federal income taxes. Commissioned officers may exclude up to $500 per month. The exemption applies for each month, or part of a month, in which the serviceman was in the combat zone, and one day's service is enough to qualify him for the entire month.

In general, servicemen pay taxes on income they receive from their active duty pay, any lump sum payments received when discharged or released to inactive duty, or as members of the armed forces academies, R.O.T.C., or reserve units. They also owe Federal taxes on special pay for extra hazardous duty outside a combat zone, military retirement pay, and all other miscellaneous income sources (such as stock dividends or real estate profits).

Subsistence allowances and the value of lodging provided members of the armed forces, as well as those in the Coast Guard and Geodetic Survey and the Public Health Service, are tax exempt. A commissioned officer does not have to include in his taxable income any temporary lodging allowance he gets in addition to his basic quarters and subsistence allowances while he is awaiting assignment outside the continental United States.

Mileage and per diem allowances for official travel can be excluded from a serviceman's taxable income if they do not exceed the actual costs. Mess bills afloat are deductible by naval officers if the voyage is more than one day and the officer's duties require him to sleep away from his home port.

A serviceman can deduct his costs of insignia, cap devices, chin straps, and similar items for his uniform. However, he cannot deduct the costs of any regulation uniforms he buys if these are available to him as a government issue.

Reservists who buy their own uniforms and are not repaid for them can deduct this cost, as well as the cost of laundry or cleaning of these uniforms. The travel expenses of a reservist to and from duty can be deducted if he is not reimbursed for them.

Veterans have other special tax benefits. Pensions or similar payments received for personal injury or sickness resulting from active duty in the armed forces of any country are not taxable.

A disabled veteran can elect to have his disability payments figured on his length of service rather than the percentage of his disability. If he does this, his disability pay will not be taxable to the extent that it does not exceed the amount he would get under the percentage of disability method.

Any excess is considered "sick pay" and is taxable to a certain extent until the veteran reaches normal retirement age. Sick pay rules were changed in the 1964 tax law, and veterans with disability payments under the length of service method should familiarize themselves with these changes.

Retired members of the armed forces or reserves can waive part of their retirement pay in order to receive similar compensation from the Veterans Administration. The advantage here is that V.A. compensation is tax exempt, while ordinary retirement pay, other than for disability, is taxable.

Dividends from government service contracts, National Service Life Insurance, converted War Risk insurance, as well as state veterans' bonuses and tuition and subsistence allowances under the G.I. Bill are tax-free to veterans.

Servicemen in the lower grades, and therefore with lower pay, would be wise to check into the minimum standard deduction provided by the 1964 tax law. It could save them more taxes than if they take the usual standard deduction.

Farmers Have Many Forms To File At Taxpaying Times For most Americans, the 15th of April is the deadline for filing income tax reports and payments with Uncle Sam.

However, the farmer's tax deadline can be February 15 or April 15, depending on whether or not he filed a declaration of estimated income by January 15th. Or, if he operates his farm on a fiscal year instead of a calendar year, it could be the 15th of some other month.

The farmer's taxpaying task is fairly complicated since he must always complete more forms than the average taxpayer. When a farmer should pay his Federal income taxes and how he should fill out the several required forms, as well as the deductions he is allowed, are covered in an excellent booklet entitled "Farmer's Tax Guide" published by the Internal Revenue Service. The Department of Agriculture and some State Agricultural Extension Services also have booklets on farm income tax management.

A Look At Mistakes Some publications are readily available to most farmers, let's concentrate here on some of the mistakes farmers frequently make in preparing their Federal returns.

In addition to the regular Form 1040, a farmer must also file Schedule F, titled "Schedule of Farm Income and Expenses". On this three-page form, a farmer can claim deductions which run the gamut from advertising expenses to water rent.

We often find that farmers tend to list personal and household expenses as a farm business deduction. This, of course, is not permitted by tax law. Farmers also cannot deduct the value of their own labor as an operating expense.

Many farm returns will have the full cost of machinery deducted in the year of purchase. This also is not allowed. The cost of farm machinery and similar property with a useful life of more than a year must be spread out over the property's useful life.

Most depreciable property acquired or constructed prior to April 19, 1969 (except buildings and livestock), may qualify for the 7 per cent investment tax credit. This credit is subtracted directly from the tax rather than the income, which makes it a great deal more valuable than a regular deduction. The investment tax credit is limited to not more than the tax less any other credits.

However, under "tax reform" legislation currently before Congress, the investment credit would be repealed for property acquired or constructed after April 18, 1969, subject to a number of exceptions. The credit would continue to apply to property acquired before April 19, 1969.

Therefore, if you acquired or (Continued On Page 5)

Bill Seeks To Repay U.S. Debt To Maryland

For the past four years, Maryland and 17 other states have advanced funds for the construction of waste treatment plants under the Clean Waters Restoration Act of 1966. They took this action under the assumption that they would be repaid. However, the sad fact is that they have not received any reimbursement. Maryland alone is owed $54.5 million for projects prefabricated to date, while the total to be prefabricated under current state plans will reach about $91 million. Amounts owed to other states include: New York, $382.6 million; New Jersey, $49.3 million; Pennsylvania, $30 million; Connecticut, $72.5 million and Michigan, $59 million.

The basic source of the reimbursement problem has been Congressional failure to appropriate the full sums authorized by the Clean Waters Restoration Act. Authorizations for fiscal years 1968 to 1970 totaled $2.15 billion, but appropriations totaled only $1.21 billion.

Last week, I introduced an amendment to President Nixon's water pollution control legislation which seeks to guarantee repayment of the Federal debts to Maryland and the other states. The bill would authorize the appropriation of additional funds, above the $4 billion requested by the Administration, to the extent necessary to complete full reimbursement. However, there is more at stake than $814 million owed the states or the integrity of a single Federal grant-in-aid program. The basic issue is the credibility of Federal commitments.

In case after case during the 1960's, the American people saw the Federal executive propose and the Congress enact impressive domestic programs, intended to meet urgent national needs through Federal-state-local partnerships. Commitments were many, ambitious goals were set, and substantial Federal aid was authorized not only for water pollution control, but also for education, housing, Model Cities, anti-poverty programs, health care and law enforcement. In virtually every case en-

Income Tax

constructed any property or assets prior to April 19, 1969 which might qualify for the investment credit, you would be extremely wise to seek competent tax assistance to determine whether substantial savings are possible in your particular case.

Another form a farmer must frequently file is Schedule D—

"Gains and Losses from the Sale or Exchange of Property". The farmer must use this schedule to report profits or losses from the sale of livestock and other items which he bought or raised for farm use and then later sold.

For example, if a farmer sells some dairy cattle he raised but which were no longer producing milk as they once had, he would report the income from the milk they produced on Schedule F, but the money from the sale of the animals would be reported on Schedule D.

Tax rules provide that livestock used for work, breeding, or dairy purposes and held for 12 months or more can be treated as long term capital gains when sold for a valid reason.

Gas Rebates
Farmers must report as income all gas rebates to which they are entitled whether they receive them or not. They must report the gas rebate as income, even if they do not fill out the forms entitling them to the rebate itself.

Studies conducted by Stanford University report that striped bass fishing in California waters contributes more than $7 million annually to the state's economy.—Sports Afield

Most people keep a calendar at home to remind them of important dates, such as birthdays, holidays, anniversaries, and appointments.

April 15 should be circled on your calendar:

—if you are self-employed and your net earnings for 1969 were $400 or more;

—if you get social security benefits and you earned more than $1,680 in 1969.

April 30 is an important date to you:

—if you employ a household worker in your home and you paid her cash wages of $50 or more in the first quarter of 1970.

"Self-employed people who had net earnings of $400 or more in 1969 are required to file a report of their earnings and pay social security contributions on those earnings by April 15," said W. S. King, District Manager in Hagerstown.

If your net earnings for 1969 amounted to $400 or more, you will get social security credit for all your net earnings up to $7,800. Your social security contribution on your 1969 net earnings is 6.9 per cent.

Along with your social security contributions and any income tax you owe, submit the following forms to the Internal Revenue Service: Form 1040 (U.S. Individual Income Tax Return, Schedule SE (Computation of Social Security Self-Employment Tax), Schedule T (Tax Computation), and Schedule C (Profit—Loss—Business or Profession).

"Basically, the same rules apply to self-employed farmers," Mr. King continued. "But there are some exceptions as to when they must file their reports and how they report their earnings. Get in touch with us for more information."

April 15 is also the due date for social security beneficiaries to file their annual report of earnings if they worked in 1969.

If you were under 72 at least one full month in 1969 and you get monthly social security benefits, and you earned more than $1,680 in 1969, you are required by law to file an annual report of earnings with the Social Security Administration.

If you reported during 1969 that you expected to earn more than $1,680 and you received some benefits for that year, you should have received an annual earnings report form in the mail. "If you didn't," says Mr. King, "get in touch with us and we'll get the form to you. Failure to file a report may result in loss of additional benefits."

"The April 30th date applies to employers of household workers," Mr. King said. "If you employ a household worker and you paid her cash wages of $50 or more in the first quarter of 1970 (January, February, and March), you are required by law to report these wages and pay social security contributions on them."

You deduct 4.8 per cent from the total cash wages you paid your employee during the quarter, and you pay an equal amount as her employer.

Send these contributions to the Internal Revenue Service, along with either Form 942 or Form 941, by April 30.

"So, why don't you circle whichever date applies to you on your calendar to remind you to get your reports in on time," suggests Mr. King.

Census Crew Leaders Named For County

Appointment of crew leaders for the 1970 Census of Population and Housing in this area was announced this week by Manager Nan M. Nichols of the Census Bureau's temporary census office in Hagerstown.

Each crew leader will supervise 15 to 20 enumerators in the big nationwide census that begins April 1. Crew leader training is now under way. Topics being covered in the training sessions include procedures for recruiting census enumerators, training, canvassing methods, preparation and submission of reports, and supervision of enumerators to insure a complete and accurate count.

The crew leader is one of the key people in the field operations of the 1970 census. It is his responsibility to recruit and train the enumerators; to assign each one to an enumeration district; to review the work of each and see that it is correct; and to handle problems of difficult enumeration.

Names and addresses of crew leaders of Frederick County, follow:

Mrs. Winifred Keefe, R2, Box 44AA, Thurmont; Mrs. Carole Larsen, R1, Frederick; Mr. Elliott Haines, R2, Myersville; Mrs. Patricia Warner, 104 W. Third St., Frederick; and Mrs. Helen Swanson, 100 Fairview Ave., Frederick.

A country can't live on love alone.

There are a lot of things a man can do for his country. Including saying his piece, pro or con.

And talk is an important part of what makes a democracy like ours work.

But in the final analysis, talk is cheap. Personal involvement accomplishes a lot more.

Putting part of your savings to work for America is a step in that direction. To provide some of the economic strength it takes to make the whole system run.

That's one reason why Savings Bonds mean a lot.

They help to pay part of the cost of running a country where you're free to speak your mind.

And they help you at the same time. With interest and security.

So next time you have something to say about America, let your Bond purchases do part of the talking.

If they're lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace 'em.

Continuing Growth For Commercial Banks

By Babson's Reports Incorporated, Wellesley Hills, Mass., March 12, 1970 — Commercial bank earnings increased during 1969 because of the strong demand for loans and the high interest rates. However, the same high interest rates also limited and, in many instances, eliminated growth in deposits. This is particularly true in business-oriented banks located in major money centers such as New York City. These banks were forced to find other sources for funds such as Eurodollars which demand interest in excess of the domestic prime rate. The result was a profit squeeze for many commercial banks.

Changes In Reporting Procedures

New regulations have resulted in a basic change in the way banks report earnings. They must now show two different sets of earnings—net operating earnings, which include loan losses, and net income, which reflects losses or gains from security transactions. In 1969 this tended to suppress earnings somewhat, but in future years the net income figure will be greatly influenced by the securities market.

Thus, banks may enhance or depress these earnings if they desire. Managing the bank portfolio, consisting primarily of bonds, will be more difficult. A decision must be made whether to upgrade the bond portfolio and obtain a better yield for several years and sacrifice reported net earnings for the year involved, or maintain the status quo for the sake of the year-to-year earnings picture. Another factor is the new regulation on bond appreciation now taxed as regular income rather than as capital gains for commercial banks. Regardless of the decision made on investment policy, net income is subject to fluctuations under the new method of reporting earnings.

Country Banks

The country banks, which are consumer banks, fared somewhat better last year than banks in major money centers, but disintermediation prevented even greater earnings growth. During the latter part of 1969 there was a strong run on Certificates of Deposit, and these banks were forced to find other sources of money. One Philadelphia bank converted Regulation Q of the Fed by offering $20 million 7 1/2% subordinated notes in denominations of $100 to attract funds from the small investor. This had proven quite successful, and it was visualized that these notes could be further utilized if money remained tight. However, the Federal Reserve Board is considering closing this loophole by imposing a minimum $20,000 denomination and a minimum maturity of five years per note.

The increase in the minimum denomination of Treasury Bills from $1,000 to $10,000 should result in more deposits for commercial banks, as the small investor loses what is considered the safest and most liquid form of savings other than bank deposits. The Fed's ruling in late 1969 to allow banks to pay higher interest on time deposits proved to be too little, too late.

Lower Interest Rates Expected
The Research Staff of Babson's Reports foresees a reduction in interest rates during the year, which should result in expanding deposits for all banks. At the present time there are indications of some easing in the demand for loans. However, this is slight, and the overall demand is still brisk. Many banks would prefer to reduce the expensive borrowing they have done, such as in Eurodollars, than to expand loans. This would improve liquidity and should mean better profit margins. Another advantage of lower interest rates would be found in the bond portfolio of banks, which would gain in value. We are currently recommending for purchase Chase Manhattan Corp., Republic National Bank of Dallas, and Western Bancorporation.

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of our dear parents, Charles W. Hess, March 13, 1923, and Nellie G. Hess, April 22, 1933.

Years have passed dear Mom and Dad, since you were called away

How well do we remember that sad and dreary day.

The years may wipe out many things, but this they wipe out never,

The memory of those happy days, when we were all together.

To have, to love and then to part, is the greatest sorrow to ones heart.

They say time heals all sorrow, and helps one to forget, but Time has so far only proven how much we miss you both yet.

The flowers we place upon your graves will wither and decay, But the memory of you both who sleep, will never fade away.

Dear God, please whisper that our thoughts are with them in the kingdom up above, Tell them that we miss them and send them all our love.

Your loving son, Charles Hess and wife, and daughter Ethel Miller. 1tp

NO. 22,708 EQUITY
In the Circuit Court for Frederick County, Maryland, in Equity
BEATRICE I. CUTSAIL
vs.
ROBERT L. CUTSAIL
The object of this Bill is to procure a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII by the Complainant, Beatrice I. Cutsail, from the Defendant, Robert L. Cutsail. The Bill states in substance that the Complainant is a resident of Frederick County, State of Maryland, where she has resided for more than one year last past; that the Defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, whose last known address was Portland, Oregon; that your Complainant was married to the Defendant on the 25th day of July, 1964, at Frederick, Maryland, by a regularly ordained Minister of the Gospel; that one child was born as a result of the marriage; and that the parties on or about the 1st day of July, 1968, entered into a mutual and voluntary separation agreement, and have lived separate and apart, without any cohabitation, since that date, which is more than eighteen consecutive months from this date; that the separation is beyond any reasonable hope or expectation of reconciliation. The Bill prays that the Complainant be divorced A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the Defendant; that she may be granted the care and custody of the minor child; that she be granted general relief and process.

It is thereupon this 16th day of February, 1970, by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, sitting as a Court of Equity, ORDERED that the Complainant give notice to the said non-resident Defendant of the object and substance of this Bill by causing a copy of the same to be published in some newspaper published in Frederick County, once a week for four successive weeks prior to the 21st day of March, 1970, commanding him to be and appear in this Court, in person or by Solicitor, on or before the 21st day of April, 1970, and show cause, if any he has, why a Decree shall not be passed as prayed.

drug use problem. Trooper Wayne Tucker of the Maryland State Police recently made such a talk to the seventh graders at Thurmont Middle School.

Are these talks effective? Do they have an impact on the students? The following account of the talk written by Dale Webster, a seventh grade student at Thurmont Middle School, answers "yes" to such question.

"On February 18, our seventh grade class was visited by Trooper Wayne Tucker of the Maryland State Police. He told us about drugs and showed a movie. The movie explained both sides of the thoughts about drugs. Some types of drugs, such as marijuana, are described by some to be non habit-forming. Most addicts, however, start on a less dangerous drug such as this.

Marijuana gives one a feeling of being "high". After one uses marijuana a number of times, he wants a different drug to give him an increased "high". After the "Pothead" (they're called this because they use pot) switches to a more powerful drug, he becomes dependent on it. Some of the more powerful and dangerous drugs are heroin, LSD, mash, and speed. Some doctors believe that marijuana might not be as dangerous to one's health as smoking but the difference is that, for safety's sake, one wouldn't dare do the things when on marijuana that you can do while smoking an ordinary cigarette.

LSD is the most powerful and dangerous drug. It is colorless, odorless, and tasteless. Although it gives one a "high", LSD sometimes causes "flashbacks" and takes you on another trip without warning. One man took LSD and had a "flashback" four years later. One of the bad things about LSD or other drugs is that you don't know when you're going on a "good trip" or a "bad trip". On a bad trip, the user could see monsters or some of the other things that he fears the most.

Heroin is another of the most dangerous drugs; it gives one the most intensive "high". It is injected into the veins.

Officer Tucker served as an undercover agent for the State Police to find who was using or selling drugs. He lets his hair grow down to his shoulders and grew a beard. He wore bell bottoms and other clothes that made him look like a hippie. When he attended church in his own home town, some people didn't know him. Those who did recognize him thought he had quit the force and became a hippie.

One hundred and sixty-seven seventh graders listened intently to Trooper Tucker's presentation, had their questions answered, and examined the large display case showing all sorts of items used by those who take drugs. After listening to Trooper Tucker, I believe that it would be very foolhardy for anyone to take drugs."

Says Wheat Prices Stabilized

Raymond F. Jaeger, Chairman of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee, said this week the latest U. S. Department of Agriculture reports indicate that world wheat prices have stabilized and prices are likely to hold at least at current levels even though world wheat supplies continue heavy and may increase.

U. S. wheat stocks on Jan. 1 were 1,527 million bushels, around 180 million above a year earlier. Of the total, privately held stocks were 653 million bushels, down 55 million from a year earlier. These smaller free stocks together with an expected increase in wheat use during the first six months of 1970, compared with the same period a year ago, may result in a somewhat better picture than the $1.28 per bushel average farm price of January, May 1969.

Exports of all wheat in the current marketing year are expected to total around 600 million bushels, some 10 per cent above last year's outgo. This prospect is based on improved exports to Japan, more competitive U. S. export prices, and somewhat reduced competition in spring wheats from the USSR and Australia the rest of this year.

On the other hand, demand for U. S. wheat in some markets is down from last year, and other nations are becoming more aggressive in the Latin American market.

Mr. Jaeger said the wheat price prospects are based in part on anticipation that farmers will make extensive use of the price support loan program as well as on an expected gain in exports. Wheat growers were also reminded by the ASC Committee Chairman that sign up for participation in the 1970 wheat program (as well as the feed grain program) is currently under way at ASCS county offices. Sign up will continue through March 20.

On Saturday, March 28, 1970, each family receiving mail through this post office, is to receive a census questionnaire.

If a family on one of our rural routes fails to receive a census questionnaire, it will be their obligation to request it from the carrier on his next trip.

If your mail is received thru a Post Office Box or in General Delivery, each family should receive one questionnaire on this day. If for some reason a family does not receive this form, again it is their obligation to request one from the clerk on duty.

College Plans Workshop

The Dept. of Modern Languages and Literatures of St. Joseph College will sponsor a foreign language workshop on March 13 and 14. Participants include Daughters of Charity teaching in the Community's Southeast Province, comprised of eastern states from Maryland to Florida.

Participants will be welcomed at the opening session in Dubois Lounge by Sister Jerome Nossell, Community supervisor for the schools of the province. Sister Margaret Flinton, chairman of the language department, will develop the workshop's theme, "Forward Thrust in Language Sharing."

Morning sessions for Saturday's meeting will be held at the nearby St. Joseph's Provincial House. Professional development and curricular activities are scheduled for the first sharing session, followed by visual art and its varied applications in conjunction with the screening and follow-up of several 16mm French and Spanish films.

In the college Language Learning Center on Saturday afternoon, multi-media techniques will be demonstrated. Individualized learning, programmed instruction, student-teacher prepared materials, and provision for individual differences will also be discussed.

Educational displays are planned for the Interpretation Center and the Language Learning Center. The concluding buzz session will be videotaped.

CATOCTIN HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

By Roxie Aulob

On March 5, an issue of the "Cougar Crier," the CHS school paper, fresh from the press, was sold to students for a small price of 5c. This year the paper is being printed by the AAA Printing Company of Smithsburg.

Six students from the Catoctin High School Band were selected for the All-County Band. They were Gwen Jagow, flute; Bev Davis and Cheryl Smith, clarinets; Connie Calimer, French horn; and Bob Frushour and Ray Thompson, trumpets.

The band will attend the annual District Band Festival on Saturday, March 14, at South High in Hagerstown. Catoctin was the host band for this affair last year.

"The Dawn of the Zodiac," sponsored by the Freshman Class, was presented on March 6 and featured Damon and the Expressions in Color.

The freshmen have also sponsored a bake sale and are planning other fund raising activities. The class officers are: Bill Carr, president; Dean Gillespie, vice president; Ruth Seiss, secretary; and Jim Sanders, treasurer.

The sophomore class officers and the various committees for the April 3rd dance met and decided upon a theme and decorations for their dance. "Pool's Follies" will be held from 8 to 11 and a guest list will be in effect.

The Class of '72 is led by president, Tom Willard; vice president, Patsy Brett; secretary, Carol Gearhart; treasurer, Olivia Myers; and historian, Anne Umbel.

On Friday, March 20, the yearbook staff is sponsoring a pizza dance. The pizzas will be prepared by Fitzgerald's Shamrock. The dance cost is $1.00 and the music will be provided by "The Clover."

The three chief editors for the Nitcotac are Susie Fitzgerald, editor in chief; Wanda Riffle, managing editor; and Roxey Overcash, business editor. Yearbook advisor is Mrs. Linda Rocco. The editors and advisor, along with the rest of the staff are working to meet their first deadline set for this week.

One day a week, an eight period day is held at Catoctin. Each class is shortened so that there is enough time for an additional period at the end of the day. During this time different clubs and organizations meet. If students do not desire to attend any of these activities they can report to the auditorium for study or may attend a "rap session."

Activities such as Student Council, FHA, FBLA, FFA, yearbook, newspaper, tennis team, gymnastic club, volleyball intramurals, class meetings, drama club, art club, band ensembles, a music folk group and others may be attended.

On March 17, Catoctin High will be the host school for the girls' volleyball playday. Representatives from schools all over the county will play competitive games against each other.

"New direction and new ideas may be very much in order. Then, too, I hope that time will be available that I may resume my practice as a housing consultant."

Holter, retired farmer and former trustee of the University of Maryland, assumed the duties of chairman at the commission's Thursday meeting and will serve out the remainder of Speer's term, which expires July 12 of this year. Officers are elected annually.

Holter served as an adviser to the commission from July 12, 1967, to July 12, 1968, when he was appointed as a member. He currently serves as a member of the executive committee of the Maryland State Grange.

Computer Science Lecture Scheduled

"Interactive Computer Graphics is the subject of the second in a series of free lectures on computer science at St. Joseph College on Friday, March 20, at 3 p.m.

Jerome A. Hudson, mathematician with the Information Processing Technology Division of the National Bureau of Standards at Gaithersburg, Md., will lecture on the topic in room 10 of the Dodd Science Center on campus.

A St. Joseph's senior, Celeste Fineran, spent last summer working under Mr. Hudson's direction at the NBS on a program for the automatic recognition of hand-drawn characters. Her program was written in the Basic language, and was run on the SDS 940 time-sharing system at the NBS in Boulder, Colo.

The lectures, which will continue into April and May, are jointly sponsored by St. Joseph and Mt. St. Mary's Colleges, and are open to anyone who has had at least one course in computer science and to teachers interested in the subject.

Joey Ott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ott, is home on leave after serving four months in the Job Corps Center, Estacada, Oregon.

Local Man Unhurt In Car Mishap

An Emmitsburg area motorist and his passenger were not hurt when their sedan collided with a light pole in a private drive off Legislative Route 01001 in Hamiltonban Twp., two miles north of Fairfield at 12:05 a.m. Sunday.

State police said that John E. Hobbs, 32, Emmitsburg R2, was driving north on the Legislative Route when he failed to negotiate a curve, went off the left side of the road, collided with a light pole in the private drive of Howard Deal, Fairfield R1, and continued into a ditch. Damage was estimated at $300 to Hobb's 1964 Chevrolet sedan and $40 to Deal's light pole. Neither Hobbs nor his passenger, Richard Hanes, 27, of

World Book Lore

The name Venezuela means little Venice. When Spanish explorers reached the country they found an Indian village built on wooden poles above a lake. It reminded them of Venice, so they named it Venezuela.
