While handing out plaudits to those responsible for assisting in the Town Clean-Up last week, the usual thing occurred. I left out one of the principal characters in the cast. Charlie Wetzel is the fellow who was so grossly mistreated by me. Charlie offered the use of his dump near town so the local clean-up crews could dump their trash at a convenient place. Charlie never shirks his responsible civic duties and if there is anything he or his boys can do for Emmitsburg, you can bet your bottom dollar they'll be there when the chips are down. Charlie and his crew do lots of little things and favors for the local citizenry, many of which we never even hear a word about. He'll help the churches, schools, organizations and individuals... that's why we are sorry we missed him in the write-up last week. Two others deserving extra credit also, were Town Commissioners Norman Flax and Ernest Rosensteel who manned the garbage truck during the collecting. Anyway, thanks to all for a job well done!

It seems to me that Maryland has been overlooking one of its most important claims to fame. Saturday will be the running of the 95th Preakness at Pimlico. This we take for granted, but why not more publicity? Kentucky takes national pride in spreading the word and publicizing the Derby. The Preakness is just as great and important as the Derby but why the muffled acclaim? The race will pay the winner $150,000... and that ain't hay, as the saying goes. We are not asking that the event be made a national holiday, but I do think more and better national publicity should be striven for to publicize this great racing event and to let the Nation know that Maryland is a racing state and that some of the world's best horses nibble on our grass. Perhaps the appearance of a few national figures would enhance the event somewhat and make it more prestigious than it is. Anyway, what have we to lose?

At long last work has begun on the overpass that will carry Rt. 97 over Rt. 15 in east Emmitsburg. Since October a contract had been let for the project and not until this week was any work started. Then heavy machinery was brought into action and the dirt began to fly and now the men are hard at it. When completed, the bridge will have done away with one of the most dangerous intersections in our State. Approximately 10 people have been killed at this cross-road in the five years it has been open to travel. Three years ago accidents and fatalities there were so bad that Governor Tawes had to come here and personally inspect the scene. At the time several important modifications were made, including the installation of a complicated system of stoplights. These will not be needed once the new bridge separates the two highways, and this should eliminate practically all accidents at that intersection. This move comes none too soon and as a matter of fact, it should have been done several years earlier. At any rate, the dangerous intersection is on its way out and the sooner the project is completed the better off everyone will be.

VFW AMBULANCE

Donald Stoner, East Main St., and Thomas Eyer, East Main St., were transported to Warner Hospital this week in the VFW ambulance. Claude Barrick, III, Walkersville, was taken to the Frederick Memorial Hospital in the vehicle, and Sister Stephanie, St. Joseph's Provincial House, was taken to Providence Hospital, Washington, D.C., in the ambulance. Drivers were Donald Byard, Leo M. Boyle and James Kittinger.

Commencement exercises are scheduled to begin at 2:30 p.m. Noted for his forthright statements on current social and religious problems, and for major contributions in the field of education, McDevitt is former chairman of the Massachusetts State Board of Education. In October 1967 he went to Rome to participate in the Third World Congress of the Lay Apostolate.

His leadership in education and outstanding role as a Catholic layman have earned for him a number of honorary degrees from other institutions of higher learning. He was awarded an honorary doctorate of laws in 1956 by St. Michael's College, Winooski, Vt.; an honorary doctorate of laws by St. Francis College, Biddeford, Maine, in 1964; an honorary doctorate of humane letters by the Catholic University of America, Washington, D.C., in 1967; and honorary doctorate of laws by St. John's University, Jamaica, N.Y., also in 1967; and an honorary doctorate of humanities by the Catholic University of Puerto Rico, Ponce, in 1969.

The leader of the fraternal society of 1,200,000 Catholic men is a native of Malden, Mass. He received a B.A. degree in 1928 and an M.A. in 1929 from Boston College.

He became teacher-principle in the Malden school system after graduation, and in 1942 was named superintendent of schools in Waltham, Mass., serving in that capacity until his election as deputy supreme knight of the Knights of Columbus in 1960. He served as chairman and member of several school boards in Massachusetts before becoming chairman of the Massachusetts State Board of Education.

In 1965, Pope Paul VI named McDevitt a Knight Commander of the Order of St. Gregory the Great "because of his endeavors for the good of the Church and for the advancement of everything Catholic." In 1968 he was raised to the rank of Knight of the Grand Cross, the highest in the order, because of the outstanding diligence and dignity with which he has served as chief executive officer of the Knights and because of his demonstrated devotion to the Catholic Church.

He has served on the National Citizens Committee for Public Schools, the White House Conference on Education, the American Association of School Administrators, the Educational Round Table of the Harvard Graduate School of Education and the Connecticut State Board for Regional Community Colleges.

In 1955 he was elected to the Knights of Columbus board of directors. He was chosen deputy supreme knight in 1960, and was elected supreme knight in 1964. He lives with his wife and two sons in New Haven, Conn.

Group To Discuss Bible At Meeting

One of the outgrowths of the 1970 Week of Prayer for Christian Unity (in January) was the promising beginning of a year-round series of discussions. Two were held that week, (Baptism, at Incarnation Church, and Marriage, at the Presbyterian Church) following the Ecumenical Service at St. Joseph's Church. The third discussion will take place Friday evening, May 22. The subject will be The Bible. Beginning at 8:15 in the Lutheran Parish House, our different approaches to The Bible and questions will be considered. Some light refreshments will be provided.

Over 50 persons attended the first two sessions. It is hoped a similar size group, or larger, will attend. Everyone is cordially invited.

Food Sale

St. Anthony's Parish will sponsor a Food and Clothing Sale on Saturday, May 16, starting in the parish hall at 2 p.m.

On sale will be delicious food and some new and used clothing. The general public is cordially invited to attend.

The VA announced earlier this year that 14,800 disabled veterans—some 4,100 more than last year—were studying in colleges and pursuing on-the-job training.

Town Board Confirms Appointments

Most of the appointments of Town employees were made by Mayor Samuel C. Hays at a special meeting of the Mayor and Commissioners held Wednesday evening in the Town Office. Chairman of the Board J. Norman Flax presided over the meeting.

The appointments, made by the Mayor, are always subject to the approval of the Board of Commissioners. Mrs. Regina Rybikowsky, who has served for the past two years as Town Clerk and Tax Collector, was reappointed.

Police Chief W. Henry Filler was reappointed to another term as head of the Police Department. It is expected that Officer Richard Etzler will continue on with the Police Dept.

Commissioner Thomas W. Bolinger was appointed as Town Treasurer. The appointments are effective immediately.

In other business, transacted during the meeting, the Board voted to send a letter of commendation to the various local Scout Troops who conducted the Clean-Up drive last week.

George Mahoney "Feels" County

George P. Mahoney, perennial candidate for top state office, launched his campaign in Frederick County last Thursday for the governorship.

The Baltimore Democrat said he has found things in Frederick County pleasant and orderly, and had high praise for his two probable opponents, Gov. Marvin Mandel and former Ambassador to France Sargent Shriver.

"The property of the taxpayers must be safeguarded and those desirous of an education must be guaranteed a right to this end," Mahoney said in commenting on the student unrest at the University of Maryland.

He said he felt the incumbent governor handled the situation well, and said that strong action must be taken against outsiders who "organize to destroy and disrupt education."

High among the issues he foresaw in the coming campaign were the high taxes and the spiraling cost of living.

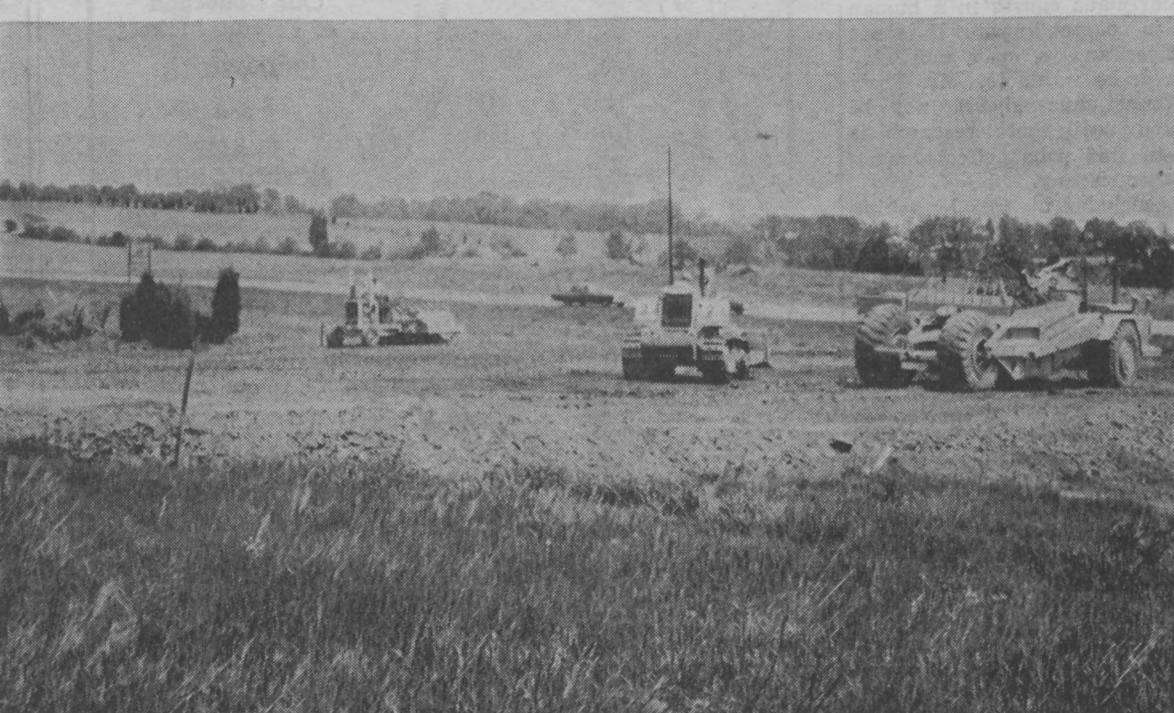

State government, he pointed out, has grown at a faster pace than the state as a whole, and called for business management of state government.

He also sees the conduct of the war as having a bearing on the state election, and said that at a State Department briefing two years ago, he was told that "we are not in South Vietnam to win the war."

Shriver, he said, is an able and dignified man but must get out to the grass roots level to sound out opinions of the people. "I use the Mahoney plan. I never have had the political leaders with me. A candidate should take his appeal to the people and let them play a part in thinking over the issues," he added.

The requirement that a notary public must witness signatures on affidavits required of nonseverely disabled veterans seeking VA hospitalization has been discontinued.

Work On Overpass Started This Week

Heavy earth moving equipment moved into operation this week as work on the overpass at Rt. 97 and 15 in East Emmitsburg was begun. The new bridge will carry Rt. 97, east-west, over Rt. 15, north-south, thereby eliminating the dangerous intersection at that area. Wolfe Brothers of Myersville, has the contract for the project.

Lions Club Plans Community Auction

Plans for a Community Auction were discussed at the regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Lions Club held Monday evening in Mt. Manor Restaurant, President Milton A. Sewell presiding.

It was announced that the Glade Valley Club will sponsor its annual chicken barbecue Sunday in the Woodshoro Fire Hall and a number of Lions are planning to attend the affair which starts at 12 noon.

The club voted a $10 donation to the Vigilant Hose Co. A letter from the Emmitsburg Library was received and invited the group to use its facilities for a meeting some time in the future. The Library is anxious to have the local citizenry see and use its excellent facilities.

Charlotte Yarroll Seeking Re-election As County Treasurer

Frederick County Treasurer, Charlotte W. Yarroll, today announced that she will be a candidate to succeed herself in the Fall Elections. Mrs. Yarroll, as she is known to Frederick Countians, will be seeking re-election under her newly married name of Kerrigan, she having recently married Matthew R. Kerrigan, of this county.

In order to avoid a confusion on official documents and a considerable amount of existing printed materials, the Treasurer requested and received a ruling from the Maryland Attorney General that she could maintain the name of Yarroll for the balance of her present term. In fact, the Attorney General further advised that she could run for re-election under that name if she desired but she has chosen to be a candidate as Charlotte W. Kerrigan.

A lifelong resident of Frederick County, Mrs. Kerrigan is the daughter of Mrs. Pearl Whitmore and the late James H. Whitmore. She is a graduate of Frederick High School and attended the Frederick Visitation Academy prior to becoming associated with the Treasurer's Office in 1939.

In 1944 Mrs. Kerrigan was appointed Deputy Treasurer by the late James H. Falk and served in that capacity until May, 1960, when she was appointed County Treasurer by Gov. J. Millard Tawes, to fill the vacancy created by the death of Mr. Falk. In 1963 and 1966 she was a successful candidate for the office.

Mrs. Kerrigan has achieved statewide recognition for her dedication, ability and efficiency in office. Year after year, both county and state auditors have had great praise for her record keeping.

In addition to her official role, Mrs. Kerrigan is active in church and civic work. Mrs. Kerrigan is Treasurer of St. Francis Chapter and a member of the choir of All Saints Episcopal Church in Frederick. She is a director of the American Cancer Society; Treasurer of the Women's Democratic League, member of the Jeffersonian Auxiliary, the Zonta Club and Maryland Finance Officers.

In addition to performing open heart operations in patients, he directs a research laboratory which conducts animal studies concerned with problems encountered in human cardiovascular operations in efforts to enhance the safety and extend the scope of cardiovascular surgery. He has contributed numerous scientific reports to the medical and surgical literature and has presented some of his findings at national medical and surgical meetings.

Dr. Reis is married, has two sons, and resides on a farm in New Windsor in Frederick County.

Student Group Would Sue Local College

The Young Americans for Freedom Chapter at Mount St. Mary's College announced that it will sue in the event of campus disorder which interrupts classes.

In a telegram sent to Dr. John J. Dillon, Jr., executive vice president of Mount St. Mary's, Joseph F. Baldacchino, Jr., state chairman of the 51,000 member YAF said: "by accepting our tuition this college has entered into a contract with us.

"We are here to get an education. If the actions of a belligerent minority deny us our rights by interrupting classes, we will bring suit, if necessary, to have the college live up to its contractual obligations.

"We will not passively accept a situation similar to those which are taking place currently on other campuses. We urge your support."

Baldacchino, a student at the college, emphasized that to that point the school had not been closed down and that it was far from certain that it would be closed down.

"Nevertheless," said Baldacchino, "in light of the events of the last week, anything is possible; and we wish to be prepared for any contingency. Many students here are concerned about the possibility of a strike emerging from a meeting called by the Leftist forces this week, and our telegram is meant to reassure them that the students who seriously desire a college education will not be deprived of this endeavor for lack of leadership.

Mount Student Killed In Crash

Gary Joseph Heim, 21, Rockville, a junior at Mount Saint Mary's College, was killed in a single car accident on I-70 near Clear Spring in Washington County at 1:40 a.m. Thursday, May 7.

Heim was killed when his car ran off the shoulder of I-70, five miles west of Clear Spring, near Md. Rt. 56. Tpr. Douglas Skidmore said Heim apparently fell asleep at the wheel. The car travelled 210 feet along the shoulder and an additional 60 on its top.

The Washington County medical Examiner E. W. Ditto III, listed the cause of death as a fractured skull.

Old South Pole Was In Sahara

The South Pole of 450 million years ago now boils in the Sahara's desert sun, a Columbia University scientist reports. A team of leading earth scientists from 11 nations unanimously agreed to this conclusion following a recent expedition to southeastern Algeria. "There is no question about it," he said. "The territory that was the earth's south polar region in the Upper Ordovician period is now the central Sahara." The flattened topography of the area grooves in ancient rock showed the result of continental glaciation—the kind that occurs only under a polar ice cap. At the time, South America and Africa were one continent and Antarctica and Australia were another. The North Pole of that era is Computer music can be "humanized" by using a pair of telegraph keys instead of a baton to "conduct" it, a Stanford University music professor says. Combinations of letters and numbers enable musicians to designate the duration of musical notes, pitch, amplitude and rhythm. "Quite acceptable computer performances can be produced with this means," he said, "but they lack the subtly controlled discrepancies inherent in human performance. In order to use humanly produced rhythm, a program can be written that creates input by reading the real time values tapped on two telegraph keys."

Industrial gases such as oxygen, nitrogen, carbon dioxide and argon are the "genies" of the Twentieth Century. Like Aladdin's slave, they can be compressed into a small container and on "command" expand 600 and more times into vapors to perform feats of "magic." At hundreds of degrees below zero they freeze mercury into a solid, yet, reports Chemetron Corporation, they can create a flame that will melt steel. The invisible gases weld and cut metals, freeze foods, fight fires, sustain life, carbonate beverages and power rockets into space.

Flights by civil aircraft over the United States at speeds that would cause a sonic boom to reach the ground should be prohibited, says the U. S. Department of Transportation. It said that this action would make air transportation compatible — not competitive—with the sought-for environmental quality of the nation.

Mrs. Rosensteel

Hosts Frontier Club

Mrs. Frances Rosensteel of Emmitsburg, hosted the May 4th meeting of the New Frontier Democratic Women's Club of Frederick County.

Mrs. Jane Bollinger, president of the group, opened the meeting with the Lord's Prayer. The minutes were read by Secretary Mrs. Ruth Houck, and Treasurer Mrs. Katherine Kugler gave the financial report. New business was discussed, and it was decided that there will be a "Candidates' Day" the night of August 3 at the VFW Post in Emmitsburg. All are invited.

It was also stated that as of this date there will be no voters' registration in Thurmont. Members are urged to take people wishing to register, to Frederick. We again stress that people register to vote since the period is ending when registration will carry with it eligibility to vote in the November election.

Frederick County residents may register at Winchester Hall, lower floor, on Mondays between 1 p.m. and 8:30 p.m., and Tuesdays through Fridays between 8:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. The registration period is over August 17.

The guest speaker for the evening was Mr. Robert Shaw, an Associate Professor of Sociology at Frederick Community College. Mr. Shaw is a native of Bryn Mawr, Pa. He received his A.B. from Temple University and is currently studying for his Ph.D. at New York University. The increased use of drugs in Frederick County was Mr. Shaw's topic.

Mr. Shaw spoke most convincingly about the extent of the drug problem in Frederick County, and he feels it has reached shocking proportions. It is Mr. Shaw's idea that if we are to understand youth's problem with drugs, we must first realize that we all belong to and are part of a drug culture. He dramatically called into question the social value of drug use: "Will drugs turn you on, or will they turn you off?" Mr. Shaw awakened the group to the fact that many of us are unconscious drug users. Every day we take into our systems the drugs in patent medicines to relieve headaches and colds, to induce sleep, to prolong waking, to facilitate dieting, and to relax nervous tension. What complicates the problem is the widespread advertising these drugs receive thru the mass media, which present the drugs as friends to man without cautioning us as to their harmful side-effects.

Frederick County's drug problem includes both hard and soft drugs use. From records of the National Institute of Health and from State Police official Carl Harbaugh, Mr. Shaw has learned of 350 heroin addicts in Frederick County. Mr. Shaw states that heroin is used as an escape route for oppressed ghetto dwellers, and has now found its way into middle class white communities. If the increased use of heroin by middle class whites indicates their desire to escape the problems of their own environment, we must ask ourselves what is wrong with middle class America that youth want to escape it.

Mr. Shaw informed the group that soft drugs such as marijuana and the amphetamines can be easily obtained by any child or teenager in Frederick County. He feels that the flow of soft drugs is controlled by a syndicate that brings the drugs across the U. S. borders. Another big source is Vietnam veterans bringing marijuana back from that country where it grows free. What damage marijuana causes in a human being is not yet known. It is not addictive, and a user can stop whenever he wants to. Mr. Shaw feels marijuana should not be legalized until more research is done to find what effects marijuana has, if any.

He concluded his talk by asking us to examine the reasons behind teen-age drug use, and to determine what effects these drugs have, to explore the possibility of government subsidized funds for drug research, to conduct open discussions with youth to determine their attitudes on love, hatred, war, and to foster church sponsored dialogues along these lines without any Sunday sermonizing. Finally, we should look to the schools and colleges to inform themselves about the drug problem so that users can be adequately counseled and non-users can be effectively dissuaded from starting drugs.

Vietnam Veteran Held 72-Hour Vigil At Mount

A former Vietnam veteran and sophomore class president at Mt. St. Mary's College, Michael A. O'Malley, Chillum Terrace, Md., conducted a 72-hour fast and vigil in front of a makeshift peace light at the college Student Union Building over the weekend demonstrating against college students all over the country who are protesting United States military involvement in Cambodia.

O'Malley began his vigil at 10 p.m. Thursday and carried it through to 10 Sunday evening when all students would have returned from the Washington, D. C., protests.

O'Malley said his goal parallels those of the current protesters, that of achieving peace and moving American troops out of South Vietnam. O'Malley's means of attaining those goals differ from the protesters.

"I am supporting President Nixon's action to permit the United States military to enter Cambodia and destroy enemy bases," O'Malley said, "for I want to see America attain an honorable peace in Vietnam."

As a veteran, O'Malley said, he sees the Cambodian operation as a beginning to the end of the long war, for it will give the South Vietnamese vital time to build up military power to cope with the Communist threat and permit American troops to leave their soil.

President Nixon, O'Malley said, deserves a chance. He is putting his political career on the line for America, and we should give him all our support until his June 30 deadline for his withdrawal of American troops from Cambodia.

"After having been there and knowing troop morale, I am sure that nearly 100 per cent of the troops stationed in Vietnam are supporting President Nixon's Cambodian move for it gives them the opportunity to destroy arms that have been used to attack them and hamper peace efforts."

"Anti-war demonstrators are wrong in seeking an immediate pull out of American troops in South Vietnam," O'Malley said.

As O'Malley views it, the anti-war demonstrators have not stopped to study the implications of an immediate troop withdrawal from the south or the benefits to be derived by the Cambodia action.

Asked whether the South Vietnamese want American troop support, O'Malley said during his year stay there, he found that the natives had a taste of the terrorism and the atrocities of communism from the North Vietnamese and want no part of it.

"I would like to see," O'Malley said, "President Nixon turn the Vietnam problem over to the military and give them 90 days to withdraw American troops safely from Vietnam." In such a program, O'Malley said, the military officials would act immediately to put down all communist threats to American troops in the country which would probably entail measures such as bombing all North Vietnam storage and supply areas including the port of Haiphong.

Seventy-five per cent of the students at the college, although divided on their feelings on Vietnam were said by campus reports to be supporting O'Malley's views of the Cambodian situation. O'Malley recommends a hitch in the armed forces for any student before pursuing a college career.

VFW Auxiliary Holds Meeting

The president then asked for volunteers to serve refreshments at the monthly meeting and a chart was provided so that the members could select the month most suitable. Due to community activities on the regular meeting night, it was decided to hold the meeting on June 11 instead of the first Thursday. Idella Fite's name was drawn for the door prize but was not present. Following the Treasurer's report, refreshments were served by Evelyn Ott and Phyllis Joy. Anna Stoner will serve the refreshments at the next meeting.

WOMEN'S HEALTH

Water, Water, Everywhere and...

How far away is the day when Americans will have to boil their drinking water? Will Americans have to travel away from home in order to avoid "tourists", the so-called travellers' sickness? These may seem alarmist questions. But, warn a growing number of scientists and conservationists, man's pollution-ability should never be underestimated. The world's water supply is limited and unreplaceable—your last glass of water may have once flowed under Cleopatra's barge.

This, after all, is the species that successfully aged 34,690 square miles of Lake Erie the equivalent of 10,000 years in 10 years. This is the species that made a body of water, the Cuyahoga River, so oily that it was declared a fire hazard. And, most impressive feat of all, this is the species that threatens to pollute the entire Atlantic Ocean!

Unmerry Voyage

Sailing across the Atlantic last year, Thor Heyerdahl—the Kon Tiki captain—saw plastic bottles, squeeze tubes and other signs of industrial civilization almost every day, no matter how far he was from shore.

"It was unpleasant to dip our toothbrushes into the sea," Heyerdahl recalls. "Once the water was too dirty to wash our dishes in."

Oil slicks deface the ocean a thousand miles from land. A senior scientist at the Woods Hole (Mass.) Oceanographic Institution, Howard Sanders, says, "Just in the past few years, we're finding that we can't sail anywhere in the Atlantic without finding oil." The Coast Guard listed 714 major oil spills in American coastal waters last year.

Since marine organisms produce much of the world's oxygen, pollution of the ocean threatens the very air we breathe.

In the short run, water pollution seems clearly visible and smelly—in filthy beaches, disgusting swimming areas, unpleasantly fragrant lakes and rivers, streams sudsy with detergents. But much more is unseen.

Untraceable Scourge?

Some public health authorities believe that thousands of cases of diarrhea, cramps, nausea and other gastrointestinal disturbances are due to polluted water or to seafood polluted by their habitat. One out of every two Americans is drinking water of uncertain quality, according to U. S. Public Health Service figures. Unbelievably enough, only 85 million Americans—less than half the population—live in areas where sewage receives the two-stage treatment now considered minimal.

Charles C. Johnson, Jr., administrator of the Consumer Protection and Environmental Health Service, blames pollution for one outbreak of disease a month for the past five years, defining "an outbreak" as anything from a few cases of hepatitis from polluted seafood to more than 10,000 cases of food poisoning. Johnson points out that unreported cases could well raise the toll a hundredfold.

Unfortunately, in most cases there is no way of knowing whether an upset stomach is caused by flu, something one ate or drinking polluted water. But, clearly, many stomach-turning waterborne organisms thrive. David D. Domink, Commissioner of Federal Water Pollution Control Administration, believes "the quality of the nation's water has probably degenerated in the last 10 years."

Stagnant Water

A Cleveland physician who tested the drinking water of some of his patients with gastroenteritis found that water sitting overnight in the pipes frequently contained the noxious bacteria, shigella and salmonella. He is convinced that many gastric upsets are caused by drinking several glasses of water daily on hot days when the weather encourages bacterial growth.

"The people of Cleveland," Dr. John J. Poland points out, "are drinking their own and their neighbors' purified urine and fecal matter."

A similarly gloomy view is held by Dr. Paul B. Cornely, president of the American Public Health Association, who says, "If the fish are dying, the people are not far behind."

Abused Resource

A scientist at the Department of the Interior believes that water is the most abused of the country's many abused natural resources. Besides oil, there are pesticides, agricultural manure and wastes, mining wastes, garbage, sewage, industrial effluents, and detergents to muddy the waters.

Destructive and ugly enough in their own right, many of these pollutants set in motion malignant processes. Thus, phosphates from human wastes and detergents fertilize algae to the point where these marine weeds can choke the life out of a lake or estuary as implacably and terrifyingly as a nest of hornets destroys a bull. Algae can convert sections of a sparkling river into a foot-thick sludge of green latex paint within a week.

Algae-Like Men

In the end, fertilized algae kill not only the water in which they've bred but also themselves as their proliferation exhausts the very nutrients that first encouraged their growth. In their modes of operation, mindless algae and shrewd though shortsighted men have much in common.

Still and near-still waters are particularly vulnerable to chemical and human wastes. All still waters "age"—that is, they eventually lose their oxygen and fish, become swamps and then solid ground. But, as with Lake Erie, this process called eutrophication has been incredibly speeded up by contaminants. Since the Great Lakes comprise one-fifth of the national water supply, this is no small matter. Only Lake Superior remains in excellent condition.

As for running water, Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, Nobel Prize winner, warns that in 10 years "We will be producing enough sewage and other waterborne wastes to consume, in dry weather, all the oxygen in all 22 river systems in the United States.

Runaway Race

Experts estimate that, even if the most advanced water pollution control devices were installed tomorrow in every city by some stroke of a wand, the problem of water pollution would repeat itself exactly within 20 years because of the nation's expanding population and consumption.

That is why treatment plants and improved sewage, while necessary, are only stopgaps. Priorities will have to be reordered. "Our whole system of common law and water control," points out Sanitary Engineer James B. Coulter, "is based on protecting the rights of polluters. We're working hard to reverse this and prevent pollution."

Progress may have to be redefined by cutting down on the need for chemical fertilizers, settling for old-fashioned soaps instead of detergents and agreeing that a three-child family is excessively large.

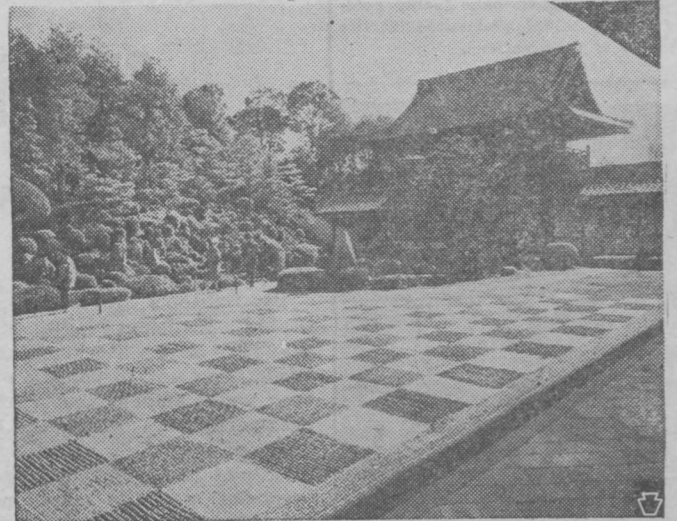

"This country would be better off with half the population," glumly remarks Prof. Kingsley Davis, director of International Population and Urban Research at the University of California at Berkeley.

Looking forward, Presidential Science Adviser Dr. Lee DuBridge contents himself with urging every school, university, church and family to set as its prime task holding population growth to zero. In other words, Americans can discover the joys of a two-child family or risk going down with the algae.

Marco Polo noted that the ancient Chinese wove cloth with colored cotton.

Garden of Simple Beauty in Japan

Many of the centuries-old Buddhist temples in the former Japanese capital of Kyoto have quiet gardens where visitors can relax and meditate, surrounded by calm beauty. At Tofukuji, a temple belonging to the Rinzai, a sect of Zen Buddhism, is a garden of unique simplicity and charm. Here, white sand is raked into a checkered pattern that offers a striking, yet harmonious, contrast to the rounded shrubbery planted amid an arrangement of rocks on a hill. A two-story gate building houses, in its upper story, early masterpieces of Japanese sculpture and painting.

Tofukuji was founded in 1236 and the gate building dates from the same period. Kyoto is less than twenty miles northeast of the Expo '70 site in the heart of Japan.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The Bill of Complaint is a suit to procure a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the Defendant, Shirley Ann Minnick.

The Bill recites that the Complainant is a resident of Frederick County, State of Maryland, where he has resided for more than one year last past; that the Defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, whose last known address is 21 North Broadway Avenue, West Pittsburg, California; that the parties to this cause were married on the 23rd day of April, 1954, at Mid-dletown, Maryland, by Rev. McCarney, a regularly ordained minister of the Gospel; that as a result of the said marriage two children were born, namely, Steven Roy Minnick, who is at the present time 15 years of age, and in the care and custody of your Complainant, and Jeffrey Scott Minnick, who is at the present time 7 years of age, and in the care and custody of the Defendant; that the Defendant did, on or about the 15th day of July, 1968, without just cause or reason, abandon and desert your Complainant, declaring her intentions to live with him no longer as husband and wife, that said abandonment and desertion has continued uninterruptedly for more than eighteen months prior to the filing of this Bill of Complaint, is deliberate and final, and that the separation of the parties is beyond any reasonable hope or expectation of reconciliation.

The Bill then prays that the Complainant, Robert Roy Minnick, may be divorced A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the Defendant, Shirley Ann Minnick; that he may be awarded the care and custody of Steven Roy Minnick, one of the infant children in these proceedings mentioned; and for such other and further relief as the nature of his case may require.

Pollution Control Stocks

By Babson's Reports Incorporated, Wellesley Hills, Mass., May 14, 1970—Stocks of companies involved in pollution control were among the market's best performers during the closing weeks of 1969 and the first month of this year. Riding the crest of publicity surrounding the need for greater environmental control and reflecting investor enthusiasm over the industry's future outlook, most pollution control stocks surged upward in an otherwise drab market climate.

As a result, many issues within this group were selling at relatively high price-earnings ratios, and were vulnerable to profit taking. Thus, these same issues fell sharply when the market again weakened. At this time, investors may well ask if current prices offer a new buying opportunity in this field. Economic Facts of Life

Now that much of the early fanfare about pollution control investments has simmered down, a hard look at economic realities is in order. While there is little doubt that a good deal of money will be spent on curbing pollution in coming years, the near-term outlook is somewhat more sobering. Despite the political outcries concerning environmental controls, enactment of legislation may move more slowly than anticipated. Many states are still dragging their feet, especially those trying to lure new industry. Another question mark is how stringently such laws will actually be enforced.

While businessmen are very much aware of the public's enthusiasm for cleaner air and water, they also know that the expenditures involved add to the cost of doing business. Therefore, meaningful voluntary expenditures by industry may fall considerably short of expectations without the spur of government legislation.

A Closer Look

The pollution control industry, like any other, has its own peculiar characteristics. Among the most significant of these is the problem of meeting highly specialized needs. Equipment must often be designed to fit rigid requirements of a particular industry, geographical location, plant size, specific pollutants, etc. To complicate matters further, acceptable standards which must be met are being continuously upgraded. This puts great stress on scientific expertise. Even more important, the industry is highly vulnerable to spiraling cost pressures which erode profit margins on fixed contracts with long lead times.

Investors considering pollution control control stocks should also recognize that for many companies sales of such products still account for only a small percentage of total revenues. The bulk of revenues for many so-called pollution companies are derived from other and often cyclical areas. Therefore, these firms, despite above-average growth in pollution control sales, are still subjected to the restraining effects of the economic slowdown over the near term.

Current Advice

The longer-term picture, however, is still bright despite the somewhat dull nearby look. The strong and growing support for pollution controls guarantees greater outlays by business or by the government over the years ahead. Thus, companies heavily dependent on business of this type should show above-average growth in the 1970s.

Nevertheless, in view of the currently unsettled market climate, the dependence on cyclical lines for many concerns, and the above-average price-earnings ratios commanded by many stocks in the industry, the Research Department of Babson's Reports does not advise purchase of most pollution control stocks at this time. However, investors who wish to participate in the industry's favorable longer-term outlook may consider purchase of American Air Filter convertible debentures, 6s of 1990, providing adequate yield plus the opportunity for capital appreciation.

Staffing Ratio

Above Average

In County Schools

In a report just issued by the Maryland State Department of Education, Frederick County falls almost exactly midway in the ranking of school system staffing ratios. Frederick County, with an overall ratio of 50.5 professionals per thousand students, ranks eleventh among the twenty-four public school systems of the state in this regard.

The twenty-three counties and Baltimore City range in their distribution from a high of 53.8 professionals per thousand students in Talbot County to a low of 45.8 in Dorchester. The state average staffing ratio is 50.2 professionals per thousand students.

Another statistic contained in the same section of the state report is a comparison of local wealth per pupil in the various systems. In this case wealth per pupil is arrived at by adding the value of real estate and net taxable income, and dividing by the number of children in school. In this ranking Frederick County, with a local wealth per pupil of $20,105, ranks seventh in the state. The range here is from a high of $30,349 per pupil in Montgomery County to a low of $10,679 in St. Mary's County.

Carroll County showed a local wealth figure of $17,858 and a staffing ratio of 51.2 professionals per students. Washington County's local wealth per pupil was $17,976 and their staffing ratio was 47.3. The report was compiled from data submitted for the 1968-69 school year.

Enlisting To Fight Drug Abuse
When we began planning the pioneering state-wide forum on drug abuse for Arkansas—as an example and challenge for the other 49 states—the Federal Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs, members of President Nixon's Task Force at many levels, and other authoritative agencies and individuals said that the swiftly expanding epidemic of dangerous drug use throughout the present youth generation could not be halted without the help of the youth leadership of the nation. This fact was kept constantly in mind as we formulated the forum program.

We brought nearly 3,000 young Arkansas leaders from the school districts and colleges of the state into the big municipal Auditorium in Little Rock on April 23 partly because we got the immediate and whole-hearted cooperation of Arkansas State Commissioner of Education, Arch Ford, the State Board of Education, and the school Superintendents and college administrators. Mr. Ford, recognized as one of the nation's top administrators, opened the forum and placed the entire resources of his agency behind the mobilizing youth crusade in Arkansas to combat drug abuse through education.

"Here To Learn"

In his brief speech to the state-wide assembly, Mr. Ford said: "Each generation of youth has its special problems. In my generation as a youth, the problem of drug abuse was not a national problem—not because young people in my early life were any different fundamentally to what they are now, but because the society in which I grew up was less complex, there were fewer tensions and pressures on young people.

"We're not here today in any sense to criticize youth. We're here to learn something about how to assist young people in coping with the problem of drug abuse, and you're here as leaders of your youth generation to get information to assist you in dealing with the problem.

A Challenge

"There is no question but that the students of today—both at the high school and college level—have a great deal more information and have profited far more from the 'explosion' of knowledge than was true 30 to 40 years ago. But the question of acquiring wisdom is to some degree a matter of maturity and it is up to the youth of today to demonstrate that it is able to acquire wisdom at a comparable rate with its ability to acquire knowledge. To me, this is the heart of some of the problems facing young people.

"I've come here today to listen to Dr. Benson and to others who are knowledgeable in this area with the hope that the State Department of Education may learn something about how to organize the resources of the departments in order to bring to you the things that you need in order to be effective at the local level both in high school and institutions of higher learning. The structure of public education is such in this country that it is the only structure of a public nature reaching every corner of every state in the nation. Therefore, it is only natural that the State Department, the State Board and the staff is called upon to lend its influence and its resources to marshal the forces necessary to deal with this expanding problem—drug abuse."

"Resource" People Valuable

Dr. James E. Dusenberry, Professor of Pharmacology at the University of Arkansas Medical Center and Chairman of Governor Winthrop Rockefeller's Task Force on Drug Abuse, was one of several "resource" speakers at the forum, giving a formal presentation and presenting a film, "Drugs and the Nervous System;" then responding to a 30-minute barrage of questions from the youth audience.

Another "resource" person on the program was James R.
Bland, one of the Federal Bu-

Preakness Run Saturday

The Preakness Stakes, rich in turf lore and money, will have its 95th running at Pimlico Race Course Saturday, May 16 with a large field of the country's best three-year-olds battling for glory and gold over the classic one and three-sixteenth miles.

Officials of the historic track, which is celebrating its Centennial year, expect the crowd to exceed last year's record figures when 43,259 fans wagered $3,198,- 502—both new highs for the state of Maryland.

The Preakness, middle and richest of the Triple Crown series which also includes the Kentucky Derby and Belmont Stakes, also figures to be close to record proportions. The richest Preakness, both in gross value and amount earned by the winner, was in 1968 when Forward Pass picked up $142,700 of the total purse of $195,200.

If as many as a dozen of the 158 nominees are in the starting gate when Eddie Blind sends them off at about 5:30 p.m. eastern daylight time, the 1970 renewal of the coveted stakes will be worthing $137,300. When Majestic Prince edged Arts and Letters in their memorable 1969 stretch duel, the race carried a gross value of $182,000 with $129,500 going to owner Frank McMahon.

Pimlico officials are going all out to make this the most attractive Preakness since its inception in 1873, when Survivor led a field of seven to the finish line.
Al Hirt, world famous trumpet player, will head the infield attractions. There also will be two rock and roll bands and a balloon ascension to add to the festive air. College and high school bands also will be on hand.

As for the race itself, it is shaping up as one of the most wide open in many a year. The last time as many as 12 started was in 1958 when Tim Tam carried the silks of Calumet Farm to the sixth of their seven Preakness triumphs. Forward Pass was

No. 7. The largest field, 18, was in 1928 when Victorian was first home.

Calumet expects to be back this year with Sunny Tim, stakes winning colt who was not eligible for the Kentucky Derby. Others who are in line to face the best to come out of the Kentucky Derby include Hickory Tree Farm's Hagley, winner of the Delaware Valley Handicap at Garden State Park; Orme Wilson, Jr.'s stakes winning colt, trained by Frank Whiteley, Jr. of Tom Rolfe and Damascus fame, and J. M. Poebling's Tepee Rings.

OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day

Phoenix Was First

News out of Canada this winter told of plans for a commercially sponsored stakes race to be run at Woodbine by The Jockey Club Ltd. The event, the Benson and Hedges Invitational, is to be a $40,000 pot, half of which will be put up by the sponsor. Sponsored races are no novelty in England and on the Continent, but it was believed that this would be the first such race in North America.

A bit of digging in the yellowing records by J. B. Faulconer, public relations director of the Keene-land Association in Lexington, Kentucky changes the picture;
Woodbine will have to be satisfied with scheduling the first such race in this century.

It seems that Keeneland's Phoenix Handicap, the oldest stakes race in the United States was also the first commercially sponsored race. A race at mile heats for three-year-olds, it was first run at Lexington's Kentucky Association track. Sponsored by Lexington's Phoenix Hotel, it was first run in 1831 and variously known as the Brennan Stakes, John Brennan then being proprietor of the Phoenix; the Chiles Stakes, after a subsequent proprietor; and the Phoenix Hotel Stakes. Last run at the Kentucky Association track in 1930 it was revived as the Phoenix Handicap by Keeneland in 1937.

Frederick County Backgrounds

BY SAMUEL CARRICK

Random Genealogical Notes

The column today will be a "hodge-podge" of random genealogical notes—bits of this and that. The majority of the "Piney Creek families intermarried and this all adds up to "cousin upon cousin upon cousin." It is difficult to "untangle" but interesting nonetheless.

To return to the Crapster family—before going into more "graveyard detail" it might be well to give some data on the background of the family itself.

Raliff (1) Crapster, who was apparently the pioneer ancestor of the family in this country, took up land near Taneytown, Maryland. This plantation was known as "Locust Grove", but later as "Sauble's Inn." At one time there was a graveyard on the property containing three, possibly four, graves, but the bodies were moved to the Taneytown Reformed Burial ground many years ago. Three of the markers are still intact—the inscriptions follow:

1. In memory of Susanna Crapster, consort of John Crapster, Sr., born July 1, 1761, died June 23, 1855, aged 88 years and 1 month.

Note: Susannah Little, the daughter of Peter Little, the founder of Littlestown, Pennsylvania, was married to John Crapster, Sr., on December 15, 1783.

2. In memory of John Crapster, Sr., born September 15, 1761, died September 19, 1824, at Locust Grove. Married December 15, 1783, to Susanna Little, daughter of Peter Little, Founder of Littlestown, Pennsylvania.

Note: This inscription is self-explanatory. John Crapster, Sr., was a son of Raliff (1) and Abigail Crapster and his grave was at one time located on the Locust Grove lands.

3. In memory of Walter O'Neal, died June 27, 1828, aged 34 years and 6 months.

Note: A Crapster "intermarriage" buried at Locust Grove.

When the three graves mentioned above were moved to the Reformed burial ground another grave was found—probably that of Raliff (1) Crapster. There was no marker but undoubtedly the founder of the Crapster family was buried on his own land.

Raliff (1) and Abigail Crapster were the parents of the following children:

1. Abraham (2) Crapster, the eldest son, born 1754 and died October 8, 1812. He married Margaret McCaleb (McKaleb) and moved to Liberty Town, Maryland. He was a merchant. His grave is at Piney Creek Churchyard.

2. John (2) Crapster — born September 1, 1761 and married Susanna Little, the daughter of Peter Little. The line of the family will be gone into more detail later.

3. Hannah (2) Crapster, the only daughter of Raliff (1) and Abigail Crapster, was born in 1755 and died July 24, 1835. She married John Jones, who was born in 1743 and died October 10, 1821 at Libertytown, Maryland. Her grave as well as that of her husband, is to be found in the burial ground of the Central Methodist Church, located near New London, Maryland.

Hannah (Crapster) Jones was the mother of the following children:

1. Abraham (3) Jones, born January 28, 1777.

2. John (3) Jones, born January 25, 1780.

3. William (3) Jones, born May 1, 1782.

4. Peter (3) Jones, twin, born August 11, 1785.

5. Abigail (3) Jones, twin, born August 11, 1785.

6. Raphael (3) Jones, born June 19, 1788.

7. Thomas (3) Jones, born October 11, 1792.

8. Absolon (3) Jones, born January 13, 1796.

9. Elizabeth (3) Jones, born July 1, 1798.

10. Basil (3) Jones, born October 20, 1800.

John (2) Crapster, son of Raliff (1) and Abigail Crapster, who married Susannah Little, inherited the "home plantation" and he and his family made it their home. They were the parents of a fair-sized family and apparently "did well by their children."

The family Bible of John (2) and Susanna (Little) Crapster is still in existence and because of their genealogical and historical value they are herewith given in full detail, as follows:

1. Susanna Little to John Crapster, were married December 15, 1783.

2. Peter Crapster, son of Susanna and John Crapster, was married to Elizabeth Hobbs, November 15, 1808.

3. Basil Crapster, son of Susanna and John Crapster, was married to Harriet Dorsey on the 27th day of June, 1809.

4. Mary Crapster, daughter of Susanna and John Crapster, was married to Henry Hicks on the 6th of December, 1810.

5. Sophia Crapster, daughter of Susanna and John Crapster, was married to Solomon Jennings on the 29th of November, 1816.

6. John Crapster, son of Susanna and John Crapster, was married to Francis B. Shorb on Monday evening, May 3, 1819.

7. Evelina L. Crapster, daughter of John and Susanna Crapster, was married to Walter O'Neal on the 18th of January, 1820.

8. Evelina L. Crapster, daughter of John and Susanna Crapster, was married to Hugh Shaw on the 15th day of February, 1829.

9. William L. Crapster, son of John and Susanna Crapster, was married to Mary E. Swope on November 6, 1825, in Taneytown, Frederick County, Maryland.

10. William L. Crapster, son of Susanna and John Crapster, was married to Avabelle Bull on October, Eutaw Street, Baltimore, Maryland.

11. Basil Crapster, son of Susanna and John Crapster, was married to Harriet Watkins on the first of October, 1816.

Births:

1. Abraham Crapster, son of John and Susanna Crapster, was born October 10th at 3 p.m., 1784.

2. Peter Crapster, son of John and Susanna Crapster, was born December 29th, 1785, at 2 p.m.

3. Basil Crapster, son of John and Susanna Crapster, was born October 9, 1787 at 11 p.m.

4. Sophia Crapster, daughter of John and Susanna Crapster, was born January 3, 1790 at 11 p.m.

5. Mary Crapster, daughter of John and Susanna Crapster, was born April 20, 1791, at 8 p.m., dead.

6. Joseph, son of John and Susanna was born

7. John Crapster, son of Susanna and John Crapster, was born July 1, 1784.

The historical and genealogical study of Piney Creek Church and burial ground will be continued in this series next week.

Legion Auxiliary Holds Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Francis X. Elder Unit 121, American Legion Auxiliary, was held on Tuesday, May 5, at 8:00 p.m. with the president, Virginia Sanders, presiding.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and the treasurer gave her report.

Bulletins were read by the secretary. Endorsements for district president and department president were read, as well as an invitation to the installation of officers at Gold Star Post Unit 191 in Mt. Airy. A thank-you note was also read.

The chaplain reported that two planters had been sent to two members who were hospitalized.

The District meeting to be held here was discussed. It was decided to serve coffee and cake. Cake donations will be made by Anna Bushman, Idella Fite, Nettie Ashbaugh, Melva Hardman, Virginia Sanders and Gwen Topper.

Motions were made and seconded to: donate $3 to Department for gifts for officers; $5 each to St. Joseph High School and the Emmitsburg Middle School for history prizes; $3 to Girls' State; $2.50 to the winner of the Essay Contest; $25 to a needy family; and take an ad with the men in the Convention Blue Book.

An evening of games and cake sale were discussed as ways to make some money, however, both were tabled for later discussion.

Members reported the following: 1 member attended the Community Fund meeting for 1½ hours; 5 get-well cards and 1 sympathy card were sent; 2 hospital visits were made; babysitting amounting to 79½ hours for 5 veteran children and 9½ hours for non-veteran children; 5 members worked 43 hours with Senior Citizens;

1 member worked 3 hours on the Cancer Drive; $6.00 clothing donated to two veteran children; 1 member worked with Girl Scouts for 6 hours and the auxiliary room was used by the Scouts for 6 hours.

The following nominating committee was appointed: Ann Topper, Ethel Sprinkle, Idella Fite, Margaret Smith and Mary Teresa Miller. Nominations will be brought up at the next meeting and will be accepted from the floor. Elections will be held at the next meeting.

The draw prize was won by Ann Topper. Hazel Musselman's name was called for the door prize, but she was not present.

The refreshment committee for next month will be Carmen Topper and Nettie Ashbaugh. The meeting adjourned and the ladies joined the men of the post for refreshments.

U.S. Invasion of Cambodia Violates The Constitution

During the past week I've had several midnight telephone calls—calls that I was glad to receive because they came from intelligent, concerned students on Maryland campuses. One of them was asking for help in obtaining equipment for a first-aid corps he was organizing to help students injured during protests. Another advised that he was keeping a fire watch in college buildings against the chance that some foolish, reckless person might start a fire. Volunteers have come to my office with offers of help in our congressional work during the time that their classes are shut down.

These students in my judgment are heroes on Maryland campuses. They're doing what they're doing because they realize that the fires of buildings will blacken the hopes that they have for demonstrating in a positive and a constructive way for the issues that they believe important for the nation. They know that arson on the campus is arson, that mayhem on the campus is mayhem, and that those who are guilty of these acts will be branded as trespassers and will guarantee the defeat of their own causes.

All of us, all America, shares anguish and sorrow over the tragic and senseless death of the students at Kent State University in Ohio. But I think that all of us realize this is not a time for Old Testament vengeance, an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth. It's time to construct a memorial for the four students there as well as for the men who have lost their lives in Vietnam in defense of a system of government which does invite and in fact demands and requires participation in a peaceful and a proper way by all citizens in the formulation and execution of national policy. I think if we can continue to keep our heads, to move forward in a steady and a nonviolent and a positive manner, we can in fact provide the vindication for the national concern which is felt by so many Americans in this difficult period.

I don't believe that any one who saw the television broadcast of the interview with the father of Allison Krause who was killed at Kent, Ohio, could not be touched by his plea that her death should be a beginning of new national dedication and of his urgent request of Congress to begin to act and to bear its responsibilities in the period of national crisis that we face.

Congress will act. Congress will begin in the very near future to debate some of the critical issues of war and peace.

I personally believe that the dispatch of troops into Cambodia under the circumstances in which they were sent there is unconstitutional. I think it violates the concept of the shared powers of the President and Congress on these issues of life and death and war and peace. The Constitution may be silent on the exact manner in which the President and Congress should share this power, but it is explicit that there should be a sharing. This explicit direction was ignored in this case. This is doubly unfortunate because what has been done in Cambodia will help set the mold of our relationships for years to come with the one-half of the world's population which now lives in Asia. And, our action has a deep impact on our own economy and our own society.

Congress and the country must be consulted on these matters, not only because the constitution requires it, but because common sense requires it. Whenever there is a failure to enlist the participation and support of the country in a foreign policy—that policy is generally doomed in advance to failure. We must and will repair this damage and set new patterns for better guidance in the future.

OUR LIBRARY

In these past weeks when town clean-up and house-cleaning has been foremost on our minds, the Library Staff, while doing the same, would like to go one step further and suggest a few books for relaxation after a busy day.

The Viking Press and The Times of London have compiled and published a book called "The Churchill Years." It is an unsurpassed record in words and pictures and chronicles ninety of the most momentous years of British and world history—the life span of the greatest Englishman of his time, Sir Winston Churchill. Fiona by Catherine Gaskin—When Fiona McIntyre came to the island of San Christobal, she came as governess to her young cousin. There is the great house at Landfall, the strange encounters, the twisted passions of the white masters and the venomous hatred of their black slaves flowed together in turbulent undercurrents. At last, as hurricane winds ravaged the island and forbidden voo-doo drums echoed violent promises through the jungle, the vile secrets of Landfall were laid bare.

The Solar System and Back, by Isaac Asimov—This far-ranging collection of essays shows Isaac Asimov at his lucid, informative, and entertaining best. He begins by examining our solar system: its remarkable symmetry and its puzzling irregularities. Then he comes back to earth to explain the laws that govern expansion and miniaturization in nature as well as in science fiction; to discuss some of the intriguing vagaries of the metals, gold, mercury and gallium; to tell what the dinosaurs were and were not, in addition to speculating on the reasons behind their extinction; to probe the causes and effects of chromosome aberration; and even to reflect on the future role of women in our society. For all their diversity, however, each of these seventeen essays display wit, perception, and firm command of facts that have made Isaac Asimov one of the most prolific and widely read authors in the field of popular science.

The Library has been the recipient of two gifts. One is a map of the Sixeas Bridge Dam Project and it was donated by Mr. Milton Sewell. The other is a monthly magazine called "Firing Line," a gift from the Ladies Auxiliary of the American Legion. This magazine has many timely articles on controversial organizations and subjects of the U. S. and the world.

Commie Strategy Never Varies

In May of 1919 at Dusseldorf, Germany, the Allied Forces obtained a copy of some of the "Communist Rules for Revolution." In 1946, a U.S. attorney general obtained a copy of the same rules from a known member of the communist party. Today, we're told, these same rules are in effect. As you read them, mentally apply them to the present national condition and what you come up with will be frightening when you see the headway the rule-writers have made toward these goals:

A. Corrupt the young; get them away from religion. Get them interested in sex. Make them superficial; destroy their ruggedness.

B. Get control of all means of publicity, thereby:

1. Get people's minds off their government by focusing their attention on athletics, sexy books and plays and other trivialities.

2. Divide the people into hostile groups by constantly harping on controversial matters of no importance.

3. Destroy the people's faith in their natural leaders by holding the latter up to contempt, ridicule and disgrace.

4. Always preach true democracy, but seize power as fast and as ruthlessly as possible.

5. By encouraging government extravagance, destroy its credit; produce fear of inflation with rising prices and general discontent.

6. Incite unnecessary strikes in vital industries, encourage civil disorders and foster a soft and lenient attitude on the part of government to such disorders.

7. By specious argument, cause the breakdown of the old moral virtues — honesty, sobriety, self-restraint, faith in the pledged word, ruggedness.

C. Cause the registration of all firearms on some pretext, with a view to confiscating them and leaving the populace helpless.

County Is Seventh In Pupil Cost

A recent report issued by the Maryland State Dept. of Education shows Frederick County ranking 7th among the state's 24 school systems in cost per pupil. Frederick spent $714.47 per pupil when all current expense costs are included. If transportation costs and the state share of teacher's retirement and social security costs are excluded the figure drops to $636.09 but Frederick still retains its rank of 7th.

According to the report, Montgomery County leads the state at $899.27 per child with Somerset spending the least at $607.77. The state average is $739.58.

Neighboring Carroll County now ranks 22nd in the state spending $630.43 per child while Washington County is 10th at $704.69.

Counties ranking above Frederick include Montgomery $899.27; Charles $755.99; Prince George's $748.3; Baltimore $747.61; Howard $738.82; and Baltimore City $724.82. Frederick is 7th with $714.47.

The report "Selected Financial Data Maryland Public Schools and Community Colleges 1968-69" also includes information on the value of property assessable. According to this measure of wealth Frederick County ranks 3th in the state. Seventh place is held by Washington County. First is Baltimore City, second Montgomery County and third is Baltimore County. Carroll County ranks 11th in the state in assessable property closely following 9th place Howard and 10th place Allegany.

Rev. Thomas Smith Observes Anniversary

More than 60 priests whom he had helped train over the past 11 years came back to Mt. St. Mary's Seminary this week to join Rev. Thomas G. Smith in celebrating the 25th anniversary of his ordination.

Father Smith, a native of Hoboken, N. J., has been spiritual director at the seminary since 1959.

The priests who returned to the Mount joined with Father Smith and Rev. Msgr. George D. Mulcahy, seminary rector, and Rev. Msgr. Hugh J. Phillips, college president in offering a celebrated Mass in the seminary chapel. The homily was given by Rev. Charles B. Weiser of the Diocese of Trenton, whom Father Smith had taught in elementary and high school, as well as the seminary.

Also joining in the silver jubilee festivities, which included a dinner and reception, were Father Smith's two sisters, one who is a nun and the other who is married and the mother of 15 children. Sister Marian Jose, who holds a Ph.D. in chemistry, is on the faculty at St. Elizabeth College at Convent Station, N. J.

Mrs. John Turner, who brought all 15 children, lives at Livingston, N. J.

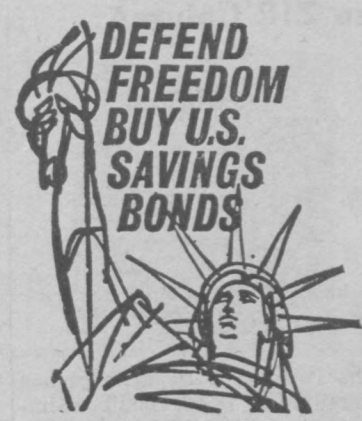

Father Smith was ordained on May 5, 1945 at Immaculate Conception Cathedral in Newark, N. J. He holds S.T.D. and S.T.L. degrees from Catholic U. in Washington and a B.A. from Seton Hall at South Orange, N. J. Before coming to the Mount he served in Newark, N. J. as assistant pastor of Our Lady of Good Council Church and a member of the faculty at St. Michael's Hospital School of Nursing.

And forgive us our debts, As we also have forgiven our debtors.—(Matt. 6:12).

Unforgiving thoughts do not help anyone. Our minds are too vital and important to be influenced by any thoughts that are not constructive and helpful. Today, have only good thoughts toward others and toward ourselves. Tomorrow there will be nothing to forgive.

One of the best flowers for cutting as well as for garden use is the snapdragon. Shown is Super-Jet with double, frilled, yellow flowers lasting well in summer heat.

Every woman likes her home to look as attractive as possible. One way to accomplish this is to complement its furnishings with flowers. Why not grow annual flowers for this use, planting seeds in a separate small cutting garden where you need not worry about appearance?

Of course any flower, annual or otherwise, can be cut but some do not keep well in water while others need special treatment before being put in water in order to stay in good condition.

Then there are the flowers that are a joy to grow because they are easy, a joy to cut because they provide so many lovely blossoms over such a long period.

Heading the list of these are asters, marigolds, zinnias, snapdragons and petunias. Not many flowers can furnish the wealth of blooms that these do.

Sweet peas produce great numbers of flowers but are a bit fussy to grow—seeds must be sown as soon as ground is workable so blooms start before hot weather.

Larkspur and stocks are both handsome for indoor use and easily grown; so are calendulas, bachelor buttons, cosmos and pinks.

Bright colored celosias are fluffy in form and very effective indoors as well as out. Baby's breath and candytuft pop up and bloom so quickly that you can plant seeds every 2 or 3 weeks to have their flowers all summer.

Scabiosa, more commonly called pincushion flower, gailardia, annual chrysanthemum, phlox and those gorgeous gloriosa daisies bring this list to 20—certainly enough variety in height, color and form to allow any woman plenty of leeway to pick and choose the flowers best suited to her decor.

Girl Scouts Plan Bake Sale

Cadette Girl Scout Troop 1316 will have a bake sale Saturday, May 23, 1970, at the Emmitsburg Fire Hall starting at 10 a.m.

Troop 1316 went camping recently at Camp Misty Mount in the Catocin Mountains. The girls worked on badges and will receive them at their fly-ups in June.

The girls attending camp from Troop 1316 were: Yvonne Staub, Beth Little, Bobbie Jean Staub, Melinda Meredith, Bonnie Gore, Connie Wivell, Cathy Wivell, Laura Keene, Debbie Wivell. Mrs. William Meredith, the leader, and Mrs. Robert Staub, were the adults attending with the girls.

An enjoyable time was had by all. There were 110 girls attending from Emmitsburg, Thurmont and Lewistown.

The Cadettes are planning a trip to Williamsburg, Va., with the Thurmont Troop. It will be June 13 and 14. The proceeds from the bake sale will be for this trip.

Melinda Meredith, Bonnie Gore and Debbie Wivell, attended an Arts Workshop at the YMCA in Frederick recently, sponsored by the Senior Girl Scout Troop. They were offered five different things to make. They made some very beautiful things. They enjoyed swimming and dancing and the fellowship of other girls throughout the county.

17 Die On State Roads In Week

Seventeen persons were killed on Maryland highways last week according to the weekly survey published by the State Police. Five of those killed were drivers, six were passengers, and six were pedestrians.

"Last week one third of those killed on Maryland highways were pedestrians," commented Lt. Col. W. H. Conroy, Deputy Superintendent of the State Police. "They lost their lives because they walked across a road when it was unsafe to do so."

"A pedestrian is no match for a vehicle, even a car which is traveling at rather low rate of speed. If a person wants to stay alive he should be even more cautious when he crosses highways where there is normally an increase in speed and volume of traffic."

Alcohol was a contributing factor in three of the deaths, speed in seven, and "driver error" in eleven.

Cougars Gain First Win

Catocin won its first county game in two years as it beat Langanore 6-2 in Monocacy Valley baseball action Monday.

Vernon Ormond, who has pitched good ball all year but has been hurt by poor play by his teammates, gained the win on a three-hitter. He also doubled in the three run Catocin third.

Ormond walked six and struck out eight.

Tom Hane, the first of three Langanore pitchers, was the loser. He blanked Catocin for the first three innings, but was knocked out in the fourth. Ed LeCroy relieved him.

Langanore had a 2-0 lead going into the top of the fourth when Catocin scored three runs. They added two more in the sixth and another in the seventh. Catocin only had five hits, but one was a triple and three were doubles. Al Lantz had two runs batted in for the winners.
