Most Anything At A Glance

- By Abigail -

Everybody's remarking these days how beautiful it is around Emmitsburg. The foliage on the trees and shrubbery never looked better and the beauty of the grass meadows and freshly cut lawns is something to behold. It has been years since I've seen the countryside so attractive and the promise of bumper crops looks good. Rain, and plenty of it, undoubtedly is responsible for the general appearance of our valley that God has blessed so abundantly. The first six months of this year are now behind us and everything has gotten off to a good start. Our reservoirs are full and wells around the countryside contain a goodly measure of water. Take June for instance, one of the best rain months we have had in years, we have a surplus of about two inches over normal years. To date we've had well over six inches of rain this past June. Maryland has been dubbed America in Miniature, and this slogan really bears out the truth. Here we have mountains, seashore, valleys, streams, rivers, harbors, meadows, fishing, hunting, etc., a little bit of America all rolled up into one little state . . . a great place to live.

Memo to Town Council: Still no water at the Little League Park. The season's half over, the players are thirsty and the temperatures rise these hot summer days. I have been told that there are five members of the Town Council. At a recent meeting it was voted by the majority I assume, to have the pipe line to the Little League repaired. To date this has not been accomplished. Just who is responsible for the delay should be determined at the regular meeting of the Council this coming Monday night. If the majority voted yes, then there should be no question about the project and it should be easy to affix the guilt of negligence. When you accuse the Board you offend those members who voted yes. It would appear to be a case of just who is the bottleneck and we wonder if the dog is wagging the tail or is the tail wagging the dog? Let's straighten it out Monday night, fellas.

Band Seeks Local Artifacts For History

The Emmitsburg Municipal Band is still very much interested in tracing the history and activities as well as members, since it was organized over a half century ago.

The group is seeking old pictures, newspaper clippings, and even verbal accounts of the activities of the old group. It is believed that many older residents of the community have the clippings and pictures, and perhaps even some old instruments or old uniforms may be lying around in the attic.

If you are interested in assisting the present band on this subject of history, please contact any officer of the band. Also if anyone has any snapshots taken at recent parades which they would like to donate to the band, the group would greatly appreciate receiving them for its files.

In the meantime, the parade season continues. Tomorrow (Saturday), the band journeys to Gettysburg to compete in the big July 4th parade. The bus will leave at 4 p.m. Then on Wednesday, July 8, the band competes in the firemen's parade at Harney, leaving at 6 p.m.

Samuel W. Barrick Announces Candidacy For Judgeship

Judge Samuel W. Barrick has filed his candidacy for a full term as Circuit Court Judge of the Sixth Judicial Circuit.

Judge Barrick's candidacy is not surprising since it has been generally known that he would seek a full term, having served as "Sitting Judge" since his appointment by Governor Marvin Mandel in September, 1969.

This campaign could be the last if the voters adopt a pair of Constitutional Amendments in November that would keep Judges off the ballot and have their appointments for full terms up to the Governor with the approval of the State Senate.

In 1954 Judge Barrick began his political career by being elected as State's Attorney for Frederick County as one of the younger State's Attorneys elected in Maryland. He served with outstanding effectiveness, achieving a rate of convictions of more than 90%.

Following his term as State's Attorney the citizens of Frederick County elected Judge Barrick as State Senator, giving him an overwhelming vote of confidence which enabled him to carry 64 of the 69 precincts. While State Senator he served on the Legislative Council and the Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee.

Judge Barrick returned to Annapolis in 1967 having been elected to serve as a member of the Maryland Constitutional Convention. There he served on the Local Government Committee. Although the proposed draft was rejected by the people of Maryland he said he "cherishes this experience" of working with "some of the most able people of our State."

Between 1962 and 1969 he served as County Attorney, during which time the progress of this county required the answers to many unique and complex legal questions. Much of the county work involved complicated problems dealing with Planning and Zoning and the Sanitary Commission.

Born in Woodsboro, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Barrick, he is of an old county family which has been engaged in agricultural lime business for almost 95 years, operating under the name of S. W. Barrick and Sons, Inc. Judge Barrick was named after his grandfather who founded the business.

He was educated in the public schools of Frederick County and also graduated from Gettysburg College and the University of Maryland School of Law. Having been admitted to the Maryland Bar in 1952, Judge Barrick was a practicing lawyer from that time until his appointment to the Bench. He is a member of the American Bar, the Maryland Bar and the Frederick County Bar Associations.

Although his legal and political work have kept him busy he still found time to take an active part in church, civic and veterans affairs in Frederick County. He has been chairman or has taken an active part in Cancer, Community Chest, Heart and Red Cross campaigns.

He is a past director of the Frederick Junior Chamber of Commerce, a past member of the standing committee of the Independent Hose Company, former judge advocate of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, John R. Webb Post 3285, and member of the American Legion, Francis Scott Key Post No. 11.

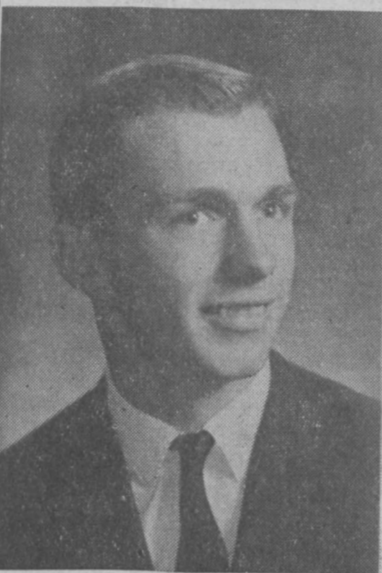

He has taken a special interest in the retarded and served as president of the Jeanne Bussard Workshop, and was a member of the Rotary Club of Frederick until his judicial duties recently required his resignation.

During World War II he enlisted in the Air Corps and flew with the Eighth Air Force as a navigator, receiving an air medal for active combat missions. He was discharged as a second lieutenant in the Air Corps.

A member of the Evangelical Lutheran Church, he now serves on the Church Council and is chairman of the Social Ministries Committee.

Judge Barrick is married to the former Joan Johnson and they with their three children, Linda, Paul and Mark, reside on Rocky Springs Road.

Two Brothers Receive Air Force Promotions

William Wivell

Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Wivell, Emmitsburg, have received a commendatory letter from their son's commanding officer, Thomas O. Groce, on the occasion of his promotion to the rank of Staff Sergeant. The letter follows:

Dear Mr. & Mrs. Wivell: I would like to take this opportunity to extend my personal congratulations on your son's promotion to the rank of Staff Sergeant.

Your son, William, has earned this promotion by his outstanding job knowledge, skill, and military bearing. His devotion to duty has greatly contributed to this organization's mission effectiveness.

It is indeed gratifying and a pleasure to know that we have men of your son's caliber in the Air Force. Your son is a credit to his country, the USAF, and his family.

May I again say it is a great pleasure for me to express my best wishes and congratulations on your son's promotion.

Sincerely,
Thomas O. Groce, Colonel, USAF
Commander

Stephen Wivell

Another son, Stephen, was also recently promoted to sergeant in the Air Force. He is now serving in Vietnam. William is on duty in the Philippines.

Rescind Roads Bond Issue

The County Commissioners unanimously agreed to rescind their action taken last week to participate in a $450,000 state bond issue.

The funds, which were to be borrowed from the state and earmarked for use in road widening in the county and construction of Reich's Ford Bridge, are not needed to accomplish the county roads construction program.

In light of recent information, revenue estimates for the fiscal year beginning July 1 can be "legitimately increased," according to one county official, making it necessary for the commissioners to borrow the state money.

The action was taken after vacationing commissioner Charles Collins was contacted and agreed to second the motion proposed by Wallace Hutton. All three commissioners voted in favor of rescinding their previous action.

The commissioners spent the remainder of the morning in executive session discussing personnel matters.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Lawrence Elder and family, Pittsburgh, visited over the weekend with his mother, Mrs. Genevieve R. Elder and other relatives. They continued their trip on to Ocean City, Md.

Smelser Seeks Re-election To Senate Seat

The last few weeks I have been giving deep consideration to the requests of many constituents and personal political friends to seek the Democratic nomination for the Congress of the United States from the Sixth Congressional District of Maryland.

In urging me to run for Congress, they pointed out my eight years experience on the important Ways and Means Committee of the House of Delegates, and my four years experience on the Finance Committee of the Maryland Senate where I have always approached fiscal and other problems in a sound and progressive manner.

They further pointed out that one of our important national problems is pollution, and my experience as a member of the Natural Resources Committee of the Legislative Council, which is presently considering environmental problems, including air and water pollution, would be of value to the country.

It was also suggested that my more than quarter of a century experience, interest in agriculture, and the problems of the American farmer would be most beneficial to the constituency of the Sixth District and to rural America.

Naturally, this sincere expression of confidence and appreciation of my legislative efforts, by my constituents, was gratifying and humbly appreciated.

However, these same qualifications that have been advanced for my Congressional candidacy are also applicable to a candidacy to the Maryland State Senate.

During this same period of time in which I have been considering the request of my friends to run for the Congress, I had to give serious thought as to how my decision would affect my family, my farming operation, and my other responsibilities.

Since the problems of Maryland are similar to those of the United States, I believe that having served in the Maryland General Assembly, where I have seniority, and made many friends, I can best serve the citizens of Maryland, and my family by offering my services to the people of Carroll and Frederick Counties by seeking reelection to the Maryland Senate and not to run for Congress at this time.

Rt. 15 By-Pass Progresses

A project to reduce hazards at the intersection of Maryland Route 97 and U. S. Route 15 in east Emmitsburg has been moved forward by the State Roads Commission.

The SRC received bids on the project which calls for the relocation of Route 97 at the intersection.

Apparent low bidder was the C. William Hertzler, contracting firm of Hagerstown with an offering of $228,047.70. There were four other bids ranging upward to $387,017.50.

Another part of the safety measure, construction of a $243,000 bridge carrying Route 97 over U. S. 15, already is under way. Grading for the bridge work is near completion and actual work on the structure has begun.

Basically, the relocation of Route 97 will eliminate the dangerous intersection now in existence.

Plans call for the new roadway to swing north of existing Route 97. At its furthest point, the new road will be 300 feet to the north of the old road.

According to SRC engineers, the traffic signal will be eliminated and the intersection will be transformed into a modified interchange with all movements provided. The existing roadway will be used as "ramps" providing a number of movements.

Presently, the U. S. 15 - Route 97 intersection is at grade and has been the scene of a number of serious accidents. Before money for the relocation of 97 became available, the traffic signal was erected and "rumble" strips installed on U. S. 15.

The contract on which bids have been opened calls for grading, draining and paving of relocated Route 97 from a point .28 miles east of U. S. 15 and continuing westerly back into existing 97 at Flat Run Creek. Distance of the contract is 1/2 mile.

Russell Z. Horman Seeks Re-election As County Commissioner

After serving seven and one-half years as a servant of the people of Frederick County in the office of the Board of County Commissioners, Mr. Russell Z. Horman announces his desire to serve a third term in that position, subject to the Republican Primary.

Mr. Horman states that he is still very much concerned about the welfare of the people in this county, especially the rights of all of the people to be heard and heeded by the elected officials.

He will run on and defend his past record, although it is not entirely like he had wished it to be, it is the best that could be done under the circumstances.

There are no problems about being a full time commissioner on his part.

As a result of this valuable experience gained over these past seven and one-half years, it is his desire to represent the views of the majority of the people of Frederick County on all subjects brought to his attention, at the same time to be ever mindful of the taxpayers and keep the costs of government at a minimum, without injury to the services to which our citizens are entitled.

Mr. Horman is a graduate of Frederick High School and the Weaver School of Real Estate. He is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, the Carroll Manor Grange, the Frederick County Farm Bureau, the Carroll Manor Fire Company, the Elks Club, the Frederick County Fish and Game Protective Association, the Maryland Association of Counties and the National Association of Counties.

Mr. Horman is married to the former Virginia Thomas of Adamstown. Mrs. Horman is a faculty member of Carroll Manor School.

Mr. and Mrs. Horman are the parents of three sons:

Captain Russell T. Horman, attorney-at-law, married to the former Bonnie Marshall of Frostburg, and is stationed at Seymour Johnson AFB. They are parents of a son, Brian.

Joseph T. Horman, DMV, is married to the former Judy Rudy and is now practicing at Glen Burnie, Md. They are the parents of two children, Rebecca and Joseph.

George T. Horman, a graduate of the University of Maryland, and is engaged in the real estate business in Frederick County.

Couple Observes 34th Wedding Anniversary

A Father's Day and anniversary party was held June 21 at the C. R. Wetzel home. They were married for 34 years on the 23rd of June. They have eleven children: Mrs. Daniel Andrew, Mrs. Charles Miller, Russell Wetzel, Mrs. Harry Diehl, Kenneth, Edward, John, Robert and Ronnie Wetzel, Mrs. Paul Humerick and Mrs. Richard Sanders. There are 36 grandchildren and 18 great-grandchildren. Everyone had a wonderful time. Games were played and horse back riding was enjoyed. The meal included shrimp and fried chicken with all the trimmings.

Mrs. Wetzel is the former Elizabeth Hattie Eyer, daughter of the late William Eyer and Lula Bollinger Fitz. Mr. Wetzel is the son of the late Edward Wetzel and Lucy Mace Tressler.

Mr. Wetzel owns and operates the trash services for most of this area.

School Handbook Withdrawn

A University of Maryland handbook, prepared by undergraduate students for new student orientation, has been withdrawn. The administration's decision was announced by Robert A. Beach, Jr., Asst. to the President for University Relations.

"Obscenity" in art work on the title page was cited as a reason for the handbook's withdrawal. Other reasons noted were inaccuracies and distortion of facts in the book's contents.

No distribution is to be made of the 96-page printed information booklet. Copies already circulated are being recalled.

Miss Susan Gainen, 20-year-old editor of the book, was advised of the decision. Monday, June 22, she was dropped from her summer employment in the University's Office of University Relations. Evidence of poor judgment was given as the reason for the separate, but related, action against the student editor.

All CARE donors are notified how their money is used.

Two Vehicles Hit On Square

Damages estimated at $450 occurred Wednesday afternoon at 4:15, when a car and pickup collided on the Square.

Police said the mishap occurred when Wanda Jean Zurgable, 18, R1, Emmitsburg, driving a 1965 Ford sedan, traveling south on Business Rt. 15, passed through the Square headed south on S. Seton Ave., was struck by a 1968 Ford pick-up truck headed north on S. Seton Ave., driven by Charles William Miller, 22, Fairfield, attempted to make a left turn on W. Main St., striking the Zurgable machine.

Police Chief W. Henry Filler charged Miller with failing to yield the right of way and scheduled his trial for July 15, before Magistrate Guy A. Bker, Sr. He posted $28 collateral. Miss Zurgable suffered bruises and a sprained left arm. Damage to her vehicle was estimated at $300 and the Miller truck, $150.

Frederick County Backgrounds

By SAMUEL CARRICK
A "Finished" Young Lady

Old school records are always interesting for the past is never wholly obliterated. Just how the ancestors of the present generation were educated is important for the standards of living handed down—from generation to generation—survive into the present and beyond. It is impossible to escape one's background but — with adjustment—it can become an integrated part of life. An educated forebearer usually meant erudite descendants. Of course there are exceptions to every rule and few averages ever total one hundred per cent.

It would be interesting to know just how the Thorndale scholars passed on their standards to those who came after them. In some cases genealogical lines have been traced and the influence of the institution had a distinct bearing—not only on the environment they created but left its mark on the lives of those who followed. "Blood will tell" but the story can be modified by the standard of living—in the majority of cases.

The list of the girls who attended Thorndale Academy is continued at this time — as taken from the original record book.

May 1856 — Ellen Gillelan—(Place of residence not given)—Two weeks sick—Left (date not given).

Note: For generations the Gillelan family have been residents of Emmitsburg, Maryland, and vicinity. Many are buried in the Elias Lutheran churchyard. Whether the Ellen Gillelan, who attended Thorndale, was a member of this family cannot be definitely ascertained. However, there is reason to believe that she was.

May 1856—Sally Crapster —(Place of residence not given)—One week sick—Left (Date not given).

Note: Sally Crapster undoubtedly belonged to the Crapster family of "Locust Grove", located near Taneytown, Maryland, and a descendant of that Ruliff (1) and Abigail Crapster, the first "American" ancestors of the family. Just where Sally Crapster fits on the family tree is not known but the fact that she was a "branch" cannot be questioned.

May 1856—Ann Crapster—Carroll County, Maryland—Left April 1957.

Note: It is quite possible that Sally and Ann Crapster were sisters. They enrolled at Thorndale at the same time and both were, apparently, from Carroll County. No further data is available at the present time.

May 1856—Mary Brown, Baltimore, Md.—Left Oct. 1856.

May 1856—Elizabeth Stewart, Baltimore, Md.—Left Oct. 1957.

May 1856—Alice Atlee, New Windsor, Md.—Left Oct. 1856.

Note: Other daughters of the Atlee family, of New Windsor, attended Thorndale. As stated before in this series the Atlees were originally from Pennsylvania and were intermarried with the Waynes—of which clan General Anthony Wayne, of Revolutionary and Indian War fame, was a member.

Many members of the Atlee family, of New Windsor, are interred in the Presbyterian churchyard, of that town.

November 1855 — Jane Peter, Leesburg, Va.—Left October 1856.

November 1855—Jane Bosworth, Baltimore, Md.—Left Oct. 1857.

November 1856—Mary Hanner, Frederick, Md.—Left Oct. 1858.

November 1856—Elizabeth Davis, Frederick County, Md.—Left April 1858.

November 1856—Ellen Rutherford, Jefferson County, Va.—Left October 1857.

November 1856 — Henrietta Jones, Liberty, Md.—Left March 1857.

Note: Hannah (2) Crapster, the only daughter of Ruliff (1) and Abigail Crapster, of Locust Grove, married John Jones of Liberty Town, Maryland. They were the parents of ten children of whom seven were sons. It is reasonable to assume that Henrietta Jones belonged to this family although just where she "fits in" is not known at this time.

November 1856—Margaret Grabill, Emmitsburg, Md.—Left Apr. 1858.

November 1856 — Ann Smith, Cumberland, Md.—Died December 1859.

November 1856—Mary Englar, Carroll County, Md.—Left April 1867.

Note: The Englar name is an old and honored one in the annals of Carroll County—particularly in the vicinity of New Windsor. At one time there was an Englar family burial ground located on a farm near that town but all trace of this ancient plot has long since disappeared.

November 1856—Ann Englar, Carroll County, Md.—Left April 1867.

Note: Probably a sister of the Mary Englar mentioned above. They entered and left Thorndale at the same time—also both were residents of Carroll County.

November 1856—Elizabeth Jordan, Carroll County, Md. — Left August 1857.

November 1856—Marion Claude, Annapolis, Md.—One week sick—Left (Date of departure not given).

November 1856—Eliza Atkinson, Charlestown, Va.—Left Apr.

November 1857—Jane Peter, of Leesburg, Va. — Left October 1858.

Note: This girl may well be the same Jane Peter, of Leesburg, who entered Thorndale in 1855 and left after some eleven months. It would appear that she returned a month or so later to "finish" her education.

November 1857—Brittie Peters, Leesburg, Va.—Left Oct. 1858.

November 1847—Betsy Washington, Va.—Left April 1859.

Note: It is quite possible that Ettie Washington, who entered Thorndale in 1856 and finished in 1858, was related, might even have been a sister of the Betty Washington mentioned above. At this time there is no way to determine the exact degree of relationship—if any existed.

November 1857—Elizabeth Rizer, Frederick, Md.—Left Apr. 1859.

November 1857—Adela Bealls, Beltsville, Md.—Left Oct. 1859.

May 1858—Alice Reside, Adams County, Pa.—Absent one year—Left April 1859.

This concludes the list of "scholars" who attended Thorndale School. It will be remembered that four pages from the record book were cut or torn out so undoubtedly some names are missing.

Homemakers Hold Picnic

The annual picnic of the Emmitsburg Homemakers Club was held at Kump's Dam Park, June 25. About 25 members, families and friends were present to enjoy the pleasant summer evening, the renewing of old acquaintances and to do justice to the bountiful picnic supper that was served cafeteria style.

The only business that was transacted was the presentation of the slate of officers for next year by the chairman of the nominating committee. They are as follows: President, Mrs. James Small; vice president, Mrs. John Chatlos; secretary, Mrs. Harry Hahn; treasurer, Mrs. Jay Fitzpatrick.

These names will be voted on at the September meeting which will be held at the home of Mrs. James Small. See you all then. Have a pleasant summer!

VFW AMBULANCE

Mrs. Thomas Eyley, Mrs. Mary Sullivan and Donna K. Smith, Emmitsburg, were transported this week to the Warner Hospital, via the VFW ambulance. Ricky Van

School Funds Get Approval

In a meeting with Board of Education members and Health authorities last week, the County Commissioners agreed to reconsider one project in the school construction budget, and voted to approve funds for site acquisition and planning of the proposed Monocacy Elementary School.

The county officials also discussed the proposed addition at Lingore High School, with action by the commissioners postponed pending approval of a supplemental budget request by the school board.

Reconsideration of the Monocacy School project and reversal of a previous decision not to fund the project was promoted by the impending construction of a sewer line through the Walkersville-Ceresville area. Metropolitan Commission director Francis Cook told the commissioners that problems with right-of-way acquisition over one property may make it necessary for the line to circumvent the property and necessitate the construction of a pumping station, at an added cost.

Cook indicated that if the property were bought for a school site, construction of the line could pass directly through the property, reducing the cost as well as supplying the school with sewer and water. He urged prompt action by the Board of Education in site acquisition.

Gilbert Newby, Board of Education staff member, told the commissioners that no definite site had been decided on by the board but that the property in question, located south of Walkersville near Ceresville, would be among those under consideration.

Commissioner Charles Collins opposed the approval of funds, commenting that "I feel we have no authority for bonded indebtedness," and arguing that no plans for schools should be made until county authorities have money for their construction approved by the legislature.

The decision to approve the request will allocate a total of $60,003 to be spent in fiscal 1971 of which $25,000 is designated for purchase of land for the Monocacy School project.

Dr. Charles Spicknall, county health officer, explained the situation concerning the Lingore addition. The present septic system works well, he said, but "the question is how much more can it take."

The Board of Education plans to expand the school to a 1,400 student capacity but needs approval of state Health authorities of the septic system.

Dr. John L. Carnochan told the commissioners that the present system might handle the extra capacity but that tests will not be complete by the commissioner's June 30 deadline for budget completion. He requested that, pending school board approval, a budget amendment be entered for the project.

The amendment would include a $461,000 increase in the overall cost of the addition of which $207,000 would come from county bond funds. Carnochan noted that this contingency would allow for the possibility of expansion of the present septic system and potential construction of a treatment plant at the school.

Carnochan suggested that the amendment, after school board approval, be put in the budget with the understanding that nothing will be built without Health Department approval.

Prospects Good For Drug Companies

By Babson's Reports Incorporated, Wellesley Hills, Mass., July 2, 1970—By the end of this year the Food and Drug Administration, under its new leadership, intends finally to complete its review of the effectiveness of several thousand drugs. So far, it has acted on only about 15% to 20% of the approximately 4,300 drug products subject to the study which was authorized by Congress in 1962.

What drugs will eventually be affected is, of course, anyone's guess. Indications are, however, that the industry will be faced with a tremendous job of relabeling and restricting promotional claims for hundreds of products considered to be ineffective. A few products will probably be banned, a step which has already been taken in the case of certain antibiotic combinations found wanting.

Sales And Earnings Trend Upward

The result of the aforementioned review of the efficacy of drugs is likely to be the major negative element in the total drug picture this year. The industry, however, has been the subject of government pressures for a long time and still has succeeded in wrapping up good gains every year. We have no reason to suspect that there will be a sharp slowdown in 1970.

The Research Department of Babson's Reports looks for sales and earnings of most of the leading drug companies to record some further progress in 1970 just as they have for many years. However, the strong growth rate of the past may be tempered somewhat due to the slower pace of the economy. As far as the longer term is concerned, growth prospects are generally optimistic.

Favorable Factors

This year as well as in the future most of the outstanding drug companies should benefit increasingly from their previous diversification efforts. The foremost pharmaceutical producers now have broad product lines encompassing cosmetics, chemicals, hospital equipment and supplies, both ethical and proprietary drugs, veterinary items, electronic medical instruments, pollution control products, etc. Because of this wide diversification they are not so adversely affected by a slowdown in one particular segment.

Overseas expansion and increased foreign demand should be big factors in bringing about further gains for the domestic drug companies. Most of the firms are represented in — and are achieving substantial benefits from — the leading foreign markets.

Other Pluses

A possible step-up in the introduction of new products may occur this year and over the near term. The new FDA Commissioner has expressed hope that the agency will be able to speed processing of new drug applications. Furthermore, research in the industry is beginning to shift to more basic activity in heart disease and other areas which could result in some important breakthroughs.

Expansion of hospitals, nursing homes, and extended care facilities as well as more inclusive government medical programs should all increase demand for products of the drug companies. Other pluses include the elimination of the surtax, benefits from measures designed to reduce costs, and further increases in sales of many promising newer products that have been introduced in recent years by several of the most important firms in the field.

Some Attractive "Buys"

The stock market decline this year has opened up some good buying opportunities among the drug issues. Currently, the Research Department of Babson's Reports favors such conservative grade stocks as American Home Products, Bristol-Myers, Merck, and Sterling Drug. Another attractive purchase, though of somewhat lower quality, is Rorer-Amchem. As a speculation we favor Cutter Laboratories.

Claimants for unemployment insurance benefits who regularly report on Friday have been notified of an alternate reporting date.

Unemployment Office Closed

All offices of the Department of Employment Security will be closed Friday, July 3, 1970, a State holiday.

TOOTHsome SQUASH

Lovers of winter squash will want to try Waltham Butternut, a new variety with superior flavor.

A new winter squash, a vining type of the Butternut group, is called Waltham Butternut for the place of its birth. A product of the breeding work of Prof. Robert E. Young of the University of Massachusetts' Waltham Field Station in Waltham, Mass., this new variety offers several improvements over older ones.

It is larger than Butternut, which it resembles, and the fruits are straight, virtually free of crooks. Each plant yields more fruits which are more uniform in size. The flesh inside is richer in color and tastes better when cooked for the quality is superior. And, if that isn't enough, Waltham Butternut also keeps better than its ancestor.

Try Waltham Butternut in your garden and enjoy all its good qualities on your table.

Desire to End Vietnam War Prompts Tonkin Gulf Repeal

The overwhelming vote, 81 to 10, by which the United States Senate voted to repeal the Tonkin Gulf Resolution is a sure sign that the tide is turning. It is a sign that the Senate and the people of the United States are looking to an end to the war in Vietnam and to a restoration of the Constitutional system by which the people, through the Congress, participate in the development of foreign policy.

But if the tide is turned, it must be taken at the flood. We have to go forward with the other steps which Congress must take if it is to shoulder its full burden of responsibility in foreign and military affairs. We have to not only repeal the Tonkin Gulf Resolution, but we have to look at the other standing congressional resolutions which would be construed as giving the executive unusual war powers in various parts of the world. We have to examine the state of emergency which was proclaimed 25 years ago by President Harry S. Truman and which is still in effect and which activates over 150 separate war power statutes. We have to look to the kind of world in which we are going to be living in the future and we have to design a foreign policy which the Congress will help to make, in which the President will carry out his full constitutional prerogatives and powers and in which the will of the people and their desire is going to be clearly reflected.

All of this stems from the desires and intentions of the Founding Fathers. The men who wrote the American Constitution were all born as subjects of a king who had unlimited powers to make war, to impress or draft armies or navies, and who could order those armies and navies to fight against anyone whom he considered in his sole judgment to be his enemy. It was this kind of one-man power which was one of the grievances which led the American colonies to revolt. It was this kind of one-man power which was guarded against by the American Constitution when it clearly divided the power of war and peace and the power to make foreign policy decisions between the Executive and the Legislative branches of government. The President, as Commander-in-Chief, gives the operational orders to the armed forces, provides for their financing, makes the regulations under which they operate and sets the broad outline of policies within which the President acts. The President is the chief agent of foreign policy for the American people, but the Congress, and particularly the Senate, plays an historic constitutional role in its oversight of treaties, its confirmation of ambassadors and its general historic interest in the relations of this country with the rest of the world.

The overwhelming vote to repeal the Tonkin Gulf Resolution, joined staunch supporters of the Administration's Vietnam policy and those who at times have not supported the Administration. Many who voted for Tonkin Gulf five years ago pushed for repeal. I was glad to vote for repeal of the Tonkin Gulf Resolution and I hope that we can take the further steps so that Congress can resume its historic role in the nation's foreign and military policies.

Putting "A Good Face" On Traitors!

The Communists and their allies who harangued and sought to incite the 100,000 "peace-niks" overflowing the Ellipse at the backdoor of the White House in Washington on May 9 cried out for three things: (1) Revenge upon the "fascist police state" (the U.S.A.) for the "massacre" of four Kent State University students five days earlier, (2) the freeing of all Black Panther revolutionaries now in prison or under indictment, and (3) the overthrow of the United States and establishment of "people's power."

That's what they said, over and over again between four-letter obscenities which the massive gathering picked up and roared back in a shocking, unbelievably vulgar chant. No person within a mile of the powerful batteries of loud speakers failed to hear clearly the treasonable harangues and the Communist-led obscene chant: "... Nixon! ... Nixon!" The television networks, giving the event the biggest nation-wide coverage since the funeral of Senator Robert Kennedy, inadvertently were "caught" on the air with some of the obscenity and were flooded with viewer protests.

New Impetus For Overthrow
Our NEP team of reporters-photographers was there. The speakers used "Kent State" and "Cambodia" to emotionalize and incite the crowd. The Communist speakers were much happier, more confident, and much more brazen in their treasonable exhortations than they (some of the same speakers) were at last November's Communist-directed "March on Washington" by 500,000 "peace-niks," or at the Communist-led "March on the Pentagon" in October 1968.

Beaming and back-slapping their comrades, they frankly said that "Kent State" and "Cambodia" had given their revolutionary movement the impetus to "close ranks," attract millions of new protesters, and mobilize a "united front" student strike that must, they said, spill out into the streets attacking and destroying all the institutions and symbols of 'capitalist imperialism' (the USA). What Wasn't Reported

The most frightening aspect in the opinion of our NEP reporters, was the manner in which the press in Washington (including the networks, the wire services, some bureaus of the big metropolitan daily newspapers) handled the event. Most of them already had expressed editorially (and some in biased "news" reports and commentaries) antagonism toward the National Guard at Kent University and toward the President for "expanding" the war in Cambodia.

Most of the coverage of the Ellipse demonstration was sympathetic to the demonstrators. Astonishingly, the Communist complex and Communist supervision over the entire program was not reported to the public. Not a single news photograph of the array of "personages" standing and sitting on the speakers platform (with the White House forming an historic backdrop) was published in any one of the three Washington newspapers or in the New York Times! None of the old-line Communists or younger "Marxist-Leninists" on the speakers platform were identified as such in TV and radio coverage monitored by our reporting team. Such a photograph, its subjects properly identified, would have branded the demonstration for what it was—another successful Communist propaganda affair.

The "Cause" Was Jerry Rubin's
We talked to some veteran Washington newsmen about this. "That part of the press that is involved in the anti-Nixon, 'anti-war' crusade on Capitol Hill was determined," one veteran said gazing down from his office in the National Press Building, "that this big demonstration at the White House backdoor be fumigated, that it emerge respectable. After all, some Senate and House celebrities who are leading the opposition to President Nixon's policies and who have supported the campus radicals, supported the Ellipse affair—in spite of their knowledge that it was mobilized and run by the same Communist crowd that ran the last two.

"The 'doves,'" he said, "felt the Ellipse demonstrations strengthened their 'cause.' But not many of them dared to be seen with the Jerry Rubins, the Rennie Davises, the David Dellingers (revolutionaries convicted of fomenting riots in Chicago) who were in plain view directing activities from the speakers platform." So the Washington and New York citadels of news reportage that is beamed out across the nation over press wires and TV hook-ups "put a good face on" the Ellipse demonstration. They didn't show and identify the Communists in control. Next week: The true face of the Ellipse demonstration.

in this case, instead of the third stage giving the final thrust for a flight to the Moon it will go into orbit itself some 235 miles above the Earth.

This sky laboratory, shaped like a gigantic can of beans, will be 21 feet in diameter and 58 feet high. What had formerly been the fuel tank for this stage will be outfitted for working quarters for three astronauts for periods of up to 56 days.

Skylab will go aloft without passengers. The day after it goes into orbit, a three-man crew will be launched in the standard Apollo spacecraft and will dock with the Skylab. The astronauts will transfer from their Apollo spacecraft through an airlock into the lab.

This crew will move in for about 28 days and return to Earth. Two months later a second crew will visit the workshop and stay for about 56 days. A third crew will visit the workshop about a month after the second crew returns to Earth.

Skylab will travel around the world in an orbit that takes it over areas within 50 degrees north and south of the equator. Cutting such a swath around the world will give the Skylab inhabitants opportunities to see most of the United States and Western Europe, in fact, most of the world except the polar regions of the arctic and anactic.

Skylab
For the last few years, NASA has talked about a program called Apollo applications. That name had clear meaning within the aerospace industry, but didn't make much sense to John Q. Public.

But that terminology is out the window. What was called Apollo applications is now "Skylab," and this clearly means what the name implies—a laboratory in the sky. The U. S. is planning a 10,000-cubic-foot manned laboratory orbiting the Earth. Its job is to gather useful data in such Earth-bound fields as oceanography, water management, agriculture, forestry, geography and ecology, and to learn if man can make long duration space flights. Whatever else the composition of the crews, there will be a physician and an astronomer aboard each flight.

One of the most interesting aspects of Skylab is that it will be housed in a modified third stage of the giant Saturn V launch vehicle, the roc et used by the U. S. to send men to the Moon. But

Mahoney Opposes Ft. Holabird Move

George P. Mahoney this week lashed out at the reports that the U. S. Army Intelligence Headquarters and Intelligence School would be moved from Fort Holabird in Baltimore to Fort Lewis, Wash. Mr. Mahoney, who is a candidate for the Democratic nomination to the U. S. Senate, said that pressure groups in the Pentagon, apparently rebuffed in their efforts to move the Headquarters and School to Arizona, now think to Fort Lewis without creating a storm of protest."

Mr. Mahoney's statement follows:

"The rumor that the United States Army Intelligence Headquarters and Intelligence School will be moved from Fort Holabird to Fort Lewis, Wash., is too strong to be ignored.

"It is generally known that the Seattle area has been hard hit by an economic slowdown and that unemployment is high there, but to solve Seattle's problems by taking the $12-million payroll from Fort Holabird doesn't make sense. Surely the federal government can help Seattle solve its problems without creating new ones in the Baltimore area.

"Understandably, many Army officers are reluctant to speak out on the validity of the move, but privately many of them are dismayed at the problems such a move would create for this highly-important agency.

"The original plan to move this installation to Arizona was denounced and upset by the outcry that followed its making the news reports. Now it appears that pressure groups in the Pentagon figure that they can make the move to Fort Lewis without creating a storm of protest.

"They are wrong. Even if no one else cries out, I will protest loudly and firmly against any such move, for the Intelligence Headquarters and School belong here. There is a constant flow of couriers between the Pentagon and Fort Holabird, which is a short motor trip and even shorter helicopter trip. But think of the time lost if these couriers had to go to the West Coast!

"This is no time to play politics with this vital installation. I demand that the pentagon make a firm commitment to keep the Intelligence Headquarters and the Intelligence School at Fort Holabird."

SMALL BUT DELICIOUS

A new cherry tomato is Small Fry. Each bushy plant is heavy with clusters of fruits which ripen at one time.

Small Fry tomato, a first generation hybrid and the only silver medal winner for 1970 in the All-America Selections trials, has a lot to offer the home gardener—a lot of fruit, that is.

Although each tomato looks like a round, red, 1-inch diameter marble, 6 to 8 of these little fruits are borne in a single cluster and the clusters hang thickly on the plant. Almost all of the tomatoes are bright cherry-red at the same time.

These little tomatoes are amazingly early, maturing in only 52 days from the time seeds are sown. The quantities of fruits, and there are quantities, are of high quality, useful for ornamenting salads, accompanying cocktails, for preserving or just eating from the hand.

The plants grow bush-like in form, from 30 to 40 inches tall and are resistant to 2 common tomato diseases, verticillium and fusarium.

Safety Urged While Driving

Traffic accidents take no holiday and Fourth of July travelers are advised by Pam E. Burke, Executive Director of the Maryland Traffic Safety Commission to step up their vigilance while driving, especially during this holiday weekend when thousands of motorists will be crowding the highways throughout the country. Too many will be intent on cramming as much activity as they can into one brief holiday weekend, ignoring good driving precepts, which too often results in injury or death, the Executive Director warns.

Last year eight people were killed and 112 injured in automobile accidents during the four-day Fourth of July holiday in Maryland. A large percentage of these unnecessary deaths and injuries can be attributed to the over-confident and complacent driver and therefore Burke advised all drivers to be realistic and concentrate fully on the task of driving. He cautioned against speeding, drinking and driving and complete disregard of traffic laws.

Super highways can be dangerous to those not accustomed to them, he pointed out and warned drivers not to drive at speeds too fast for them to handle. Even drivers with experience on these modern high speed roads must guard against the hypnotic effect of driving on long straight stretches of highway, he said, and they must watch out for fatigue. Fight fatigue with frequent stops, for a stretch, and some refreshment, the Executive Director warned.

Driving when you are ill or after you have been drinking definitely makes you a menace to yourself and to anyone you meet. Avoid mounting tension which can be a prelude to an accident. The person who is agitated and tense frequently makes errors in judgment, and his impatience goads him into taking foolish chances. The intelligent driver allows himself enough time to reach his destination in comfort. He has to treat pedestrians and other drivers courteously — he conserves his energy, his temper and really enjoys driving.

Driving is a full-time job, Burke advised, one that demands the entire concentration of the driver, both physically and mentally. He must anticipate the worst from others, the weather and the road. Over-confidence, like alcohol and fatigue, have no place behind the wheel.

tribution of the materials was directed by the international aid and development agency's own man, William Rayman. He is chief of the agency's Honduras mission and long experienced in Latin American emergency operations.

Working with the Peruvian Minister of Health, Rayman already had purchased materials for housing for the 500,000 left homeless by the earthquake.

A coordinating committee has been organized in Peru to prevent duplication of efforts by relief groups.

coffee for breaks; hot dogs, soft drinks, apple pie and coffee for lunch; spaghetti and meat balls, French bread, green beans, salad, chocolate cake and coffee for dinner; and candy bars, cookies and coffee for snacks. The researchers think the craving for alcohol came from a chemical imbalance created by the inadequate diet.

Talk is common today about $100-a-day hospital charges within a short time. But relief may be in sight, says a medical expert at Chemetron Corporation, Chicago. "Labor-saving equipment that permits hospitals to use their staffs more efficiently and to improve care at the same time offers hope not of reversing the upward curve of costs, but of slowing it," he said.

Sound has been heard from points in space from which scientists thought no sound could come, Columbia University astronomers report. They disclosed that to their "great surprise" their instruments on Bermuda heard the sound of the Apollo 12 and 13 rockets passing overhead more than 100 miles above the earth.

One of the most accurate measurements in science history has been made by two University of Michigan researchers. They report measuring the "g-factor" of the electron to within seven parts of a billion. Their determination of this basic constant is the world's most accurate to date. Electrons are among the tiniest of charged atomic particles. As they spin they produce a small magnetic field. An electron's g-factor is the ratio of its magnetic strength to its spin. This ratio is the same for all electrons in the universe. Finding it experimentally offers a key test of quantum electrodynamic theory, upon which much of modern physics is structured.

Inside Story

Al Unser No. 1 At Indy

Indianapolis—Over 250,000 excited fans see Al Unser streak across the finish line to win the Indianapolis 500. Unser averaged a sizzling near-record speed of 155.749 miles per hour to take top money of approximately $250,000.

After the crowd has departed, Unser shows off his car (bottom photo) and winning team—crew chief George Bignotti and pit crew. With crew is Miss S.K., representing the company that supplied the mechanics' tools and prizes for the winning crew. Only 31.79 seconds separated Unser and the second place driver, Mark Donohue. The speed and efficiency of the Unser crew provided the inside story on his margin of victory.

Artificial Gene Created In Lab

The first total synthesis of a gene—the basic hereditary unit—has been accomplished by a University of Wisconsin biologist and his colleagues. The achievement—long awaited by molecular biologists—will now make it possible for organic chemists to synthesize the basic genetic material from simple organic chemicals.

Rats have been taught to become heavy drinkers by a team of Loma Linda University nutritionists. They put the rats on a "teenage diet"—one high in sugar and carbohydrates and low in vitamins, minerals and protein. It included: doughnuts and coffee for breakfast; sweet rolls and

And God saw everything that he had made, and behold, it was very good.—(Gen. 1:31).

In Genesis we find that there was a plan of order in the creation as envisioned by the inspired writers of this book. Order is basic to the foundation of man's world. Divine order in our human relations makes us a harmonious, contributing part of our world. Let there be divine order.

Peru Victims

CARE has sent $600,000 worth of emergency supplies via the port of Baltimore to relieve earthquake victims in Peru.

The supplies consisting of food, medicine and materials for housing, left on a Peruvian ship out of Baltimore, June 9, and were scheduled for delivery in Peru June 19.

The shipment originally was to be loaded in Norfolk, but last minute changes in shipping instructions and the proximity of CARE's Philadelphia warehouse, dictated the change. Among the supplies were blankets, vitamins, drugs, soup and a fortified food substance used by astronauts. Upon arrival in Peru, the distri-

OF DISSIDENCE, DISORDER AND OTHER DISTURBING THINGS

by Van Neff

Radicals say they want freedom of speech but they make every attempt to deny it to those who don't agree with them.

The loony left volunteered their services to Castro, supposedly to harvest the sugar cane crops. But the Cuban Commies were smarter than that. They used every spare moment to indoctrinate the young American rebels in the ways and means of seizing the nerve cells of a city and a country. While the glib young Americans cut cane—the Commies, as usual, made hay!

prised that the youthful segment of our American population harbors the unrealistic illusion that all that is required to win their point is to confront "The Establishment" with violence, turbulence and dissent?

Gentle sarcasm: Next time you hear of a fiendish murder, don't judge the criminals too harshly. Remember, the poor dears may have had an underprivileged grandmother. And by today's loose and lax permissiveness, that's a lifetime excuse for all kinds of brutish behavior.

—the group that incites anti-war protests—are card-carrying Commies. Not back in 1917, in Russia. Nor in 1938, in Germany. Today, here and now. At the core of many of these movements for disarmament and pacification, there is the well-financed Commie plot for world domination. Yet so many well-intentioned, loyal Americans have been duped by it. Can't we take a lesson from the past, and deal sternly and severely with those who covertly seek to undermine America?

Irony: Free the Panthers, so that they may continue the bombings and killings to which they have publicly sworn themselves.

How's this for brass! On the same day that leftist-influenced Peru seized one of our American tuna vessels in the Atlantic, the Peruvians asked the United States for more planes and helicopters. It wasn't the first time that they have gone beyond the legal 120-mile limit into international waters after one of our ships. Why do they do it? Simply to stir up more trouble? Shouldn't our government look long and carefully into the matter of handing our supplies and arms to nations that are openly hostile toward us and our interests?

The news discloses that three reputed Mafia figures were indicted on bribery and kick-back charges involving a Teamsters' Union Pension Fund. This is one more flagrant example of criminal action in the handling of workers' money. I submit for consideration that the giant unions with multi-millions of dollars are outmoded. Isn't the possible answer unions in which members actually have control, instead of vesting unchecked power in the hands of out-of-touch tyrants? That might bring the unions back to their original purpose: to benefit the working members.

Plea to Israel: Please stand still and be killed. You've done it for centuries. Why be anti-Arab?

Remember—there's always someone who opposes something—for some reason—even if it's for the sake of publicity.

Talk of gall—Howard Samuels who hopes for the governorship of New York suggests that Arthur Goldberg should be seated on the Supreme Court bench. How's that for getting rid of a rival?

Now it is clear for all the world to see: Cambodia's former ruler appealed to both Red China and Russia for support in re-establishing his own leadership and ousting his successor. We all knew that unpredictable Prince "Snooky" had turned pro-Communist. But what people failed to appreciate were the constant efforts of the Communists to take over one country after another. Throughout Europe, Central America, South America and the Far East, including the Philippines, people in democracies have been the dupes of the Commies. President Marcos of the Philippines has bluntly stated that sooner or later, his island country will become a battleground between Communism and democracy. Unfortunately, those who freely fight for Communism are blinded to the fact that the Communists themselves live in abject slavery in their own countries. The adage that "lovers of freedom must hang together, or hang separately", was never more cogent than now.

Isn't it somewhat naive of us to express surprise at the disturbances and demonstrations on our university campuses? The entire emotional climate of our country has made violence quite acceptable as a bargaining gambit. Look at the examples set by the individuals who instigate and perpetrate one strike after another in every area of business, from government employees, including sacrosanct postal service men, to teachers, and from transportation workers to hospital employees, simply to gain their particular demands of the moment. (Did you realize that last year, our country suffered 5600 crippling strikes, involving two-and-a-half million workers who actually lost a total of forty-four-and-a-half million work hours and correspondingly vast sums of wages?). With this shocking pattern of behavior set before them, is it logical to be sur-

Japanese textiles are cutting into American clothing sales. The American workers resent it. Disgruntled union men have thrown up picket lines around retail stores, clamoring, shouting and badgering people into boycotting places that sell foreign-made apparel. To curtail imports would be senseless. Many nations produce textiles, and no country can remain an island in this age of world-wide industrialization. Brisk international trade benefits everyone. But just ask yourself which shirt you would buy—an American-made one at $8, or a comparable import at $3. The price difference is created by constant demands for massive wage hikes on the part of our American workers. (The textile people just asked for another 25% boost! Aren't they concerned that if they price us out of the market, everyone suffers? Wake up, America, before it's too late!

Bombers don't care who their bombs kill. Witness the explosions in Greenwich Village and the fact that Molotov cocktails in quantity were seized in Buffalo. Many of those involved in bomb-making are addicted to pot, heroin, LSD or some other drug. Shouldn't convicted bombers be put away as criminally insane?

Now the secret is out: 5 out of 6 of the Chicago leaders of MOBE

It's not that you don't believe in health checkups. Right? You do. But not for you. As a matter of fact, deep down you think it's an awful lot of trouble for nothing when there's no real reason to run to a doctor. Think again. Many cancers are curable if detected early and treated promptly. An annual checkup helps your doctor help you by making sure you are really as fine as you feel.

Headstart, classes in corrective reading and corrective arithmetic, and a summer recreation program, are keeping Emmitsburg School the center of much activity this summer.

The Headstart program for children who will start school in September is under the direction of Ms. Alice Whitaker, regular first grade teacher at the school. A glimpse into that classroom will show a group of 22 pre-schoolers busily playing educational games, sharing toys, learning to get along with other preschoolers—in short, getting a "head start" on their adjustment to the world of school which awaits them in the Fall.

"Lost" Generation

Every morning all over the United States there is a group of kids who wake up when their RCA clock radio goes off, jump out of their comfortable Sealy mattress beds, light up an American Tobacco cigarette, walk up to their Westinghouse refrigerator, take out an ice-cold can of Campbell's tomato juice and some General Foods coffee. Eat, go out, hop into their General Motors car, drive to school where they march and riot against big business.

Why not? How can we blame them? How can we blame the average kid for trying to destroy business? All his life he's been told that business is trying to destroy him.

The 20-year-old was born in 1949. Since he was old enough to understand, he's been told that the cigarette industry is trying to destroy his lungs, the automobile industry is trying to maim him, the food industry is cheating him in packaging, the drug industry is overcharging him, the advertising industry is lying to him.

In school the teacher who never worked at the business of business is telling him that all business is bad. On television every night he's exposed to United States Senators like Magnuson, Hart, Nelson, Pastore, etc., "Grilling" businessmen like they were common thieves. Their crime: making a profit. Their sentence: to be tongue-lashed and humiliated in public. The kids have seen business and the establishment being laughed at on television's "fun shows" and maligned in the newspapers. And so when you ask the average SDS punk what he's rebelling against he says big business and the establishment. And why not? He doesn't know any better.

Once there was a country where men of business gave in to the young kids who were going to change the country. Once the businessmen of a country decided that perhaps full government control was desirable. It would be for the good of the majority. That once was Germany in 1933. The rebels won. They changed their country. The government won. They had full control of the nation's economy. Six - million Jews were gassed and burned.

There's very little difference between the SDS punks who foment revolution in college and the Hitler youth. Both were fighting for power from the establishment. And you who are reading this article should not kid yourself for a minute. You have the power they want. You are the establishment they want to overthrow.

We've lost these SDS kids. They're part of a lost generation. And if we let things go the way they're going now, we going to lose the next generation, too.

And if we lose the next generation, the day may come when all business in this country will be conducted from behind a barbed wire fence.

Road Fatals Show Decline

Fourteen persons were killed on Maryland highways last week according to the survey published by the State Police. Five of those killed were drivers, four were passengers, and five were pedestrians. Alcohol was a contributing factor in four of the deaths, speed in five and "driver error" in nine.

"As we approach the half-way mark for 1970, we have twenty-nine fewer fatalities on Maryland highways than we did for the same period last year," noted Lt. Col. W. H. Conroy, Deputy Superintendent of the Maryland State Police.

"It is hoped that during the coming six months we will continue to reduce the needless highway tragedy in the State that has beset us for the last several years."

To Show Catocctin Mt. Craft

Celebrate America's independence this weekend by stepping into her past at Catocctin Mountain Park. Here, on the first mountain range of Western Maryland, the new Catocctin Mountain Folk Craft Center will again offer demonstrations of the everyday skills of the resourceful people who first settled here.

The Folk Craft Center is located in and operated by Catocctin Mountain Park, a unit of the Department of the Interior's National Park Service. Craftsmen demonstrate such vanishing arts as broom making, blacksmithing, pottery, bed cording, spinning and weaving, shake shingle making and candle dipping and pouring. The exhibits, all free, will be open Friday, Saturday and Sunday from noon until 6 p.m.

Located in the park, but outside the Center, are the Blue Blazes Still, a restoration of a bygone era, and the Charcoal Trail, which tells, through a series of on-site exhibits, the story of how the early settlers made charcoal for the operation of the Colonial Catocctin Iron Works. Both of these can be visited at any time, and are self-guiding. For those who wish to make a day of their visit, the Park offers plenty of picnicking facilities and many miles of hiking trails to scenic overlooks.

Catocctin Mountain Park is located three miles west of Thurmont, Maryland, just off State Highway 77. Thurmont is about mid-way between Frederick, Maryland and Gettysburg, Pa., off U. S. 15.

The Catocctin Folk Craft Center is being developed by the National Park Service in conjunction with the Catocctin Mountain Heritage Association, a local organization dedicated to preserving the culture of the first settlers of Western Maryland. It is part of the National Park Service's emphasis of making parks more meaningful for people.

Senior Citizens To See Films

Tuesday, July 21, is the regularly monthly meeting night for the Emmitsburg Senior Citizens Club, at 7:30 p.m. in the Center.

Hopefully, several films concerning the American Indians will be shown. It seems appropriate at the present time to learn more about the native Americans, since they are beginning to realize that they have been short changed for years and are making a point of it.

Members should be thinking about the picnic to be held at St. Joseph's picnic grounds on Tuesday, August 18, 1970.

Detour Plans Bank Branch

Walk as children of light. —(Eph. 5:8)

When we have a need for security, we often reach out for something in our environment to give it to us. Yet true security is found within. It is found in our inner strength, our inner oneness with God. God's light is with us, so let us live by it.
