Most Anything At A Glance

- By Abigail -

Doctor Neil Solomon, Maryland State Department of Health, has had the tremendous and soul searching responsibility of probing into twenty-five nursing home deaths from the salmonella outbreak.

The more we read, listened and saw, the more horrifying this fiasco became.

Since this recent infamy occurred in the Baltimore area, many other disgraceful and terrifying practices, all over the State, have crept out into the open.

Writing as one who has done volunteer work in several homes with senior citizens, I am appalled at the shoddy practices going on in these nursing homes.

In one area alone, it is alleged that approximately 80-85% of the patients who die in these homes are not "officially" pronounced dead by a physician at the time of death. It appears that almost anyone working in the home can pronounce the person dead. Evidently there is no State licensed official whatsoever required to bear! I wouldn't want to take the responsibility to declare someone dead, would you?

Doctor Russell Fisher, chie medical examiner for the State of Maryland, reportedly knows of the existence of this medieval practice. At the time of this writing, the practice was still in effect.

If you have, or are contemplating having anyone, relative or friend, committed to any nursing home in Maryland, investigate the rules and regulations of said convalescent home. You, yourself, could be a victim of this uncivilized practice some day!

This is the age of protest! Try getting some action on this deplorable situation from your State Health Department.

Too many of these Nursing Homes are "getting away with murder".

Strong regulations and laws should be enforced by close and frequent inspection. This to be done by qualified personnel. A reputable physician should be on hand or on call twenty-four hours a day. No one is to certify death but a qualified doctor.

These old folks, who gave us so much, in their prime, deserve at least our concern in the December of their lives.

I don't know if you know it or not, or even if you care, but how often have you been slapped with a tax or surcharge by Uncle Sugar to be used for a specific purpose and find out later that the money was used for an entirely different purpose?

Your gasoline tax is a case in point, so is the money you pour into Social Security.

Early this year, the Government imposed a tax on General Aviation in the form of a registration fee on small airplanes, plus a 7 cent a gallon tax on the gasoline used by the general aviation fleet. The airlines pay nothing!

This money is to go into an "involute trust fund solely to be used to improve the airports and airways of the USA."

Now, we find out that two of our lawmakers, seeing a new source of money, can't stand it! They want to dip their grimy paws into the kitty for unrelated uses!

Representative Jonathan B. Bingham, (N.Y.), introduced a bill in the House of Representatives (H.R. 19049) that would authorize Department of Transportation Secretary, John Volpe, to raid this fund for "use in each state for transportation purposes other than airport and airway development."

Aviation funds would also be made available to create a new urban mass transportation trust fund.

Meanwhile, back at the ranch, our own Senator Joe Tydings, has introduced his own version of the same bill in the U. S. Senate! (S. 3960).

It's the same old story—"the little pays and pays..." while our elected representatives "play and play and play."

If you are fed up with all

Mount To Pay Tribute To Dr. Dillon For Valued Service To Education

The National Alumni Association of Mount Saint Mary's College will present this year's Brute Medal for distinguished service by an alumnus to Dr. John J. Dillon, Jr., executive vice president of the college. The award will be presented to Dr. Dillon at the association's annual dinner, which will be held on Saturday night, October 10, as part of the college's Annual Homecoming Weekend. Homecoming is scheduled for October 9, 10 and 11.

Dr. Dillon has taught English at the Mount since 1940. He has also served as chairman of the English Department (1940-1968), Director of Athletics (1951-1968), and Director of Public Relations (1961-69). In June, 1969, he was named executive vice president of the college.

Dr. Dillon was the recipient of two student awards last year. The student body presented him with the Cogan Union Award for his contributions to the college's students, and the senior class dedicated its yearbook to him in appreciation of his services to the college.

In awarding the Medal to him, the alumni association is honoring Dr. Dillon for his service both inside and outside of the classroom. In the classroom, the citation says, "he has distinguished himself in the academic field, acquiring a wide reputation among educators on other campuses. Outside the classroom he contributed his talents for the benefit of the college and its students in athletics and in public relations, as well as in other administrative posts."

The text of the citation is as follows:

Fire Prevention Week Activities Are Listed

Fire kills about a thousand persons each month in the United States. Each year, some 2,424,000 fires destroy $2.4 billion worth of property — homes, schools and churches, stores and offices, factories and farms.

The real tragedy of these statistics, Fire Chief Guy R. McGlaughlin of the Vigilant Hose Co., points out, is that much of this waste of lives and property is avoidable. If the basic rules of fire safety were observed at home and on the job, the record could be far different.

Fire Prevention Week, which in 1970 will take place October 4-10, re-emphasizes that Fire Hurts, that fighting fires is the job of each and every citizen, during Fire Prevention Week and throughout the year.

Local observance of Fire Prevention Week will be sponsored by the Vigilant Hose Co., Chief McGlaughlin announces. On next Thursday, Oct. 8, all local kiddies under 12, will be given the opportunity to ride the fire trucks by appearing at the Fire Hall at 6:00 p.m. The chief also announced the company will participate in a quick hook-up demonstration this Sunday in East Berlin.

Proclaimed by the President of the United States and the Governor-General of Canada, the week is internationally sponsored by the National Fire Protection Assn.

Shooting Match Scheduled Sunday

The Vigilant Hose Co. will sponsor a shooting match this Sunday, starting at 1 p.m. at Stouter's Meadow, south of town. Nice prizes will be awarded and refreshments will be available.

Shooters can use 12-gauge guns only and shells will be furnished. Everyone is welcome to participate.

Dial 447-6121 to report a fire.

"To assume a position of leadership in academic life today is to place one's head on the chopping block. To survive even after only one year of collegiate turmoil is a major accomplishment."

"Mount Saint Mary's College, throughout its long history, has always been blessed to have men of courage and of vision to guide it during crucial periods. Such is the distinguished honorary Mountaineer who has given of himself for thirty years to the service of Mount Saint Mary's College and whom we honor here today."

"From his earliest years on the faculty he has distinguished himself in the academic field, acquiring a wide reputation among educators on other campuses. Outside the classrooms he contributed his talents for the benefit of the college and its students in athletics and in public relations, as well as in other administrative posts, and he unhesitatingly offered his services for committee work above and beyond the call of duty."

"He has gained the admiration, respect, and devotion of the administration, the faculty, and the student body."

"No wonder that the student body last year presented him with the Cogan Union Award for his contributions to the student body of Mount Saint Mary's College. No wonder, too, that last year the senior class dedicated its yearbook to him in appreciation of his services to the college."

"But perhaps the sesquicentennial class of 1958 expressed it best in the dedication of its yearbook when it said: 'As freshmen we saw him as a kind of symbol of Mountaineer spirit. Then, as upperclassmen, we became his students, and with a deceptive casualness he told us of our literary heritage, of great men and books, and in his easy manner we detected that love of genius and the classical order of things — that love which is called culture. Laboring tirelessly and with enthusiasm at his task, he has built for himself in the hearts and minds of Mountmen, great deposits of admiration, gratitude, and affection.'"

"It is with this same feeling that the National Alumni Association of Mount Saint Mary's College takes pride in presenting its Brute Medal for distinguished service by a Mountaineer to Dr. John J. Dillon, Jr."

Bishop To Visit Parish Here Over Weekend

College To Show "Black" Film

"The American Culture" is the theme of the film series this year at St. Joseph College.

West Side Story initiated the season Sept. 16. The next film will be Black Like Me, scheduled to be presented October 7 in DePaul auditorium at 7 p.m.

1000-Acre Hunting Club Opens Here

Pheasant Meadows Shooting Preserve, a new concept in sporting preserves, will offer the beleaguered sportsmen in this area the chance to get away for some hunting and fishing this fall without having to join an expedition to do so. Only one hour from the Washington and Baltimore areas, Pheasant Meadows' 1,000 acres of rolling meadows, wooded mountainsides, stocked fishing ponds and a freshwater stream, will open near Emmitsburg on Saturday, Oct. 3, to provide both the hunter and fisherman a natural site to pursue their sporting pleasures.

For the hunters, Pheasant Meadows has brought over 7,000 of America's finest pheasant species, including American-Chinese, California, English buff and Jumbo, to the site to augment an already abundant natural selection of pheasant and quail. Deer, rabbit, raccoon and woodchuck will be other game targets available. Fishermen can test their skill in the freshwater mountain stream that teems with bass, trout and bluegill. In addition, there will be three stocked ponds.

Hunting and fishing excursions are planned for Canada, the Eastern Shore, and the Florida coast. Daily shooting privileges are available to the public, and yearly club memberships, which entitle members to special rates, special trips, and hunting lodge facilities, are offered on a first-come first-serve basis.

Further information can be obtained by calling 301-447-2897 or writing: Pheasant Meadows Shooting Preserve, Box 327, Emmitsburg, Maryland 21727.

Pass, Punt, Kick Contest Saturday

Emmitsburg youths will gather at Community Field, Saturday, Oct. 3 for the annual Pass, Punt and Kick Contest which is sponsored locally by Brute Council 1860, Knights of Columbus and Sperry Ford Sales.

Action will get under way at 1:30 p.m., sales manager John S. Hollinger, of Sperry Ford, said this week. Coach Bill Hodge, of Catoctin High School, is the program director, and has had an opportunity to show the boys some of the fundamentals of good football.

The contest is restricted to boys from 8-13 years of age and has been growing steadily in popularity for the past several years.

"We'll be awarding a total of 18 winners' trophies in our local PP&K competition on October 3," the Ford dealer said. "And from our contest, winners could go on to win in the zone, district, area and division competitions. After that, top competitors in each age group will go to Los Angeles where they'll be in the national finals in the pro All-Star Game, January 26."

"The all-expense-paid trip to the coast includes the parents of each finalist, a special tour of Disneyland, a Banquet of Champions celebration, and the chance to meet some of the top players and coaches in professional football. Naturally, we hope some of our Emmitsburg PP&K winners will make it all the way to the finals," Hollinger said.

The Ford dealer further explained that each boy upon registration receives a free PP&K Tips Book. In the 1970 edition, there are competition tips by NFL stars Dave Lee, Bill Nelson and Fred Cox plus all-round suggestions from Coaches of the Year Hank Stram and Bud Grant. The Tips Book also includes complete PP&K rules and helpful conditioning exercises for contestants.

The is the 10th anniversary year for PP&K. From its inception, the youth activity has been sponsored by the Ford Dealers of America and the National Football League. In that time more than 6,000,000 boys have taken part in PP&K, making it the largest and fastest growing activity of its kind in America.

Valley Weekend To Draw Hundreds Here

St. Joseph College is preparing to host parents for the annual Valley Home Weekend October 2, 3, and 4. Each fall this event is staged for the parents of students, particularly those of the newly arrived freshmen. This year the main core of the program will revolve around pertinent suggestions offered by parents with the idea of gaining a greater insight and understanding into their daughter's life on campus.

One of the innovations this year will be faculty-parent interviews during which parents may meet for personal consultations with their daughter's teachers.

Friday night at 8:00 p.m., the scheduled cultural event for the parents will be the film, "An Evening with the Royal Ballet." The highlight of the weekend's program will be a faculty and administrative panel entitled "SJC Today," which will be held at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday. Sister Margaret Dougherty, College President, will preside. The panel will discuss questions raised by interested parents such as, how the college handles student demands, current attitudes of the administration, the cooperative program with Mt. St. Mary's College, and St. Joseph's College Council.

Parents may register at the Student Center on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Videotapes of student activities will be displayed via the college's video projector during the weekend proceedings. The theme of the clippings will be "Widening Horizons on Campus."

Other events scheduled for the weekend include a parents' committee roundtable, guided Shrine tours, the President's Tea, outdoor Mass, the Junior class ring ceremony, parents' dance, and a powderpuff football game.

Approximately 600 parents are expected to attend the weekend and they will be encouraged to form parents' clubs in their respective home areas after the weekend's briefing.

Firemen Respond To Two Fires

The Vigilant Hose Co. was summoned to a mountain fire of Rt. 81 near Thurmont Thursday, Sept. 24 at 2:23 p.m. to assist the Thurmont department. The fire first flared Wednesday and again Thursday.

Later the same day the company responded to a trash fire at St. Joseph College. The two Emmitsburg pumpers were joined at that blaze by a Taneytown Fire Co. tanker.

Chief Guy McGlaughlin said the Fairfield Fire Co. was alerted to Emmitsburg's fire hall.

Wee Bit Of Emmitsburg In Pittsburgh

Two Emmitsburgians, Eugene and John "Bud" Warthen were soaking up the warm sunshine and enjoying the baseball game last Saturday in the new Three Rivers Stadium, Pittsburgh, when suddenly their attention was called to a banner waving briskly in the warm breezes.

Reverting to their binoculars, the two chuckled heartily at what they read on the banner. The inscription read: Emmitsburg, Md. Backs the Bucs... We Had 'Em

All the Way. The banner was made of a large white bed sheet and emblazoned with black lettering and hung from a balcony.

Needless to say, the two were happy that Emmitsburg was represented on the scene and settled back to see the Pirates nip the Mets and the following day win the pennant. The banner was posted in the stadium by Mike Bobanic, grandson of Gene and Bud's nephew, and came as a happy surprise.

Several Wrecks In Area Reported

Three were injured and damages ranged about $2,000 in a collision on U.S. 15 at the intersection of Rt. 81 at the limits of Thurmont at 3 p.m. Saturday, state police said.

Edward L. Jones, 65, Lebanon, was taken to Frederick Memorial Hospital for initial treatment of a fractured skull, serious lacerations of his face and compound fractures of his lower left leg and later removed to Washington County Hospital for further treatment, state police said.

Jones' vehicle was traveling north on 15 and Freund's vehicle, traveling east on 81, failed to stop, causing the collision, police said.

Freund was charged with failure to stop and grant the right of way, by investigating officer, Trooper John M. Blake.

Poor visibility, due to rainy conditions, was partially responsible for a collision at 12:10 p.m. Sunday on Simmons Rd., state police said.

A 1964 sedan, traveling north, driven by Glen E. Gordon, Westminster, struck a 1968 sedan, traveling south, driven by George Sanders, Emmitsburg.

No injuries were reported in a two-car collision on Rt. 97, a west of Taneytown at 1:19 Sunday afternoon, state police said.

Michael Charles Pittinger, Emmitsburg, was traveling northwest on 97 in his 1969 sedan when he struck the parked 1962 sedan operated by Caroline Hines, Taneytown, police said. Pittinger's car suffered about $1,000 and Hine's car suffered about $500 damage, police said.

Cozy Restaurant Announces Another New Addition

It was announced last week by the management of Cozy Restaurant, Thurmont, that the new dining room, known as the Catocin Room, is nearing completion and work on the second stage of their remodeling project has already begun.

Recently the south wall of the old Cozy Room came tumbling down to make way for the second phase of remodeling which will be a Cocktail Lounge and Surf and Turf Rooms. When completed these will add greatly to the "Cozy Complex" and be a most unique place for dining.

The plush "Surf and Turf" room will feature steak, lobster, beef and fondue and will be open from 5:00 to 10:00 p. m. daily.

The "Surf and Turf" room will have the motif of an 1890 Victorian salon with all the elegance and splendor of this bygone era. The cocktail lounge will feature a horseshoe bar and several booths, thus providing the patron with a most intimate rendezvous which will add much to the enjoyment of dining out.

Architect for these newest additions is Charles F. Bowers, and his associate, Tom King. Construction work is being done by a Thurmont firm, Long Construction Co. The interior decorations are being handled by Vicki Wenger, a most prominent and well known interior decorator of the Baltimore and Washington area.

The present additions and renovations are the 10th since Cozy Restaurant first opened, back in 1929.

Mrs. Mary L. Freeze, owner-manager of Cozy Restaurant, takes pride in the growth of the establishment which, through the years has become one of the finest and most unique restaurants in the State of Maryland, serving only the best in home-cooked meals.

A World Of Excitement Through Travel

The Eiffel Tower in Paris, the Pyramids of Egypt, the ski slopes of Switzerland—these and other exciting places to visit and things to see await the person who can afford to travel.

And it's easier than you think. You can see the world at a fraction of the usual cost if you're one of thousands of travel industry employees who benefit from substantial air fare and hotel discounts.

Travel industry jobs are as exciting as the fringe benefits they offer. For example, travel agents work closely with a variety of clients, planning itineraries, making reservations, and often personally conducting travel tours.

Airline ticket agents, reservationists, and passenger service agents are the mainstay of day-to-day airline operations. Efficient service and satisfied passengers are the result of the skill and attention each airline ground employee brings to his job.

Corporation travel coordinators work with their top executives in planning travel arrangements, while traffic managers control the efficiency of vital important freight transportation.

Airlines, travel agencies, and major corporations naturally seek the most qualified candidates for their job openings. Although on-the-job training is often provided, the prospective employee with some background in the travel industry has a valuable edge over his competitors.

For example, if you are a young woman with a yen to be an airline stewardess, but haven't yet reached the required minimum age of 20½, you might well find it worth your while to begin work for an airline as a reservationist, and be ready to apply for an in-flight job when you reach the proper age.

Schools like Career Academy, Milwaukee-based occupational education organization, provide that edge through resident and home study courses designed to prepare students for a number of exciting, well-paying air travel and transportation management job opportunities.

If you're graduating from high school soon, or if you simply want more than your present job has to offer, investigate the possibilities available to you in the travel industry by writing Airline and Travel Department 1, 611 E. Wells St., Milwaukee, Wis. 53202. The sights and sounds of the world are waiting—don't let them pass you by.

WHATCHUMACALLEMS

A new kind of rocket? Bombs bursting in air? Neither of these. Look carefully, think of last year's garden, then perhaps you'll solve the riddle. If not, look below and find the answer.

Turtles on a tropical beach? A new kind of snack? Or maybe some sort of health cereal? No, guess again. It's later in the season than you think and time to reacquaint yourself with the garden's beginning. (Middle seeds, top; stock seeds, bottom.)

by BABSON'S REPORTS

Companies Free Of Debt

By Babson's Reports Incorporated, Wellesley Hills, Mass. —There are many important factors to consider when arriving at a decision as to whether to hold, sell, or buy a particular stock. The company's capitalization is one of them. Earnings, of course, are probably the primary consideration. Nevertheless, at this stage of the market we believe it wise —when feasible—to avoid owning too many issues of firms that have an especially high percentage of their capitalization in prior claim bonds.

Into Focus

When the Penn Central, the nation's largest transportation system, filed a bankruptcy petition a short time ago, the matter of corporate liquidity suddenly came into sharp focus. During the boom period of the sixties many firms borrowed heavily in order to finance expansion, develop new products, purchase new machinery, etc. Thus, they became what is referred to as "highly leveraged."

Dual-Edged Sword

At times the leverage factor can work to the distinct advantage of the common stockholder, for once the profits of the company have risen to the point where bond interest and preferred dividend requirements have been met, all additional earnings spill over to the common stock. When earnings climb rapidly—as they do in the early stages of a business recovery—the effect on the common stock is magnified. Thus, it is usually a good investment policy to have some high-leverage common stocks during the early stages of a rising market.

Now, however, with the economy in a less-than-buoyant phase, many firms that became heavily laden with debt during the lush years of the mid-to-late sixties are finding the going particularly rough. In other words the leverage is working in reverse. Actually, those companies that have had to float large amounts of bonds at extremely high interest rates over the past couple of years could very well feel the effects for a long time to come.

The Stalwarts

Interestingly enough there are still a number of companies that have managed to remain debt-free. Granted, the percentage of such companies relative to all listed companies is very small, but several big-name firms are on the list. In most cases, their progress has not been hampered by their failure to issue debt. They have expanded through internally generated capital. It is to be hoped that they will be able to continue doing so and still maintain ample working capital and satisfactory profits.

Selected Debt-Free Firms

We have tabulated below a number of selected issues that are regularly followed by the Babson's Reports Research Staff. None of them has any outstanding debt and hence they are not as vulnerable as are a good many high-leverage companies.

For purchase, the Babson's Reports Staff feels that those marked with asterisks can be acquired where they fit into individual investment programs. All of the others appear to be well worth holding at their recent levels.

Capitol Comment

By Charles Mc Mathias
U.S. Senator

U.N. Agreement Needed On Seabed Boundaries

In addition to his committee assignments and floor duties, a United States Senator is assigned to help oversee a particular area of treaty commitments and foreign relations. In this connection, I am, with Senator Claiborne Pell of Rhode Island, a Senate advisor on the question of treaties affecting the world's seabeds. Seabeds, the areas covered by the world's oceans, are not in the headlines every day. However, because of the unparalleled wealth in minerals, petroleum and organic resources contained in the seabeds they will become more and more important to man as he develops the means to tap this wealth.

Traditionally, no nation owns the oceans. The old rule of thumb was that a nation's jurisdiction extended as far beyond its shores as a cannon would shoot. Obviously, in the missile age this is an unsatisfactory rule and must be changed. The United Nations has tried to reach agreement on a new rule for jurisdiction over the oceans, but so far has failed to get a consensus among the nations.

The Nixon Administration has taken a leading role in the U.N. effort to determine where national jurisdictions end and international oceans begin. Earlier this year President Nixon recommended that the national limit be set at the 200-meter depth mark. Such a designation allows for a generous shelf of water around all the major maritime nations who, of course, want to protect their national interests. However, the President's suggested boundary would not infringe upon the high seas, areas of the oceans that have been traditionally considered to be international waters.

The United Nations considered the Nixon proposal but because of the opposition of some countries, particularly a number of Latin American nations that claim very broad and extensive jurisdiction on the high seas, no world-wide accord has been reached. However, it is my hope that the Nixon proposal will ultimately be adopted. Such agreement is essential because progress and the profit motive are driving man to sea. Man is not only fishing commercially with large factory ships but he is finding ways to mine and drill on the ocean floor. Until the question of national jurisdiction and regulation of the seabeds is determined, the world is going to be facing the threat of open hostility over these areas and the resources contained in them.

As a Senate advisor on the seabeds, I strongly support President Nixon's suggestion that a new international sea boundary at the 200 meter mark be established for the nations of the world. This would be a step forward in bringing the seabed within the rules of laws and preserving our resources for the good of all mankind.

The Birnies Of Thorndale

"History is ourselves."

A most provocative statement — but — a true summing up of facts. People are history — of that there can be no doubt. History is made from day to day — fifty years from now the events of this era will be a "times long past." Give thought and understanding to this fact and the world may be made — because of this — a bit better. A written record is a "dead giveaway" — right or wrong — it is a wise thing to remember.

Now to return to the Birnie family of Ireland and Maryland and the footsteps they left "in the sands of time."

In last week's column in giving the inscription from the marker at the grave of Rogers (3) Birnie an error was made as to the place of his birth. He was the first of the children of Clotworthy (2) and Hester (McNaughton) Birnie to be born in America. This particular branch of the family emigrated to this country in 1810. Their older children were born in Ireland. Rogers (3) was the first born in Maryland at Glen Burn in 1811. John (3) Birnie, born and died in 1813, the youngest in the family, according to tradition, was interred at "Bear Branch", located on the lands of the Birnie family, in what is now Carroll County, Maryland.

The first Clotworthy (1) Birnie, the ancestor of the Maryland Birnies, married Margaret Scott in 1740. Margaret (Scott) Birnie, according to the family chart, came of a somewhat illustrious family. The record, as given, is as follows:

Francis Scott—died 1766—married Margaret Craig, who died in 1741.

The issue of Francis (1) and Margaret (Craig) Scott were:

1. Frances (2) Scott — born 1698—died 1770.
2. Rev. Hugh (2) Scott—born 1704—died 1736.
3. Jean (2) Scott—died 1781.

4. Elizabeth (2) Scott — died 1773—married Paul Reid.

5. Dr. Upton (2) Scott — born 1722—died 1814.

Note: Dr. Scott died at Annapolis, Maryland, and, according to tradition, his tomb is now in Saint Anne's Episcopal churchyard, in that city. He was the first president and one of the founders of the Maryland Medical Society.

6. Margaret (2) Scott — born in 1717—married Clotworthy (1) Birnie.

7. Daughter (given name not known) — married .....(?) McCord.

8. John (2) Scott—no additional information.

Francis Scott Key, lawyer, poet, churchman, and the author of the National Anthem of the United States, was a descendant of this Scott family. Many of his Scott and Key ancestors are interred in or near Annapolis. To trace out the various branches would make an interesting study — but one much too long to be included in this series.

Of the children of Clotworthy (2) and Hester (McNaughton) Birnie, one, the third Clotworthy (3) Birnie married Harriet Worthington. They had issue—as follows:

1. Clotworthy Upton (4) Birnie—born 1831—no further data.

2. Robert Emmet (4) Birnie—born 1835—no further data.

3. Edward (4) Birnie—married Jenny .....(?)

4. William (4) Birnie — born 1838—no further data.

5. Harriet E. (4) Birnie — born 1841—married Captain .....(?) Noble.

6. Hester (Hessy) McNaughton (4) Birnie—born 1843—married Colonel Stephen Barlow.

7. Mary Worthington (4) Birnie—no further data.

Rogers (3) Birnie, the ninth child of Clotworthy (2) and Hester (McNaughton) Birnie, married Amelia Harry, the daughter of George and Amelia (Knob) Harry, of Washington County, Maryland. Both Rogers (3) Birnie and his wife are interred at Piney Creek Presbyterian churchyard and the inscriptions from the markers at their graves were given in last week's column. They were the parents of eight children listed, on the family chart, as follows:

1. Margaret (4) Birnie—born 1840—died 1903—married Rev. William Scarborough.

2. Dr. Clotworthy (4) Birnie—born 1843—died 1917—practiced medicine in Taneytown, Maryland. Interred at Piney Creek. Unmarried.

4. George Harry Birnie, husband of Elizabeth Eleanor Zollickoff, born August 28, 1845, died December 1, 1925.

Elizabeth Eleanor Zollickoff, wife of George Harry Birnie, born August 8, 1851, died February

7. Amelia (4) Birnie — born 1856—died 1934—unmarried—buried at Piney Creek.

12. Amelia Harry Birnie, daughter of Rogers and Amelia Harry Birnie, born at Glenburn, October 14, 1856, died at Taneytown, Maryland, April 22, 1934.

13. George W. Clabaugh, born 1859, died 1926.

14. Annie Birnie Clabaugh, wife of George W. Clabaugh, born 1860, died 1916.

OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day

Not Merely Decorative

There was a time in the not too distant past when Thoroughbreds marched in the post parade and trotted or galloped to the post, with only their jockey to guide them. Sometimes one or another would misbehave and the outrider had some work to do.

Today it is a rare horse that is not accompanied to the post by a stable pony. This is not an indication that Thoroughbreds are becoming any more difficult to manage or that jockeys are less able to control them; it is merely a method of spreading the wealth. The exercise boys and girls get a ten dollar fee for ponying a horse to the post. It is therefore not strange that a newcomer to racing thinks that the outriders are part of a hunt that took the wrong turn in pursuit of the fox.

The men in the dashing red jackets and black velvet caps are not there for decorative purposes, however. Their minor chores consist of stopping a horse that comes out of the gate prior to the start, or helping a jockey pull up after a race. A more difficult and important job is catching a loose horse that gets up after a spill and starts running the wrong way of the track. Nor is their job confined to racing hours; the outriders are a mounted patrol during the early morning workouts.

Aerial Photos Very Useful

"We think of our ASCS aerial photos as a useful tool for the farmer and, of course, that's the main objective," said Chairman Raymond F. Jaeger of the Maryland State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. "But we find that quite a few other people also make good use of photo prints."

The Chairman commented that photo prints provide producers a map of their farms and acreages by fields. This has proven of great benefit to producers participating in Federal farm programs.

"But we also get quite a few orders for these prints from representatives of municipal or county governments, the timber industry, real estate men, and even bankers, attorneys and railroads."

"Highway engineers, power and telephone companies, and local or regional planning boards also appreciate the value of these photos. Even hunters and fishermen find them useful," the Chairman continued.

Other users, he said, are agricultural vendors who use photo prints to locate fields where conservation work is to be carried out.

Sales of photo prints are big business. Photo prints are provided at cost, usually at a very nominal figure.

Prints can be provided in several sizes; the smallest covers the individual farm unit, and this is also the most-used size.

"Since we are taking aerial photos, we are glad to work with people desiring prints. Several counties in Maryland have had recent aerial flights. Persons who are interested in further information concerning aerial photos should contact their county ASCS office," the Chairman said.

DECORATING MADE EASY

By Richard Butler, A.I.D., Director, Sears Home Fashions Council

One of the most neglected statistics of our times is what a new house costs to decorate satisfactorily.

Most architects and designers place that figure at 25 per cent of a home's price, meaning that if you buy a $20,000 home, you should budget $5,000 to complete the interiors.

That's money that should be spent "finishing" your home during the first year you live there. Some people prefer decorating before they move in, but most of us, I think, like to get the feel of a house before we establish major styles and moods in it.

I recommend the following approach:

Wherever possible, professional guidance. Most department stores have interior designers who can smooth out the rough spots and help stretch your decorating budget. Chart your color plan throughout the house, painting or papering accordingly. Then cover your windows in the styles you prefer.

Choose floor coverings — whether hard or soft — with an eye toward quality. Better quality gives longer service.

Select your furniture. Any furnishings you move in with may be deducted from the 25-per-cent figure for decorating. Again, buying quality is a long-range economy when it comes to items such as beds, sofas, dining groupings, large storage chests, bureaus or china cabinets.

Make the finishing touches with accessories that define and distinguish your home. These include tables, lamps, pictures, accent pillows, tree-size plants and whatever else becomes your manner of living. These are the "jewelry" items which often are overlooked in the decorating budget.

A "Decorating Made Easy" kit including a 30-page, four-color booklet, floor plan chart and furniture cut-outs is available free by writing: Home Fashions, Dept. 703, Sears, Roebuck and Co., 303 E. Ohio St., Chicago, Ill. 60611.

What's Wrong
With Communism?

The second most important fact that a youngster in 1970 America should be taught—in the home, the school, the college, the church—is that Communism is an evil force and its bogus ideology and economic fantasy produce only failure in mankind's quest for the better life. The most important fact, as we emphasized in our last column, is the production, under the American system, of the greatest good and the brightest promise for human progress.

If our young people are to withstand the blandishments of the Communist propagandists now at work in schools and colleges, they must know the true facts about Communism. Our little 12-page brochure, "What's WRONG with Communism," second in the series of four contained in our new "Educational Survival Kit," clearly documents the true facts.

The Three Basic Desires

In meeting the three basic desires of mankind — personal freedom, economic well-being, spiritual awareness — Communism comes up with three zeros when compared to our American system's record.

The record on FREEDOM: The reality of Communism is totalitarian dictatorship. Russian citizens must escape to leave the country unattended; they are held prisoners in a brutal police state (some in horrible slave-labor camps). Only 6% of the population are Communists, and absolutely no one except the handful of Kremlin bosses is free to speak, to worship, to choose an occupation, to go into business, to move about freely through their own country.

The record on ECONOMIC WELL-BEING: Under Communism, the Government owns all property, the land, the houses, the apartments, the businesses and industries. Production of goods and their distribution is under a central plan imposed on the nation by the Dictatorship. Communism is a poor producer of goods and services. The average Russian worker—blue collar and white collar—can purchase with his wages not more than a fourth of the food, clothing, housing, transportation, entertainment, and education that the average American worker can purchase with his wages.

Punishes Faith In God

The record of providing a climate for SPIRITUAL GROWTH: Communism is Godless. One of the fundamental objectives of the Communists is the elimination of all religion—not only Christianity, but all religions. When Chairman Khrushchev was visiting in America while head of the Soviet hierarchy, he proudly proclaimed on a nationwide television network: "We Communists are atheists!" In China, missionaries were given the choice of leaving the country or going to jail when the Communists took over in 1949. In his shocking book, Deliver Us From Evil, Dr. Tom Dooley recorded incidents of Ho Chi Minh's Communist warriors cutting out the tongues of people who recited Biblical quotations, and destroying the ear drums of young people who listened to the quotations.

"As the weeks passed," wrote Dr. Dooley in his account of his ministry to thousands of "punished" North Vietnamese fleeing the brutality of Comrade Ho, "I found myself increasingly puzzled, not only by the growing number but by the character of Communist atrocities. I was accustomed by now to patching up emaculated men, and women whose breasts had been mutilated, and even little children without fingers or hands. But more and more I was learning that these punishments were linked to the refugees' belief in God."

Red Force Grows

So in practice the entire Communist ideology and system are wrong, fundamentally wrong. Communism ignores all individual and personal rights; it is brutal and murderous; it denies the right to private ownership and thus makes man dependent, not independent.

For the first time in their nearly 50 years of subversive activities in the United States, the Communists have today a military force here. It centers around the Black Panthers, who already are so powerful they openly call themselves Marxist-Leninist and declare their intention to overthrow our Government by force. They are joined by the student revolutionary groups such as SDS. A reliable national poll recently reveals that the Panthers have about 2,000,000 followers. The shocking fact in American today is that millions of our youth have been brain-washed into sympathy with the Black Panther "reign of terror." We must get the true facts to them and to all American youth if our freedom system is to survive.

HERE COME THE IRISH... They, like other international-scale teams from Europe and the strong 4-man Irish equestrian team scheduled to compete at the Washington International Horse Show at the D. C. National Guard Armory, Oct. 26 through Nov. 1.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
THIS IS TO GIVE NOTICE
that on the 22nd day of September, 1970, a Petition of Condemnation was filed in the Circuit Court for Frederick County against certain Defendants all of whom are residents of the State of Maryland, and Julius Ginsburg and Gertrude S. Ginsburg, his wife, whose address is Van Ness Apartments, N.W., Washington, D. C. 20008. The object of the Petition is to condemn in fee simple a parcel of land located in the Seventh Election District of Frederick County, State of Maryland, and the right to trim, cut down, and remove trees on adjacent parcels of land which will be more particularly hereinafter described; that the said land is to be used for the construction, operation, and maintenance of electric transmission lines and appurtenant equipment, in, under, over, and across said parcel of fee simple land. The Petition recites:

1. That the Plaintiff is authorized by law to acquire by purchase or condemnation, any property or right necessary in connection with the construction of electric lines to be used in supplying the public with electric light and power.

2. That on April 29, 1970, the Public Service Commission of Maryland issued an order in Case No. 6286, finding that the construction of the said transmission lines would promote the public convenience and necessity, and thereupon granted the Plaintiff a Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity authorizing construction of said electric transmission lines, pursuant to the provisions of Article 78, Section 54A of the Annotated Code of Maryland.

3. That the Plaintiff has determined that in order to properly supply the public with electric light and power, it is necessary and proper to construct transmission lines in, over, under, and across a parcel of land 200 feet wide, hereinafter more particularly described, located in the Seventh Election District of Frederick County, State of Maryland, owned by the various Defendants hereinafter more particularly referred to; that it is necessary to acquire the fee simple title to said strip of land in order to construct, operate, and maintain said electric transmission lines and appurtenant facilities; that it is also necessary to acquire two rights of way each 75 feet wide on each side of the parcel of land referred to as the parcel of land in fee simple, in order that the Plaintiff will have the right to trim, cut down, and remove trees on the said rights of way.

4. That the interests of the various Defendants in said parcel of land are more particularly hereinafter set forth as follows: The fee simple title to the land here-before referred to is vested in the Defendants Julius Ginsburg and Gertrude S. Ginsburg, his wife, Morris Ginsburg and Jean Ginsburg, his wife, Donald H. Mensch and Iris G. Mensch, his wife, Ira Gerald Ginsburg, and Regina H. Ginsburg, his wife. That Harvey E. Fox and John Fox, Trustees, and Joseph J. Oleinik and Johanna Marie Oleinik, Beneficiaries, are joined herein by virtue of a Deed of Trust dated August 24, 1965, from Ira Gerald Ginsburg and Donald H. Mensch as joint tenants to Harvey E. Fox and John Fox, Trustees and Joseph J. Oleinik and Johanna Marie Oleinik, Beneficiaries.

That Defendants Frederick County, Maryland, and The State of Maryland, are joined in these proceedings in order that the said governmental authorities may protect any claim for unpaid taxes or other public liens or charges they may have against said land, part of which is the subject of these proceedings, and all of the said Defendants are joined in these proceedings in accordance with the provisions of Article 33A of the Annotated Code of Maryland and Subtitle U of the Maryland Rules of Procedure.

5. That it is necessary for the Plaintiff to acquire said strip of land 200 feet wide in fee simple, and the right to cut down and trim trees on adjacent land by condemnation because it is unable to agree with the owners of said land as to the price to be paid for said land and the rights on adjacent land.

6. That the Plaintiff is desirous of acquiring by condemnation said strip of land 200 feet wide, in fee simple, for the construction, operation, and maintenance thereon of its towers, poles, structures, wires, cables, conduits and other facilities over and under said strip of land, and in addition to said strip of land, the right to: (1) have access at all times, using roads as far as practicable for the construction, operation, and maintenance of towers, poles, structures, wires, cables, conduits, and other facilities upon, over, or under said strip of land; and (2) trim, cut down, and remove trees on land owned by the Defendants adjacent to and within 75 feet along both sides of said strip of land, which trees might at any time in the sole judgment of the Plaintiff be liable to interfere with or fall upon Plaintiff's facilities to be located on the aforesaid strip of land; provided that: (1) Defendants have the right to (a) cross and extend roads and public utility facilities across said strip of land anywhere except within 50 feet of any existing or proposed structure of the Plaintiff, and if such roads or facilities interfere with the use of the land by the Plaintiff, it will relocate them, and (b) farm or use the same in any manner as long as such farming or other use in the sole judgment of Plaintiff will not interfere with the construction, operation, and maintenance of Plaintiff's existing or future facilities, but the Defendants shall not erect any buildings or structures thereon; and (2) any crops which may be damaged on land adjacent to said strip because of such construction, operation, and maintenance shall be paid for a prevailing market prices. The said strip of land is described as follows:

Health Hints

FROM BLUE SHIELD

Motion Sickness

Don't allow motion sickness to start your vacation on the wrong foot. Begin your trip well rested and avoid overeating and excessive alcoholic intake. However, never travel on an empty stomach. Sit in the front seat of the car, or as close to amidship in a boat or plane as possible. Keep fresh air circulating at all times and divert attention by reading or other amusements.

Cancer's Warnings

In addition to a yearly physical examination by your doctor, familiarize yourself with cancer's seven danger signals which include: unusual bleeding or discharge, a lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere, a sore that does not heal, a change in bowel or bladder habits, hoarseness or cough, indigestion or difficulty swallowing, and a change in the size or color of a wart or mole. If a signal lasts longer than two weeks, see your physician without delay.

Good Nutrition

Poor diet can often be the cause of poor health. Leading nutritionists recommend a balanced diet which includes: two glasses of milk a day; enriched bread with riboflavin and wheat germ; broiled liver twice a month; broiled - rather than fried - meats, fowl, and fish; raw fruits; and green and yellow vegetables. Avoid candy, cake, fatty meats, crunchy snacks, and convenience foods. For between meal hunger, eat fruits and vegetables.

Dune Buggy Craze Sweeps Nation

More than 70,000 Americans now own dune buggies, those stubby little cars with oversize tires.

For the most part, according to automotive statistics, owners are outdoor-minded young people who enjoy the freedom and excitement of uninhibited zooming across desolate beaches and desert dunes. However, buggies are also popular with tuned-in city dwellers and suburbanites who appreciate the fun vehicle's good gas mileage, low upkeep and ease of parking, and the status of being different.

The dune buggy craze started in California (where else?) in the early 1960's. A backyard inventor cut about a foot-and-a-half out of the middle of a standard Volkswagen chassis, and then welded the two halves back together. He put on four oversize wheels with under-inflated tires (only four pounds of pressure), and the dune buggy was born.

Overnight there was a demand for dune buggies all over California. Small "manufacturers" working in their backyards were turning out 6 to 10 buggies a month.

Now enterprising enthusiasts across the country can make their own dune buggies with little skill and expense required. Once a chassis is obtained, buggy builders usually buy a kit that includes everything else. Sears, Roebuck and Co. sells a kit through the catalog and selected stores that features a fiber glass body in a choice of four metal-flake colors, and various accessories including VW engines. With this kit, a buggy can be built for about $1,100, depending on the needs and preferences of the builder. And, with an assistant, he can put a buggy together in just four weekends.

For competition-minded buggy builders there are new horizons. More and more buggies are racing against motorcycles and four-wheel-drive vehicles—and winning. A buggy took first place in the 1969 Mexican 1000, a brutal race over mountain and desert the length of the Baja peninsula.

SCIENTISTS DEVELOP
NON-ALLERGENIC BANDAGE

"When the bandage applied to a cut or scratch causes a bigger medical problem than the cut itself, it's time for science to step in with a solution," said William O. Elson, medical research director for the Kendall Company's Curity Division.

"In cases like this, the patients have an allergic reaction—not to the bandage itself, but to the resin used in the adhesive," the research scientist explained.

"No statistics are available concerning the percentage of people who suffer because of their allergies to one or more of the substances used in standard adhesives. But we do know it's needlessly high—for we have now created an adhesive which is hypo-allergenic, meaning it is made of a non-allergic substance," Elson stated.

A Series of Improvements

The new adhesive was perfected by Curity scientists and researchers. It is made of a single substance, and is produced under controlled conditions. Allergic reactions to the new adhesive are almost non-existent.

The break-through against allergic reaction to bandages is the latest in a long series of bandage improvements by Curity scientists. An important development of a few years ago was the perforated "telfa," a plastic material used to prevent any part of a wound, or healing skin, from adhering to the bandage.

The telfa perforations permit exudates to flow through into a highly-absorbent gauze portion of the bandage; they also permit the free flow of air to the wound, while keeping out harmful bacteria. The ease with which telfa bandages can be removed caused the coining of the now-familiar word, "ouchless."

"The modern bandage is a far cry from those of only a few decades ago," said Elson. "Waterproofing, venting, sterilizing, and new materials have dramatically altered the bandage itself. Now, the use of hypo-allergenic adhesive completes the job."

This I Believe—ON POLITICS:

I recently heard someone say, "Why should any nice guy ever get mixed up in politics?" POLITICS—a word by common consensus associated with graft, corruption and chicanery. But it need not be so. Politics is merely the science of government; and in the hands of honest, ethical and firm-willed people it is a noble calling. People in politics are subjected to many pressures; and if there are character weaknesses, they are bound to show.

Every barrel has its bad apples. You frequently hear of bank tellers, cattle dealers, and even ministers—heaven help us—who step over the fine line of propriety. But politics is a public trust. The character of every office holder should be unassailable.

—By Authority L. C. Smith, Treas.

Oriental Rug's Enemy Number One—Grit!

If we Westerners knew what was good for our rugs—Oriental or otherwise—we'd be taking off our shoes and boots at the front door, as seen above, the way they do in Eastern lands.

Yet even over here, with hard heels and heavy shoes clomping over the rugs tracking in grit and grime, a good Oriental rug is the most durable kind of rug you can buy. It'll not only outlast a machine-made carpet many times over, it may well outlast you! With proper care, that is.

So what is proper care? Naturally even if you have priceless Oriental rugs, you can hardly insist that all your friends take off their shoes on the doorstep, so we asked the Oriental Rug Importers Association to give us some advice on the day-to-day care of genuine hand-knotted Oriental rugs. According to Archie Cherkezian, president of the Association, Enemy Number One of the Oriental rug today isn't shoes so much as the grit shoes track in. These fine particles which also drift in airborne have a way of working themselves down into the base of the pile, where their sharp edges cut into the fibers of the wool, shortening the rug's life.

So what you need is to get at the grit before it starts its dirty work. Actually, an Oriental rug is about the easiest floorcovering to maintain of any that you can own, Mr. Cherkezian points out.

To start with, its wool from the high Asian plateaus is a natural "miracle fiber," tending to shed dust and resist ordinary soiling.

Below are a few simple hints on caring for Oriental rugs in today's environment.

Do's and Don'ts of Rug Care
DON'T place Oriental rugs in front outside doors without a soft pile doormat in the vestibule for wiping shoes.
DO try to arrange area rugs so they aren't in major traffic lanes, also turn larger rugs to equalize wear.

DO have rug liners to cushion footsteps; they also keep sealer rugs from slipping.
DON'T forget to put gliders under heavy furniture to prevent legs from crushing and cutting fibers.

DO vacuum your rugs once a week. An upright "sweeper-type" cleaner is recommended for getting at embedded grit effectively. If you use a tank cleaner, set at highest suction and go over rug longer.

DO vacuum Oriental rugs both with and against the nap.
DO take up surface dust and litter between vacuumings with carpet sweeper or broom.

DON'T entrust your rug to ordinary commercial rug-washers; have it cleaned only by a firm who specializes in Orientals.

DON'T neglect small signs of wear along side edges, or fringes worn down close to the pile. These vulnerable spots should be mended by an expert, thus adding years to your rug's life span.

For more fascinating facts about Oriental rugs, write for illustrated booklet "The Magic Carpet", from Oriental Rug Importers Association, 245 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y. 10016. Send 50¢ for handling.
