One of the finest investments a person can make is to become a member of the Red Cross Blood Bank. Efforts have been made for years to organize such a unit here through the Red Cross but the public was more or less apathetic about the plan because the American Legion seemed prepared to handle most emergencies here for quite a number of years. Now the Legion and VFW are planning to combine their efforts to come up with a very serviceable plan which will help considerably. This summer the Red Cross will send its Bloodmobile here and will seek donors. Once you have given a pint of blood to the Bank you are guaranteed protection for your whole family, regardless of where you might be taken sick or involved in an accident. Where might I ask could you share in a better plan? There have been cases where people have needed up to 50 pints of blood for a series of operations and these have been taken care of by the Red Cross. Where could you raise 50 pints of blood elsewhere? We will have more information on the plan as time goes on and especially several weeks before the Bloodmobile comes here in July.

Members of the Catocin Mt. Tourist Council which embraces Emmitsburg and Thurmont, are currently engaged in a campaign to promote tourism in Northern Frederick County. Unquestionably this section of the County is one of the most beautiful and offers more scenic attraction to tourists than the rest of the County. Presently efforts are being made to establish a tourist information booth somewhere between Emmitsburg and the Pennsylvania State Line. More than likely this enterprise, consisting of a recreation area, rest rooms, trained personnel, etc., would be operated by the State Roads Commission. At least that seems to be the policy as the State is attempting to further the tourist business throughout Maryland. Already one or two of these layouts has been established and are proving their value to the areas. It is hoped that the two Town Councils of the Towns can work in conjunction with this project which undoubtedly will aid this area considerably by increased tourism.

Boy Scout Troop 284 has an attractive array of articles displayed in Crouse's show window this week and if you get a chance take a moment out and look at it as you pass by. There are many interesting items and artifacts which go along with Scouting and we take this opportunity to wish the Scouts a very happy anniversary.

Library To Study Book Use

Frederick County Public Libraries will conduct a survey of adult library use during February and March. This action was recommended by the Evaluation Committee of the Committee of 1970 to study FCPL when they discovered that the system had no data of frequency of use, kind of service expected, distance traveled to library agencies, or expressed complaints and suggestions.

A number of survey methods were suggested but the group endorsed using the same sampling methods and questionnaire used by the University of Maryland for the Metropolitan Maryland Library Service Cooperative in 1966. Frederick County did not join the cooperative until 1967 and so was not included in the original survey.

Now the questionnaires have been supplied by the Maryland Division of Library Development and Services and the analysis will be done by Mr. Edward Warner, formerly a professor at University of Maryland and now with the regional planning authority for central Maryland. Questionnaires will be given to every fifth library user (if adult) on the days covered by the sample. Volunteers from the Committee of '70, and library patrons will be needed to count users, distribute and collect questionnaires. Adults who wish to help should contact their librarian.

College To Project French Film

The Language Departments of St. Joseph College and Mt. St. Mary's College will sponsor the French film, "Umbrellas of Cherbourg" on February 23. The movie will be shown in DePaul auditorium on St. Joseph's campus at 7:30 p.m. Admission is free and the public is invited to attend.

"Umbrellas of Cherbourg" is a musical starring Catherine Deneuve, Nino Castelnuovo, Anne Vernon, and Marc Michel. Awarded the Grand Prize at the Cannes Film Festival in 1964, the film was a phenomenal success in Europe and the United States. Directed by Jacques Demy, the movie relates the simple story of the sad and tender romance of a French boy and girl and the various complications that life brings to them.

"Umbrellas" has been described as "a tasteful and unique creation of fantasy," but it also contains "a delicate sophistication and charm."

Michel Legrand, one of the most popular young pop composers in France, wrote the music for the film which consists entirely of musical dialog.

The 90 minute film also has English subtitles.

Seminary Rector Enthusiastic Over New Position

Rev. Harry J. Flynn has been rector of Mount Saint Mary's Seminary since September. Six busy months on the job have not dimmed his enthusiasm for his new position.

"The job is quite challenging," Father Flynn related recently, "especially in these interesting days of the Church when things are being evaluated and an 'internal renewal' is going on. I am enjoying it immensely."

The discussion going on in the Church and in the world is certainly reflected in the Seminary. Father Flynn speaks highly of open-mindedness and dedication displayed by the Seminary community.

"The stability of the Seminary," he believes, "is achieved through a mixture of constant reevaluation and assessment and an adherence to traditional goals."

The "traditional goals" relate to the nature of the Catholic priesthood. While the young men training for the priesthood are challenged to think independently and to be creative, they are also expected to accept some basic responsibilities linked with their office.

"It is necessary for priests and seminarians to retain a balance of obedience and a very deep interior prayer life," Father Flynn believes. "Unless they continually strengthen themselves with prayer, their faith cannot be sustained and their priesthood will collapse."

The "constant reevaluation and assessment" has resulted in marked changes in the Seminary's academic programs. Required class hours have decreased, and seminarians are being given the chance to exercise their creativity and initiative in various field education projects, workshops, and discussions with outside speakers.

In field education projects, the seminarians do social work at various centers in the area. They work at the Victor Cullen School in Sabillasville, Md., the Seton Center in Emmitsburg, and at area elementary and high schools. They help the aged, the deaf, and the mentally retarded. Father Flynn equates this social work with the seminarians' Apostolic duty. "This Apostolic duty is now linked with the academic and spiritual training of the seminarians, and is a formalization of what has been going on for years."

Second semester workshops will study the liturgy, group dynamics, alcoholism, and other relevant topics.

Father Flynn refuses to place any ideological tag on his 14-man faculty. He does say that each faculty member is "trying to progress with the Catholic Church while being open to the Spirit and respectful toward the Magisterium of the Church."

As for the quality of the seminarians, Father Flynn could not be happier. "They have been most cooperative in every area," he says. "They are always thinking, and the suggestions they offer are very constructive."

Frederick County Backgrounds

By SAMUEL CARRICK

The Rev. Solomon Sentman

In this day and age of swift communication and rapid travel it is difficult to visualize or imagine the difficulties and hardships that were a part of life for the early ministers and priests. With a sure and certain faith in God they attended to their scattered congregations — preached the Gospel — baptized children as well as adults — married those who so desired, and buried the dead. In times of grave emergency they lead their people into battle if the need arose. The Rev. Father Thomas Barton and the Rev. John Elder were excellent examples of the militant priest and minister. There was no facet of life in which they did not play a part. To a certain extent they were the unsung heroes of the frontier — no matter where that frontier happened to be.

During the period in which he served as pastor of Elias Lutheran church the Rev. Solomon Sentman also preached at Taneytown and Fountain Dale. It is also believed that the Lutheran church at Sabillasville received some of his time. No wonder his health began to suffer and he found it impossible to carry on his duties and therefore requested, in 1850, "for a division of the congregations." Shortly thereafter such an arrangement was made.

Now to return to the records as taken from the Family Bible of the Rev. Solomon Sentman — as follows:

"Married, in Saint Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church, Barron Hill, Montgomery County, Pennsylvania by the Rev. Solomon Sentman, Andrew McKinney to Sallie A. C. Sentman, on November 3, 1859."

Note: A daughter of the Rev. Solomon and Sallie Sentman—a daughter of the minister's first marriage. The mother and two brothers, who died in infancy, of this young woman are interred in the Lutheran churchyard, Taneytown, Maryland.

It is interesting to note that the year before (1858) he officiated at his daughter's wedding, the Rev. Sentman was, himself, married for the second time.

"Married, at the residence of Mr. J. Lower, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, by the Rev. M. Valentine, D.D., James J. Metcalfe to Miss Clara S. Sentman, on February 21, 1872."

Note: Another daughter of the Rev. Solomon Sentman born to his first marriage—sister of Sallie A. C. (Sentman) McKinney. This young woman met a somewhat tragic end—she died in childhood.

"Married, at the residence of Mr. C. Lehman, Germantown, Pennsylvania, by the Rev. M. Valentine, D.D., William N. Thomson to Amanda Isabella Sentman, on November 21, 1875."

Note: A third daughter of the Rev. Solomon Sentman—also born to his first marriage. This girl was a full sister of Sallie A. C. (Sentman) McKinney and Clara S. (Sentman) Metcalfe. After her marriage Amanda Isabella (Sentman) Thomson made her home in Baltimore, Maryland.

"Married, at the residence of Dr. A. G. B. Parks, at Gap, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, by the Rev. P. J. Timlow, assisted by the Rev. Luther E. Albert, D.D., Pearson P. Sentman to Martha Jane Parke, on October 20, 1892."

Note: A son of the Rev. Solomon Sentman—born to his second marriage. Pearson Sentman lived until the turn of the century—dying in 1900.

"Deaths—
"The Rev. Solomon Sentman, died suddenly at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, on December 10th, 1871."

Note: The Rev. Solomon Sentman and his second wife, Sallie

A. (Lehman) Sentman, are buried in the Evergreen Cemetery, Gettysburg. The second Mrs. Sentman survived her husband by some years.

"Sallie (Sentman) McKinney was born April 18, 1839 and died at Taneytown, Maryland, on May 3, 1866."

Note: The daughter of Rev. Solomon and Eliza Sentman—she was married to Andrew McKinney, of Taneytown, in 1859. Her marriage lasted less than eight years before death stepped in and wrote "finis" to a good life.

"Clara S. Metcalfe was born May 2, 1842. She died at Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, November 22, 1873."

"Her little babe was born November 19 and died on the 24 of the same month."

Note: The death rate of mothers and babies, particularly in the nineteenth century was very high. Just to walk through an old burial ground points glaringly to this fact. Motherhood enacted a high toll and the price was always paid—in full.

"Pearson P. Sentman died at Gap, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, on August 8, 1900."

Note: The son of the Rev. Solomon Sentman, who married into the Parke family, of Lancaster County, in 1892. His marriage, too, lasted less than eight years. He was probably interred at Gap, Pennsylvania. Nothing further is known pertaining to this branch of the family.

"Amanda Isabella Thomson was born September 29, 1841. She died at her home in Baltimore, Maryland, on May 26, 1904."

Note: The third daughter born to the Rev. Solomon Sentman to his first marriage. This woman lived longer than her sisters — her marriage lasted some twenty-five years. She is probably buried at Baltimore.

"BIRTHS—
"Pearson Peterson Sentman, son of Solomon and Sallie A. L. Sentman, was born March 15, 1861. He was baptized June 14, 1861 by the Rev. C. W. Schaeffer, of Germantown, Pennsylvania."

According to a fairly reliable family tradition the Rev. Solomon Sentman cared but little for his given name of "Solomon." His second wife did not know what his first name was until after their marriage. Probably she addressed him as "Mr. Sentman" and never thought to make inquiries until after the knot was tied.

The historical and genealogical study of Elias Lutheran church, her background and genealogical data pertaining to her early ministers, will be continued in this series next week.

Planning Group At Mount Readies For Action

The Mount Saint Mary's College Planning Committee, established by the Board of Trustees in October, has organized nine sub-committees to study all aspects of campus operations, and relationships between the college and its various outside constituencies.

As the sub-committees go to work, the 18 members of the College Planning Committee are being joined by others within the college family with expertise in specific areas to be explored. The group will prepare a plan for the college which will project philosophy and specific needs for the next decade.

The sub-committees will research their special areas of study, and make reports when the Planning Committee next meets on March 16.

The nine sub-committees are: Interinstitutional Cooperation Sub-Committee, Dr. John J. Dillon, Jr., Executive Vice President of the college, chairman; Sub-Committee on Academics, Dr. Raymond R. Lauer, head of the Business Department, chairman; Sub-Committee on the Faculty, Dr. William Meredith, head of the Science Department, chairman; Student Life Sub-Committee, former Student Government President John Everett, chairman; Sub-Committee on Operational Finances, Rev. Vernon Davis, Director of Development and Public Relations, chairman; and Sub-

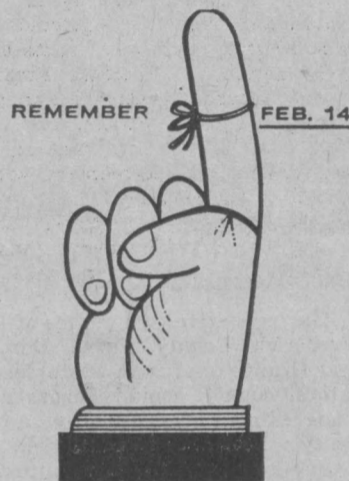

Committee on Facilities, Father Barrett, chairman.

The chairmen of the sub-committees form the Planning Committee's Steering Committee, with Dr. Dillon serving as chairman. General chairman of the full committee is Mr. Leo H. Barry, member of the Board of Trustees who lives on Long Island.

BUSINESS and the STOCK MARKET

by BABSON'S REPORTS INC.
Copyright 1971

American Business Abroad

By Babson's Reports Incorporated, Wellesley Hills, Mass., February 11, 1971—The mercantile history of America reveals that our merchants and traders have actively operated abroad for great number of years. Clipper ships and other trading vessels provided entry into markets throughout the world in the 18th and 19th centuries. As the country became more mature, domestic industry began to flourish, and goods were produced in a quantity and variety unequalled in history. With imaginative and aggressive marketing concepts, much of this output found its way abroad. An in time manufacturers began to realize it would be advantageous to produce in foreign lands.

Merchants And Manufacturers
So, for many years markets beyond our shores have held great attraction for U. S. corporations. Foreign sales and profits have in many cases sustained overall corporate growth; and, last year in particular, they served to cushion the impact of the more extensive business slowdown here at home. A major factor in luring business overseas is that competition is lighter than in this country; there is also considerable continuing demand for products of every conceivable nature, particularly in the newly awakening countries.

"Coke" is an outstanding example of a well-advertised and well-accepted product in all parts of the world. The parent company, Coca-Cola, derived an estimated 40% of its total 1969 sales of $1.2 billion from foreign operations. Other U. S. products have become virtual status symbols for many users worldwide. For example, even the old-style Singer sewing machine is still being used by families in African nations and in far-flung parts of India.

A Few Problems Overseas
Company operations overseas, however, are not free of risk.

For firms with extensive physical plants abroad, the winds of change blowing throughout the world have a chill to them. Nationalist leanings of emerging nations have often had adverse economic and financial effects upon U. S. firms. Most extreme of these is outright expropriation, with or without compensation. In 1960 Cuba seized all assets of U. S. citizens and corporations. These represented $1.5 billion in value, for which payment has never been made.

Other pitfalls are also encountered in the attitudes of foreign governments. Oil concerns are especially vulnerable to higher taxes and royalty rates, or enforced partnership with their "host" country. Problems are also sometimes created by language, labor, and ethnic differences. And competition is increasing as foreign companies adopt American business methods and discard some of their own traditional work habits. Product marketing of American goods is at time difficult, as a vivid promotion may lose something in the translation. Or a product may be unable to break a habit barrier; "Jell-O" finds no acceptance in Britain, although other gelatins are consumed.

What's in a name? Sometimes a smile if not a laugh. Jockey Bill Shoemaker recalls one of the nearly 25,000 Thoroughbreds he has ridden which broke through the starting gate, dumped him in the dirt and covered a swift six furlongs all by himself; his name: Go It Alone... Thomas E. Trotter is racing secretary for the New York Racing Association and Handicapper for The Jockey Club, both Thoroughbred organizations which can be excused for taking a dim view of trotters... In Chicago a few years back the Stewards ordered all wagers refunded on a horse that had run away when his saddle slipped during the post parade; the horse in question: Refunded... Another racing secretary, Frank E. Kilroe, who is also vice-president of Santa Anita Park, answers to the name Jimmy while a "Jimmy", James E. Brock, general manager of Ak-Sar-Ben and President of Thoroughbred Racing Associations, a 56 member trade group of racetracks in the U.S. and Canada, is called Tom... And who can forget Upset, the only horse that ever beat Man o' War... Then there was the good stakes-winning filly, Wildwood. Asked about her name, trainer John Nerud explained: "It's an 'in' name. You see a wildwood is a little animal about the size of a ground squirrel. The Indians catch them and Mr. Roebeling has them for breakfast." Breeder Joseph M. Roebeling, however, denied such an esoteric appetite and said the name he had submitted was Wildwood, a town near his Harbortown Stud, New Jersey, which during the registration process came out Wildwood.

ONE FOR OIL

If your car performs more like a nervous jack rabbit than a purring tiger, there's a new oil treatment to get her moving in the right direction. Quieting engines, improving their performance and helping reduce oil consumption, blow-by and air-polluting exhaust gases, the product pictured above is ideal for the oil of your dreams.

Contents of the bottle for the throttle will, according to its producers, "turn your horses loose" and prevent that nagging feeling behind the wheel.

Also helping to prevent galling and scuffing of critical engine parts and the formation of sludge and varnish in lubricating oil, "Stud," fortified with ZDP by the Consumer Products Division of Union Carbide, comes in a clear, 15.5-ounce, non-breakable plastic bottle which, when turned upside down, shows a golden bubble that rises to the top, so anyone can see how thick and rich the formula is.

If purchasers are not fully satisfied that this engine-oil fluid exceeds or equals the performance of the best-known oil treatment, all they need do is write to Union Carbide, Dept. 255, 9th Floor, 270 Park Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10017 within one year of the purchase and they'll have the entire price refunded.

That's how confident its producers are that this star-studded performer taking the toll out of oil will highly motor-vate any driver.

Refrigerator freezing compartments are not designed to give temperatures of zero degrees Fahrenheit. As a result, frozen foods should be stored for 1 or 2 weeks only. In refrigerator-freezer combinations, however... foods may be kept for the same storage periods as in a food freezer. Even ready-to-eat cereals lose crispness and flavor rapidly in opened packages. Transfer them to a tightly sealed canister.

Coffee and tea lovers can end flavor disappointment with Tupperware's plastic Coffee-Tea Canister Set. The Coffee Canister holds a pound of ground coffee or a 10-ounce jar of instant coffee. The matching Tea Canister stores 75 to 100 tea bags, a pound of bulk tea or the large-size 3-ounce jar of instant tea. The unique Tupperware seal guarantees freshness by locking out unwanted air.

Unless complete thawing is desired, frozen foods should not stand at room temperature. Thawing and refreezing impair food texture.

Your Maryland Tax

By LOUIS L. GOLDSTEIN
Comptroller of the Treasury

Since 1967, Maryland has used the Federal gross income base and deductions, with certain modifications outlined in your tax instructions, for its own tax computations. This means that the income figures and deductions you used in your Internal Revenue Service Income Tax Return will also be used in computing your Maryland Income Tax. So it is vital that you first make out your Federal IRS return and make sure it is correct. Then copy the income and deduction figures from the Federal return to your Maryland return.

Both capital gains and capital losses are includable under the same terms, definitions, and limitations as under the Internal Revenue Code.

Maryland has a graduated tax with rates as follows:
2% for the first $1,000 of taxable income plus . . .
3% for the second $1,000 of taxable income plus . . .
4% for the third $1,000 of taxable income plus . . .
5% for all in excess of $3,000 taxable income

Baltimore City and the 23 counties also impose taxes that are collected by the State with your State tax and must be included with your return. These local taxes are computed as a percentage of the Maryland State Income Tax and all counties excepting Queen Anne's, Talbot, Wicomico, and Worcester tax at the legal maximum of 50% for 1970.

You may compute your tax by either the "Regular" or "Optional" method. Taxpayers with incomes over $10,000 must use the "Regular" method, but those with incomes under $10,000 may use either method.

Future articles will go into details of how to figure your personal tax for the greatest tax savings.

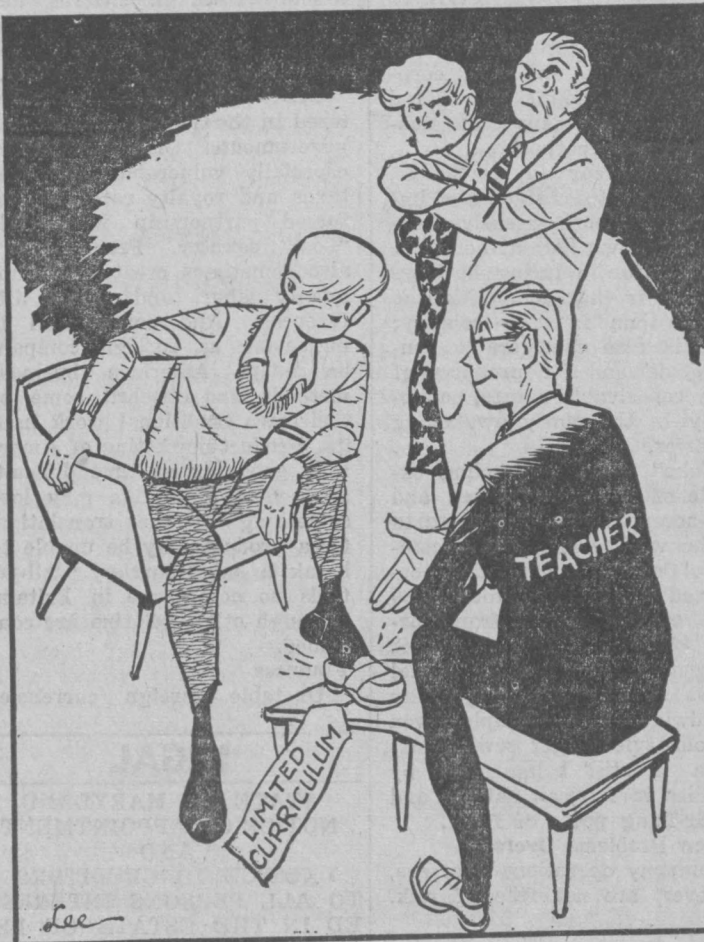

A tax packet is also available and may have been sent to you. This packet covers detailed instructions and procedures for figuring your tax and completing your return and encloses all the forms you need for completing your return.

If you do not have this tax packet I suggest you obtain one by writing the Comptroller's Office, State Office Building, 301 W. Preston Street, Baltimore, Md. 21201 or calling 383-3100.

Capitol Comment

By Charles McC. Mathias
U.S. Senator

On Congressional Reform

As Christmas approached in Washington, the atmosphere in the halls of Congress was anything but festive. While snowflakes flurried outside, giving Capitol Hill the appearance of a winter wonderland, the Senate resembled the Wonderland that Alice of Lewis Carroll's novel knew. The Senate floor, like Alice's Wonderland, was a topsy-turvy place where you had to run faster and faster to stay where you were and where the unexpected was to be expected at any moment.

A look at that topsy-turvy world showed the President's programs such as welfare reform, which I have supported from the day he announced it, being blocked largely by members of the President's own party.

The Congress was a spirited but disappointing place in the closing days of 1970 because the chaotic happenings there gave one the sense that events were ruling themselves and that Congress had lost control.

But chaos and resulting despair do not have to be the order of the day as Congress attempts to close a session. There is a remedy. It lies in revising the rules of Congress so the House and Senate can be run as to reflect the century they are in rather than the century in which they were conceived.

It is absurd that departments and agencies of the federal government year after year do not know how much money they will have for a given fiscal year until that year is almost over. Until Congress is able to appropriate funds before a fiscal year starts I fail to see how we can expect department heads to run their programs efficiently and effectively.

Congress no longer is the legislature of a small rural nation. The United States is the world's industrial giant with over 206 million citizens, many of whom live in the megalopolis stretching from Boston to Washington or in other such metropolitan centers. Such a nation cannot be governed by a legislature which meets for only a few months out of the year. The Congress of the United States is a full-time operation but the rules of the Congress do not recognize that and, consequently, the operation of the Senate and House is not programmed for a 12-month period.

The rules of the House and Senate vest much of the power to run Congress in the committee chairmen who are chosen solely by seniority rather than ability or expertise. Members of Congress, both the House and the Senate, owe it to themselves to take a hard look at this system and make the necessary changes to bring a modern, efficient, effective Congress into the 20th Century. It must be a place where all members share the power and responsibility vested in them by the nation's citizens. It must be a conveyor belt in the efficient exercise of democracy, not a treadmill of outworn practices and inefficiency.

FOOTNOTES . . . The Senate has passed and sent to the President for signature the bill to establish the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal National Historical Park . . . The House and Senate have completed congressional action on the Federal Aid Highway Bill, including $65 million to widen to six lanes the federal portion of the Baltimore-Washington Parkway . . . Congressional action also was completed on the Rivers and Harbors Bill, including authorization of a $40 million project to deepen the Baltimore Harbor channel 50 feet . . . The House-Senate conference committee on the Labor-Health, Education and Welfare appropriations bill, rejected the Senate amendment to provide $15 million annually to convert the biological warfare research center at Fort Detrick into a health research center.

Few Lose Jobs At Fort Ritchie

A limited reduction-in-force is expected that fewer than 10 employees will actually lose their jobs.

Faced in October 1970 with a 10 per cent reduction in authorized civilian strength imposed by Department of Defense spending limitations, Fort Ritchie command & management echelons have been retraining and reassigning a number of employees from jobs scheduled for elimination into other Fort Ritchie positions for which they could qualify. By this means approximately 37 civilians were kept employed.

It is anticipated that when all results of the reduction-in-force and reassignments are known, a few vacancies in some of the more specialized position categories may exist and Fort Ritchie will then begin hiring for those positions. No further reduction-in-force actions are known of at this time.

HOW TO TAKE A LESSON

Professional ski instruction is as essential to your ski safety and your on-the-slope enjoyment as your skis.

Most areas maintain a professional ski school offering a variety of classes and individual instruction to skiers ranging from beginner to expert. Information on which classes are available, when and where they meet and their costs is available at the ski school desk. If you're planning to take a lesson, go there first and the ski school director will assign you to the class best suited for your ability.

Before your lesson, be sure all equipment is working well—especially your release bindings. If they need adjustment, have the ski shop fix them. Some bindings, like the Marker heel-toe combinations are designed for the skier to make his own adjustments while he's on the hill.

Once you're in class, expect to get a good lesson. Don't hesitate to ask questions and don't be afraid to try anything your instructor shows you.

If you feel that your class is too slow or too advanced for your ability, inform the instructor so a change can be made. Remember, you're spending your money—therefore spend it wisely.

Some classes, such as those at the beginner levels, move more slowly than those for intermediate or advanced skiers. For a slow-moving class, dress warmly; the slow-paced hour or two on the slopes can chill even the coldest-blooded sportsmen.

Following your lesson, practice what you have learned. The purpose of the lesson is to provide you with the elements of technique and style for good skiing. How well you are able to use those elements will be determined by how much you practice.

If you have difficulty learning, it may be caused by your equipment. Ski construction has a great effect on your skiing performance and learning ability. Your ski shop or instructor can help you evaluate your ability and then recommend a suitable ski. Some skis, such as those in the Fischer line, come in a complete range of materials and styles for all levels from beginner to expert and professional.

The right boots help immeasurably in your ability to learn. Ideally, your boots will provide you with the important combination of comfort and support, while relaying bodily movements to your skis. Most boots today feature a plastic construction like the Coverite used in the Humanic line. In addition to the support it offers, plastic is more easily maintained than the leather used in boots years ago.

Learning to ski is an exciting, fun-filled experience. Each level of learning has its own slopes, and trails, its own equipment and its own ski school classes. But each level of learning to ski also has one thing in common with all skiing—and that's fun!

INCOME TAX TIPS

One of the many deductions a taxpayer is entitled to, but often forgets, is the cost of using his car for traveling on the job, according to H & R Block, America's Largest Tax Service.

On the job travel expenses are allowed as adjustments to income says H & R Block, and may be taken even if the taxpayer chooses not to itemize his deductions and elects to take the standard deduction.

Such travel expenses may be deducted only if they are not reimbursed by your employer. Also, the cost of operating your automobile from your home to your job (commuting) is not deductible.

For example: a company's sales manager has to use his car to drive around to several of the company's retail outlets. He is allowed to write off the cost of his driving expenses. He can use the standard formula of claiming 12c a mile, which, for tax purposes, covers all costs of operating an automobile, or he can itemize all his automobile expenses such as gas, oil, insurance, depreciation and repairs. The standard 12c a mile deduction is good for the first 15,000 business miles, and every mile after the first 15,000 is deducted at 9c per mile.

H & R Block cautions that the most overlooked deduction is that of traveling from one job to a second or part-time job. Thus, moonlighters are entitled to deduct automobile driving costs getting from one job to another (but not back home again as that would constitute commuting). By the same token, military reservists should remember that travel costs to their weekly or monthly meetings are also deductible.

Power Consumption Sets Record

Customers served by Potomac Edison have been using more power recently than at any time in the history of the company.

Demand reached a record high in late January when PE customers here used 1,009 megawatts of power. This is enough to supply the electrical energy needs of more than 30 cities the size of Hagerstown, Md.

During the cold wave early this month, demand hovered around the 1,000-megawatt mark.

Part of the increased demand came from the utility's residential customers, who used an average of 8,024 kilowatt-hours of electricity during 1970. This represents an 8 per cent increase over the 1969 figure and is higher than that recorded by any utility in the Middle Atlantic region, which includes Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey.

In 1965, the average residential customer here was using 5,414 kilowatt hours each year. Five years before that, he was using 4,095 kilowatt hours.

Hiccups

Hiccups happen to everyone sooner or later and seemingly occur at an inconvenient time. A spasm of the diaphragm, hiccups are most frequently caused by a stomach irritation, from overeating highly seasoned foods or drinking too much alcohol. Home remedies which normally work include: breathing into a paper bag, gulping (or sometimes sipping) cold water, extending the head backward and holding the breath as long as possible, or producing a sneeze.

Aerosols

Aerosols can provide a source of danger as well as a form of convenience. When used improperly, the aerosol can cause serious injury or death. Be sure to read all labels carefully and obey them. Never puncture the can, throw empties into a trash burner or incinerator, place an aerosol on a hot stove, near a furnace or radiator, or leave them in a closed car or trunk where they will be directly exposed to sunlight. Never smoke while using an aerosol and try to avoid breathing the vapors.

Strokes

If more people recognized the early warning signs of stroke, approximately 80,000 deaths a year could be prevented. Stroke warning symptoms include fainting, dizzy spells, headaches, muscular weakness, speech and visual disturbances, mental disturbances, and transient "pins and needles" sensations. Approximately 200,000 of the 750,000 people experiencing strokes annually die.

Our "Non-Liberals" Are Non-Active

When I returned to my hometown Kiwanis Club after a recent visit in Washington, a neighbor sitting beside me at our weekly luncheon asked me: "Why do we have a 'liberal' majority in the U. S. Senate?" I told him that this situation was made possible because "public opinion" at best exerts its power slowly, and sometimes not at all. In 50 years of close observation of our Federal government, I have learned that the Senate and House, and frequently the President, are several years behind changes in public opinion or the creation of new public opinion. The Government reacts to true public opinion only when public opinion expresses itself with undeniable force. There are many instances of this that could be documented. But the present situation offers clear proof.

The American Institute of Public Opinion (Gallup Poll) has just completed a nationwide survey that shows the ideological makeup of the nearly 125,000,000 Americans eligible to vote. True public opinion, it reveals, does not support a "liberal" Senate, or House, or Presidency. The survey shows that people who consider themselves as "very liberal" or "fairly liberal" are a comparatively small minority — and this extends throughout the Democratic Party as well as the Republican Party and the "Independent" sector of the electorate.

A "Non-Liberal" Majority
The American people, the Gallup survey finds, base their ideology on their support or opposition to national and local issues which can be clearly defined as "liberal," "middle-of-the-road" or "conservative." Here is what the nationwide survey found:

Among self-proclaimed Democrats throughout the country, 14,000,000 consider themselves "very liberal" or "fairly liberal" while 38,000,000 describe themselves "middle-of-the-road" or "fairly conservative." Among the Republicans, 4,000,000 choose the label "fairly liberal" or "very liberal" while 31,000,000 describe themselves as "middle-of-the-road" or "fairly conservative," or "very conservative." Those Americans who call themselves "Independent" ideologically and politically are divided—8,000,000 "liberal" and 22,000,000 either "middle-of-the-road" or "conservative." This adds up to 26,000,000 "liberal" adults in America (21 or over) and 91,000,000 "non-liberal."

Obviously the "non-liberal" people form an overwhelming majority; but this does not necessarily mean that there is a majority of "non-liberal" voters in every state. It does mean that if all 91,000,000 eligible voters were to vote in every General Election, the United States Senate and the House of Representatives would have about a 3 to 1 "non-liberal" majority, and the Presidency would be occupied by a "solid conservative." Legislation and national decisions would be in the conservative mould.

This is a very important revelation. According to those who should know, much of the communications media is manned by "liberals," and there can be no doubt that "liberal" ideas, "liberal" viewpoints, and "liberal" reactions are getting favored treatment and handing in the "liberal" communications media. Howard K. Smith, Washington TV "Anchorman" for the American Broadcasting Company (ABC), says reporters and commentators "in my group" (the nation's "top" journalists) are "left-of-center," and, he says, they practice bias in the handling of news and commentary. Congressional committee findings back up Mr. Smith's significant charge.

Danger: False "Climate"

A flood of biased "news" and commentary can create a false "climate" and persuade legislators and other public officials in Washington and our state capitols that, for instance, "public opinion" supports "liberal" changes in the government. A Senate could be made to respond with "liberal" actions by reacting to such a false "liberal" atmosphere. This has been done. And the only manner in which such a false climate of "public opinion" can be overridden, when it exists, is for the overwhelming viewpoints of the "non-liberal" electorate to assert itself. This can be done in an avalanche of letters to Congressmen, telephone calls, personal visits, letters-to-the-editor, speeches at local and national functions, appearances on radio and television, and in other ways. But this citizen power is seldom exercised in concerted action.

Thus citizen apathy looms as a most dangerous disease in our Republic. It stems substantially, I feel, from a lack of knowledge by so many of those 91,000,000 "non-liberal" adult citizens. Not many Americans will sit idly by when they know for sure that their nation faces perilous danger. Yet too many are too hard to reach and convince. So, finally, the problem for those in America who are fearful for their country, is to get the facts of life in our world today to enough people. This will continue to be, in 1971, our most urgent objective.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

THIS IS TO GIVE NOTICE that on the 4th day of February, 1971, a Petition of Condemnation was filed in the Circuit Court for Frederick County against certain Defendants, all of whom are residents of the State of Maryland, and Millan L. Egert and Lillian H. Egert, his wife, who reside in Genoa, Italy, and whose mailing address is American Consulate General, APO New York, New York 09689. The object of the Petition is to condemn in fee simple two parcels of land located in the Seventh Election District of Frederick County, State of Maryland, and the right to trim, cut down, and remove trees on adjacent parcels of land, all of which will be more particularly hereinafter described; that the said land is to be used for the construction, operation, and maintenance of electric transmission lines and appurtenant equipment, in, over, and across said parcels of fee simple land. The Petition recites:

1. That the Plaintiff is authorized by law to acquire by purchase or condemnation, any property or right necessary in connection with the construction of electric lines to be used in supplying the public with electric light and power.

2. That on April 29, 1970, the Public Service Commission of Maryland issued an order in Case No. 6286, finding that the construction of the said transmission lines would promote the public convenience and necessity, and thereupon granted the Plaintiff a Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity authorizing construction of said electric transmission lines, pursuant to the provisions of Article 78, Section 54A of the Annotated Code of Maryland.

3. That the Plaintiff has determined that in order to properly supply the public with electric light and power, it is necessary and proper to construct transmission lines in, over, under, and across two parcels of land, hereinafter more particularly described, located in the Seventh Election District of Frederick County, State of Maryland, owned by the various Defendants hereinafter more particularly referred to; that it is necessary to acquire the fee simple title to said strips of land in order to construct, operate, and maintain said electric transmission lines and appurtenant facilities; that it is also necessary to acquire three rights of way, each 75 feet wide, on land adjacent to the parcels of land referred to as the parcels of land in fee simple, in order that the Plaintiff will have the right to trim, cut down, and remove trees on the said rights of way.

4. That the interests of the various Defendants in said parcels of land are more particularly herein-after set forth as follows: The fee simple title to the land hereinafter referred to is vested in the Defendants Millan L. Egert and Lillian H. Egert, his wife. That Royal G. Hilton, Jr. and Ruby Lee Hilton, his wife, Mortgagees, are joined herein by virtue of a mortgage dated January 14, 1965, from Millan L. Egert and Lillian H. Egert, his wife, to Royal G. Hilton, Jr. and Ruby Lee Hilton, his wife, which is recorded in Liber 717, Folio 735, one of the Land Records of Frederick County, Maryland.

That Defendants Frederick County, Maryland, and The State of Maryland are joined in these proceedings in order that the said governmental authorities may protect any claim for unpaid taxes or other public liens or charges they may have against said land, part of which is the subject of these proceedings, and all of the

Brute' Ladies Food
Sale Saturday

The February meeting of the Ladies of Brute' Auxiliary was held on Monday evening, February 8, 1971, at 8:15 in the Council Home with 21 members in attendance. President Lois Hartda-gen presided.

The chaplain, Loretta Sprinkle, opened the meeting with prayer followed by the pledge of allegiance. The secretary's and treasurer's reports were read and approved.

Correspondence was received from a thank-you note from Jane Orndorff, a letter from Mr. Creager, chairman of the area Heart Fund. The president turned all information over to the chairman of the Heart Fund Drive, Loretta Sprinkle. The chairman announced that collections will be made February 14 through February 21.
The chaplain reported cards were sent to Jane Orndorff and Carrie Austin.

Final preparations were made for the Food Sale to be held on Saturday, February 13, beginning at 10 a.m. at the Emmitsburg Fire Hall. The president reminded the members that the 1971 dues were now payable. Application or membership was received from Karen Kraus. It was unanimously approved to accept her as a new member.

The monthly drawing was held and Alice Boyle's name was called for 9.00 and was present. The next meeting will be held March 8, at 8:15 in the Council Home.
Carol Eiker and Mary Ann Sanders volunteered to be in charge of refreshments.

The chaplain closed the meeting with prayer after which refreshments were served in the Social Room.

teresting film shown in the center the corner, and May 1, 1971, the annual Spring Festival will appear in all its glory.

Bill Introduced
To Aid Local Police

A bill to allow policemen of towns under 5,000 population to stop automobiles for inspection warnings has been introduced in the Maryland General Assembly by Senators Edward P. Thomas and Charles Smelser, (Frederick-Carroll).

Thomas said he was informed by Emmitsburg policeman Richard V. Etzler that police officers of towns under 5,000 at present lack the power to issue warnings in such instances.

When they see a car they suspect as being unsafe, Etzler said their alternatives are to issue a summons which may not be warranted or to issue an inspection warning which has no legal force.

The Maryland State Police and the American Federation of Police see no reason for denying this authority to policemen of towns under 5,000.

Senators Thomas and Smelser agreed and introduced the bill to change this provision of the law.

"We feel this bill would greatly help the policemen in the small towns of our state," said Thomas.

Girl Scouts Learn
Leadership

Providing leadership for a group of girls so that they will be able to obtain the benefits of the Girl Scout program is certainly a service, both to the girls and the community. Leaders spend much time and talent to help girls become "happy and resourceful citizens". But in so doing they become eligible to receive any training offered, and this is often of a type not otherwise available and of benefit outside Scouting. The training to be offered to troop adults in Frederick County during March falls into this category.

It is designed primarily to provide the abilities needed for troop camping, when the girls plan and carry out the trip, usually on a weekend. Two types of skills are necessary—1) to be at home out-of-doors and 2) ability to work with children. Experienced campers have one skill and those who work with children the other.

Leaders for camping need both,
and with the training planned the two are combined.

Mrs. Franklin Wastler of Yellow Springs, who as done such training many times in the past, will be in charge. She will be assisted by Mrs. Charles Mercer and Mrs. Henry Rojewski, both of whom are former Scouts and experienced campers. Two indoor sessions are planned, during which needed skills will be taught and questions answered. Participants will then choose patrols, assign "kapers" (duties—cook, firebuilder, clean-up, etc.), choose menus, plan expenses — just as their troops will do later. A date will be set for an overnight during which the new knowledge will be put to practical use.

For Frederick City leaders the training will be in preparation for a community encampment at Camp Hill & Holly the first of May. For those from the rest of the county it will help in preparations for a variety of outdoor experiences at many different sites.
Troop adults may register by calling the Frederick Field Station before Monday, Feb. 15.

The Girl Scouts of Central Maryland are a member agency of the United Givers Fund.

VFW AMBULANCE

Mrs. Russell Wantz, Emmitsburg; Richard Kowswell, Mt. St.
Mary's College; Mrs. Stella Topper, Emmitsburg; Sherrie Hayre, Arlington, Va., and Thomas Manahan, Rocky Ridge, were transported this week to the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, via the VFW ambulance. Esta Miller was returned from the hospital to her home here in the vehicle and Mrs.
Beatrice Myers, Center Square, was treated at the hospital and returned to her home. Drivers were Michael Boyle, Thomas W.
White, Donald Byard, James Kittinger and Paul E. Humerick.

The happiest person in this community is probably the one who

ZIP COLUMN

Our business lobby will be closed on Monday, February 15, 1971, in observance of George Washington's Birthday!

On this holiday, we will receive mail in the morning, and it will be sorted to the Post Office Boxes. There also will be a dispatch of mail from our office, at 6:45 a.m.

Our Post Office Box Lobby will remain open until 6 p.m.

There will be no rural delivery service, on this day.

On February 2 the United States Postal Service announced a proposed new rate increase, at a press conference.

The rate proposal was turned over to the newly established Postal Rate Commission which in turn will conduct a complete study as to the amount of revenue necessary, to place the United States Postal Service on a sound financial basis.

cial basis.

The proposals call for increases in virtually all mail categories except parcel post, and is aimed at shifting more of the costs from taxpayers generally, to those who use the mails the most.

The proposals include: First class letters, 8c per ounce; Air Mail, 11c per ounce, and Post Cards, 7c.

Advertising mail (regular bulk rate third-class) would be increased to a minimum of 5 cents per piece, plus additional increases for heavier weights.

Substantial increases also are proposed for magazines, newspapers and other categories of second-class mail.

The Postal Rate Commission has 90 days in which to present a new rate structure. If at the end of this period, it has not agreed upon this measure, the Postal Service has the authority to put a temporary rate increase into effect.

Taking the latter into consideration, it can be expected that rates will increase the first part of May 1971.

Book Explains

Job Discrimination

The U. S. Department of Labor this week announced issuance of a new publication explaining federal laws against job discrimination based on age. Millions of American workers and job seekers are in the over 40 age group.

The pamphlet notes that many common attitudes leading to age discrimination have been disproved and cites studies showing that older workers attendance is likely to be better than that of younger persons; older workers are less prone to change jobs; learning ability does not decline significantly with age; and in production jobs, and output of older persons up to age 65 compares favorably with that of younger workers.

Charles M. Angell, Regional Workplace Standard Administrator, aid the new publication is part of the department's effort to develop and promote voluntary compliance on the part of employers.

The Age Discrimination in Employment Act protects persons 40 to 65 years from discrimination in such matters as hiring, discharge, leave, compensation, promotions and other areas of employment because of their age.

Entitled "The Law Against Age Discrimination in Employment" the pamphlet can be obtained free of charge at any of the Labor Department's local Wage and Hour Division offices or by writing to Wage-Hour Division, U. S. Department of Labor, Room 1524, Jefferson Building, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania 19107.
