Most Anything At A Glance

- By Abigail -

Just when the reports of the first robins and other harbingers of Spring began to trickle in, and just when we felt a touch of that well-known fever, along has come another batch of that nasty white stuff. We were all somewhat surprised Wednesday morning when we awoke, looked out the window and to our surprise and dismay, the surroundings were blanketed by another batch of snow. During the day and through the night it intermittently changed from rain to snow to sleet, etc. I hope the robins found shelter so that they can stick around a bit.

Emmitsburgians who have questions to ask of their Congressman will have the opportunity to do so when Congressman Goodie Byron, Democrat, will visit Emmitsburg on Saturday, March 13. The Congressman is coming here to visit us on that day and will be at the Postoffice to talk with you at 3 p.m. Why not make an effort to drop in and see the Congressman... after all, he came here to see you!

You know the time really gets away from you before you realize it. For instance, do you realize that our Town Election is sneaking right up on us? For gosh sakes, come to think of it, it will be next month, and time to elect our very own local Town Officials once again. This year there will be two Commissionerships up for grabs as the terms of Thomas Bollinger and Norman Flax expire in April. Of course neither of the men have indicated whether or not they are interested in another term of office and then again we haven't heard of anybody else interested to date. I guess it'll take a few more weeks for interest to develop in the election but rest assured it will. For the past several elections we have been fortunate enough to have opposition for the offices and I imagine it will be about the same once again, anyway it is time we began to give some thought to our local election. And if you aren't registered yet, better drop into the Town Office and sign up before you forget it.

Dear Abigail:

In your column you link the Maryland Assembly's Salary Grab to the activities of Jessie James!

As a former Mid-Westerner, I resent even the slightest comparison. Jesse put a gun in your ribs, told you to put your hands up, and then robbed you. It was done openly.

Jesse would have called them Sneaky Petes!

Group Opposes Certain Philosophies

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

By way of this letter we wish to make you aware of the fact that there is a chapter of the Right to Life Committee on the Mt. St. Mary's College and Seminary campus.

The purpose of this committee is to express view and arguments against those philosophies, legislations and views within the American society which no longer hold the dignity of man in great esteem or honor, especially in regards to human life.

The main objective of the members of the committee at present is the pending bill before the legislators of our state. This bill seeks to liberalize the abortion laws of the state. Our stand against this is: "Pro-Life".

We urge all of you who also have such a stand to please contact your local representatives and express your opinions in regards to this bill.

It is our hope that we may in the near future with many of the citizens of the Emmitsburg area through a program of discussion in cooperation with the local churches and civic organizations. Finally, those who have any immediate questions or suggestions please feel free to write the committee in care of Herman Lawton, Jr., or Thomas McCune, at the college or the seminary.

Very sincerely yours,
The Right to Life Committee

Demo Committee Opposes Pay Raise

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle:

It is with deep indignation that we enter this unanimous protest concerning the recent pay increase for the Maryland General Assembly (manipulated with the help of the Governor and his committee) which we understand will become effective in the near future.

The political implications embedded in this rape of the public treasury are far-reaching, and we are afraid that, due to the lack of time, we are helpless to take any remedial action.

However, your record will remain indelibly fixed in our memories, and you can rest assured that when 1974 rolls around we will do our best to see that there will be a completely new group of faces representing Frederick County in Annapolis.

We have not read or heard of one single protest being registered by you or any of the other recipients of this legal jack pot, and therefore we assume that you and the rest to be rewarded are in perfect accord with the insidious method with which this distasteful business was transacted.

The over-burdened taxpayer will long remember the 1971 Maryland General Assembly—not for what it did for its state, but for what it managed to get out of its state in the way of hard cash.

We ask you to take action to nullify this Jesse James bill and to reopen salary negotiations with the Democratic process in mind.

The political life of the State of Maryland is at stake. We would appreciate your 100% interest in this matter.

Senior Citizens To Sell Material

The regular monthly meeting of the Emmitsburg Senior Citizens Club will be held Tuesday, March 16, at 7:30 p.m. in the Club rooms. At that time it is sincerely hoped that a full membership will be present as the meeting will be important to all.

First, there will be a report of the committee appointed to draw up formal by-laws and regulations important to any organization. Sister Juliana, Mrs. Elizabeth Nester and Mrs. Hazel Caldwell, have the report ready for the approval or disapproval of membership. If some suggestions are not pleasing to those who are absent—the blame can only fall on the absentees—so come and hear the worst.

Second, a couple of films will be shown: One on our newest state, Hawaii, and the other, Indian influences in the United States. Both should be of interest to all.

Of course, there will be refreshments.

There is still quite a good selection of both dress fabrics and materials for upholstery.

Noted Reporter To Give Talk

Harrison Salisbury, Pulitzer Prize-winning reporter, author, and one of the Assistant Managing Editors of the "New York Times," will speak at Mount St. Mary's College on Wednesday evening, March 10. Salisbury, an expert in Russian-Chinese relations, will discuss "The Coming War Between Russia and China."

Salisbury's lecture is being sponsored by the Mount Saint Mary's Cultural Events Committee.

Mr. Salisbury has traveled extensively through the Communist world. His last visit, during the summer of 1969, was a 25,000 mile journey through the heart of one of the most troubled zones on the Asian continent: the Sino-Soviet Frontier. In 1967, Salisbury made his celebrated journey to North Vietnam. This visit provided the basis for his best-selling book, "Behind the Lines—Hanoi." Salisbury temporarily lifted its ban on Salisbury in 1959 when it allowed him to accompany the then Vice President Richard M. Nixon on his tour of the country.

In addition to the Pulitzer Prize, Salisbury has also received the George Folk Memorial Award in Journalism and the Sigma Delta Chi Award.

Salisbury's lecture will begin at 8:00 p.m. in the Mount Saint Mary's College Memorial Gymnasium. The public is invited to attend without charge.

Mounties Close Regular Season; In Tournament Play

Pulling away in the last 10 minutes of play, Old Dominion downed the Mt. St. Mary's College dribblers 99-89 last Thursday evening here.

The defeat leaves the Mountaineers with a 10-13 record for the regular season, only the second losing campaign for Coach Jim Phelan in 17 years.

Throughout the first half the score was close until the Mountaineers spurted at the finish for a 49-40 advantage at half time. Tony Kinn kept the Mount in contention the first half with seven goals while Dave Twardzik paced Old Dominion with his scoring and many assists.

The Mount fought back on the scoring of Kinn and John Novey and pulled to a 64-64 deadlock midway in the last half but never gained the lead as Old Dominion spurted at that point and led the rest of the way.

Kinn, Novey and Pete Goodwin scored in double figures for the Mount with 28, 17 and 14 points, respectively. The Mountaineers converted 21 of 32 foul attempts.

The Mount is participating in the Mason-Dixon Conference Basketball Tournament this weekend at Roanoke, Va.

Estimates for a new Town building to house machinery were read at the regular monthly meeting of the Burgess and Commissioners of Emmitsburg held Monday evening in the Town Office, Chairman of the Board J. Norman Flax presiding.

Lowest bidder on the project was Charles Eyler, local contractor. If constructed, the building would house the Town trucks, compressors, backhoe, etc., and would be located on the Town parking lot.

6-Year-Old Girl

Dies After Surgery

Linda Cullison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Cullison, Fairfield R2, died Sunday afternoon at the York Hospital. The child had been hospitalized seven times as surgeons sought to remove a brain tumor.

She had been six years old last May 23, and was registered for First Grade in the Fairfield schools. Shortly thereafter she began to falter and eventually had trouble feeding herself.

In August she was admitted to York hospital for tests, and the brain tumor was discovered. She underwent two operations for removal of the tumor. She was returned home in December to spend Christmas with her family and seemed to enjoy the visit even though she was completely helpless, partially paralyzed, and unable to talk. Many sent her cards, children of St. Joseph's School, Emmitsburg, and many others visited. A number of organizations throughout the area have also sent gifts during the child's stay in the York hospital. She returned to the hospital after Christmas.

Born in Gettysburg in May, 1964, she was a daughter of John and Etta "Kate" (Davis) Cullison, and a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Emmitsburg.

Surviving in addition to her parents are seven brothers and sisters: John, Jr., Teresa, David, Karen, Janet, Laura and Michael, all at home; the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey C. Cullison, Fairfield R2; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. David Davis, Gettysburg R3; paternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Laura Smuck, Wrightsville; maternal great-grandmothers, Mrs. Nancy Davis, Cashtown, and Mrs. L. C. Baxley, Bland, Va.

The Mass of the Angels was held Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock at St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Emmitsburg, with Rev. Fr. John F. King officiating. Interment was in the St. Joseph's Catholic Cemetery, Emmitsburg.

More About The
Row (Rowe) Family

Before continuing with the notes pertaining to the Row (or Rowe) family, some additional material pertaining to Mrs. Rose (O'Neal) Greenlow (sometimes called "Lady Greensleeves"), will be included. It will be remembered that Mrs. Greenlow, after her release from the old Capital Prison, Washington, D. C., was the guest of Mrs. Elizabeth Elliott, of Emmitsburg, Maryland, for some time. Indeed it is believed by some historians that the unfortunate spy went from her Emmitsburg refuge to her death in the Atlantic Ocean off the Cape Fear. Her little daughter was drowned at the same time.

In her book, "The Women and the Crisis," (1959), Agatha Young has this to say of Mrs. Greenlow:

"Washington, the capital of the nation, at the time of the Civil War was (and to an extent still is) a city of Southern customs and attitudes. Southern ladies dominated the society. Rose O'Neal Greenlow, who sent military information to the Confederates, even after she was shut in Old Capitol Prison, was a leading member of this upper crust.

"On April 18th, 1861, Rose Greenlow, in her home on Sixteenth Street, in Washington, was a lady in need of darkness. She was hatching plots against the Union as fantastic as any melodrama. She was a shrewd and careful observer and the information that she sent to the leaders of the Confederacy was remarkable accurate and detailed.

"At the beginning of the war, Mrs. Greenlow made her own estimate of the situation, and in the face of coming hostilities she was assiduously gathering information to turn over to the Confederate command. This information she put into a message to General Beauregard which read, 'McDowell has certainly been ordered to advance on the sixth month.' On July 10th Mrs. Greenlow summoned one of her devoted women agents, a beautiful young lady with bright, dark eyes and long, shining black hair, improbably named Betty Duvall. Betty took the message, which was written in cipher, rolled in a piece of silk, and hid it in the coils of her hair. Then, dressed in the clothes of a farm woman and riding in a wagon, she drove to the house of friends near the river, outside of Washington. Here she spent the night. The next day she changed to a fashionable riding habit, rode across the river (Potomac) at Dumfries and on to Fairfax Court House.

"There for the first time she was stopped by a sentry, a Confederate guard outside the headquarters of General M. L. Bonham. After some argument, she succeeded in having herself brought to the general. She told him that she was the bearer of an important message which must either be sent to General Beauregard at once, or she must be given a pass to deliver it in person. General Bonham, astonished and impressed, agreed to dispatch the message, whereupon Betty Duvall pulled out her comb and her shining black hair fell down, creating an effect the General remembered for the rest of his days. Betty handed him the silk wrapped message and soon afterwards Beauregard was in possession of the vital information.

"Of all the women spies of both North and South—and there were many—Rose (O'Neal) Greenlow was the boldest. She took almost incredible chances. Unlike most of the others, she did not work alone, but sent her agents hither and yon, while she remained in the little house on Sixteenth Street, like a general at his headquarters.

"It was there, on the morning of July 4th, 1861, that a former government clerk, who had crossed the river from the Southern side by night, sought her out and handed her a message in cipher. The message was from her associate, Jordan, and it read 'Trust bearer.' Rose Greenlow knew that the information Jordan was seeking concerned the strength of the army which was being sent across the Potomac into Virginia, and the time of the move against the enemy.

"Later, when Mrs. Greenlow herself revealed all these dealings, she claimed to have seen the actual order for the advance. She wrote out a reply for the messenger to carry back to Jordan, 'McDowell with 55,000 men, will advance this day from Arlington Heights and Alexandria on to Manassas via Fairfax Court House and on to Centerville.

"The estimate Rose (O'Neal) Greenlow gave of the strength of the Union forces as more than double the actual number, but the rest of the information was substantially correct and of great value to the Confederates, since it gave the precise route of the advance. General Beauregard, commander of the Confederate forces, received Rose's message that evening and the next morning he telegraphed to Richmond, asking that General Johnston, and the large force in the Shenandoah, be sent as reinforcements to Manassas. As a result of Rose Greenlow's hastily written words, Johnston's army was moved up, arriving fresh and in prime condition in time to throw their weight against the weary Union lines."

Mrs. Rose (O'Neal) Greenlow was unusually successful, as a spy, for quite a long period. After a time, however, she was detected, arrested, and confined to the Old Capitol Prison. After her release things went from bad to worse. Finally the story of her life came to a tragic finish in the waters of the Atlantic Ocean. Perhaps this is the end she would have desired—to "die in harness"—serving the cause in which she believed with a faith that lived beyond her grave.

It adds a bit of glory to the history of Emmitsburg that Rose (O'Neal) Greenlow lived for a time within the town limits. From here she went to her death—and who shall say that her passing was "without glory."

Now to return to the history of the Row (Rowe) family:

Arthur (1) Row came into Maryland from Pennsylvania, with the so-called 'Monocacy settlers.'

Instead of going on to the Shenandoah Valley, as originally intended, some of the emigrants impressed with the desirable features of Frederick County, separated from the main party and founded their own settlement—to be known in history as the "Monocacy Settlement." Later, after the founding of Emmitsburg, some of these people moved into the District set aside by Samuel Emmit. This was true of Arthur (1) Row (Rowe). He bought a farm within the vicinity—had a moderate success—served in the War of the American Revolution—died and was interred in the grounds of Tom's Creek Lutheran churchyard.

According to the records, Arthur (1) Row was a Corporal in Captain William Blair's Company—the famous "Gamecock Company" which, "went out" in 1775 and was part of the First Battalion of the Frederick County Troops. The Historian, Scharf, gives a detailed account of this outfit."

The notes on the Row (Rowe) family of the Emmitsburg District, and their intermarriages, will be continued in this series next week.

six-month-old son were slightly injured when the car in which they were passengers was involved in a $750 auto collision at the intersection of U. S. Route 15 and Md. 97, in east Emmitsburg, at 5:10 o'clock Saturday evening.

A Warner Hospital spokesman said Mrs. Catherine Belbot, 27, Baltimore, was treated for injuries to the face and knee; the infant, William, was treated for head injuries. Both were removed to the hospital in the Emmitsburg VFW ambulance.

Maryland State Police said the injured were passengers in a car driven by Ronald P. Belbot, 27, of Baltimore. The driver of the other car was James E. Johnson, 60, Hagerstown, Md., was charged with making an improper turn.

The Glitter Of Gold

By Babson's Reports Incorporated, Wellesley Hills, Mass.,

March 4, 1971—Marketwise, gold issues have performed quite well in the past year. They are currently selling well above their 1970 lows and very near their 1970-1971 highs. The favorable market behavior of these stocks reflects a generally optimistic outlook for the price of gold based on both monetary factors and an anticipated increase in industrial consumption over the longer term. At the same time, an agreement with South Africa (which accounts for most of the Free World's gold production) and the international monetary pool has tended to put a "floor" under the price of the precious metal.

Continued Inflation

Speculation about an increase in the official price of gold has subsided considerably, and in the past year the topic has rarely received much public attention. Nevertheless, the prospects of continued inflation and the further erosion of paper currency make it impractical to exclude the possible of revaluation over the longer term. Indeed, some tension is already mounting among foreign authorities with respect to the large pile-up of American dollars.

Furthermore, our balance-of-payments position continued to be a problem area last year. Concern has been further heightened by the Administration's present emphasis on expanding the economy through further deficit spending. Should inflation accelerate, there will likely be renewed speculative activity on the international monetary scene with a corresponding run-up in the price of gold. Inflationary history has taught us to expect such a development.

Rising Industrial Demand
Apart from monetary considerations, the demand for gold for industrial and artistic purposes has been increasing, and this trend is likely to continue. Industrial demand is now about equal to new mine production, and one survey estimates that by 1973 nonmonetary uses could consume most, if not all, of world output. This production-consumption equation should in itself exert upward pressure on the price of gold in the free market.

While there are currently ample supplies of gold in existence, it is doubtful that most of this source will be come available on the free market without a significant increase in the price. As long as paper currencies lose real purchasing power, gold will be maintained as a store of value, and a revaluation (an increase in the official price of gold) may be needed to dislodge it from private hands.

Price Floor

When agreement was reached in December 1969 between South Africa and the International Monetary Fund, an effective price floor for gold was established. Under the agreement, South Africa will sell its gold on the free market unless the price falls to $35 an ounce or under, in which case some production can be sold to the IMF at the official $35-per-ounce price to meet current foreign exchange requirements. Thus, the agreement serves to support the price of gold.

Rising Prices Over Longer Term

It appears that the price of gold on the free market will trend higher over the longer term. This advance is likely to be gradual, but could be jolted dramatically at any time by renewed international speculative activity. Therefore, we feel that investors could well include a gold stock in their portfolios as a hedge against continued inflation and as a means of participating in the favorable supply-demand relationship of gold over the longer term. The Research Department of Babson's Reports is recommending the purchase of Dome Mines Limited (NYSE). While Dome operates a large but relatively high-cost gold mine in Quebec, it also owns 57% of Campbell Red Lake Mines, one of the lowest-cost gold mines in North America.

Taxpayers Make Many Errors

Some 1,526 taxpayers in Maryland and the District of Columbia have delayed their Federal income tax refunds by using the wrong tax table or rate schedule in computing the tax on their 1970 returns.

The wrong table also has caused many taxpayers to overpay their income tax, according to William D. Waters, Acting District Director of Internal Revenue for the Baltimore District.

The problem occurs, Mr. Waters said, when a married taxpayer filing a joint return uses the wrong column in the tax table. Frequently, single taxpayers use the column for married taxpayers by mistake.

There are separate columns in the tax tables for single persons, not head of household; heads of household; married couples filing jointly; and married couples filing separate returns using either the low-income allowance or the percentage standard deduction. Mr. Waters urged Maryland and District of Columbia taxpayers to use the right column to avoid mistakes.

Computation from the wrong columns in the tax table results in the wrong tax due. Some taxpayers, as a result of the error, receive the wrong amounts in refund; others receive bills for additional tax.

Other refunds are being help up for a variety of other errors or failure to follow instructions included with the tax forms. The most common errors are failure to include the correct Social Security number, errors in arithmetic, and failure to sign the return.

Mr. Waters said 98,574 taxpayers in Maryland and the District of Columbia have received refunds totaling $27,244,377.65 since January.

SOCIAL SECURITY NEWS

Elderly, disabled and widowed Americans and their families received nearly $32 billion in social security checks in 1970, or $5 billion more than in 1969, Carroll A. Jones, social security branch manager in Frederick, said today. An estimated $38,158,000 monthly was being paid to social security beneficiaries in Maryland at the end of 1970.

The number of men, women and children on the social security benefit rolls nationally rose to 26 million in 1970. While the majority are older people, about one out of every four is under 60, Jones said. Some 374,700 residents of Maryland were receiving benefits at the close of 1970, Jones said.

He noted that nationally 2.7 million people under 65—disabled workers and their families—received checks amounting to $242 million a month.

About 6.5 million widows, children and aged dependent parents of workers who died received $597 million a month at the close of the year. This was in addition to the 17.1 million retired workers and dependents who were paid $1.8 billion a month. In Maryland, an estimated 33,700 people under 65—disabled workers and their families—were receiving about $3.306,000 a month at the end of 1970. About 105,800 widows, children and aged dependent parents of workers who had died were getting about $9,890,000 a month. Some 235,200 retired workers and dependents were receiving benefits at the rate of about $24,962,000 a month.

Since the first monthly checks were paid to 22,000 people in January 1940, Jones said, social security has grown not only in the number of people drawing benefits, but in terms of protection provided to families.

Today, 95 out of 100 mothers and children would receive monthly checks in case of the death of the family breadwinner, he said.

Four out of five men and women between 21 and 65 can count on monthly benefits under social security if the breadwinner has a disability that keeps him out of work for a year or more. And 93 per cent of the people who reached 65 in 1970 are receiving checks or could receive payments if they stopped working, he added.

Practically everyone 65 and over, working or not, has hospital insurance under Medicare, and 95 per cent of them have also enrolled for voluntary medical insurance that helps pay their doctor bills and other medical expenses, Jones said.

Your Maryland Tax

By LOUIS L. GOLDSTEIN
Comptroller of the Treasury

Which Form Should You Use? Maryland income tax form 502 is the standard form that any resident individual taxpayer may use regardless of the amount or type of income. It allows you to itemize your deductions, claim tax credits, compute your own tax and gives you a choice of four methods of filing your return.

Single—for persons not married. Married and filing joint return, or spouse has no income. Married and filing Combined Separate return. Married and filing Combined returns.

By using form 502, a husband and wife may file either a joint Maryland return or a Combined Separate return if they filed a joint Federal return for 1970.

The Combined Separate return is generally advantageous if both the husband and wife each have Maryland taxable income before deductions for personal exemptions in excess of $800, or $1,000 if over 65. However, separate returns must be filed when a husband and wife filed separate Federal returns.

Form 503 is a convenient abbreviated form for persons with total incomes of less than $10,000, who have no modifications to their Federal adjusted gross income, do not itemize deductions, uses the tax tables, and are not claiming credit for taxes paid.

If you are on a calendar year, you may use either Form 502 or 503, but if you are on a fiscal year you must use only Form 502. Your Maryland Income Tax return must be prepared on the same basis, cash or accrual, and for the same period as your Federal income tax return.

Two copies of Form 502 and 503 are included in the Tax Packet that is available to you at our office if you have not already received one in the mail. With the forms are complete instructions detailing every step in making out your return, also Form 502 CR for claiming tax credits, Form 502D for your Estimated Income Tax for 1971, and form 502E covering pension and retirement annuity exclusion and contribution recovery.

D.M.V. REPORT

By David H. Hugel
Director, Public Information
Maryland Dept. of Motor Vehicles

The Unsatisfied Claim And Judgment Fund What It Does And Doesn't Do

To clear up a few misconceptions about the UCJF, DMV Report asked Mr. John H. Calhoun, Manager of the Unsatisfied Claim and Judgment Fund to explain what the Fund does and what it does not do when an uninsured motorist is involved in an accident.

Q. Mr. Calhoun, just what is the Fund and how does it operate?

A. First, let me emphasize that the Fund is not the same as insurance and that the fee paid to the Fund is not an insurance premium. The Fund was established by the legislature to protect motorists involved in accidents with uninsured motorists, but the Fund does settle a claim in much the same way as a private company.

When a claim is filed against an uninsured motorist, an investigator is assigned by the Fund to gather the facts in the case. An attorney is then assigned to defend the uninsured in any legal action.

If a judgment is awarded against the uninsured, it is paid by the Fund; however, unlike insurance, the uninsured is required to repay the total amount of the judgment plus interest to the Fund.

Q. How does an uninsured repay this judgment?

A. Arrangements are usually worked out with the Fund on repayment of this amount over a period of time determined by the amount of the judgment and the ability of the uninsured to pay.

Q. Are his driving privileges impaired by this judgment?

A. An uninsured motorist's license may be suspended until he agrees to repay the Fund, but every effort is made to permit the uninsured to continue to drive while he is repaying the judgment to the Fund, unless, of course, other traffic violations require that his license be suspended or revoked.

Q. These facts would indicate that uninsured motorists take quite a chance by not carrying normal automobile insurance.

A. Yes, they do. Some motorists probably do not realize how great a chance they do take. The Fund is a necessity for motorists who cannot get insurance for one reason or another, but those who can get insurance are taking a great risk, and subjecting themselves to possible financial disaster by not being insured.

A Bronx VA Hospital research reports significant results in the immunization of guinea pigs against leukemia. It was demonstrated for the first time that active specific immunity can be obtained in lab animals.

That pure white, granulated salt on your kitchen shelf is actually a bit of the sea. The great salt beds formed millions of years ago when the waters of ancient oceans evaporated.

To recover the "white gold," the methods used by nature to put it there are simply reversed.

Water is pumped down a well into the salt bed, and the resulting brine is brought up through another well to the surface. Insoluble impurities remain below.

Processing begins by boiling the brine in huge, three-story-high vacuum pans. Steam heat evaporates the water. The salt settles to the bottom and is pulled off as a slurry, which then is washed and filter-dried.

The dry salt then flows by gravity through shaker-screens of various sizes to separate it into grades. For table salt, coarse and extra fine crystals are removed. A trace of an anti-caking agent is added so that "when it rains it pours." Morton iodized salt to help prevent goiter is created by adding a trace of potassium iodide. Laboratory tests are conducted throughout production on the water, brine and salt.

Packaging in the familiar blue container is continuous and automated. Each package is coded, passed over a checkweigher and automatically loaded into cartons for shipment to market.

For a free, illustrated leaflet that tells the whole story just write to me and ask for "Table Salt in the Making."

typical of those asked me in recent weeks:

What about the "high" unemployment rate in Western Maryland? Is this issue over-emphasized?

The unemployment situation in our Sixth District is quite serious. Preliminary estimates from the Research Division of the Maryland Department of Employment Security indicate that the 1970 annual unemployment average for Garrett (8.5%), Allegany (5.9%), Washington (6.5%), Frederick (4.3%), and Carroll (5.7%) counties, is well above the 1970 State of Maryland figure of 3.9%. Preliminary statistics for the first month of 1971 further highlight the urgency of the problem, even if you take into account the seasonally higher unemployment rate at this time of year. The January estimated rate for Garrett County is 13.4%, Allegany 7.8%, Washington 10.4%, and Frederick 8.2%. And a final note, you might be interested to know that a great deal of constituent mail indicates concern for "unemployment" as a critical problem facing our Sixth District.

I operate a small clothing factory and want to bid on government contracts. Can you help me?

My office does not offer advice concerning bids on government contracts, however, appointments can be arranged for you with appropriate people in the government agency involved. This would provide you the opportunity of learning the basic mechanics of bidding on contracts. Knowledgeable officials can also assist you with other business problems and provide information on such matters as small business loans.

What did you find out during that recent opinion tour of the district?

The three-day, district-wide tour was most worthwhile, and numerous issues and citizen problems were discussed. Many people want the 92nd Congress to do something about the economic situation facing our country, and taxes and government spending were mentioned frequently. Unemployment and inflation were specifically cited as the most pressing problems facing our Sixth District and the majority of those who spoke to me favored the establishment of wage and price controls. Other issues discussed in some detail included welfare reform, crime, the war in Vietnam and social security benefits. I want to take this opportunity to thank those of you who expressed your opinions to me on all these matters. It is helpful to know all the effects of a particular bill and your views can aid me to understand what it means to an important segment of our citizens.

Are you planning to open any district offices?

Plans are under way for district offices in Hagerstown, Cumberland and Randallstown. Exact locations, office hours and telephone numbers will be announced next month.

INCOME TAX TIPS

Q. Why are there so many tax tables in the 1040 instruction book?
A. More tax tables were needed this year because they were extended to cover taxpayers with incomes up to $10,000. Previously, tables were only provided for incomes up to $5,000.

This change will make it possible for millions of additional taxpayers to figure their tax due just by looking at a tax table rather than having to make a percentage calculation. Besides being convenient, the tables should also help reduce the number of errors in arithmetic.

Q. If I move before my refund comes, will it be forwarded to me?

A. Yes, if you have notified your postmaster of your new address. Failure to provide a forwarding address delayed the delivery of many refunds last year.

Q. When you reach 65, can't you deduct all of your medical expenses?

A. No, only those expenses that exceed 3 per cent of adjusted gross income can be deducted if you itemize. This applies to all taxpayers, regardless of age.

Note that one-half, up to $150, of the premiums paid for medical insurance may be deducted without regard to the 3 per cent rule. Medicare premiums may be included.

Q. I will pay some tax on my 1970 return because my tax withholding was not enough. If I increase my withholding for 1971 can I avoid filing a declaration of estimated tax?

A. Yes, if your withholding will leave you with a balance of tax due of less than $40 when you file your 1971 return then you will not be required to file a declaration of estimated tax. The purpose of the estimated tax system is to enable all taxpayers to pay their taxes on a pay-as-you-go basis.

Q. How long should I keep the records I used for my 1970 return?

A. Tax records must be retained as long as they are needed to administer any Federal tax law. In general they should be kept at least three years after the due date of the return. Some records, however, such as those relating to the purchase of stock or a residence should be kept longer because they will be needed for your tax return when the asset is sold or exchanged.

Q. Last year, I had income from some free lance work I did, as well as from my regular job. Do I have to pay both social security and self-employment tax?

A. The maximum earnings subject to these taxes in 1970 is $7,800. If the wages from your regular job amounted to that much you won't have to pay any self-employment tax. Use Schedule SE to compute your liability, if any, for self-employment tax.

Q. Do I have to pay tax on the wedding gifts I received?

No, recipients of gifts are not liable for federal income or gift taxes on the gifts. However, generally speaking, income derived from the gifts is taxable to you.

Q. How does the dividend exclusion work?

A. The law provides that you do not have to pay tax on the first $100 in ordinary dividends. Any dividend is an ordinary dividend unless the paying corporation indicates otherwise. If the stock is owned jointly by husband and wife, then $200 in ordinary dividends may be received tax free on a joint return.

Q. I lost the envelope that came in my tax package. Where should I send my return?

A. Send it to the service center for your area. The address is given in the Form 1040 instructions.

Q. I made a charitable contribution in December but the check wasn't cashed until January. Can I deduct this on my return?

A. Yes, you may take the deduction for the year the check was mailed as long as you had sufficient funds in your account to cover the check.

Psychologist Leads Series At St. Joseph's

St. Joseph College, through the office of Sister Gertrude Matthews, Dean of Students, has inaugurated a personality development series of counseling and testing which is held on Tuesday evenings from 6 to 10 p.m.

Dr. Howard Landis, clinical psychologist at the Brooke Psychiatric Center, leads the sessions. The goals of the program are to increase the participant's knowledge about himself and others and to explain why people act and react the way they do.

Currently 23 students are availing themselves of these services with group sessions consisting of approximately 10 students.

A licensed psychologist for the State of Maryland, Dr. Landis also holds professional membership in the American Personnel and Guidance Association as well as in the American College Personnel Association. Dr. Landis served as Dean of Students at Messiah College in Grantham, Pa.

The series began on February 10 and will continue until mid-May. Since this is a new program, arrangements for 1971-72 will depend upon response and evaluation of this semester's series.

The DAILY CALIFORNIAN, student newspaper of the University of California at Berkeley, which serves its 27,000 students, several thousand faculty, perhaps 10,000 "Street people," and a large segment of the Negro community of Berkeley, has become a powerful voice for the radical political coalition which seeks, with the Black Panther Party and the "National Committees to Combat Fascism," to takeover control of the city and its institutions. A January 8 editorial urged that the radical elements: "Seize the City!" The editorial said: "The April 6 Movement, a campus organization . . . has undertaken the task of registering 10,000 voters before the deadline (April 6 city elections), and time is running out. Go to the table at Sather Gate (historic university entrance) to register and volunteer to help . . . The NCCF Community Control of Police measure will be on the ballot, along with four City Council spots and the mayor's office. The present Council and Mayor are scared . . . Too late . . . We want the city and we want it now!"

The present government of the city of Berkeley is indeed frightened. The non-radical citizens of Berkeley are frightened. If the University radicals register 10,000 student-and-faculty voters in addition to present registrations, and if the Panthers and their comrades get the potential radical vote to the polls, they can takeover the city legally. Should they bring it off, some of the best informed citizen leaders in Berkeley say the city soon would have "a form of Marxist-Maoist" control. Padding The Vote Rolls

As of October 14, 1970, there were 75,269 registered voters in the city of 113,000. This is the highest ratio of voters to population in the country. The reason for the record is that hippies, "street people" and radical transients of all descriptions, with just 90 days residence in Berkeley, can register and vote. Among the 75,269 are 51,269 declared Democrats, 15,550 Republicans, 3,151 Peace and Freedom Party members and about 5,055 fragmented and "party not stated." The voting situation for one of the most important city elections in American history is fantastic, virtually, "out of control."

Mass Registrations
It has worsened even since the November elections, when Ed Montgomery, top subversive activities reporter of the San Francisco, wrote: "Alameda County (Berkeley-Oakland) District Attorney Lowell Jensen and Edith Campbell, Berkeley City Clerk, agree that as the election code now stands interpreted it theoretically would be possible for 20,000 hippies, say, to converge on Berkeley, register 90 days in advance of an election, from any address bona fide or otherwise, and seize control of the city government in any given election." Theoretically? It is happening now!

The radical groups were so successful in the November elections (with congressional and state candidates) that 80 have now joined together in a coalition effort to become an overwhelming force in the city elections April 6. At the Sather Gate on the university campus, on the Sproul Hall plaza (where campus violence was tested, refined and spread across the country) and on the many streets that fan out from the campus, registration tables have been busy for weeks. The 75,000 city-wide registration total of last October has been passed. We watched last week as scores of hippie-types were brought up to the registration tables.

City Officials Helpless
City authorities say there is really no way a check can be made of the authenticity of "street people" and obvious transients who are registered as living in long-gone buildings, once the site of People's Park in Berkeley, will cast votes." Chronicle reporter Montgomery says. "So will some 40-odd individuals registered to vote from a two-story crash pad which was bombed, partially burned and then torn down more than two years ago. There is nothing election officials can do about it."

Young Negroes in the predominantly Negro district (approximately 35,000 population) have been signing up registrants in the thousands and getting paid 10-cents per name. Berkeley police picked up a 14-year-old boy carrying a voter registration slip in his name. Juveniles are using voter registration slips as proof of age in buying liquor. When we observed (last week) the character of the present U. C. student body, browsed through wide-open Communist bookstores ringing the campus, inhaled the Marijuana clouds drifting down onto the streets from the second-floor hippie "communes" on Telegraph Avenue, and viewed the fierce revolutionary fervor of Black Panther and other radicals stirring up revolt all over Berkeley, our grave fear for the future of Berkeley—and for our nation—was deepened. This is happening at the intellectual heart of America! And it is spreading.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
THIS IS TO GIVE NOTICE

that on the 4th day of February, 1971, a Petition of Condemnation was filed in the Circuit Court for Frederick County against certain Defendants, all of whom are residents of the State of Maryland, and Millan L. Egert and Lillian H. Egert, his wife, who reside in Genoa, Italy, and whose mailing address is American Consulate General, APO New York, New York 09689. The object of the Petition is to condemn in fee simple two parcels of land located in the Seventh Election District of Frederick County, State of Maryland, and the right to trim, cut down, and remove trees on adjacent parcels of land, all of which will be more particularly herein-after described; that the said land is to be used for the construction, operation, and maintenance of electric transmission lines and appurtenant equipment, in, under, over, and across said parcels of fee simple land. The Petition recites:

1. That the Plaintiff is authorized by law to acquire by purchase or condemnation, any property or right necessary in connection with the construction of electric lines to be used in supplying the public with electric light and power.

2. That on April 29, 1970, the Public Service Commission of Maryland issued an order in Case No. 6286, finding that the construction of the said transmission lines would promote the public convenience and necessity, and thereupon granted the Plaintiff a Certificate of Public Convenience and Necessity authorizing construction of said electric transmission lines, pursuant to the provisions of Article 78, Section 54A of the Annotated Code of Maryland.

3. That the Plaintiff has determined that in order to properly supply the public with electric light and power, it is necessary and proper to construct transmission lines in, over, under, and across two parcels of land, hereinafter more particularly described, located in the Seventh Election District of Frederick County, State of Maryland, owned by the various Defendants hereinafter more particularly referred to; that it is necessary to acquire the fee simple title to said strips of land in order to construct, operate, and maintain said electric transmission lines and appurtenant facilities; that it is also necessary to acquire three rights of way, each 75 feet wide, on land adjacent to the parcels of land referred to as the parcels of land in fee simple, in order that the Plaintiff will have the right to trim, cut down, and remove trees on the said rights of way.

4. That the interests of the various Defendants in said parcels of land are more particularly herein-after set forth as follows: The fee simple title to the land hereinafter referred to is vested in the Defendants Millan L. Egert and Lillian H. Egert, his wife. That Royal G. Hilton, Jr. and Ruby Lee Hilton, his wife, Mortgagees, are joined herein by virtue of a mortgage dated January 14, 1965, from Millan L. Egert and Lillian H. Egert, his wife, to Royal G. Hilton, Jr. and Ruby Lee Hilton, his wife, which is recorded in Liber 717, Folio 735, one of the Land Records of Frederick County, Maryland.

That Defendants Frederick County, Maryland, and The State of Maryland are joined in these proceedings in order that the said governmental authorities may protect any claim for unpaid taxes or other public liens or charges they may have against said land, part of which is the subject of these proceedings, and all of the said Defendants are joined in these proceedings in accordance with the provisions of Article 33A of the Annotated Code of Maryland and Subtitle U of the Maryland Rules of Procedure.

5. That it is necessary for the Plaintiff to acquire said strips of land in fee simple, and the right to cut down and trim trees on adjacent land by condemnation because it is unable to agree with the owners of said land as to the price to be paid for said land and the rights on adjacent land.

6. That the Plaintiff is desirous of acquiring by condemnation said strips of land in fee simple for the construction, operation, and maintenance thereof of its towers, poles, structures, wires, cables, conduits and other facilities over and under said strips of land, and in addition to said strips of land, the right to: (1) have access at all times, using existing roads as far as practical for the construction, operation, and maintenance of towers, poles, structures, wires, cables, conduits, and other facilities upon, over, or under said strips of land; and (2) trim, cut down, and remove trees on land owned by the Defendants adjacent to and within 75 feet along both sides of said strips of land, which trees might at any time in the sole judgment of the Plaintiff be liable to interfere with or fall upon Plaintiff's facilities to be located on the aforesaid strips of land; provided that: (1) Defendants have the right to (a) cross and extend roads and public utility facilities across said strips of land anywhere except within 50 feet of any existing or proposed structure of the Plaintiff, and if such roads or facilities interfere with the use of the land by the Plaintiff, it will relocate them, and (b) farm or use the same in any manner as long as such farming or other use in the sole judgment of Plaintiff will not interfere with the construction, operation, and maintenance of Plaintiff's existing or future facilities, but the Defendants shall not erect any buildings or structures thereon; and (2) any crops which may be damaged on land adjacent to said strips because of such construction, operation, and maintenance shall be paid for at prevailing market prices. The said strips of land are described as follows:

Unclaimed Money

An annual mystery that not even Spencer J. Drayton's Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau can solve satisfactorily is why, each season, hundreds of thousands of dollars are left unclaimed by the holders of winning pari-mutuel tickets. A clue which accounts for some of these "outs", as the uncashed tickets are called, came to light at Del Mar last summer when Bill Shoemaker broke John Longden's record as the world's winningest jockey. The Shoe's 6,033rd winner, a horse named Dares J., paid $420 for each $2 win ticket, and $699 was left languishing in the win pool. The "outs" were 286 two dollar tickets, three $5 tickets, seven $10 tickets and seven $6 combination (win, place and show) tickets. The payoff clerks reported that many women had asked to be paid off and that the ticket be returned and when they were told that this was impossible they refused to cash their tickets.

Souvenir hunters no doubt do account for a fair amount of uncashed tickets particularly where an equine "superstar" is concerned, but the greater part of the unclaimed winnings is accountable to carelessness. The tickets are lost or thrown away in error. Spencer Drayton, who is also executive vice-president of the Thoroughbred Racing Associations, a trade association of 56 racetracks, urges: "No ticket should be discarded until the race is declared official and then only after a careful check of the number."

Blue Cross Figures Show Inpatient Usage Down

Blue Cross members in Maryland continue to use fewer inpatient hospital benefits than the national average, according to figures released this week.

The Maryland health care protection organization reported that in the third quarter of 1970 there were 34,357 hospital admissions for local members. This is an average of 111 admissions for each 1,000 Blue Cross members in the state, or 12 per cent below the national level of 126 admissions per 1,000. Nationally, 878 days of covered inpatient care were used by each 1,000 Blue Cross members while the rate in Maryland was 838—4.5 per cent less than the national average.

Reginald H. Dabney, president of Maryland Blue Cross, noted that inpatient benefits used by Blue Cross members in Maryland consistently have been lower than the national average. He pointed out that for the third quarter of 1970, Blue Cross covered more than 56,350 outpatient cases—22,000 more than the number of covered inpatient cases.

Mr. Dabney credited this trend, in part, to Maryland's relatively broad outpatient benefits which are intended to encourage the reduction in the use of more expensive hospital inpatient facilities.

Maryland Blue Cross is one of 74 Blue Cross organizations in the country. It provides health care protection for nearly 1.4 million Marylanders. Nationally, there are nearly 72.9 million Blue Cross members.

To Attend Board Meeting

Sister Margaret Flint, chairman of the department of modern languages and literatures at St. Joseph College, will attend the Executive Board meeting of the Middle States Association of Modern Language Teachers on March 6 at the University of Delaware in Newark, Delaware.

Sister Margaret was recently elected second vice-president of the organization.

Veterans who served between February 1, 1955, and March 3, 1966, (as well as Vietnam Era veterans) are eligible for GI Bill education benefits. Contact the VA.

To Represent College At Glamour Contest

Miss Barbara Stewart '71, of Warminster, Pa., will represent St. Joseph College in this year's "Glamour" contest. Each year's Glamour Magazine has a contest to choose 10 active and attractive college women. Prizes include an all-expense paid foreign trip, festivities in New York City, television appearances, audiences with celebrities, and of course, modeling for the magazine.

A history major at the college, Miss Stewart has just finished her eight weeks of student teaching in inner city Baltimore.

Miss Stewart was the student teacher's representative on campus and during their stay in Baltimore. In addition, she is a member of the yearbook photography staff, curriculum committee and past secretary of the Valley Athletic Assn. She has played varsity basketball and field hockey while at St. Joseph's. Miss Stewart is also the social representative for the senior class.

The Socials Committee at SJC is sponsoring the contest on campus this year.

Young Democrats To Hold Workshop

The Young Democratic Clubs of Maryland will hold their first statewide workshop on Saturday, March 6, 9-3:30, at the Sheraton Hagerstown on Route 40.

Congressman Goodloe Byron, the newly-elected Democrat from Western Maryland, will be among the guest speakers.

This project is the first of its kind and several seminars with noted state and Young Democrat leaders are planned.

The Young Democratic Clubs of Maryland hope this will set a precedent for the years to come.

Colleges Plan String Concert

Mt. St. Mary's College Cultural Events Committee, in cooperation with St. Joseph College, will present "A Tribute to Beethoven" by the Capital String Quartet on Monday evening, March 8. The concert will begin at 8:00 p. m. in Dobb Hall, located on the St. Joseph College campus.

This is the second time that the Capital String Quartet has performed before the two colleges this year.

The Capital String Quartet is a skilled group of musicians which was organized last spring. Quartet members have concentrated on the string quartets of Beethoven in observance of the composer's 200th anniversary.

The public is invited to attend the concert. There will be no admission charge.
