Most Anything At A Glance

- By Abigail -

Emotions usually run high during our Election time. This, under control, is stimulating.

Should apathy prevail, it can become an insidious disease, capable of spreading throughout the community. Oh, yes, it is contagious!

Each voter has a responsibility to use his voting privilege. Stand up and be counted, each and every one of you, for your own sake. Remember this: Your vote counts exactly the same as the President of the United States—and it is just as important!

Our country is made up of communities such as Emmitsburg—some smaller, some larger. You have an excellent state this year from which to choose. Think long and carefully of your candidate's qualifications. What can he do to better this community. His personality, his appearance, even his friendship will not mean a tinker's damn, if he doesn't possess leadership and integrity.

This whole voting procedure takes but a few minutes of your time. But, for these precious moments, you will live under conditions over which you have as much control as any vote cast.

Make your choice, good people of Emmitsburg, but vote. Make it a record turnout this year. You are going to live with the results.

Think, if each of you brought in another voter—what an example to set for your neighboring communities. Emmitsburg needs each and every thinking man and woman to help choose the right candidate for the job.

It is a duty and a privilege to make your choice. A choice known only to you.

Rain or shine, your candidates will be looking for you. Think long and hard in that both good friends!

May the best man for the job, win!

Susan Martz has her life saving Kidney Machine! All you wonderful people who donated your General Mills Coupons made it possible. It is at a time such as this when one's faith in humanity is renewed.

To bring you up to date quickly—Susan Martz is a 13-year-old teenager with a kidney condition which requires the use of a special Kidney Machine to keep her alive.

Susan lost her younger brother for the lack of one in Huston, a small western Pa., town, much the same as Emmitsburg.

General Mills offered to purchase and install this machine for 600,000 of their coupons (these are found in or on all their products).

Susan reached the half way mark, 300,000, and became stymied. A local family, Mr. and Mrs. Siske, became interested as did the Chronicle, when learning of this. We did something about it by publicity conducted on "Susan's Kidney Machine Campaign for Coupons."

The response has been overwhelming. Coupons came in from all over the country.

God Bless each and everyone of you who gave up your time and coupons. Susan not only reached her goal, devoted readers; 400,000 over and above her goal have been received. These are being put toward a second machine to save another life. The time limit has been extended by General Mills to allow time to obtain the last 200,000 needed.

The Chronicle is grateful to all of you who came through for Susan. Now, we must go on to other things.

For further information desired in the future, contact Linda Siske, Emmitsburg, Md. 21727. Linda will continue collecting for that second machine. Remember, only 200,000 to go... 400,000 obtained.

Thank you friends, for Susan Martz, the little girl who just wanted the chance to live. You helped give it to her with each and every coupon.

St. Joseph College Closing In 2 Years

St. Joseph College will close its doors at the end of the 1972-73 academic year, two years from this June.

Sister Margaret Dougherty, president of St. Joseph College, announced the closing of the Catholic women's college at a hastily called meeting of the student body Monday at 11 a.m. When the meeting was announced by Sister Gertrude, Dean of Women, most of the students were unaware of the news they would receive, although some student leaders suspected the closing announcement.

Letters were distributed to all students explaining the reasons for the closing. The main reason was that in order for the Daughters of Charity to continue their other work, it would be necessary to cut back in staffing at the college. According to figures compiled by the order, by 1973 there will not be enough nuns in the order to continue the education program.

The Daughters of Charity donate $338,000 of their time in teaching at the college every year. At present the nuns staff 40 of the college's 65 full time teaching positions.

Most of the students at the college will be able to transfer to another college but several of the special majors—taking nursing and special language courses—would lose a good number of credits in the transfer to another institution. Reactions to the announcement ranged from shocked silence to tears.

Founded in 1809 by Mother Elizabeth Seton, who founded the Order of Daughters of Charity, the college is one of the oldest in the country. Approximately 500 women are now attending the college.

The closing will also affect the Mount St. Mary's College, an all male Catholic school nearby. Approximately 400 students from the two schools are participating in an academic cooperation program which will end when the women's college closes. The closing will also affect the Emmitsburg business community which draws a good amount of income from the college students.

The decision to close the school was made by the board of trustees on April 12 after "much thought and reverential prayer," according to Sister Margaret Dougherty.

MSGR. MULCAHY SUCCEDES; FORMER SEMINARY RECTOR

The Rev. George D. Mulcahy, former rector of Mount Saint Mary's Seminary, died at 12:40 a.m. Wednesday in Georgetown University Hospital in Washington, D. C. Msgr. Mulcahy, who was 62 years, underwent open heart surgery last Friday.

Msgr. Mulcahy served as rector of Mount Saint Mary's Seminary from September, 1958 to June, 1970. He taught at the Seminary during the first semester of the current academic year before being named rector of St. Patrick's Cathedral in Harrisburg, a position he held at his death.

Msgr. Mulcahy, a native of Sunbury, Pa., attended Mount Saint Mary's Preparatory School, Mount Saint Mary's College, and Mount Saint Mary's Seminary. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Mount Saint Mary's College in 1930 and his Master of Arts degree from Mount Saint Mary's Seminary in 1934.

Msgr. Mulcahy was ordained into the priesthood in 1934. He spent the next 24 years working in the Harrisburg Diocese. For 17 of those years he was Chancellor of the Diocese. In 1950 he was named pastor of St. Edward's Parish in Shamokin, Pa. He remained there until he was called to become the sixth rector of Mount Saint Mary's Seminary in 1958.

The remains of Msgr. Mulcahy will be viewed at the Calvin Neill Funeral Home in Harrisburg, Pa. on Friday and Saturday evenings. A mass of transferment from the funeral home to St. Patrick's Cathedral in Harrisburg will be held on Sunday at 12:30 p.m. The body will lie in state in St. Patrick's until Monday at 11:00 a.m. when a Pontifical Requiem Mass will be celebrated by the Most Rev. George L. Leech, D.D., Bishop of Harrisburg. Bishop Leech will deliver the homily.

Interment will be in the Mount Saint Mary's College Cemetery at approximately 3:00 p.m.

Msgr. Mulcahy is survived by two sisters, Helen M. Heintzelman of Sunbury, Pa., and Miss Anna Mulcahy of San Jose, Calif., and by a number of nieces and nephews, including Rev. Gerard Heintzelman, who served as Msgr. Mulcahy's associate rector at St. Patrick's Cathedral.

Measles Shots To Be Given Sunday

Frederick County, the counties and Baltimore City, will hold free intensive immunization campaigns against Rubella, often known as German Measles, for all children, ages 1 through 12, Dr. Charles G. Spicknall, Deputy State Health Officer for Frederick County, announced this week. The date for Frederick's campaign has been set for Sunday, April 25, from 12 noon to 5:00 p.m.

Immunization clinics will be set up in Emmitsburg, Brunswick, New Market, Urbana, Frederick and Woodsboro. Children who come for vaccination, will be given a gift along with the free shot, Dr. Spicknall stated. The shots will be given at the clinic in the basement of the Emmitsburg American Legion.

The program is being run by the Frederick County Health Department in cooperation with the Maryland State Department of Health and Mental Hygiene.

"The Rubella immunization program," Dr. Spicknall explained, "is a serious effort to eliminate birth defects caused by this disease. It is our desire to eradicate Rubella in Frederick County, and thus eliminate one source of damage to children."

The Frederick County program is part of a state-wide thrust to eliminate Rubella, and has been designated by Dr. Neil Solomon, Maryland's Secretary of Health and Mental Hygiene, as a primary health project.

Rubella, which is a relatively mild childhood disease, short-lasting and without any usual after-effects, is, however, a potential source of great danger for unborn children. A woman who is pregnant and exposed to Rubella, may give birth to a child who is deaf, blind, crippled, mentally retarded or afflicted with other birth defects.

Most health authorities agree that if all children ages 1 through 12 are immunized against Rubella, then the chance of their getting the disease at school or from their playmates is eliminated, and thus they cannot bring it home and endanger their mothers' future pregnancies.

Dr. Spicknall emphasized the need for all children 1 through 12 to receive the vaccine, even though their mothers are either past child-bearing age, or have decided to limit their families. "If children of parents who will not have any more children are not immunized," he stated, "and they catch Rubella, they could pass it on to a neighbor who might be pregnant."

Permission slips will be available at the clinic sites when parents bring their children for the vaccination.

Topper Asks Support In Tuesdays Election

I would like to take this opportunity to ask you, the people of Emmitsburg, for your support in the coming Town Election next Tuesday.

I have made no promises or commitments to anyone and I am not running as anyone's "yes" man. Let me say only that I will represent All the people of Emmitsburg and not simply any particular segment of the population or any majority or minority groups.

I have been a resident of Emmitsburg since I was about a year old and I have come in contact with many citizens of our community. In my daily routine, I have listened carefully to your opinions on a wide variety of subjects. If I am fortunate enough to be elected, I will consider this your vote of confidence and will act to give you a more direct vote in matters concerning your town.

I will greatly appreciate your vote and your confidence, but I want to say, also, that no matter what the outcome of the election, I will still support the people of Emmitsburg and their interests.

Philip D. Topper

Goulden's Views Expressed

As a candidate for the office of Town Commissioner, I would like at this time, to express a few of my views concerning the Town of Emmitsburg.

In order for the community to grow, we not only must keep the industry we have, but we must also invite others into the area. The possibility of obtaining funds for housing should be investigated. Being a citizen with children, I am, like many other citizens, interested in a youth program that would enable us to more fully develop the capabilities of our youth. We must also be considerate of our senior citizens, many of whom are living on a fixed or limited income.

While I realize that there are many other problems and issues, I feel that with a little understanding and reasoning, they can be worked out to the satisfaction of everyone.

Therefore, I respectfully ask for your support, but whether you vote for me or not, please vote. I feel it is important for everyone to have a voice in the government of the community.

Sterling Goulden

Town Answers Suit

An answer was filed this week by the Burgess and Commissioners of Emmitsburg, through their Attorney, Mr. Charles U. Price, in reply to a law suit being filed against the Town by the Sisters of Charity of Saint Joseph's.

This suit has developed because of an increase in water rates which affects only the very large consumers.

The town management in making this change, feels that the increase is justifiable and proper in order to balance the financial weight load fairly.

Local Youth Involved In Auto-Cycle Accident

In an accident Monday afternoon, a 20-year-old man suffered a broken leg when his motorcycle was struck by a sedan which allegedly failed to grant him right-of-way in Emmitsburg at 5:15 p.m.

Timothy Vernon Keilholtz, of Emmitsburg, was driving his 1970 motorcycle on U. S. 15 when Jennings Byrel Frock, Sr., 67, of Westminster, driving a 1964 sedan west on Md. 97 attempted to turn left onto U. S. 15 south and the two vehicles collided, police said.

Keilholtz was transported to the Anne Warner Hospital in Gettysburg in the VFW ambulance, where he was treated for a broken leg and released, police reported.

Frock was charged with failing to grant the right-of-way by Tpr. Joseph M. Kuhn.

Pimlico Race Course, embraced by the beauty of newly planted flowering shrubs and blooming spring flowers, opened its Preakness Meeting Monday with eight heavily endowed stakes on the 30-day program. Top-flight thoroughbreds, including the 3-year-old stars, will compete over two well-groomed racing surfaces.

The attractive stakes program opened with the $25,000 Riggs Handicap and builds up to the 96th running of the $150,000-added Preakness on May 15. The season ends with the $34,500-added Survivor Stakes on May 22.

the national park and forest system and national wildlife refuges. It is hoped that this opportunity will create a better understanding and appreciation of the Nation's natural environment and heritage by developing and maintaining this country's national resources. If you are interested in a detailed description of the program including eligibility requirements, just drop me a note and I'll send you an informative folder printed by the U. S. Department of Interior.

What can be done to stop the slaughter of seals?

A bill to protect ocean mammals has been introduced into the House and Senate. This proposed legislation would protect seals, whales, otters, porpoises, walrus, sea lions and polar bears from harassment or slaughter, ban the import of their skins into the United States, and all upon our nation to initiate treaties with other nations to protect these species.

I believe that disposal of solid wastes is our number one environmental pollution problem. What is being done about it and where can I get more information on this matter?

The Resource Recovery Act of 1970 directed the Secretary of Health, Education & Welfare to conduct a comprehensive study on the economical means of recovering and recycling useful materials from solid waste. The Act also covers a study of packaging methods, incentive programs, demonstration projects and planning grants. You may obtain a detailed information kit from the Bureau of Solid Waste Management by writing my office.

I am an ardent trout fisherman but am new to the area. Can you tell me the places to go and the stocking schedules?

The Maryland Department of Game and Inland Fish in Annapolis can provide you detailed information on trout fishing, locations, stocking schedules and state regulations. I can suggest Savage River, Bear Creek and Piney Reservoir in Garrett County; Evitts Creek and Flintstone Creek in Allegany County; Beaver Creek and Little Antietam in Washington County; Little Hunting Creek and Fishing Creek in Frederick County; and Beaver Run and Westminster Pond in Carroll County.

Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me. Why doesn't the Federal government make use of all its surplus land you read about? Surely it could be used for conservation purposes?

Congress agreed with your thinking and six months ago Public Law 91-485 went into effect. This law makes surplus Federal property available to State and local governments for park and recreation purposes. It also increases the level of the Land and Conservation Fund until the program expires in 1989.

What ever happened to all that talk about a Youth Conservation Corps?

A 3-year pilot program designated as the Youth Conservation Corps, has been established within the Department of Interior and the Department of Agriculture. The purpose of the program is to provide summer employment for young men and women between the ages of 15 and 19 in the healthful outdoors atmosphere of Post time daily, including Preakness Day, is 1 p.m. with the ranking 3-year-olds of the country scheduled to go for the mile and three-sixteenths middle jewel of the Triple Crown at 5:45 p.m.

"Our spring program of eight stakes is one of the most lucrative in Maryland racing history, as is our overnight purse distribution," said Herman Cohen, president of the Maryland Jockey Club, which operates Pimlico. "I feel confident that we can look forward to a record-breaking meeting in both attendance and wagering."

The turf course, as well as manicured as the best-kept lawn, will be the site of the first two races. The Riggs is at a mile and one-sixteenth and the $25,000-added Woodlawn for 3-year-olds on Saturday, April 24, is at one mile.

Fillies and mares move to center stage Saturday, May 1, with the 20th running of the mile and one-sixteenth, $30,000-added Gallorette—a stakes honoring America's greatest race mare.

The $50,000-added Dixie Handicap, scheduled for Saturday, May 8, predates the Preakness by three years and was the feature attraction when Pimlico opened its first year at its present site in 1870. It will be at a mile and one-half or the grass.

Preakness week, with the City of Baltimore joining with six days of festivities, will see the renewal of three stakes. The first, on Monday, May 10, will be the mile and one - sixteenth, $34,500-added Jennings Handicap for Maryland-bred horses. Friday, May 14, 3-year-old fillies will meet at a mile and one-sixteenth in the $30,000-added Black-Eyed Susan, the filly counterpart of the Preakness.

The Preakness itself drew a record 179 nominations. However, 3-year-olds not made eligible as of Feb. 15 may be supplemented for a fee of $10,000 on or before Thursday, May 13, two days before the classic race.

In recent years, the Preakness has marked the end of the Pimlico meeting. This year, however, the track will remain open for another week, with the mile and one-eighth Survivor Stakes for Maryland-bred 3-year-olds ringing down the curtain at the course, affectionately known as Old Hill-top.

The eight stakes will carry an added value of $379,000. Racing Secretary-Handicapper Lawrence J. Abundant will have some 2,500 thoroughbreds from which to attract entries for the nine daily races.

Once again the Preakness, won last year by Personality en route to racing's top honors as the champion of 1970, will emphasize

220 Thoroughbreds Eligible For 97th Kentucky Derby

A DREAM IS SHATTERED—trainer Sid Watters stands glum in stall of unbeaten Hoist The Flag at Belmont Race Track in New York as a bandage and splint are put on the horse's right hind leg. The thoroughbred, boomed as possible favorite for the Kentucky Derby, was seriously injured, suffering two fractures in the leg, in a five furlong workout at the track on March 31st.

The first Saturday of every May brings a special excitement to thoroughbred racing fans around the world. It's the day of the Kentucky Derby, the world's most famous horse race. 100,000 turf fans will crowd into Churchill Downs this year, and millions will watch the exciting spectacle on TV. If they don't have a bet down they'll take a chance in an office "pool" and their hopes will be riding with the horse whose name they drew.

Other casual fans became aware of the Kentucky Derby a little earlier than usual this year. They entered the Multi-filter Kentucky Derby Sweepstakes sponsored by Philip Morris Incorporated which require the participants to successfully select the winning post position to qualify for a chance to win attractive prizes.

For this year's thoroughbreds, it all started during the 1967 mating season, when their mothers were united with the most successful stallions the owners could afford. When the 23,000 foals registered with the Jockey Club became two years old, they were permitted to race. Kentucky-bred Hoist The Flag was the best of the lot, but this odds-on Derby favorite broke a leg during a March 31 workout at Belmont Park and will never race again. Now the field is wide open.

By the February 15 deadline for Derby nominations, a record 220 three-year-olds had been entered at a cost of $100 each. But, only a fraction of this number will enter the starting gate. The list included horses born in several states, as well as England, France and Canada.

Each year the Kentucky Derby field is composed principally of the horses which perform creditably in such pre-Derby races as the Flamingo Stakes, Florida Derby, Santa Anita Derby, California Derby, Wood Memorial and Blue Grass Stakes . . . the "test" races. Those horses which pass successfully will go on to Churchill Downs and possible glory; the others stay home.

fun and frolic starting at 10 a.m. for those who will watch the races from the infield.

In addition to the beauty ad'ed by multi-colored flower beds and a trim green fence to replace the old wooden one, the Maryland Jockey Club has booked a lacrosse game between two of the top clubs in this area, with the track presenting a trophy to the winner.

Bands of all styles will be on hand to furnish the music. The entertainment phase of Preakness Day was such a success last year that the track has constructed a permanent stage in the infield. Infield spectators also will find it easier to follow the course of the wagering, for six new totalizator boards have been added to the enlarged wagering facilities inside the track.

As Charles J. (Chick) Lang, general manager of Pimlico, pointed out, the key note of the Preakness Meeting will be top-flight racing amid colorful surroundings with something in the way of entertainment for all.

About 67 per cent of all fresh fruits and vegetables now delivered to the Nation's 41 largest metropolitan areas arrives by truck.

All About Hair

Hair-oscope From Him — His star-sign just might influence the way he feels about your hair! For example, Pisces (Feb. 20-Mar. 20) is precise, intense, persistent. So keep that style in shape with regular professional trimmings.

He may not compliment you often, but he does notice. Aries (Mar. 21-April 20), on the other hand is ambitious, impulsive, enthusiastic. He'll like you in an avant-garde style such as cropped ringlets or a smooth-crowned "30's" look.

Striking Oil? Your hair is not the most wished-for place to do it. But if you do have oily hair, be sure to use a shampoo formulated to help combat your problem. And everytime you brush, wrap gauze bandage or cheesecloth around your hairbrush. It will pick up a lot of that excess oiliness.

Getting It All Together—All the good things you wish for your hair in one new shampoo. That's what Breck has done, with a new texturizing shampoo with protein. The name says it all—it's shampoo, texturizer, and do-good protein all in one. What's more, it's biodegradable.

That's A No-No—That rubber band holding back your pony tail or holding up your chignon. Rubber bands can actually damage hair by abrading or breaking it—even discoloring light shades. Better choose a fabric-wrapped elastic band from the 5 & 10, or a pretty ribbon.

The Long And Short Of It—Whether your favorite skirt length is mini, midi, or maxi, your hair should contribute to the total look. Straight "stringy" hair is out. If your hair is long and you're a mini fan, try braiding at the side or back of your hair. Complete your look with small barrettes or ribbon. The hair for midi should be smooth and neat. The at-home or formal maxi looks great with a romantic hair style—long curls, a wisp-framed bun or short, face-framing ringlets.

BUSINESS and the STOCK MARKET

by BABSON'S REPORTS INC.
Copyright 1971

Prospects For Meat Packers
By Babson's Reports Incorporated, Wellesley Hills, Mass., April 22, 1971—In a stock market rebound such as we have experienced since late May 1970, investor interest tends to gravitate toward the more popular speculative and growth issues. However, depressed stocks in colorless and routinely cyclical lines often participate in a general market recovery to a significant and rewarding extent, even while by far the greatest attention may be focused upon the more widely followed glamor issues. This is precisely what has happened with meat packing stocks as a group. Throughout the long uptrend in stock prices of the past ten and a half months, this category has been in the forefront of the market advance, with many issues now at or near cyclical highs.

Favorable Operating Climate
From early 1967 cattle prices trended upward, the advance culminating in an upsurge in the first half of 1969. The rise in hog prices did not take hold until near the close of 1968, but it persisted until early in 1970. Due to the strength in cattle and hog prices, herds of both farm animals were enlarged.

Subsequently, when livestock prices turned down cyclically, marketings of cattle and hogs were stepped up. This combination of low cattle and hog prices and a high volume of marketings benefited the profit margins of the meat packing companies. The favorable climate was even more pronounced last summer, with the corn-blight infestation sending prices of feed grains upward and prompting livestock raisers to boost marketings to such a degree that cattle and hog prices were further depressed. Some firmness in livestock quotes developed earlier this year, but the climate still favors meat packing.

Consumption Pattern
Over the past twenty years, per-capita consumption of meat products has risen spectacularly. This is primarily a reflection of the climb in per-capita income in income per family. However, the entire increase has occurred in beef and poultry, as indicated by the following tabulation of statistics:

Consumption Of Meats

	(pounds per capita)
Year	Beef	Pork	Poultry
1950	63.4	62.9	24.7
1955	92.0	66.8	26.3
1960	85.0	64.9	34.1
1965	99.3	58.5	40.8
1970	114.4	65.7	50.3
Year	Veal	Lamb & Mutton
1950	8.0	4.0
1955	9.4	4.6
1960	6.1	4.8
1965	5.2	3.7
1970	3.3	3.4

The consumption pattern for the longer term can, however, change temporarily in any given year. This happened in 1970 when pork and poultry prices enjoyed a relatively attractive position, and tenuous business and employment conditions, plus rising living costs, forced consumers to economize even on foods.

A Look Ahead

Over the months just ahead, prospects for the meat packing industry remain favorable. Improving economic conditions should bolster the underlying growth trend of beef consumption, while pork and chicken use should post increases over last year. From the operations standpoint, the meat packers can look forward to adequate supplies for most of the remainder of 1971. Depending on the 1971 crop outcome for feed grains (and corn in particular), livestock supplies could become less advantageous for the industry this summer.

It is characteristic of cyclical stocks—in terms of group action—to embark upon new up-trends or downtrends before similar currents are apparent within the framework of industrial conditions. Hence, the Research Department of Babson's Reports is currently recommending purchase of two stocks for representation in the highly volatile meat packing field. It is our opinion that both of these issues possess quite promising rebound potential, and may well be included in a well rounded portfolio: Iowa Beef Processors and United Brands (the latter owns John Morrell).

Interest rates on home loans guaranteed by VA were reduced from 7.5 to 7 per cent on February 18, the third reduction in recent months.

"Lady Luck" Often Determines Kentucky Derby Winner

By RAY AYRES

Louisville... The best horse does not always win the Kentucky Derby. Luck can play a major role in determining the winner.

That winner must be in top physical condition and capable of running a mile and one-quarter with reasonable speed while carrying 126 pounds. But it helps to have the opposition run into a few road blocks along the way.

Native Dancer was solidly bumped on the first turn in the 1953 Derby. That was the break Dark Star needed to hand Native Dancer the only defeat of his brilliant career.

Many things can go wrong during a race. A horse can stumble or get bumped at the start. He can get cut off, squeezed between horses, forced wide, get trapped in a pocket, trip and fall down, or suffer an injury.

Well aware that luck can play an important part in the outcome, many fans have developed systems to "beat the races." Haphazardly sticking a pin through a program and betting on the horses whose names were pierced may not be very scientific. But it beats staying up all night studying the Daily Racing Form.

Who hasn't bet on his age in the daily double or on the number on the truck that blocked traffic on the way to the track? Everyone has a lucky number. Those in the Multifilter Kentucky Derby Sweepstakes, sponsored by Philip Morris, had to depend upon intuition in naming the winning post position. They had no idea what horse they were backing at the time they sent in the coupon. Those who successfully name the winning position then qualify for a drawing of $50,000 in prizes.

Hunches, dreams and unusual systems motivate the betting activities of many fans. They play No. 2 in the second race and No. 7 in the seventh. They bet on "Ginzies", horses whose first and last names begin with the same letter. They play the "Dirty Shirt", a horse who is mentioned only once in a tabulated box of several handicappers.

They play "Holy Ghosts" on the theory that if a number wins twice it will win a third time to complete a trinity. They use the alphabet, calling off each letter as they go down the program and continuing until a letter matches the first letter of a name.

In the Kentucky Derby last year the Alphabet System settled on Dust Commander, fourth down on the program and paid off at $32.60 for $2. There may be better ways to select horses but you can't argue with success.

The Calley Case

My Lai is one of those rare instances in American history for which there seems to be no satisfactory answer and no happy ending. Every American shares both concern and sadness for that truly tragic episode and for its sequel in the court martial of Lt. William Calley.

President Nixon spoke for the nation when, a year ago, he said My Lai was "certainly a massacre. Under no circumstances could it be justified." Vice President Agnew at the same time called it "contrary to American values." These judgments have been confirmed by the finding of facts by a jury of Lt. Calley's peers, including Vietnam combat veterans, which determined that the killing of twenty-two unarmed men, women and children occurred at a time when no battle or enemy action was in progress and no resistance was being offered.

American concern is heightened by the fact that 1,500 Americans are now prisoners of war or missing in action. The standard of treatment accorded prisoners is critical, therefore, because it reflects not only the way we treat those in our custody, but the way we want to see Americans treated in communist prisoner of war camps. We do not wish to condone a My Lai for Vietnamese which might suggest another for Americans.

The national problem is how to set these facts in the context of the war, the personal limitations of a young, unseasoned officer and the violence that always accompanies armed conflict.

The President and the American people are all aware that an event like My Lai imperils our basic effort to help establish a government of law and a respect for human life and individual liberty. The sacrifice of 50,000 American lives for these goals would be meaningless if we ignore such a tragedy.

These are all matters of high policy and intense personal concern. They touch the most sensitive national issues and they rouse deep compassion. As strongly as we may feel, we must not lose sight of the fact that they are not central to the Calley case, and, while they may be closely related or even directly consequential, they must not be allowed to obscure Lt. Calley's right to a judgment on his case alone determined on the facts of that case.

The central issue presented by the Calley case is therefore whether justice has been done to Lt. Calley. It is for this problem that Congress has provided a system of military justice with several appeals culminating in Presidential review. I believe that we must let this system of justice have an opportunity to work without interference and that its end product will be justice for Lt. Calley.

When we have done justice to Lt. Calley we shall have also done justice for the two and a half million Americans who have served honorably in Vietnam and for the 50,000 who died there expressly so that such respect for life and law might exist in that troubled nation.

Frederick Hospital Names Administrator

Wallace M. Dow has been named as Administrator of Frederick Memorial Hospital. He will assume the position on May 3.

The announcement of Dow's appointment was made by Mrs. Paul

S. Michael, President of the hospital in the Board of Trustees meeting.

In making the announcement,
Mrs. Michael stated, "A number of qualified candidates were considered for the position, and we are pleased to have a man of Mr.
Dow's ability and experience join our organization. Considerable progress has been made in many areas at the hospital recently, and we are reassured that this progress and improvement will continue. Mr. Dow's varied background will be most helpful in proceeding with the many programs and projects now under way, or in the development stage, as well as in establishing new programs and services as they are warranted."

Dow, 41, received his Master's Degree in Hospital Administration from the George Washington University in Washington, D. C.
He served his Administrative Residency at the University Hospital and Hellman Clinic of the University of Alabama Medical Center in Birmingham.

Most of Dow's 11 year hospital administrative experience was in Maryland, at the University of Maryland Hospital in Baltimore.
He spent 8 years at University Hospital serving, for various periods, as Assistant to the Director, Acting Director, Research and Development, and Assistant Director.
He has also served as Associate Administrator at the Wilkes-Barre
General Hospital in Pennsylvania.
Dow comes to Frederick Memorial Hospital in Pittsburgh, where he served as Senior Planning Consultant and presently is Director of Planning and Community Development.

In addition to his graduate degree in hospital administration, Dow holds a B.S. Degree from the University of South Dakota College of Business Administration and a L.L.B. Degree from the University of South Dakota
College of Law.

Among his professional affiliations are memberships in the American College of Hospital Administration, American Hospital Association, Society of Hospital
Attorneys of the American Hospital Association, and the Royal Society of Health.

Dow is married and has one child. The Dows plan to locate in Frederick in the near future.

Dow replaces Charles A. Markel as Administrator at the hospital.
Markel leaves this position on April 30 to become Associate Administrator at Suburban Hospital in Bethesda.

Assigned To Keesler AFB

Airman Paul N. Myers, Jr., of Fairfield, has completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Texas.
He has been assigned to Keesler AFB, Miss., for training in the administrative field. Airman Myers is a 1970 graduate of Fair-

R1, Fairfield.

Question: I work for a company that has an excellent pension plan. Why must I also contribute to social security?

Answer: Unfortunately not all workers are covered by private pension plans, and many workers don't stay with the same employer long enough to qualify for the company pension. You must contribute to social security and your employer must match your contribution to ensure that there are enough funds to provide benefits to the largest number of people at the lowest cost to them and their employers.

Social security does not discourage private retirement plans. Rather, it was envisioned as a base to which additional protection under private plans could be added.
According to Social Security Administration studies, 34 percent of the total income of Americans 65 and older comes from social security benefits. Private group pensions account for 5 percent.

Earnings and income from assets provide most of the remainder.

Question: I am enrolled in both parts of Medicare. If I get a routine physical checkup by my family doctor every year, will Medicare pay for it?

Answer: No. Routine physical checkups are not covered under Medicare.

Question: My husband, who is 53, and our two sons operated our farm until 6 months ago, when my husband suffered a severe stroke.
He is now completely paralyzed and cannot even speak. My sons operate the farm and insist that their father should receive the net profits. If my husband takes these profits, will he still be entitled to monthly social security disability benefits?

Answer: Yes. To receive monthly social security disability benefits, your husband must be unable to engage in substantial gainful activity in the operation of the farm. The income he receives does not affect his eligibility for disability benefits. Call any social security office for help in applying for disability benefits.

Question: I just turned 65 and applied for Medicare last week.
I now find that I will have to go to the hospital very soon. What will happen if I do not have my card before I'm admitted?

Answer: You will be covered just as if you had your card. If necessary, the hospital can call the social security office to verify your Medicare coverage.

KEEP IT CLEAN

by Virginia M. White

DEAR VIRGINIA WHITE: My husband is a cook. How can I remove grease stains on his uniform? MRS. M. N.

DEAR MRS. M. N.: Treat stained area gently with dry cleaner or rub
heavy-duty laundry detergent into stain.
If using dry cleaner, launder as follows at once: If pre-treating with liquid detergent, wait 30 minutes. Launder in machine with hot water, 1/4 cup Super Cleaner, 3/4 cup NON-chlorine bleach and 1/2 cup detergent.
Run complete cycle.

DEAR MRS. WHITE: Will
the use of phosphate-free detergents and other laundry additives solve the pollution problem of our waterways?

MRS. L. L.: Not entirely, but it is a big step in the right direction. Many things contribute to water pollution, and phosphates is one of them. The advertising of phosphate-free laundry products is making the public more aware of the problem.

DEAR VIRGINIA WHITE:
Can the new no-phosphate detergents remove clothing stains without using any special treatment? MRS. F. S.

DEAR MRS. F. S.: Some stains turn into dyes and must be specifically treated, however, for weekly washloads with common dirt and stains a product such as Miracle White Non-Polluting Detergent will give you a clean, 'right wash.
It does not contain enzymes, phosphate or NTA.

We'll meet again. Don't know where. Don't know when.

Somewhere, sometime, you will be served again by these gallant artifacts. Because when one considers the billions of words of love, friendship, and vital dealings that have flowed through these enduring veterans, one cannot just lightly cast them aside.

Not as long as there's money in junk.
Not as long as we can save lots of cash every year by salvaging, reconditioning, and recycling old or damaged equipment - thus saving you lots of cash.

For example, no junked phone booth is ever completely worthless. By carefully reconditioning and retesting each undamaged component, we can replace each of these old soldiers for an average one-third the cost of new ones.

And take old or discarded wire, for instance.
From it we salvage about forty thousand pounds of lead and copper every week. These semi-precious metals are limited in supply, and vital to your telephone service.

We recycle everything we can. It saves us money, lowers your phone bill, and dumps a lot less trash on this world of ours.

Think about that when you're on the phone tonight. Perhaps some small bit of wire that helps carry your words of greeting, sighs of affection, or orders for pepperoni pizza, may have even served Alexander himself.

At C&P Telephone, we hope that tells you something about the way we are - and the way we've always been.

Looking Ahead

Dr. George S. Benson
President

NATIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM
Searcy, Arkansas

New Light On Drug Menace

In Greek Mythology, Narcissus was a beautiful youth who fell in love with his own reflection in the clear pool of a mountain spring. One of New York's foremost psychiatrists and psychoanalysts, Dr. Aaron Stern believes that the nationwide epidemic of drug misuse among the youth generation has its foundation in a wide-spread Narcissism developed in adolescence. He blames parents whose husband-wife relationship does not reflect true love (causing the child to turn inwardly) and the child himself for his refusal to grow into normal adulthood.

Dr. Stern is Supervising and Training Psychoanalyst at Columbia University's College of Physicians and Surgeons. In recent years he has concentrated on the worsening problem of drug misuse among American youth. He was the kickoff speaker in the most comprehensive (and encouraging) statewide drug seminar ever held in America, the Drug Alert '71 two-day program in Birmingham Jan. 28-29.

Challenging Program

Every Alabama organization and institution cooperated. Governor George Wallace personally participated as did the state's entire educational system, law enforcement establishment, medical society, industrial and labor union leaders, all colors, races and creeds. Approximately 1,000 carefully selected adult and youth leaders from throughout Alabama attended. It was my personal privilege to work with the Kiwanis Clubs, the University School of Medicine, the Birmingham Junior League, the Civilians, Jaycees, Greater Birmingham Foundation, and Operation New Birmingham (the co-sponsors) in shaping up the seminar and to participate as the finale speaker on the program.

The Program brought to Alabama a great array of knowledge and experience in the drug problem. And on the afternoon of the closing day the leadership of the seminar and the governmental and citizen leaders of the state met and pushed forward a "Drug Alert" statewide program that already is enlisting the resources of the whole commonwealth. Alabama is going to meet and in my opinion, defeat one of the great menaces of all time. Every citizen of every other state, should take heed!

Self Centered Generation?

Dr. Stern based his lecture on three basic propositions which he set forth as follows:

"1. The Young in America today are the most Narcissistic generation of adolescents in the history of this country."

"2. They are the most knowing generation of young, probably in the history of the world (and thus frustrated)."

"3. They are the most oppressed society of adolescents we've ever had (oppressed mainly by their inability to cope with the adult world)."

"What is happening to young people to day," Dr. Stern said, "is that they are under-going the fate of almost every successful society that preceded us." He compared in detail the America today with Gibbon's account of the Rise and Fall of Rome, and drew these parallels:

1. Increase in use of drugs.

2. Increase in prevalence of bi-sexuality.

3. Breakdown in capacity to work.

4. A rift between the elders and young of society.

"The younger group in ancient Rome," said Dr. Stern, "sought more and more leisure and less commitment to work for the empire."

Dr. Stern made his strong point: Our young of today have levels of aspirations frequently which are simply overwhelming for them. They want to begin at the point where most of us have attained, and go on from there.

Frustration — Drugs!

"They have increasing difficulty facing frustration and deprivation, and are often unable to compete. They talk about independence. They want to set out on their own. But they (must) accept the monthly check from home, and (to them) that is a devastating price. (They) become dependent because we—most parents—made them dependent!"

Dr. Stern's advice to parents of young children: "The home should be anchored in the love relationship between the parents. Kids should want that kind of love for themselves and come to recognize they cannot get that unless they grow up and find it for themselves in other human beings. One of the most devastating concepts in growth development is the 'child-centered' home. When you make your little boy a prince and every little girl a princess, why should they ever let go. The outside world will not be so kind. The children will be forced to compete on a different level. Their frustration poses the big problem. Drugs are one of the inadequate solutions."

WASHINGTON REPORT

FROM SENATOR J. GLENN BEALL JR.

Automobile accidents account for a net economic loss in this country each year that approaches $15 billion. Automobile accidents are the third leading cause of death—the single greatest killer for persons under 35.

At a time when the number of cars on the road is increasing at an almost geometric rate and the number and frequency of accidents mount, our auto accident insurance methods seem more appropriate to the days of the "one horse shay".

In hearings before the Senate a few weeks ago, Transportation Secretary Volpe told us that 19th century negligence law has become a 20th century nightmare. I agree with him that we should replace the third party liability insurance mechanism that was devised over 50 years ago for an entirely different set of circumstances. We need to replace it with a system more attuned to 1971. That better way is "no fault" insurance.

The concept of "no fault" means drivers would hold what in effect would be accident insurance policies, similar to health and accident policies. By holding such policies, drivers would be entitled to compensation for damages or injuries suffered in an accident regardless of which party was negligent. Under existing "fault" insurance, drivers carry liability insurance policies. These policies compensate other drivers, passengers, or pedestrians injured as a result of the policyholder's negligence.

The principle advantage of "no fault" insurance, as I see it, is that traffic victims would no longer have to endure the delay and expense in being compensated for their legitimate claims arising out of auto accidents. Much of the delay in settling claims today results from lengthy court proceedings which could be avoided through "no fault" type coverage.

Additionally, it is felt that the costs of auto coverage to the public could be held under control much better with this system.

The Department of Transportation has been very positive in its support of this kind of insurance protection and the Secretary has urged the states to move ahead in providing the necessary regulatory changes so that the system can be put into effect. Insurance coverage is presently controlled by state governments, but the federal government has the responsibility to recommend needed consumer changes. We hope that the states will move rapidly in adopting the "no fault" proposal.

The 97th "Run For The Roses," Racing's Most Exciting 2 Minutes

By Clyde Hirt

Louisville... To many people in the United States and around the world, the racing season opens and closes with the Kentucky Derby. It is the one race that generates almost as much excitement in two minutes as an Apollo "lift off" to the moon.

Since 1875 when Aristides, the little red horse, made off with the first of these Churchill Downs classics, the event has firmly gripped the national pulse. Recognition of this enormous appeal has prompted Multifilter cigarettes to sponsor a sweepstakes based on post positions.

The Derby is such an integral part of the American fabric that long after some of the winners have been forgotten, the unusual happenings connected with the race live on and grow in stature each year. Ironies abound.

Eddie Arcaro, perhaps the No. 1 money rider of his time in thoroughbred racing, shares the Derby victory record at five with Willie Hartack. But Eddie would prefer to forget his 1942 appearance at Churchill Downs. Eddie had the choice of riding Shut Out or Devil Diver. Wayne L. Wright was supposed to get the leftover. After the race Arcaro sat in the jockey's room mumbling to himself. He finished a distant sixth with Devil Diver. Wright spent the post-race ceremonies in the winner's circle with the Arcaro reject, the prophetically-named Shut Out.

Willie Shoemaker, the most successful jockey in racing history, made a monumental error and earned everlasting fame in the Derby's "forget-me-not" archives. Little Bill was about to take the 1957 Kentucky Derby aboard Gallant Man with a come-from-behind stretch charge.

Iron Liege was fading fast, Hartack was trying to keep the calumet colt together in what seemed a vain effort when suddenly the Shoe won the race—for Iron Liege. Nearing the sixteenth pole and with his horse taking the lead, the Shoe inexplicably stood up in the saddle. As it turned out he had misjudged the finish line. By the time he realized his colossal blunder and frantically went to work again on Gallant Man, Iron Liege had enough left to win by a diminishing nose.

Racetracks across the nation built memorials to the Shoe's super boo-boo—a huge "bull's-eye" painted on the finish line that even a nearsighted jockey could see.

Nordic Sauerkraut Cookies

Sauerkraut in cookies? Not quite cookies, but flaky cut-outs of pie crust, tender, moist and chewy with sauerkraut and caraway — made especially for eating with savory Norway sardines. The delicate smoked flavor of these nourishing little fish is compatible with so many fine foods — it is incredibly delicious with tangy foods like sauerkraut. Or fine aged cheeses. With slices of hard-cooked eggs and thick Bermuda onions, you have a complete meal, hearty, wholesome, full of protein goodness.

NORWEGIAN SAUERKRAUT COOKIES WITH SARDINES

Pastry for 2 crust pie
1 can (1 lb.) sauerkraut, well drained and chopped coarsely
1 tablespoon caraway seeds
1 teaspoon freshly ground pepper
1 whole egg, beaten
1 can (3½ oz.) Norwegian sardines, packed in oil

Make pie crust pastry. Add drained sauerkraut (to drain, press sauerkraut between paper towels), caraway seeds and pepper. Chill for one hour. Preheat oven to 425°F. Roll out pastry mixture on a heavily floured board to 1/8 inch thick. Using a 2½ inch circle, cut out cookies and place on a lightly greased cookie sheet. Brush with whole egg. Bake at 425°F. for 12 to 15 minutes or until lightly browned. Serve at room temperature with sardines, drained of oil.

Makes approximately 3 dozen.

Girl Scouts Plant Trees

On March 27, Girl Scout Troop 405 went on an all workday to Camp Hill and Hollow. The girls signed permission slips for the occasion. They met at the Incarnation Church at 9:15. Two cars showed up to take eight girls and one leader to camp. The girls left the church at 9:30 and arrived at the camp at 10:00. They were then assigned their stations.

Troop 405 set out to plant white pine trees. Mr. Warren was in charge of the troop. They had 4 ropes, 3 ropes were in lines and one was at the end. Eight girls held the ropes. Thirty-six girls were there, 12 in each group. Each group had a line. The girls went along and dug holes with shovels and planted trees. Before lunch they had about 150 trees panted. Lunch was a ten minute break, then back to work. The goal for that day was 750 trees to be planted. The girls were so tired that a bus came and took them back to camp from the planting area.

Those who went on the trip were Julie Joy, Betty Eyer, Darby Topper, Susan Higgins, Diane Swartz, Mary Cakioussis, Denise Sanders, Trudy Mazingo, and the leader, Mrs. John Chatlos.

This troop will also be helping in the Clean-Up of county roads tomorrow under the guidance of the local Homemakers Club.

Firemen Hold

Regular Meeting

The regular meeting of the Vigilant Hose Co. was held on Tuesday, April 13, with Vice President James Kittinger presiding.

Chief Guy R. McGlaughlin reported that since the last meeting, the company responded to 18 fire calls; 1 service call; 1 drill, and 4 calls on which Squad 6 responded with ambulance 69 for personal injury accidents.

The chairman of the "200" Club reported that it is now starting its club for the next 26 weeks.

The truck committee reported that clearance lights have been installed on truck 62. It was announced that the new pumper would be put into service on April 15 and in Frederick County the pumper would be known as truck 64, while in Adams County it would be 305.

Members returned a favorable vote on Douglas Adams and Charles Champlain as active members as well as Roy Reaver and Robert Copenhaver for social membership.

A new jack which is designed to lift heavy equipment, is now in service and is carried in Squad 6. Thomas White reported that the booster brakes for Squad 6 are on order.

It was reported that the pool table has been recovered and in use. Jamse Fitzgerald reported that the fleet insurance is no longer available.

Chief McGlaughlin stated that no one will be allowed to ride on top of the new pumper at anytime. He also asked permission from the company to buy small tools and equipment that will have to be in Unit 64 to meet the underwriters approval.

Charles Stouter reported that the C. F. Stouter Oil Co., Inc. would install an electric gas pump behind the building if the company would run an electric line out to it.

It was announced that the Adams County Firemen Chief's Association meeting will be held here on May 6. Chief McGlaughlin asked for volunteers to help with the refreshments for that evening and also invited the members of Company 6 to attend the meeting.

A motion was made and seconded to go along as in previous years with purchasing an ad for the Frederick County Firemen's Association Convention which will be held at New Midway this summer.

Members were urged to participate in a practice to be held on Tuesday evening, April 27 at 6:30 o'clock.

Harry Green and Dave Shorb were appointed to serve on the refreshment committee for the May meeting.

Veterans Use Education Benefits

The Veterans Administration revealed this week the American people have invested an estimated $21.7 billion to educate 12.4 million veterans under three major GI Bills during the past 26 years.

George A. Davis, Director of the Baltimore Regional Office, noted that at current GI Bill training allowances, it spends about $6,300 during the 36 months required for a veteran to earn his college degree.

Armed with this degree, a veteran can then expect to earn about $213,000 more in his lifetime than he could if he were only a high school graduate, according to the Bureau of the Census.

The Bureau of Internal Revenue estimates it will collect roughly $40,000 in taxes on the extra income.

Thus, the Federal Government stands to get back more than six times its original investment of $6,300, Davis said.

Last year, participation in all of VA's educational programs peaked at 1,025,000 in November—a 31 per cent increase over the 783,000 trainees on the rolls in November 1969.

Veterans and servicemen become eligible for educational benefits after serving more than 180 days of active duty, any part of it after January 31, 1955, or if discharged for a service-connected disability after any length of service.

Larry Phelan is recuperating at his home after a tonsilectomy at the Washington County Hospital. Larry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James J. Phelan, R1.
