Most Anything At A Glance

- By Abigail -

Just when you think you have something great going, some legal beagle or conscientious objector, whether by accident or design, comes along and spoils everything.

Two years ago, the Indiana Kidney Foundation needed an artificial kidney machine for their clinic and asked Gen'l Mills if they would help by redeeming Betty Crocker coupons for a kidney machine, as they do for other premiums.

It sounded like a great idea with unlimited potential for helping humanity and they readily agreed to cooperate. Our good-natured and practical fellow Americans (God love 'em), immediately seized upon the idea, went all out to help and soon there were dozens of coupon drives in operation throughout the nation, including our own, in which you and I and the Chronicle worked together. Our drive was successful beyond all expectations and through our mutual dedication Susan Martz and her fellow sufferers acquired their life-saving machine, as did other victims in other areas for whom drives were conducted.

And then one day a very astute and highly principled (though misguided, I think), high school youth became convinced that the "coupons for health" project was all wrong—that it was a very cheap promotional attempt to increase sales and smacked of commercialism. Outraged, he remarked, "I have never been able to equate a human life with something as trivial as boxtops." Had he delved a little deeper into the matter, his remark could just as easily have been: "Wow! I never realized that anything so insignificant as a boxtop could pack such a wallop and prove so valuable to mankind." Such a small means to such a great end—that of saving lives. And why not? Stranger things have happened, like discovering penicillin from mold, etc.

The tragedy is that because of this young man's (and others'), criticism, Gen'l Mills, finding it self rebuked and insulted, indignantly declared, "It was never our intention to trade on human misery," and promptly decided in self-defense to discontinue the programs. Those drives already in progress may continue through December, after which victims of lung, heart and kidney diseases will be deprived of our help and we, in turn, will be deprived of the privilege of helping them obtain the machines they need for survival. This is another example of placating a minority group at the expense of the majority. In this case a group whose esthetic sensitivities are offended at the very thought that anything as lowly and earthy as a boxtop, might contribute to prolonging human life!

How can they be so sure that all of us, including Gen'l Mills, have despicable, dishonorable motives in what we're doing? These self-appointed judges with the wisdom of the ages (they think), act on the premise that most of the human race is evil and suspect—their theory being too that we are all guilty until proven innocent. Cannot these egotists—these self-styled humanitarians who are repulsed by our 'questionable' methods, realize that there are many angles, other than theirs, from which to view this situation?

How about the victims of the dread diseases who are terrified at the early fate awaiting them if they do not receive machines? From where they sit, do our critics really believe they care how the machine comes into being, just so long as it comes! How horrible for them to see a few 'idealists' trying to 'protect' them by depriving them of their last hope, the machine that can keep them alive—Oh, how disparate the views and sensitivities of one who faces DEATH—the other, LIFE.

Knights of Columbus Elect New Officers

Stanley McIntyre was elected Grand Knight of Brute Council 1860, Knights of Columbus, Emmitsburg, last week at the Council's meeting presided over by Grand Knight George L. Danner. McIntyre, who resides at Blue Ridge Summit, is employed by the U. S. Postal Service, working out of the Waynesboro Post Office. He is a member of St. Rita's Catholic Church, Blue Ridge Summit.

Other officers elected for the coming year were: Deputy Grand Knight, Raymond Sanders; Chancellor, William Austin; Warden, Clyde Eyer; Recorder, Leonard Gmeiner; Advocate, Stan Lupinski; Inside Guard, Harold Davis; Outside Guard, Thomas Topper; Treasurer, William Topper; Trustee, George Danner, and Delegate, Carl Wetzel.

The Council voted a donation to the Vigilant Hose Company's annual fund drive, and also a donation to the Emma Marie Hahn Recovery Fund.

A report by Family Activity Chairman William Austin, was given on the Council's Family Picnic which will be held on Sunday, August 22 at Big Pipe Creek Park, just outside of Taneytown. It will again be catered by the Savoy Catering Service of Waynesboro, Pa. Members are reminded to keep this date in mind as more information will be forthcoming as to the time, etc.

District Deputy Eugene R. Rosensteel announced to the Council that he had been re-appointed District Deputy of District 4 for the coming year by the Md. State Council of Knights of Columbus. Clyde (Jersey) Eyer was appointed by Mr. Rosensteel to be his District Warden for the coming term.

Brother Carl Wetzel reported that the recent shrimp feed held in the Council Social Room was a success. Brother, Clyde Eyer reported that the bus to Carling Brewery and the Yankee-Oriole game in Baltimore on June 18, was filled to capacity. The bus will leave no later than 12:15 on Friday.

It was announced by the Grand Knight that all officers elected will take office at the first meeting in July. Being no further business the meeting was adjourned with refreshments being served in the Social Room afterwards.

The next regular meeting of the Council will be held Monday, June 21 at 8 p.m. A Mass will be celebrated in the Council Chamber prior to this meeting, at 7:30 p.m. All members and their families are invited to participate in this Mass.

Local Cooperative To Hold Meeting

The local Southern States Cooperative annual membership meeting for the Emmitsburg area will be held July 27.

The decision was made by local farmer-members at a recent annual meeting conference held by Emmitsburg Feed and Farm Supply, a cooperative service agency of Southern States.

Among the features of this year's session will be the reports on Southern States Cooperative and the local Agency operations for the fiscal year which ends June 30.

In addition there will be elections and other business matters. Members will elect two new board members and two new farm home advisory committee members.

There also will be the election of a delegate and alternate to attend a district election meeting in Cockeysville this fall.

Fishing Trip Enjoyed By Cub Scouts

Den 2 of the Emmitsburg Cub Scouts Pack 1060, went on a fishing and ecology field trip last Saturday. The Cubs first ventured to Stouter's Pond where Phil Topper was the only successful fisherman. Next the group journeyed down to Cunningham Falls near Thurmont for fishing and ecology study.

Afterwards the pack and their Den Mother, Miss Mary Cullison, enjoyed a picnic lunch. Those making the trip were Josh Bollinger, John Miller, Doug Hollinger, Andy Mitchell, Phil Topper and Richy Ott.

NO BAND PRACTICE

We would like all members of the Emmitsburg Municipal Band to make a note of the fact that there will be no band practice for the next two weeks. The next practice will be held on Monday night, July 5, at 7 p.m.

Lutheran's Observe Children's Day

Sunday Church School pupils of Elias Lutheran Church, and their teachers attended the Worship Service on Sunday to mark the traditional Children's Day. During the Service, the Children's Choir, directed by Mr. Thomas Kittinger, presented the following three anthems: "Children of the Heavenly Father," "This Is My Father's World," and "God's Word Is Our Great Heritage."

Choir crosses, for those participating in one complete year's choral work, were presented to the following children at the Service, by Pastor W. Ronald Fearer: Holly Andrew, Robert Andrew, Lori Hawk, Karla Masser, Peggy Long, Julie Eyer and Todd Strickhouser.

Choir certificates, presented to children who have participated more than one year, were given to: Bruce Boyd, Pamela Bushman, Tina Boyd, William Boyd, Cathy Crum, Carol Eyer, Tressie McNair, Nancy Crum, Daniel Fearer, Robert Leatherman, Todd Leatherman, Virginia Crum, Pamela Hahn, Cheryl Crum, Cynthia Hahn, Brenda Leatherman, Deborah Leatherman, Kim Leatherman, Nancy Hahn, Randy Smith, Tina Smith, Denise Manahan and Tamara Strickhouser.

Also honored during the Service and presented with a gold pin, designed with a treble clef and cross, was Mrs. Donald Eyer, organist. Todd Leatherman made the presentation.

The Acolytes, a newly formed group in Elias Church, were given Acolyte pins, for their first year's work. Recipients were: Tressie McNair, Head Acolyte; Robert Smith, Acolyte; Randy Smith, Acolyte; Robert Andrew, Acolyte; Bruce Boyd, Acolyte; Cheryl Crum, Acolyte; Virginia Crum, Acolyte; Julie Eyer, Acolyte; Robert Fearer, Acolyte; Hahn, Lori Hawk, Acolyte; Leatherman, Brenda Leatherman, Acolyte; Leatherman, Kim Leatherman, Acolyte; Todd Leatherman, Acolyte; Small and Tina Smith.

Members of the Children's Choir and the Acolytes were guests on Monday evening at an in-door picnic supper which was planned by the Worship and Music Committee of the Church. Others present included the members of the Senior Choir, who served as hosts, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kittinger and son.

JAMES L. VAN BRAKLE

James L. Van Brakle, 59, 737 Cold Spring Lane, Baltimore, died Monday at Sinai Convalescent Home in Baltimore.

Born in Emmitsburg, he was a son of the late John E. and Anastasia Craig Van Brakle. He was a veteran of World War II, having served as a Master Sergeant in the Pacific.

Surviving besides his wife, Mrs. Edith Carroll Van Brakle, are one daughter, Mrs. Joyce Caldwell, one grandson, two brothers, Clarence A. Van Brakle, Emmitsburg, and Charles Raymond Van Brakle, Washington, D. C.; one sister, Mrs. Richard Weedon, Emmitsburg; one step-brother, Lawrence Johnson, Chambersburg, and one step-sister, Anita Johnson, Emmitsburg.

Funeral services will be held this morning (Friday) with a Requiem Mass at the Blessed Sacrament Church, Baltimore, at 10 o'clock. Interment will be in the Gettysburg National Cemetery at about noon.

Sr. League Game Here Sunday

Sunday, June 20, at 2 p.m., the Orioles of the Senior Baseball League, will play Harmony on the big league ballfield. Come out to the game and support these boys. Anyone wishing to give a donation, please contact the president, C. W. (Pat) Buch, or the secretary, Mrs. William Topper, Box 24, Emmitsburg Md.

Recent Graduate

Miss Julie Neighbours, daughter of Mrs. Eunice Neighbours and the late David L. Neighbours, was graduated from St. Joseph College with a Bachelor of Arts degree in Elementary Education.

Vacation School Starts Monday

Monday, June 21, will be the first day of the summer Vacation Church School held under the auspices of the churches of the Emmitsburg Community. At 7:00 p.m. all the children who will be attending the school, will meet in the sanctuary of Elias Lutheran Church for an opening service and assignment to classrooms. At 8:30 p.m., at the close of the session, the children may be picked up by their parents at the following locations:

Children born in 1967, Elias Church Nursery room; Children born in 1966, Elias Church 2nd floor Kindergarten I; Children born in 1965 or not yet in school, Elias Church 2nd floor Kindergarten II; Children who completed 1st grade, Incarnation Church Fellowship Hall; Children who completed 2nd grade, Presbyterian Church Educational Hall; Children who completed 3rd and 4th grade, Methodist Church Fellowship Hall; and Children who completed 5th and 6th grade, St. Euphemia's Hall.

Sessions will be held each night from 7 to 8:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, for two weeks. On Friday night, July 2, there will be a closing program held at Elias Lutheran Church, to which all parents and friends are invited. Two new assistants have been added to the list which was published in the Chronicle last week: Miss Mary Ann Keilholtz and Jim Small.

The children will be studying the theme: "At Home In God's World." Each night an offering will be taken in each class. A part of this will be used toward the expense of the school and a part will go to Seton Center for the work which is being carried on there for the Emmitsburg Community.

If your child has not been registered, see that Mrs. John Chatlos has the registration no later than Sunday, June 20. Her address is P.O. Box 255, Emmitsburg, Md. 21727.

Local Fisherman Lands Large Bass

A local fisherman, Austin L. Joy of East Main Street, was successful in catching a 5 lb. 8 oz. small mouth bass while fishing at Liberty Dam on June 9. The fish was 22 inches long and had a 15-inch girth. Aaron W. Adams accompanied "Audie" on the fishing trip.

Seton Center Special Program Starts Monday

Thirty-five Emmitsburg area children, ages six to thirteen, will benefit, this summer, from a special program which will run for six weeks at Seton Center on South Seton Avenue. The program offers a full-day session in order to provide care for school-age children from families where both parents go out to work. It will begin June 21 and continue for five days each week until July 30.

Activities in the special program will include physical education, arts and crafts, communication skills, swimming, music, dance and drama. Field trips will provide additional experiences and variety to the weekly schedule. All activities are designed to let the children have fun and freedom while learning. Lunch and snacks will be provided at the Center.

Sister Grace of the Seton Center permanent staff, who will administer the program, has announced that a maximum enrollment of thirty-five youngsters has already been reached.

VFW Auxiliary To Hold Birthday Party

The Ladies Auxiliary to Emmitsburg Memorial Post 6658, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will celebrate the 24th anniversary of the Auxiliary on Thursday, July 1, at the Cozy Restaurant, Thurmont. A chicken and ham dinner will be served. A brief business meeting will follow. The charge for the dinner is $2.15 per member and the auxiliary will pay the remainder. The affair will begin at 6:30. Any member wishing to attend is asked to contact Mrs. Evedyn Ott, 447-2508, or Mrs. Dolores Henke, 447-2229 (after 5 p.m.). Reservations must be made no later than June 25.

Seeking Funds For New Building

To meet today's spiraling adult educational demands, the University of Maryland Center of Adult Education is presently building a large addition. The Center is a residential living and learning service facility on the West end of the College Park Campus.

Public funds are not being utilized in the construction of the four million dollar addition to the Center, and as a result the University is actively soliciting private support.

Since its construction in 1964, the Center has served the Maryland civic, government, business and industrial community with staff and facilities for continuing education programs. The many and varied programs include conferences, institutes, special workshops, employee training programs and non-credit short courses. Over 266,000 adults have participated in 3,288 community, state, national and international programs at the Center in its six years of operation.

Today's demand on the Center's services and facilities are greatly space have had to be denied. Many requests for conference exceeding its designed capacity, cause of lack of space.

Currently under construction, the new wing will provide more than double the present conference and dining space and allow for a 750 seat auditorium. The facilities will include closed circuit television, audio-taping equipment, and modern audio-visual services and equipment for programming.

While the total cost for this new addition is more than four million dollars, the University expects to raise $500,000 through private contributions.

Gifts in any amount are welcome. However, contributions of $600 will be acknowledged as a gift of a seat in the auditorium. Additional opportunities are available to dedicate blocks of seats, the auditorium itself, or to name conference rooms. Particular groups, organizations, or business and industrial firms are urged to participate and make their commitment to continuing adult education in Maryland.

All contributions are tax deductible. For more information please communicate with Mr. R. Latane Waring, Jr., Director of Corporate and Foundations Support Programs, Office of Endowments and Gifts, University of Maryland, College Park, Md. 20742.

Scout Mothers Sponsoring Auction

An auction and food sale will be held on Saturday, June 19, beginning at 2 p.m. at the Scout House, located at the Emmitsburg ball park.

The auction and food sale are being sponsored by the Mothers of Boy Scout Troop 284, Emmitsburg, for the benefit of the scouts.

Items to be offered at the auction will include many new and used items, such as furniture, used portable TV, transistor radio, desk, electric appliances, dishes, plastics works, toys, games, tricycle, desk light, tea kettle, cub scout uniform, and many other useful and varied articles.

Anyone wishing to donate any items may contact any Boy Scout of Troop 284, or bring the item to the scout house on the day of the sale.

Specialties at the food sale will include homemade candy and cakes. Other refreshments will be available. Plan to attend and support the Scouts.

RAYMOND J. DUKEHART

Raymond Joseph Dukehart, 67, Westminster, died Saturday night at the Longview nursing home, Manchester, where he had been a patient for about three weeks.

He was born in Emmitsburg, the son of the late Joseph and Mary Alice Barber Dukehart. For a number of years he was the REA express agent at Westminster. He was a member of St. John's Catholic Church, Westminster, and the Knights of Columbus, Emmitsburg Council 1860.

Surviving him are his widow, Gladys Morelock Dukehart, and two sisters, Mrs. May Kinke, Timonium, and Mrs. Alice Sternberky, Emmitsburg.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday with a Requiem Mass at 10 a.m. at the Myers Funeral Home, Westminster. The Rev. Stephen D. Melycher was celebrant. Interment was in Baptist Church Cemetery, Tyrone.

Variety Of Activities Set For Community

The following is a list of activities scheduled for persons of all ages in the Emmitsburg community.

Emmitsburg Vacation School—June 21 through July 2. This program will be held Monday through Friday evenings from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Children 4 years through 6th grade, who have registered, may attend.

Summer Library Program—For children who have completed grades 1 through 6. This program started June 14 and will conclude August 21. A film program or story hour will begin in July. A notice will be placed in the paper each week or on the door of the library.

Summer Youth Program—Scheduled to begin July 5 and will include children in the 5th through 12th grades of all religions. This program will be held at Mother Seton School.

The Teen Center—A program has been scheduled for each Saturday evening at the Public School. Time and date for opening have not as yet been set.

Teens from Emmitsburg will also be bussed to Catocin High School for sports events one evening each week during the summer. The starting date for this has not yet been determined.

The Town of Emmitsburg in cooperation with the Parks and Recreation Commission intend to sponsor a 6-week summer program for children entering grades 1 through 4. The program will start July 6 and run through August 13. Field trips will be taken all day Monday, and on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, the children will meet from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. The program will be held at Emmitsburg Public School.

During the summer months the Senior Baseball League holds scheduled games on Wednesday and Sunday.

The Little League has its season well under way with games on Mondays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays in the evening.

Fastpitch Softball games are scheduled each Wednesday and Sunday evenings.

The Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts will have meetings and activities during the summer according to their individual club plans.

The Girl Scouts and Brownies have no meetings during the summer but may have hikes and picnics, which will be announced by the Troop leaders.

It may be helpful to parents having children eligible for these activities to clip this article for future use.

Town Council To Consider

Mobile Homes Park

The regular meeting for the Burgess and Commissioners was held Monday, June 14, at 7:35 p.m. Chairman Ernest Rosensteel presided with all members present.

The minutes of the May reorganization meeting and two special meetings were read and approved. It was announced that the State Roads Commission will install a thimble under the road bed as requested.

Mayor Samuel C. Hays read a letter from Mr. Edward Storm regarding the payment of the water bill of Mr. Charles Smith. Mr. Hays explained the events leading to this billing. A short discussion followed. The mayor also read a letter from Mr. Fred Bower concerning the Frailey property annexation. Progress is being made.

Mrs. Katherine Klosky addressed the Council in behalf of the Silver Fancy Garden Club. The Club is asking permission to help carry out their project—the beautification of Emmitsburg — by planting five trees on the square. The Council looks with favor on this project. However, Mrs. Klosky was told that before this work can be done permission must be obtained from the property owners, as the Town does not own the sidewalks. The Town equipment will dig holes for planting the trees.

Mr. Edward Storm, with Mr. William Garde of Paxson Builders, presented maps showing the complete layout of the proposed plan to develop a Mobile Homes Park, together with three townhouses and two apartment buildings. A detailed explanation of the plan was given. The Council has been asked to consider annexing the portion of the land not in the corporation and to provide water and sewer facilities. The Council will make its decision within a month.

Chief Henry Filler read the police report for May. A discussion followed. The Council voted to hold a special meeting with the police on Wednesday, June 16, at 8 p.m.

All current bills were approved for payment. The Council approved the same donation to the Vigilant Hose Co. as last year—$2,000.

Senior Citizens

Accept New By-Laws

Wednesday, June 9, the Senior Citizens Club of Emmitsburg left the Center at eight o'clock for a bus tour. Thirty-seven members journeyed to Ft. McHenry, the new town of Columbia, and New Market. Lunch was eaten at Columbia. Plans had been made to visit the plant at New Windsor, but the building closed at an earlier date than expected, hence the change.

Announcements have been sent out from the Senior Fellowship Center in Frederick that the Center has been moved to 520 North Market St.

Tuesday, June 15, the regular monthly meeting of the Senior Citizens Club was held at the Center with 21 members present. The club voted to accept the Constitution drawn up by the committee.

Mr. Ed Storm delivered a most interesting lecture with pictures of his latest trip to India, which was deeply appreciated by the group. Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Jake Baker. The next meeting will be held Tuesday, July 20, 1971.

Picnic Preparations Under Way

Members and friends of St. Joseph's Parish are asked to remember August 14 as this is the date for the annual picnic. This year's picnic will feature a barbecue chicken dinner, a variety of games and an assortment of tables which will include a cake and candy table.

Mr. George Eugene Rosensteel will act as general chairman of the picnic. More information will be given in the paper as the date approaches so be watching for the news releases.

WINDOW DISPLAY

The Tom's Creek 4-H Dairy Department has put up a display in Crouse's Window on the Square. The display is in conjunction with "June Is Dairy Month."

Then there's the viewpoint of thousands of industries, all of whom have the same right and privilege as Gen'l Mills, to start their own boxtop program IF THEY SO DESIRE. Gen'l Mills does not have a monopoly on this double-pronged program which benefits them, as well as suffering humanity. For years they have approved private groups' collecting their coupons for school buses, Braille typewriters and such. What is so different about machines that help victims of lung, heart and kidney diseases? As with trading stamps, industry may or may not opt to participate in this type of humanitarian endeavor.

Let's consider the viewpoint of the health foundations and medical teams who stand helplessly by and see the life ebbing from their patients and fellow humans for lack of a machine that could keep them alive. Is anyone naive enough to believe THEY care if the machines were paid for with boxtops? Their fight is to SAVE LIFE by whatever means they can find.

From the standpoint of millions of consumers like myself, may I say we have the intelligence, the right and the power to choose for ourselves; to buy what we want; to decide what we shall do with our coupons, boxtops and money—not what THEY want! Personally I would be elated if Gen'l Mills sales zoomed—my reasoning being that more sales means more coupons, which means more machines, to save more lives.

What would be the effect, I wonder, on the delicate sensitivities of these critics if, one day, they were to find themselves in a similarly critical condition where their lives depended on a machine that wasn't available because of its prohibitive cost. I can't quite visualize their playing the martyr role and in their suffering and fear, nobly saying, "I'd rather die than owe my life to a box-top." Ludicrous? Ridiculous? Not at all!

We do not equate boxtops with human lives either but the relation in proper perspective of one to the other could be analogous to: manna from heaven; water to a man dying of thirst; food for a starving person; food that grows in the very bowels of the earth for human sustenance—many, many, others, but I think you see the point.

If criticisms are numbering in the millions, I would say another introspective examination of the coupons project would be in order by Gen'l Mills to definitely determine if there are any human transgressions. If such is not the case, I would hope that they will continue to cooperate with medical foundations and other humanitarians. Surely this giant industry, in its long history, has weathered bigger storms than this little squall.

I will send a copy of this column to the Public Relations Dept. of Gen'l Mills urging them to reconsider their decision and I exhort you and your friends to write them also. Let's campaign to keep the campaign!

Think of the gift you and Susan and hundreds like her. You give them the gift of LIFE! They thought it was a great idea at the time, Gen'l Mills said... IT WAS and it still is, Betty Crocker, and don't you let a few misguided individuals convince you otherwise!

Frederick County Backgrounds

BY SAMUEL CARRICK

"To Meet Death—"

"Beautiful is the morning of Life—"

"And beautiful is the Evening."

On a gravestone in Elias churchyard are carved the words—"Death is swallowed up in Victory. Thanks be to God." To a very great extent this sums up the whole of life and makes it worth the living. Death comes to every man—soon or late—but it is vanquished in life more abundant. In this spirit the pioneers of yesterday wrought and built—it was the result that counted in the end—they planned for the future. When they "lay down the tools their children would take them up."

Go into any old burial ground—think of the people who rest there—they lived—worked—and died. Their lives are a part of today—the past never dies—and death is swallowed up in victory. To learn from one's ancestors is "indeed a goodly thing."

The historical and genealogical data pertaining to the Ohler family of Tom's Creek and Elias Lutheran congregation is continued at this time.

Isaac Ohler was married to Isamah Hockensmith by the Rev. Benjamin Keller in 1846. As stated in last week's column it is quite possible that Samuel Ohler and Isaac were brothers—although at present there is no proof of the relationship. They are buried in the same section of Elias churchyard and the graves are marked.

Isaac and Isamah (Hockensmith) Ohler had a "medium sized" family. The baptism of their first two children (twins) Elizabeth Catharine and Levi Ezra Ohler, is recorded in the archives of the Taneytown Lutheran church in 1849. From this time on the records appear in Volume I of the Elias records—as follows:

13. "Emma Jane Ohler, daughter of Isaac Ohler and his wife, Isamah—Born February 1, 1850—baptized April 12, 1851."

14. "Mary Ellen Ohler, the daughter of Isaac and Isamah Ohler—Born July 17, 1855—baptized October 10, 1855."

15. "Alice Virginia Ohler, the daughter of Isaac Ohler and his wife, Isamah Ohler—Born October 27, 1858—baptized May 4, 1859."

16. "James Henry Ohler, the son of Isaac Ohler and his wife, Isamah Ohler—Born September 21, 1861—baptized January 31, 1862."

17. "William Daniel Ohler, the son of Isaac and Isamah Ohler—Born February 13, 1864—baptized June 4, 1864."

18. Alice Virginia Ohler, the daughter of Isaac and Isamah (Hockensmith) Ohler, died September 25, 1878—aged 19 years, 10 months, and 19 days—as stated in the church records.

The grave of Alice Virginia Ohler is in the plot of her father and mother in Elias churchyard.

Until recently her grave marker had not only fallen from its base and lay "face-down" on the ground so that the inscription could not be read. In addition the stone was broken. Within the past couple of weeks the marker has been repaired and reset. The inscription follows:

65. Sacred to the memory of Alice V. Ohler, daughter of Isaac and Isamah Ohler, died September 16, 1878, aged 19 years, 11 months and 19 days.

Note: It will be noticed that there is a slight difference in the date of Alice Virginia Ohler's death and in her age as given in the church records and on her tombstone. At this late date it would be impossible to say which was correct.

The markers at the graves of Isaac and Isamah Ohler contain the following inscriptions:

66. In memory of Isaac Ohler, born April 18, 1818, died December 2, 1872.

67. In memory of Isamah (Hockensmith) Ohler, wife of Isaac Ohler, born January 3, 1826, died November 24, 1902.

The last child of Isaac and Isamah (Hockensmith) Ohler to be listed—as baptized—in the records of Elias church—was another daughter—

19. "Salie Bell Ohler, the daughter of Isaac and Isamah Ohler—Born May 15, 1867, baptized December 28, 1867."

In the marriage records of Elias church for the year 1886 are listed the following:

20. "Married February 16, 1886, by the Rev. E. S. Johnston, Mr. Denton A. Wachter to Miss Mary E. Ohler, both of Frederick County."

OPEN LINE

By
Congressman Goodloe Byron
Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, c/o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of those asked of me during a recent district tour:

I read that you recently spoke at a Work-Study Dinner. What is the Work-Study Program all about?

I was pleased to be the guest speaker at the Carroll County Board of Education's Co-operative Work-Study Program, which honored employers who are actively participating in the student-help program. Under the Work-Study concept, students participate in morning classes designed to provide vocational skills and attitudes that will make them good employees. During the afternoon they receive on-the-job training in businesses in local communities practicing what they have learned in the classroom. In short, this program strives to produce more high school graduates who will become productive working members of our society. And I think it benefits not only the students, but the local economy and businesses as well.

How many non-resident hunting licenses were issued in Maryland last year?

Approximately 10,000 non-resident hunting licenses, tags, permits and stamps were issued in Maryland last year. This number represents less than 4% of the total hunting licenses issued in the State in 1970. Department of Interior officials also inform me that 12,000 non-resident fishing licenses were granted in 1970, representing 11% of the total fishing licenses issued in Maryland.

Does the government publish a brochure on ski facilities available

Yes, and its available to early planners like yourself. The brochure "Winter Activities" details winter sports facilities and programs—devoting particular attention to skiing and snowmobiling.

Opportunities for such diverse winter recreation as snowshoeing, ice boating, ice fishing, sledding, tobogganing, skating and snow camping are also listed. The guide tells not only which activities are available at which park, but also how to reach the area, where the nearest accommodations and supplies can be found, and where to write for more detailed information such as authorized snowmobile routes and detailed local regulations governing winter sports. Copies of the brochure are available from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C.

How many acres of land does the Federal Government own?

Total land holdings exceed 762 million acres. For your information, since the first lands were ceded to the federal government in 1780, more than 1.1 billion acres have passed from Federal ownership to private citizens, business organizations, or to State and local agencies. If you are interested in detailed information on the use of public lands, may I suggest you write the Superintendent of Documents in Washington, D. C., and order a copy of "Public Land Statistics."

Library To Close On Thursdays

The Board of the C. Burr Artz Library, Headquarters of the Frederick County Public Libraries System, met Thursday, June 10, and decided to close the Artz Library every Thursday from June 17 until such time as more salary funds are available. They also agreed to cut from the budget all staff time for Thursday service in the Brunswick, Emmitsburg and Thurmont libraries. This will not cause a loss of income for the staff members of the Community Libraries if they wish to spend an equivalent amount of time at the Frederick Headquarters doing some of the necessary behind-the-scenes work.

"We deeply regret reducing library hours," Director M. L. Reynolds said, "but it is a way to stay within a reasonable percentage expenditure for salary and not reduce the amount for new and replacement materials even more than it was reduced last year." Thursday was selected as the least busy day in all libraries. "The only favorable thing I can say," Miss Reynolds said, "is that Community Librarians may have more opportunity to participate in election of materials, staff training programs, and information searches for the patrons in their communities."

This move will not mean a reduction of the present salary budget, but if all appointments to existing vacancies are deferred, that the budget will be kept within the limit suggested by the Frederick County Commissioners.

ON DEAN'S LIST

Dr. Carl H. Mitlehner, Dean for Instructional Services at Frederick Community College has announced the Dean's List for those students who obtain a minimum grade point average of "B" for the Spring, 1971, Semester. One hundred and twelve students at Frederick Community College attained the Dean's List for the second semester. The first ten students on the list received all "A's". Only full-time students are included in the list and they must maintain a minimum quality point average of 3.0 on a four-point scale. Among those listed were Sterling R. Adams, Jr., and Robert, R. Zimmerman, both of Emmitsburg.

Dual Golden Anniversaries Make 1971 Special 4-H Year

This year marks the dual golden anniversaries of National 4-H Congress and the National 4-H Service Committee which supports the youth organization in many ways.

As the National Committee completes 50 years of service to 4-H, it also begins its second half-century under new leadership. Blaine J. Yarrington, president of American Oil Company, Chicago, (right) is the recently elected president of the Committee. Joining him in recognition of the dual anniversaries is Norman C. Mindrum, National 4-H Service Committee director.

During this anniversary year, more than 200,000 4-H members are expected to be recognized for their accomplishments. Honorees selected by the Co-operative Extension Service from city and suburbia as well as rural areas will earn county medals. And 1,300 of them will receive expense-paid trips to the 50th National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 28-Dec. 2.

Topping the list of other coveted awards are some 265 educational scholarships valued at more than $179,000. Grants range from $100 to $1,600 each.

Making it all possible are 55 corporations, foundations and individuals which contribute some $1.4 million to 4-H through the National 4-H Service Committee, Chicago. In addition to recognition, these donors also give added support to 4-H through assistance with publications, visual aids, leader training, career exploration and public relations.

Donors that have supported 4-H programs on a national basis for more than 40 years are International Harvester Company, Montgomery Ward, Kerr Glass Manufacturing Corporation, The Sears-Roebuck Foundation and Wilson & Co., Inc. Four railroads also have pioneered in the support of informal education, incentives and recognition in their service areas. They are The Milwaukee Road, Burlington Northern Inc., Chicago and North Western and The Santa Fe Railway System.

Adding support to the 4-H educational program during the 1930's were Westinghouse Electric Corporation, Livestock Conservation, Inc. and Mrs. Charles R. Walgreen. And in the early 1940's, the list of 4-H donors grew rapidly. The Firestone Tire & Rubber Company, American Oil Foundation, General Motors, The Conrad Hilton Hotel and Simplicity Pattern Co. Inc. joined in the sponsorship of 4-H programs through the National 4-H Service Committee.

HEALTH & SAFETY

GETTING THE MOST SAFETY FROM SAFETY PACKAGING

The key to the safe, effective use of medicine has always been understanding. With regard to the most commonly used medicines, including the many products available without prescription, the public understands both the conditions which may prompt their use and the guidelines for their use with safety.

Today, understanding is more important than ever. The number of different medicines available has increased, and to help prevent children under five from poisoning themselves by ingesting a variety of common household substances, special safety containers were developed.

While the drug industry first began using safety containers as far back as 1957, and they are widely used for children's medications today, more household substances will probably appear on the market with protective packaging in the near future. This was the intent of the 1970 Poison Prevention Packaging Act, passed by Congress late last year.

The Council on Family Health, sponsored by the manufacturers of medicines as a public service, points out that safety closures are not a substitute for caution, and, to be effective, must be used properly.

To help in understanding how to use safety containers with maximum safety, the Council offers the following advice:

—Always carefully replace the caps of these containers—whether the push-and-turn, snap-top, or double-cap type—with the same action necessary to remove them.

—Keep medicines or other substances in these containers, since removing them also removes the protection afforded by the container.

—Try to store all products packaged in safety containers out of sight and reach of children, along with all other medicines and household chemicals. Given enough time, many children, even those under five, can open containers with safety closures.

—Finally, always read and carefully follow directions for proper use, since accidents can also result from taking or administering the wrong medicine, using the right product or using the right product in the wrong way.

Q. Can we "have our cake and eat it, too" and keep phosphates in detergents, water conditioners and other cleaning products and still prevent them from getting into our lakes and rivers?

A. Very definitely yes, and that is by attacking the controllable sources of phosphates. The most easily controlled source is the sewage discharged from our homes to treatment plants. We can apply chemical treatment methods which have been tested and proved in different regions of the United States.

Inorganic chemicals such as lime and compounds of aluminum and iron in conjunction with water-soluble chemicals called polymers can remove upwards of 80% of phosphates from sewage at costs averaging about a penny per person per day.

At the Water Pollution Control Plant in Painesville, Ohio, phosphate removal averaged 83% in a recently concluded demonstration project conducted by plant personnel, pollution control specialists from Calgon Corporation and the Water Quality Office of the Environmental Protection Agency. A Calgon polymer and an iron compound produced the best results according to Plant Superintendent, Walter W. White.

White said the city is realizing a bonus benefit in addition to phosphate removal. A higher percent of suspended solids and oxygen consuming organic pollutants (human wastes, for instance) also are being removed by the chemical treatment.

For more information write for the booklet, "Facts About Phosphates", P. O. Box 1346, Pittsburgh, Pa. 15230.

Capitol Comment

U.S. Senator

Social Security

There is a glaring inequity in the Social Security law. At present, benefits are reduced $1 for each $2 earned between $1,680 and $2,880 and $1 for each $1 earned above $2,880. I have introduced legislation that would change this procedure so that the $1 reduction in benefits for each $2 earned would apply to all earnings above $3,000, thereby providing further incentive for beneficiaries who need to and are capable of working to do so.

The bill would also increase benefits of widows and widowers from 82.5 percent to 100 percent of the deceased partner's Social Security benefits. It also establishes a minimum monthly Social Security payment of $100 and automatic cost-of-living increases. My aim is to help senior citizens cope with the seemingly unending inflationary spiral.

As an example, let's see what happens to a retiree who receives $117 a month from Social Security. If he (or she) were able to earn $3,500 a year in outside income, computations on his earnings under the present formula would allow him to receive a meager $184 of the $1,404 due him in Social Security annuity, for a total income of $3,684.

However, if computed according to the Mathias proposal, the beneficiary would be able to retain $1,154, a considerably higher sum, for a total of $4,654.

Many of our senior citizens can perform skills that are currently in demand. Many hospitals, nursing homes and clinics in the nation are in dire need of practical nurses, but a practical nurse who is receiving Social Security benefits would jeopardize those benefits if she filled one of these positions. Many retired businessmen who could perform valuable services to their communities are incumbered by the earnings limitation.

This is folly. We are denying the nation the skills, energy and experience of these citizens. By our inaction, we are spreading the doctrine that work and the constructive investment of one's time and energy is no longer in vogue in the United States.

Congress will not deal with the Social Security question until it moves to increase the amount of money which recipients can earn without shrinking the size of their monthly benefit checks.

Twice in recent months, the Senate has voted to increase the earnings limitation. In its consideration of H.R. 17550 last December and more recently in March, the Senate voted to increase the earnings ceiling to $2,400. Regrettably, the House-Senate conferees did not accept this amount, and the ceiling remains at an unrealistic and unjust $1,680.

Continued failure to act on this question discourages our senior citizens from holding positions which could benefit the nation. It is short-sighted to turn these experienced men and women out to pasture, give them a monthly allowance which is barely adequate, at best, and threaten to take away the money which they have earned or reduce the payment if the recipient makes use of skills he has spent a lifetime developing.

What joy and triumph, after all, to be sincerely honored by the ones we loved

BUSINESS and the STOCK MARKET

by BABSON'S REPORTS INC.
Copyright 1971
The Computerized O-T-C Market
By Babson's Reports Incorporated, Wellesley Hills, Mass., June 17, 1971—On February 8, 1971 a revolutionary electronic, computerized system of trading securities was placed in operation in the over-the-counter market. This method of price reporting is called NASDAQ (for its developer, the National Association of Securities Dealers Automated Quotation). Within about four months it has already brought more orderly trading, savings in time and money for the dealers, and better and firmer prices for the customers. It is challenging the leadership of the listed exchanges (the New York and American Stock Exchanges) by means of its third-market operations (listed securities somewhat in the O-T-C market, often at lower commissions).

The procedure was time-consuming and expensive in this vast securities market. Some 25,000 to 30,000 stocks are quoted in the course of a year. On a weekly basis, about 8,500 stocks are traded over-the-counter. Currently, NASDAQ carries bid-ask prices on about 2,500 securities. The quotes are constantly updated by the dealers. Flashed across a television-like screen are the names of the dealers marketing the stock and the prices at which they are willing to trade. Quotes are obtained in a matter of seconds once the proper buttons are pushed. The system is scheduled to expand to 20,000 issues by the end of 1971.

Long Overdue Need For System
NASDAQ promises to take the mystery out of O-T-C trading, and may very well bring nationwide acceptance and prestige for O-T-C securities. This market is the largest and oldest in the country, but because of its former lack of visibility the small investor preferred to confine his purchases to the listed exchanges.

Mammoth Parade Set At Halfway

The Volunteer Fire Company of Halfway, Maryland, just south of Hagerstown on U. S. Route 11, will hold its annual carnival on the company grounds from June 21 through June 26.

The new computerized system will eventually follow up with volume figures on trading — never before compiled — and stock indexes along the lines of the Dow-Jones averages. If the present addition of 36 exchange-listed stocks to the NASDAQ system is successful, more listed companies will be included. Thus, unlimited opportunities will open up for the visual display of the securities of unfamiliar companies which have compiled sterling growth records, as well as those fledgling but promising firms with good potential. Both groups should afford the possibility of outstanding capital gains.

Current O-T-C Favorites
The Research Staff of Babson's Reports has recently culled the broad spectrum of securities being traded in the vast O-T-C market and is currently recommending Russell Stover Candies, Western Publishing, and Republic National Life Insurance at present levels. These companies are leaders in their respective fields and should show appreciation over the intermediate term for the aggressive investor.

Other O-T-C companies which will be interesting for purchase when prices have moved somewhat lower are Charles River Breeding Laboratories, world's largest breeder of lab animals; Scuthland Corp., nation's largest convenience food store chain; and General Automotive Parts. In buying securities over-the-counter, check with your broker or dealer as to whether any specific security is traded under the so-called state "Blue Sky" laws. These laws control offerings of securities under which the state securities administrator can prohibit public sale of issues not meeting certain statutory standards. As a rule, most securities are blue-skyed in several states.

An added feature to the carnival will be a giant Firemen's Parade on Saturday, June 26, starting at 6:00 p.m. In addition to political and public officials, the famous restaurateur "Ronald McDonald" will also be in the line of march, along with drum majorettes, Jackie Bennett . . . "Miss Hagerstown of 1971", and many of the finest pieces of fire fighting equipment from the four-state area.

Judges for the variety of competitive categories have been selected by the Maryland State Firemen's Association and a lively fight is anticipated in trying to win some of the coveted trophies and prizes. Donald Wood, Parade Chairman for this year, says: "With the number of entries that we have already received for this parade, there is no doubt that this will be the biggest and finest firemen's parade ever held in this county. I am quite pleased, too, at the willingness of many of the entrants to come from quite a distance away to join in our first parade effort. From the response to our invitations, we feel that we have started something in Washington County that will become an annual affair and will get bigger and bigger each year."

WASHINGTON REPORT FROM SENATOR J. GLENN BEALL JR.

National Institute of Health Care Delivery

Developing the capabilities to deliver the benefits of research to Americans in need wherever they are located is the tough test facing the nation and the health industry in this decade.

Our success in solving the health care crisis will depend to a great extent on our ability to improve our delivery system. I am convinced that without bold initiatives and without substantial investments to improve our delivery of health care, health care itself will remain unsatisfactory and its costs will continue to rise.

It is for that reason that I am proposing that this nation create a new National Institute of Health Care Delivery. The goal of this Institute and its labs will be to do for health care delivery what the National Institutes of Health has done for medical research. Its objective is to make the United States the leader in the delivery of health care just as we are widely recognized as a leader in health research.

There is no question that substantial resources will be needed if we are going to improve our capabilities in delivering health care. Since World War II the United States has invested over $20 billion in bio-medical research. Comparatively little has been spent on researching health delivery systems. In 1970, for example, the nation invested $1.6 billion for bio-medical research but only $18 million in research on health delivery.

Perhaps this disparity in spending between bio-medical and health care delivery research explains the reason for the healthy condition and preeminence of medical research in the United States on the one hand, and the need for major surgery on our health care delivery system on the other.

Our achievements in technology, such as in space, transportation, communications, and data processing, have been amazing. Yet, much of our health system continues to employ the same manual procedures used at the turn of the century. 20th Century technology and 20th Century research must be combined to provide 21st Century health care delivery in this decade!

The charter of the organization I propose should be very broad. It should examine our existing health care system and design and test components of a new one. It should be encouraged to overlook no potentially promising avenue of improving the quality of care and the efficiency of our health care system. The Institute, as I envision it, would be staffed by multi-disciplinary teams from medicine, engineering, accounting, social sciences, architecture, law, and the management sciences.

Obviously, the organization of any institution is critically important; and this is particularly true of the proposed National Institute of Health Care Delivery. While one can only sketch its skeleton shape, such an agency certainly should be located within the government, perhaps comparable to research and development agencies such as NIH and NASA.

My proposal for a National Institute of Health Care Delivery attempts to make health care delivery a field of research of its own. This is an area in my judgment where breakthroughs are urgently needed. With adequate money, with talented men and women from many disciplines, and with proper management I believe the potential is there for making America's health care delivery system as excellent as our research.

PICTURE THIS!

Summer is the perfect time to give your child a camera. Taking pictures will help her learn to organize her ideas while she's having fun. You can get everything she needs to take pictures in the new Kodak Smile Saver kit, available for a limited time.

TURN SUMMER INTO A LEARNING EXPERIENCE

Summer camp and family vacations can provide a valuable learning experience for youngsters.

To help your child use her time constructively and become more aware of her surroundings, why not a gift of a camera for her? It's a learning tool she can use now and all year round. Everything she needs for snapshooting may be found in the new Kodak Smile Saver kit, a combination offer available for a limited time. The kit includes a cartridge-loading camera that takes flash pictures without flash batteries, film, magicubes, carrying case and pocket photo album—all for under $25.00.

The camera's simple to use. Just drop in the film, aim and shoot. There's nothing to set or forget. Think of the fun she'll have snapping pictures of the gang splashing at the pool, hiking through the woods or learning a new craft.

To help her learn to organize her ideas, you might suggest she record a picture story of her days at camp. You could help her by snapping the first pictures before she leaves—packing her bags and loading them in the car. When you arrive at the camp grounds, let her take a picture of the sign marking the entrance. This will identify the location. Then suggest that she take pictures of the activities that occur each day. She'll probably want to include snapshots of her bungalow or cabin, the dining hall, camp sites and, finally, loading the car for the trip home.

When the pictures are organized in a photo album, she'll have a complete pictorial record of her summer at camp.

When the family takes a trip, put your youngster in charge of taking the pictures. She'll soon learn to snap activities as they happen—and she'll see how the natural progression of events tells a story.

You might suggest that she take a few distant shots to show the overall scene, then move in for close-ups to get lots of detail.

Before long she'll be seeking out historical monuments and local attractions that will make the trip a real learning experience.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

Colt is probably the most prolific producer of commemorative guns, and this year it reaches back to the percussion period, for the first time, to put the model honoring the successful engagement of the Texas Navy with Mexican ships.

Sports Afield's Gun Editor, Pete Brown, tells us that the 1851 Navy will be the first percussion revolver available as a commemorative issue—one as the Robert E. Lee and the other the Ulysses S. Grant. These guns will be available separately or as a matched pair.

Serial number will run from 251 REL to 5000 REL for the Lee and from 251 USG to 5000 USG for the Grant. Matched pairs will have serial number from 1 GLP to 250 GLP. Separately, the guns are $250 and a pair is $500.

Savage has made the tools to produce a limited edition of the popular old Stevens Favorite. This petite lever-action, falling-block rifle was originally sold from 1894 to 1940. Like the original, the commemorative Favorite will have an octagon barrel, brass blade front sight, hand-rubbed oil-finish walnut stock and Sch-nabel fore-end.

The butt is fitted with a solid brass crescent butt plate, the receiver is case-hardened, the hammer and lever are given the gold treatment and the stock holds a medallion showing a bust of Joshua Stevens and is inscribed 'Father of .22 Hunting.' The price is $75.

For nearly three decades, the Army put its faith in the .45-70 Springfield trapdoor rifle. In addition to the regular issue rifle, the Springfield Armory also made an Officer's Model.

Harrington & Richardson, Inc., is now producing this Officer's Model. It serves beautifully to commemorate the 100th anniversary of Harrington & Richardson and there is abundant evidence that a lot of people want one. It was known as a long-range wonder and that's something a lot of us are hankering to demonstrate in the near future. Rifles bearing serial numbers 1 through 1500 are $300, 1501 through 3000, $275, and 3001 through 10,000, $250.

Harrington & Richardson is marking both ends of its 100 years. In addition to the old-time Officer's Model 1873, they have a modern Commemorative Pistol Set. It's a two-in-one proposition—a double-action automatic pistol with interchangeable matched barrels and magazines in .380 and .22 Long Rifle. It is dressed up with a gold nameplate, gold trigger and special serial numbers for the Commemorative Set. The price is $160.

Publicity, like fire, can be friend or foe.

To Hold Football Camp At MSM

Carl DePasqua, the miracle-working head football coach at the University of Pittsburgh, will be the special guest lecturer at the Blue Ridge Football Camp, which will be held at Mount Saint Mary's College during the week of July 25-30.

The Blue Ridge Football Camp is the first summer football camp to be held in the area in over five years. It will be directed by Bill Quinter, assistant football coach at Pitt.

DePasqua has been head coach at Pitt for the last two years. During this time he has brought the Panthers from three consecutive 1-9 seasons to respectability. Last year's squad finished a tough schedule with a 5-5 record, and received 20 recognition. Even better things are expected next year.

Camp Director Quinter has been freshman receiver coach and head varsity coach at Pitt for the last three years. He recruits the Central Pennsylvania-Western Maryland area for Pitt, and is quite familiar with the brand of football played in this area.

The Blue Ridge Football Camp, open to boys 10 and older, will be held on the Mount Saint Mary's campus. Football activities will be conducted on three professional football fields which were originally designed for the Washington Redskins. Boys will be fed in Mount Saint Mary's ultra-modern dining hall and housed in the college dormitories. Basketball, tennis, and swimming facilities will be available.

Reductions are available for area boys who wish to commute to the camp. The package includes two meals daily. Further information can be obtained by writing The Blue Ridge Football Camp at Mount Saint Mary's.

Quinter and DePasqua will be assisted by a skilled group of college and high school coaches. Included in the group are Serafina Fazio, assistant at Pitt, Jerry Bruner, assistant at West Virginia, and Jack Stanton, assistant at North Carolina State, and high school head coaches Bob Craig, Cedar Cliff High School in Harrisburg, Harry Haight, McKinnley Tech High School in Washington, D. C., and Vic Savoca, Oxon Hill High School in Oxon Hill.

VA NEWS

Veterans in training under the GI Bill were reminded this week by George A. Davis, Director of the Baltimore Veterans Administration Regional Office, that they are entitled to more money when they get married or have children.

For example, Davis said, a full-time student in school will have his $175 a month increased to $205 when he gets married and to $230 if he becomes a father.

Veterans taking cooperative, apprenticeship and on-the-job training get additional payments for only two dependents, while the others get them for all dependents.

Previously, Davis said, veterans could be paid the additional amounts only from the date they notified the VA of their new dependent. Under legislation effective December 24, 1970, however, students have one year from the event to present the marriage license or birth certificate to the VA.

Since the new law is not retroactive, veteran students who were married or had a child before December 24, 1970, and failed to notify the VA, can be paid only from that date, Davis said.

Veterans who are eligible for increased payments were urged to contact their local VA office.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

A cookout and birthday party was held for Mrs. Vernie Harbaugh on Sunday, June 6, at her home on E. Main St. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Richard Maley, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Harbaugh, Mrs. Nina Givens, David Harbaugh, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Harbaugh, Joseph Stahura, Hilda Hemingway, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Eyer, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Knipple, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Nauple and Mr. and Mrs. Forest Knipple.

OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day

No Floodlight Needed

The training of Thoroughbred horses is a colorful and, for some, a very rewarding occupation, but the spotlight on the leaders in this profession doesn't cover a very large area, according to a survey by Thoroughbred Racing Association (TRA).

During the past ten years only 35 trainers have annually finished in the top ten on the roster measured by races won, 15 of these appearing but once. An equally exclusive group are the leaders according to purse-money won, which numbers 44 for the past decade, with 19 of these found but once among the top ten.

Though he never topped the list in either category, Arnold Winick is one of the most consistent of this elite corps, appearing six times among the top ten leading money winners and seven times among the winners of the most races. Another who is consistently among the top ten in the money-winning department is H. Allan Jerkins whose name appears eight times there but only once on the races won roster.

Where it came to sending out winners, Jack Van Berg, son of the late Marion Van Berg, (the leading owner in this department for the past decade), handling only a part of his father's stable, was seven times among the top ten and headed the list on three occasions.

Oddly enough, a similar head count made a decade ago covering the 1950's found 34 names among the leaders according to races won and 35 dominating the top ten on the money winning lists. Prominent among the leaders then was Marion Van Berg, whose name appeared nine times among the saddlers of most winners.

The Slimming Vest

LOOK TALL, SLIM, DRAMATIC in this simple-to-sew "Vacation" vest and pants suit. The long, clean lines of the vest hide even a plump waistline. The vest can be worn open or closed, because a very long Talon Separating Zipper is there. This knit suit owes its remarkable swing and sway to construction with Talon's Polyspun Thread, the stretchy threads that guarantee smooth seams that move with the fabric. Polyspun comes in popular fashion colors. The suit pattern is Simplicity 9304 in misses sizes.

"Dry Skin How-To's"

So you've decided that yours is a dry skin. It often feels taut, sometimes flakes, lacks natural moisture. Your skin literally "drinks up" creams and moisturizers.

One of the enviable characteristics of dry skin is its usually fine texture and thin, delicate look. How divinely feminine!

But... there is a price to pay for such Dresden-doll looks. You must care for it carefully, ever-so-carefully.

Your oil glands are probably not producing enough natural oil to keep your skin lubricated.

So you'll have to help nature along! That's where your night creams and oils come in.

Use a night cream every single night of your life — it's nicer if you choose one that's non-greasy.

Also apply a few drops of a rich oil around your eyes and over your neck.

Next, a moisturizer. Every single day, before you even think of make-up—use a light, non-greasy moisturizer. Don't confuse oil and moisturizers. They do not substitute for each other. Your moisturizer helps your skin retain its moist, young-looking appearance.

Every skin needs moisture, particularly as it grows older.

Cleanse morning and evening with a rich cream that won't dry—follow with a non-drying, preferably non-alcoholic skin freshener.

Properly cared for, your skin is one of the prettiest. Starting now — enjoy it and make the most of it!

body, Dr. Hardin Jones, Professor of physiology and Medical Physics, University of California at Berkeley.

An Assistant Director of the University's famed Donner Laboratories, as the nation's No. 1 physiology researcher, and as a pioneering researcher, into tobacco's (he gave the first warning) and now Marijuana's effects on the human body, Dr. Jones revealed the following facts about Marijuana:

Marijuana—A Crippler

1. The first few smokes do nothing to the user except irritate throat membranes.
2. It is habit-forming—at least psychologically—and requires for the regular user larger dosage or higher potency.
3. It leads to more powerful drug use.
4. For a short time its use accentuates sexual response.
5. With continued use, it ruins (destroys) the sexual mechanism.
6. It has mild withdrawal symptoms.
7. Its effects on the central nervous system are cumulative: some of the dangerous chemical from each additional cigarette stays for long periods in the body; and for the regular user, then only a few puffs on a cigarette are required to attain a "high."

8. It accumulates and stays for a long period in important body organs, especially in the liver and brain.

9. Its continued use leads to changes in the brain waves of the user, causing "spikes" much like the spikes characteristic of epilepsies.

10. An estimated 18 million young people now smoke marijuana and the use nation-wide is "somewhat on the increase."

11. The 18 million users have produced 3 million Amphetamine addicts during the last 6 years. Out of the 3 million Amphetamine addicts there are probably 1,000,000 young people who have permanent brain damage sufficiently severe that they are at least partially incapacitated in ability to take care of themselves. And these people are spread relatively broadly in our cities.

12. The Marijuana "culture" also has produced 1,000,000 young people who have transferred to a combination of LSD and Mescaline, or LSD and Mescaline and Amphetamines.

13. Among this 1,000,000 there are at least 100,000 who do not have organic brain damage, as do the Amphetamine addicts, but who do have permanent personality changes of a type characterized by "flashbacks" into hallucination, chronically staying partially confused and thus not able to take care of themselves.

14. Into the "drug culture" spawned by marijuana use has come in the past 3 years about 2,500,000 high school teenagers who have found access to Barbiturates (usually starting in the family medicine cabinet) and gradually building up a tolerance so that they ultimately take doses of "Barbs" sufficient to kill three people. They are "hooked" on one of the most deadly and punishing drugs in existence.

15. Medical science has the capability with drugs to "cure" the withdrawal symptoms and get any addict off any drug addiction. But all such individuals "cured" will, unless they have a powerful anchor point in their lives, go back to drugs.

The Price Of Drugs
16. The physiological functioning of the body could be likened to a "little machine" that fills what's empty, and empties what's full, and scratches what itches! If any functioning is supplanted with drugs, the brain, in an apparent attempt to defeat the artificial, drug-induced functioning—and in times ceases to respond normally! And it takes ever-increasing powerful dosages of drugs to make it artificially function—finally leaving the individual empty and incapable of being fulfilled.

These are the amazing highlights of one of the most provocative and startling lectures on drug abuse that has ever been given in America. Dr. Jones' full text is being reproduced in a booklet with the other Forum speeches and made available to the public for cost—$1.00. Audio tapes of all the speeches are available at $5.00 each.

Proper Line

Needed For Fishing

While much of an angler's success hinges on his knowledge of how and when to set the hook, a lot depends on the line he is using.

That is especially true of monofilament so popular in spinning, spin casting, and bait casting, says Fred A. Greenwood, widely known West Coast sports fisherman and technical sales representative for Du Pont's "Stren" fluorescent line.

If a line has too much stretch there may be too much lag between the moment the fisherman feels a bite and the time the line starts taking up to set the hook, Mr. Greenwood says. On the other hand, if a line has too little stretch and lacks impact strength, it might snap when a big fish strikes hard.

A carefully balanced line like "Stren", he explains, is designed with just enough stretch so that it acts as a shock absorber when a fish takes the hook. When the angler pulls back the rod tip to set the hook, the controlled stretch exerts a steady but firm pull that prevents the line from breaking due to sudden shock and helps embed the hook before the fish can throw it out.

A common fallacy, Mr. Greenwood points out, is the belief that limper monofilament lines are better than those with more stiffness. Actually, the converse generally is true, as long as the line is just supple enough to reel.

without ballooning and moves smoothly through the ferrules of the rod as a cast is made.

Du Pont, which has been making and marketing quality monofilament line for more than a decade, lists seven requirements of an outstanding fishing line: high tensile strength, high knot strength, controlled low stretch, good impact resistance, proper limpness, high abrasion resistance and visibility. All of them have been engineered into "Stren" fluorescent monofilament fishing line, the firm says.

A good line should be as visible as possible to the fisherman and as invisible as possible to the fish. That has been attained in "Stren" fishing line, by making the monofilament fluorescent.

"Stren" fluorescent monofilament fishing line reacts to ultraviolet energy in daylight by glowing with a soft, blue fluorescent that makes it stand out against the water. Viewed against the sky, however, as the fish sees it, the blue "Stren" tends to blend into the sky, apparently making the line less visible to the fish.

Although there are many types and grades of monofilament fishing line, Du Pont's "Stren" is the only fluorescent monofilament. The fluorescent is an integral part of the monofilament structure and is not a surface coating which can rub off or leak out.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Clean And Carefree Camping—Family Fun

There are few vacations as rewarding as a family camping trip. Why not make this year's vacation a camping trip to some scenic spot you've never been to, or to some historic place you've always heard about?

Peaceful nights and lazy days without pressure lie just down the road in a primitive forest or lovely national or state park. An uncrowded, quiet campsite with nearby interests for everyone in the family is one key to a happy camping trip. Another, just as essential, is to bring along the supplies you'll wish you had for safety, comfort and convenience in the wilderness.

Be sure to pack warm clothes and rainwear, sturdy shoes for everyone, and a supply of clothes to last between laundries. Include a deodorant soap like Dial with toilet articles for all personal care washings, since a bath or shower may not be readily available. Dial should be used as you would an ordinary soap. Daily use helps protect against minor skin infections. So, packing it in the first-aid kit is smart, too.

You'll be glad you remembered laundry soap, clothesline and pins (for wet towels), baby's favorite toy, paper and film, a notebook, camera and tent, friends' addresses, bug spray, water purification tablets and litter bags. And carry lots of coins for tollways, laundromats, snack and soft drink machines, rest room facilities, parking meters, and ice and stamp machines.

Now that you know what not to forget, it's time to choose an unforgettable camping destination.

Camping in Lassen Volcanic National Park in northern California is fascinating. In 1915 Lassen was the site of the most recently active volcano in the United States. Lava beds, boiling pots and mysterious springs are still evident. Campsites are at different elevations and the highest ones have snow almost year 'round.

Historically dramatic South Dakota has campsites near Mt. Rushmore and in Custer State Park, Wind Cave National Park and the Badlands National Park, as well as many others. Little campers will thrill to the town of Deadwood with its famous Boothill and the burial sites of Wild Bill Hickok and Calamity Jane.

New York state offers beautiful camping facilities in the Adirondack State Park, Adirondacks and Catskill Forest Preserves, and the Thousand Islands and Finger Lakes regions. There are particularly lovely campgrounds on lakes and streams in the 2,400,000 acres of state-owned forests in the Adirondacks mountain area.

Decide which part of the country your family would most like to see this summer, and what points of interest appeal to all of you. Then write to the state tourist bureaus for campground directories and tourist information. You'll find camping accommodations located at, or near, most any destination you select. There are outstanding camping areas throughout the country, and one or more of them can make this year's vacation a trip you'll never forget.

SPARKLING SUMMER PUNCH IDEA

It's ironic that one of the best antidotes for summer heat comes from one of the hottest places. The fruited wine cups and punches that have slaked man's thirst for centuries actually originated in India. In fact, the word "punch" may come from the Hindustani word meaning "five" because it was prepared with five ingredients.

Today, punch-making for family or guests is as easy as opening a package of Bar-Tender's instant punch mix. There's a choice of champagne or open house punch—both a blend of true fruit flavors already mixed in just the right proportions. You simply add wine or liquor and a carbonated beverage or just the carbonated beverage for a non-alcoholic drink.

Each package contains two 16-serving envelopes, which can be prepared individually, for a total of 1 gallon or 32 servings. Refills mix up instantly and every batch comes out perfectly.

Nothing's more refreshing on a summer day than a frosty pitcher of open house punch with its fragrant garnish of orange or lemon slices. An icy glass of champagne punch makes an ambrosial starter for brunch or a cooling change from afternoon tea. Remember to take a jugful of punch along on a picnic; serve it informally in a big bowl, tub or pail at a barbecue.

Pretty as a picture and just as flavorful is Watermelon Cooler prepared from instant champagne punch mix with a special fruit garnish frozen in the ice cubes.

For a dazzling summer party presentation, serve instant champagne punch mix in a scooped-out watermelon with a special fruit garnish frozen in the ice cubes.

Reserve some of the melon balls for garnish; use remainder in fruit compotes or salads.

Just before serving, unmold one tray of ice cube garnishes into scooped-out melon (do not use more than one tray of ice cubes with each envelope punch mix). Pour chilled champagne mixture over ice cubes and add carbonated beverage. Garnish with reserved melon balls. Decorate with mint sprigs, if desired.

Makes about 2 quarts or 16 4-ounce servings.

*To prepare ice cube garnish: Place cantaloupe balls or strawberry halves in compartments of an ice cube tray. Fill with water and freeze until solid.

For a non-alcoholic punch, prepare as above, but omit rum; use 1 quart carbonated beverage.

WATERMELON COOLER

- 1 envelope Bar-Tender's Instant Champagne Punch Mix
- 2 cups cold water
- 2 cups (1 pint) light rum
- 1 large watermelon
- 2 cups any lemon and lime carbonated beverage, chilled
- Ice cube garnish*

Gradually stir contents of envelope of champagne punch mix into cold water; stir until completely dissolved. Add rum; chill before serving.

Meanwhile, cut a thin slice crosswise from bottom of watermelon so it stands without tipping. Cut top off melon in saw-tooth design with sharp knife. Scoop out center with melon-ball scoop, leaving about an inch shell.

ZIP COLUMN

The 8-cent Antarctic Treaty commemorative stamp will be first placed on sale at Washington, D. C., on June 23, 1971. This stamp will be on sale at our office, Thursday, June 24, 1971.

If the new proposed International rates are adopted, as published in the Federal Register, to be effective July 1, they will be as follows:

Airmail to Asia, Africa, Australia, and the Middle East, reduced from 25c to 21c per half ounce.

Airmail to Europe and North Africa, increased from 20c to 21c per half ounce.

Airmail to Central and South America, increased from 15c to 17c per half ounce.

The completely new designed Aerogramme will be 15c. Air postal cards to be 15c, the same as an aerogramme.

The surface rate for a one ounce letter to any country is to be raised from 13c to 15c. Also, an increase of 10 per cent is proposed for International Parcel Post.

It will be announced in a future column, if these rates are to be adopted as such.

It is hereby reminded that the Eisenhower silver dollar application forms, described in last week's column, will be available to our customers today.

Mrs. Valli Ryan and daughter, Jenie, Toms Creek Church Road, Emmitsburg, returned last week after spending three weeks on an European tour. Enroute they met and traveled with Robert Ryan, son of Mrs. Ryan, who was discharged from the Army Intelligence Corps in Frankfurt, Germany. The Ryans traveled approximately 4,000 miles and toured seven countries which included Bavaria, Frankfurt, and Oberammergau (where they saw many beautiful wooden carvings) Germany, Amsterdam, Italy and France. Mr. Ryan will continue traveling to Spain and North Africa for several more weeks before returning to Emmitsburg.

Baptized

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Snyder, West Main St., was baptized at St. Joseph's Catholic Church on Sunday. The godparents were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henke, and the child was given the name of Debra Marie.

The successful man has the ability to make himself as well as others work.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Baker and family of Springfield, Va., visited over the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy A. Baker, Sr., while here the Baker's camped at Drummer Boy Camping site for several days. Mr. Baker was recently graduated from the George Washington University, Washington, D. C., where he received his Master's degree. He has also been assigned to the Pentagon for the next three years with the Navy Supply Dept.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Topper and children, Fort George G. Meade, Md., visited with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Barbe, Rocky Ridge, and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Topper, E. Main St., Emmitsburg, over the weekend.

It's up to the fault-finder to propose a remedy for the ills he discovers.

RCA's Silver Anniversary Special

The COVINGTON GQ-725, 100% Solid State chassis, 25" diagonal picture

RCA 100% Solid State AccuColor®

Performance and price worth celebrating!

RCA Television has come a long way since 1946. To dramatize just how far, we're offering this crowning achievement of RCA engineering as a Silver Anniversary Special. Its chassis is solid state—all solid state—for more dependability. A.F.T. and the new AccuMatic Color Monitor give color that's unbelievably easy to tune. Without question, this is one of the most exciting values in RCA history.

$629.95

RCA's symbol of Purchaser Satisfaction

For ONE YEAR from the date of purchase, RCA Corporation warrants to the first retail purchaser that it will pay labor charges for repair of defects in this 100% Solid State AccuColor Model and will make available replacements for defective parts. (If the picture tube becomes defective within TWO YEARS, it will be exchanged for a rebuilt picture tube.) Installation and set-up, foreign use, antenna systems and adjustment of customer controls are not included. To obtain warranty benefits contact your RCA dealer or the service agency of your choice and present your Warranty Registration Card.
