Most Anything At A Glance

- By Abigail -

This week it has been a great pleasure to be a part of a small change in Abby's voice. Many of the components of her speech are the same, they will never change. As many people have said, she will be here when we are all dead and buried. However, while we are on this earth, it behooves us all to do the best we can and end each day with the things we touch a little better than we found them in the morning.

This will be Abigail's goal in the future as it has been in the past.

We are sure that there are those who have been wondering if Abby's voice would be stilled. We are told the same question was asked a few months ago when Abby lost important vocal cords. The answer now is the same that it was then.

Abigail will continue as a community service as just as he has worked in the past. Important community services such as Abby never die. They will always exist in one form or another. In Emmitsburg, Abigail is not about to give up her heritage. She will be available to help everyone as long as she is needed and wanted.

Abby is reminded of a similar voice called "In the Wake of the News" which ran on the Sports Page of the Chicago Tribune many years ago. Each column carried the admonition that "The Wake Depends Upon Its Friends". Similarly the Abigail of the future shall depend upon her friends.

When you have information that should be shared with others in town, please strum one of Abby's many vocal cords. Her success depends on you. Help! Help!

Abby is easy to find. She is in town every day. She is available, just ask around.

Several people have said that one of Abby's greatest services to Emmitsburg over the years has been the identification of needed town projects. Naturally it would be presumptuous for a new voice to attempt to tell the old timers how to do things. However, sometimes new eyes can see things that have been overlooked for years, even though they were right in front of us.

Abby was riding through Thurmont today when she was greeted by a beautiful small town park. What a fine place for the weary to take a short rest, the curious to commune with nature during a short break in the hustle and bustle, or the children to explore in a completely new world.

Abby thought that it would be wonderful if Emmitsburg had a similar facility so she asked the dumb question, "Why doesn't Emmitsburg have a town park?" She was told it is just one of those things that hasn't been accomplished yet.

Any volunteers? It sounds like a great project. Why not one of the local clubs. A park would make one of the best civic projects I can think of. Again, any volunteers? Abby is told that some residents are already at work on the project and others can produce state funds to assist a flat town pocket. What is needed is an all out concerted effort by everyone with some group as leader. Again, any volunteers?

Please remember, Abby wants to be one of your best girls but she needs help. She can't do everything by herself. When you have inside dope, share it with others. Abby will speak for you, and you and you.

Abby is your devoted servant, however, remember that she depends upon her friends. Help! Help!

Curriculum Listed For Adult Classes

The Lifelong Learning Council of Emmitsburg announces tentative plans to offer the following adult education courses in Emmitsburg in the Fall of 1971: Sewing, Ceramics, Typing, Woodworking and a combination course of Day Care and Child Development. The Adult Basic Course begun this year will continue and will welcome new students. There is a strong probability that Shortland will be offered starting in January.

The curriculum committee selected the adult courses to be offered after studying the results of the recent community survey. Michael Scheerer, chairman of the committee, reports that 90 survey forms were returned. All classes will be held in Emmitsburg with the exception of Ceramics which will be taught in the art laboratory at St. Joseph College. Classes generally are held one night each week for a two-hour period and a course runs for twelve weeks. Adjustments in class schedules are sometimes made to meet student needs.

The classes are organized and supervised by the County Board of Education and are part of a county-wide program. They are non-credit. A fee of $8 is charged for each course and the only other student expense is the cost of materials used by each individual. There is no charge for the Adult Basic Education course.

Anyone who is interested in taking one of the above-listed courses but who did not fill out a survey form may phone Mrs. Jill Ott at 447-6185. Such a phone call is not tantamount to registration and in no way binds the caller but it will help the Council judge if two sections of some courses must be taught. Interest already expressed indicates that there will probably be two sections of Sewing.

Although the beginning date for each course has not been finalized, it is anticipated that all classes will get under way during the second half of September. Registration information will be published as it becomes available.

50th Anniversary Celebrated

The 50th wedding anniversary was held for Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Brooks of Keyville Road on June 20, by their nephews and nieces, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Unverzagt, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert von Linden, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Unverzagt, Mr. and Mrs. George Unverzagt, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Morningstar and Stevie, at whose home neighbors, friends and family gathered. After greetings, a beautifully arranged buffet luncheon was enjoyed.

Change In Meetings For K. Of C.

At the regular meeting of the Brute Council 1860, Knights of Columbus, members voted to have only one meeting during the months of July and August. These meetings will be held on the third Monday of each month, July 19, and August 16.

Father Carl A. Fives will be the Council Chaplain and will offer Mass prior to the next Council meeting on July 19, at 7:30 p.m.

The family picnic will be held on Sunday, August 22 at Taneytown, Md. George Danner has agreed to be chairman of the affair. Savoy Catering Service will handle the refreshments. Mr. Danner advises that more information will be forthcoming at a later date and hopes that this year's picnic will be as successful as they have been in the past.

Miss Burton Bride Of John Soffe

Miss Sandra Burton, Emmitsburg, became the bride of John G. Soffe, Jr., Lewiston, N. Y., June 12, at St. Joseph's Church, Emmitsburg, Md.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney St. John Sappington, Emmitsburg, and the groom is the son of Mr. John G. Soffe, Sr., New York City, and the late Mrs. Angela Frances Soffe.

Officiating at the double-ring ceremony was the Rev. John Baldwin (Chaplain, U. S. Navy). The organist was Mrs. Louella Rosensteel and the vocalists were Alan Burton, brother of the bride; John Martin, and cousins of the bride, Cynthia, Lisa and Wanda Warthen.

Escorted to the altar by her stepfather, the bride was a picture of seasonal charm in empire styled candlelight chignon with victorian collar overlaid by white brussels lace. The same lovely lace marked the raised waist line and bound the wrists of the long flounce trimmed sleeves. Her flaring silhouette finished with a backbow and panel and to this she added a floor length veil of antique illusion. She carried a floral rosary of stephanotis blossoms.

The honor attendant, Miss Marilyn Burton, sister of the bride, was delightful in delphinium blue chignon with high collar, long sleeves and empire waist trim of white lace and miniature blue roses. A cluster of matching roses and satin streamers compiled her costume and she carried a bouquet of light blue carnations, stephanotis, and white roses.

Mr. Thomas Teelin, Fayetteville, N. Y., was best man.

The mother of the bride and the sister of the groom, Mrs. Dolores Candella, New York City, wore corsages of white cymbidium orchids. The church was decorated with arrangements of white chrysanthemums and gladioli. A nosegay of white pom-poms and carnations was placed at the Shrine of the Blessed Mother at the Grotto following the wedding ceremony.

Following the ceremony and the visit to the Grotto, a reception was held in the Mt. Manor Restaurant Banquet Room, Emmitsburg.

After a wedding trip to Bermuda, the couple will reside at 746 Ridge Road, Lewiston, N. Y. The bride is a graduate of the Maryland Medical Secretarial College and was formerly employed by John E. Hanson, D.D.S., Frederick, and in the past year was on the staff of St. Andrew's School, Waynesboro, Pa.

The groom holds a Master of Arts degree from Niagara University. He is presently the Senior Educational Representative of the New York State Narcotic Addiction Commission.

"Catch" Entered In Virginia Tourney

Clarence E. Hahn of Emmitsburg, caught a seven pound flounder on Pier 19 in Chincoteague Channel on Saturday, June 19. The fish measured 26 1/2 inches in length and 22 inches in girth. Hahn has entered his catch in the Virginia Salt Water Fishing Tournament.

Mrs. Mildred Dutrow, DePaul Street, attended the recent graduation of her daughter, Mrs. Diane Young, from St. Agnes Hospital School of Nursing, Baltimore. Ceremonies for the 50 graduates were held at Cardinal Gibbons High School. Upon graduation, Mrs. Young accepted a position on the staff of St. Agnes Hospital in the Intensive Care Unit.

Emmitsburg School 7th On Priority List

The local Board of Education has asked the state to allocate $15.7 million for 14 projects under the new school construction law. Only those projects submitted to the County Commissioners prior to the state takeover of financing were requested.

With $150 million available for school construction in fiscal 1972, the state is faced with nearly three times that amount in requests. Cuts appear certain.

The projects were submitted in order of priority with Emmitsburg ranking number seven. The cost of this addition and remodeling project is set at $971,700.00.

Church Picnic Set For Sunday

The Annual Picnic for the members and friends of Incarnation Church of Emmitsburg, and St. James Church, Rt. 1, Littlestown, Pa., will be held on Sunday, July 4th, at St. James Church on the Harney Road. The events of the day will begin with an informal worship service in the sanctuary of St. James Church at 10 a.m. The service will be conducted by the pastor, Rev. John C. Chatlos, and will have as its theme: "Proclaim Liberty Throughout the Land". The choir of St. James Church will sing "Our Nation's Prayer", as its anthem.

The picnic dinner will be served cafeteria style at noon from tables on the church grounds. Each family of the charge is requested to bring its own place settings, either hot dogs or hamburgers, to be broiled on grills; rolls, and a covered dish of food for the table. Hot grills, beverage, and dessert will be provided for everyone.

There will be games for the younger children, and an opportunity for the young people and adults to play volleyball or softball.

An informal program and "songfest" will be enjoyed in the afternoon with the "Sunrise Singers" of St. Joseph's Church of Emmitsburg, as guests. Mr. Robert Henke, Jr., is the leader of this group of young people who will lead the congregation in the singing of some familiar folk songs.

St. James Church is located 3 miles S.W. of Littlestown on the Harney Road, between the village of Harney and the Littlestown-Taneytown Road (Route 194). The Incarnation-St. James Charge is one of the charges of the Central Atlantic Conference of the United Church of Christ.

Members of the Planning Committee for the picnic were Mr. and Mrs. Guy Harner, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Long of Incarnation Church, and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bair, Mr. and Mrs. Lee R. Krout, and Mrs. John W. Hanshaw, of St. James Church. The committee suggests that all those attending the picnic be attired in casual dress if they so desire.

Youth Program To Open July 6

The Religious-Recreational Summer Youth Program, sponsored by St. Joseph's Church each year, will begin its current session on Tuesday, July 6. As in other years, the program will be divided into two sessions: a Junior Session, for children in the 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th grades, will meet on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, from 9:30 to 11:30, with an all-day picnic to Lake Caledonia every Monday; the Senior Session for High School students, will meet on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights, at 7:30. Both sessions will be held at the Mother Seton School, at least for the present.

This year, for the first time, the other churches in Emmitsburg are joining in the program. During the past two weeks, a highly successful Vacation School, has been held for the younger children, in the various churches of Emmitsburg, including, for the first time, St. Joseph's Church. This bit of Ecumenism will hopefully continue in summers to come.

Band To Parade At Harney

The Emmitsburg Municipal Band will not participate in the Gettysburg Firemen's Parade on Saturday, July 3.

On Wednesday, July 7, the band will journey to Harney, Md., for that community's Firemen's Parade. The parade starts at 7:00 p.m. The bus will leave from the Band Room at 6:00 p.m.

All members are asked to be present for this parade.

Bloodmobile Coming Here Tuesday

On July 6, the Red Cross Bloodmobile will visit Emmitsburg at the VFW Annex from 1 to 6:30 p.m. This blood program started many months ago and will be a reality on Tuesday. This program is for the entire resident community of Emmitsburg and surrounding areas under the Veterans Association.

With complete participation of the citizens of Emmitsburg, this program will be successful. With the donation of one pint of blood, the blood needs of the donor and his family will be met for one year. The blood you give may save a life, even your own. Please, on July 6, take a few minutes of your time to donate one pint of blood.

For those who have not been contacted by "Skip" Newcomer for a pledge, please come to the Blood Donation Center at the VFW as a "Walk-in" donor. Blood is your responsibility and a successful blood assurance group must have the support of all the families it intends to protect.

The above message is a final appeal from "Skip" Newcomer who has worked many hours on this project for the community. In so doing, "Skip" hopes that the Veterans will attain their goal for maximum coverage for the association. This service project undertaken by "Skip" is one of his major efforts to meet the requirements for Eagle Scout rank. As a finale to the project, "Skip" will be interviewed on the George Wireman Show, broadcast over WTHU Radio, Thurmont, on Saturday, July 3, at 9 a.m. Mr. James Grove, chairman of the Frederick County Bloodmobile program, will also be present for the interview, at which time many interesting questions will be answered about the Bloodmobile Unit's visit to Emmitsburg.

Asks Return Of Unused Equipment

The Veterans of Foreign Wars would appreciate the return of crutches, wheelchairs, hospital beds and any other items not in use, as there have been numerous calls for the equipment. As this is a service to the community, many persons can benefit by the thoughtfulness of those who borrow the equipment and return it promptly to the VFW Home after their needs have been fulfilled.

BEAUTIFUL NAILS

Have you heard? The Dragon Lady is back! (Well, her nails are, anyway!) Lots of fashionable ladies are showing up with long red finger-nails these days.

Personally, I prefer a softer, pink color for myself. And even though my own nails are quite long, I know this can be impractical for some gals. About 3/8" beyond the fingertip is generally a good working length.

If you're not a nail biter, it should be easy to get them there. If you are into that nasty little habit, you have a bit of work ahead of you. But don't despair. At Barbizon, we've helped thousands of girls break this destructive habit, and we can help you too! The first thing you have to do is strengthen your nails. Unflavored gelatin will do the trick. You can either dissolve the powdered form in water or fruit juice, or take gelatin capsules.

Don't get discouraged after a couple of weeks—it takes at least six months to see real results. Nails gain strength as they grow out.

Aside from the gelatin "cure," you might try a mixture of white iodine and olive oil. (You can get it from your druggist.) Apply this to unpolished nails every night for a week to 10 days.

If you're simply a compulsive biter, start thinking positively, girl! Begin to take care of your hands and nails on a regular basis. Give yourself a manicure each week with a lightly colored polish. The color will make you stop to think before you bite, and help you develop some pride.

Stick to it and you'll see. You'll overcome the urge to bite and, your nails will grow longer and more beautiful as the days go by!

HOUSE VOTE VICTORY.

SAYS GOODBYE BYRON

Rep. Goodloe E. Byron this week called the recent House vote on lowering farm subsidy payments, a "victory for the family farmer." The amendment to the Agriculture Appropriations Bill passed the House last Friday and would limit farm subsidy payments to $20,000 per crop for each producer. "The present limitation of $55,000 is not aiding the small and medium-sized farmers for whom the program was originally designed," Byron said.

"Large subsidies have the effect of accelerating the growth of large farm units, to the detriment of the family farmer."

Another high scoring contest was record last Thursday when Greg Adelsberger smacked a two-run homer for the Sox in the fifth when his team iced the game with five runs.

FAIRFIELD LITTLE LEAGUE

The Orioles of the Fairfield Little League, took a firmer grip on first place as they outslugged the Braves 13-8. Jim Poulson led the attack with a double and a single and Chris Cool also had two singles as the Orioles banged nine hits.

The strong pitching of Barry Hadlock and timely hitting gave the Giants an easy win over the Braves, 11-2, Saturday evening. Hadlock also belted a homerun and a double in the winning cause. The Braves had a homer and double off the bat of Ken Haines and a two-bagger by "Chud" Wright.

Despite Joe Spence's homerun, two triples and a single, and Greg Kuykendall's double, the Cardinals could not overcome the Orioles balanced nine-hit assault as the Cards fell to the Orioles 15-9 Tuesday. Randy Alexander and Jim Poulson each smacked two baggers for the winning

The Giants took over sole possession of first place Monday evening by defeating the Pirates 9-2 in a make-up game. Dave Donaldson led the balanced Giant attack with a double and single and Mike Crist contributed two singles among the winner's 10 hits.

Aluminum foil is the camper's pal. It makes an excellent reflector to throw heat inside a tent, or, in smaller versions, to bake biscuits next to the fire. Between a forked stick it makes a crude frying pan. Formed over a fist it can be a drinking cup, on head a rain hat, and over a fishing lure, a lure of new shape and color.—Sports Afield.

BY SAMUEL CARRICK
Once Again—The Ohler Family
"Though your years be many—
Though your years be few—
All that truly matters
Is what you do."

During the year 1972 the congregation of Elias Lutheran church will celebrate the 175th year of the erection of the present church structure and the 215th anniversary of the founding of the parish. Their years "have been long upon the land" and their "Good works do follow them." The true history of this pioneer congregation lies in its two burial grounds—the one at Tom's Creek and the other in Emmitsburg proper. Here are the people who built and sacrificed in order that the "God of their fathers" might give a sanctuary in this new land and their children brought up "in His faith and fear."

Walk through these old churchyards—read the inscriptions—ponder—and get a new dimension on the lives and achievements of the pioneers. For some—you will notice—the "years were few", for others, "the years were many." No matter—all left some mark—for good or evil—on the "sands of time." This is the essence of history—here the pulse of the past can be felt.

Last week the Samuel Ohler family, of Elias Lutheran congregation, was the particular branch of that family to be studied. Samuel, his wife, and a son, John George Ohler, are interred in Elias churchyard. Not all of the children of Samuel and Catharine Ohler could be listed for only five are listed in the church records—for instance the son who is interred with his parents is not included among this number. So—there were at least six children born to this union—and—perhaps more.

The marriage of Samuel Ohler was published in the "Adams Sentinel", published at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, under the editorship of Robert Harper, and reads as follows:

26. "Married, December 29th, 1842, by the Rev. Mr. Albert, Mr. Samuel Ohler, of Frederick County, Maryland, to Miss Catharine Graff, of Adams County, Pennsylvania."

In a careful study of the Taneytown Lutheran records, of which the Elias Church was a part until 1850, a great deal of data pertaining to the Lutherans of Emmitsburg can be found.

Out of context, in the Taneytown records, is found the baptism of yet another son of Samuel and Catharine (Graff) Ohler—as follows:

27. "William Henry Ohler, the son of Samuel and Catharine (Graff) Ohler, born December 2, 1846—baptized May 1, 1847."

Again referring to the Taneytown Lutheran records—the first reference to the Ohler family is a baptism—as follows:

28. "Elisabeth Ohler, the daughter of Phillip Ohler and Dorathea, his wife, was born August 18, 1793 and baptized April 15th, 1794."

Note: There is no Phillip Ohler listed in either Tom's Creek or Elias Churchyards—but that is not to say that he is not buried in one or the other. It will be remembered that many graves were never marked while the stones at others have long since disappeared.

Next—another baptism—

29. "Jacob Ohler, son of George Adam Ohler and his good wife, Catharine, was born December 31, 1800 and baptized August 2, 1801."

Note: Here is another mystery—there must have been at least three George Adam Ohlers—for there are tombstone records for that number.

Interred in Elias churchyard is Catharine, the wife of George Adam Ohler, and according to the dates on her gravestone, she was the mother of the Jacob Ohler mentioned above.

73. Sacred to the memory of Catharine Ohler, the wife of George Adam Ohler, died September 1, 1823, aged 64 years.

Note: There is no stone to mark her husband's grave but there is every reason to believe that he is buried beside her. Families, particularly in that day, were usually interred together.

In old Tom's Creek Lutheran churchyard another George Adam Ohler found a last resting place.

74. In memory of George Adam Ohler, died September 7th, 1912, aged 89 years, 7 months, and 15 days.

75. In memory of Sarah Jane Ohler, the wife of George Adam Ohler, died April 13, 1917, aged 80 years, 4 months and 18 days.

76. Sacred to the memory of Minnie Ohler, the daughter of George A. and Sarah J. Ohler, died July 26, 1864, aged 5 months and 15 days.

The inscription from the marker at the grave of the third George Adams Ohler was given in a previous column.

If dates and family names can be relied upon as evidence, the George Adam Ohler, at Tom's Creek, was a grandson of the Catharine Ohler, the wife of George Adams Ohler, interred in Elias churchyard.

The next member of the Ohler family to be included in the Taneytown records—is one Thomas Ohler.

30. "John Thomas Ohler, son of Thomas Ohler and his wife, Catharine, born December 8, 1831—baptized May 9, 1832."

Note: An Ohler descendant mentioned a Thomas Ohler as one of three brothers who emigrated to Maryland and "settled on three farms located on the Monocacy River." This may well be "one of the three." However, no burial record can be found for Thomas Ohler or his wife, Christena Ohler.

Again—referring to the Taneytown records—

31. "Andrew Jackson Ohler, son to James and Christena Ohler, born September 5, 1833, baptized August 24, 1834."

32. "Isaiah James Ohler, son of James and Christena Ohler, born February 21, 1843—baptized November 23, 1843."

Note: Isaiah James Ohler, the son of James and Christena Ohler, is buried in the old Tom's Creek Lutheran churchyard.

77. In memory of Isaiah J. Ohler, born 1843, died 1925.

St. Joseph Holds Third Science Institute

Thirty high school teachers from 17 states are participating in the third Summer Institute in Bioinstrumentation at St. Joseph College. Supported by a National Science Foundation grant, sessions are held five days a week from June 28 through August 6.

Five teachers from Maryland High schools have been selected to attend the institute. Other registrants are from California, Georgia, Illinois, Kansas, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Texas, Virginia and Wisconsin.

Director of the 1969 and 1970 institutes on campus, Sister Marcella Scully, Ph.D., associate professor of biology at St. Joseph College, will again coordinate and direct this year's institute.

In addition to Sister Marcella, faculty include William Meredith, Ph.D., chairman, department of science and mathematics, Mt. St. Mary's College; James H. Gilford, Sc.D., chairman, department of biology, Hood College; and Mrs. Mary E. Nakhleh, lecturer in chemistry. Miss Jan Flessner and Miss Debra Pynch, biology and chemistry majors respectively, of St. Joseph's class of 1973, will serve as laboratory assistants.

Guest lecturers include Patrick Kelly, AAAS Visiting Foreign Scientist, who will be on campus July 1 and 2 to speak on the Nuffield Biology Project and Human Genetics. On July 15, Dr. E. R. Kennedy, professor of biology, Catholic University of America, will lecture on Agar-Gel Diffusion.

No additional data pertaining to Isaiah James Ohler at this time.

33. "Esther Elisabeth Ohler, daughter of George and Margaret Ohler, born May 10, 1844—baptized December 8, 1844."

No additional data pertaining to Esther Elisabeth Ohler at this time.

The chronicle of the Ohler family of Tom's Creek and Elias Church will be continued in this series next week.

This brings to a total of $186,788,465 that has been distributed in local income tax revenue during the State's fiscal year which ends June 30, 1971. During the State's current fiscal year ten (10) distributions have been made and shows that Frederick County has received $3,318,276.

WASHINGTON REPORT

FROM SENATOR J. GLENN
BEALL JR.

Drug Abuse Attack Mounted

The threat of narcotics among our people is one which properly frightens many Americans. It comes quietly into homes and destroys children; it moves into neighborhoods and breaks the fiber of community which makes neighbors. It is a problem that has reached epidemic proportions.

In the 15 year period between 1951 and 1966, 465 deaths were attributed to drugs in metropolitan Baltimore. In 1970 alone, Baltimore had 63 reported narcotic deaths!

Narcotic addiction is a major contributor to crime. The cost of supplying a narcotic habit can run from $30 a day to $100; or $210 to $700 a week; or $10,000 to over $36,000 a year! Untreated narcotic addicts do not ordinarily hold jobs. Instead, they often turn to crime. The financial cost of addiction is more than $2 billion every year. But these costs can at least be measured. The human cost cannot.

Despite the magnitude of the problem, despite our very limited success in meeting it, we have thus far failed to develop a concentrated effort to find a better solution to this increasingly grave threat.

At present there are nine federal agencies involved in anti-drug abuse efforts in programs ranging from vocational rehabilitation to highway safety. But all these efforts are fragmented. Competing authorities, lack of communication, and limited and dispersed resources cripple federal anti-drug efforts.

Because of this dissipation of efforts at the federal level, the President sent to the Congress Thursday legislation to consolidate at the highest level a full-scale attack on the problems of drug abuse in America. I am proud to be a co-sponsor of that most important legislation.

The national aspect of the problem calls for a coordinated federal response. The legislation I have co-sponsored would establish a central authority with overall responsibility for all major federal drug abuse prevention, education, treatment, rehabilitation, training, and research programs. This authority would be known as the Special Action Office of Drug Abuse Prevention.

The office would provide strengthened federal leadership in finding solutions to drug abuse problems. It would establish priorities and instill a sense of urgency in federal and federally-supported drug abuse programs and would increase coordination between federal, state, and local rehabilitation efforts.

More specifically, the Special Action Office would develop overall federal strategy for drug abuse prevention programs; set program goals, objectives and priorities; develop guidelines and standards for operating agencies; and evaluate performance of all programs to determine where success is being achieved.

I think it imperative that this far-reaching legislation be passed—and quickly before the drug problem in this country simply gets beyond the point of resolution.

Private Enterprise, or Public Interest?

The administration has proposed to help prevent collapse of the nation's chief defense contractor and thus prevent a serious adverse impact on the economy—and to do so without any use of taxpayer funds.

Yet this apparently simple proposition has become entangled in debate over concepts such as private enterprise and competition, and has raised questions of alleged mismanagement and so-called "bailouts."

At issue is whether Congress should approve loan guarantee authority that would permit the government to back up $250 million in bank loans for Lockheed Aircraft Corporation, in much the same way that it backs billions of dollars worth of residential FHA loans every year.

The legislation calls for a lien on Lockheed assets as security, and Lockheed says it will repay the government backed loans before other loans are repaid.

A study of the facts shows that Lockheed has already obtained $400 million in bank loans through the normal process. It also is arranging with its airline customers to advance $100 million over and above normal prepayments on its new L-1011 TriStar commercial trijet transport. The company probably would have had the resources to obtain the rest of its required borrowings through normal processes if it had not suffered two major blows in rapid sequence.

First, it settled four defense contract disputes for an aggregate loss of nearly half a billion dollars, largely because it could not afford to fund completion of the largest disputed program—the C-5A Galaxy transport—while it fought the issue in the courts. This despite the fact it thought it had a strong case. Then, even before it could make this settlement final, collapse of the British Rolls-Royce company threatened Lockheed with loss of the engine around which it had designed the TriStar—indeed, threatened the very existence of the program and thus of the corporation itself.

We have come a long way in this country from the pure laissez faire economics of the 19th century, what with farm loans, small business loans, disaster loans, and other forms of government financial support for private business enterprises.

Lockheed could easily have given up and taken the bankruptcy route at the first news of the Rolls-Royce collapse. But it chose a harder route in trying to put back together its TriStar program. And it has now almost succeeded. Apparently only one major hurdle remains—the financing, which can be assured by favorable congressional action on the loan guarantee legislation.

The rewards for the public interest will include such things as more than 30,000 jobs on the TriStar program preserved in 35 states; continuation without interruption of such important government projects as the Poseidon undersea missile, P-3 and S-3 antisubmarine warfare aircraft, C-5 Galaxy transport, naval vessels, and literally hundreds of other smaller but important contracts; recovery of $1.4 billion in TriStar investment by airlines, Lockheed, and its suppliers, and its banks; and continued competition in the commercial wide bodied trijet field.

Lockheed's management may well have made mistakes. In fact, it has so conceded. It would hardly be human if it had not. But it also can point to many significant technical and cost successes—the Polaris and Poseidon missile programs, the Agena spacecraft that has been launched into space more than 300 times and has a four year record of perfection in achieving orbit, C-130 transport that serves as the cargo workhorse of Vietnam, astonishing U-2 and SR-71 reconnaissance aircraft, to name a few. Even re-entry into the commercial aircraft market with the TriStar has been no mean managerial feat.

Adding up the pluses, the minuses, and the accusations, we think that in this case the public interest prevails over the shibboleth of private enterprise and the facts support congressional approval.

Outlook For Finance Companies

By Babson's Reports Incorporated, Wellesley Hills, Mass., July 1, 1971—Over the past few years the finance industry has been in a profits squeeze due to rising interest rates. Since mid-1970, however, margins have improved as interest rates have declined, particularly short-term rates. Finance companies make wide use of debt, ideally maintaining a four-to-one debt-to-equity ratio. The debt is broken down about equally between long-term and short-term paper. Considering the fact that interest expense represents approximately 35% of finance company costs, it is easy to see why the sharp reduction of interest rates will bolster near-term earnings.

Short-term rates seemingly have bottomed out and may trend slightly higher for the balance of the year. Since we are not projecting very much of an increase in these short-term rates, however, they should continue to exert a beneficial effect on this year's earnings compared with those of a year ago. Long-term rates, which are also down from the record highs of a year earlier, will have only a marginal impact on results for 1971.

More Consumer Confidence

The economic turnaround that began late last year should have a favorable impact on demand for consumer loans. Actually, there are indications that the consumer is regaining confidence in the economy and plans to buy more major items. There may be a slight lag in the rise in consumer-loan demand because of the higher-than-normal savings rate of the past year. For a while the consumer may be hesitant about going further into debt and may draw temporarily on his savings, but this is likely to be only a short-term situation.

Updated Regulations

Small loan companies have been unable to pass along their higher costs to customers because the charges, along with the size of the loan, are regulated by state agencies. In recent years, however, these limits have been adjusted upward to reflect changing monetary conditions. For example, in 1970, Indiana, Kentucky, Pennsylvania, Utah, and Wisconsin upped rates and/or loan-size ceilings. Beyond 1971

There are many factors that enhance prospects for the finance industry in the coming decade. Significant is the increased respectability achieved by most firms through sound and appealing advertising slanted toward the younger age group. And the young marrieds who are the primary customers of the finance industry constitute the fastest-growing segment of the country's population.

Internal changes that tend to improve the outlook revolve around the computer and diversification. A computer network between offices eliminates much of the clerical work at the various branches. One central file can easily maintain the personal data and credit ratings of individual clients. Since the majority of loans are made to repeat customers, this permits a greater volume of loans and a general reduction in the number of personnel required.

Prospects Generally Good

The profits squeeze of recent years has actually had some helpful implications. The cost situation has often made management close down marginal and unprofitable offices, and consolidate where one office could do the work of two. Of course, the industry will continue to open new offices in promising areas not currently served.

Negative factors clouding the outlook for the 1970s include probable higher long-term interest rates and what the younger generation calls its "new life style" where there is little concern for acquiring possessions. If the latter idea spreads, it could mean fewer big-item purchases and reduced consumer debt. In our opinion, however, the average American will not adopt the "new life style" to any great extent. Thus the long-term outlook for finance firms remains good.

COL. JOHN MEDINGER HEADS COMMUNICATIONS

The National Communications Command (NCC) (Provisional), formerly located in Alexandria, Va., commenced operations from its new headquarters at Fort Ritchie on July 1, under the command of Colonel John N. Medinger. Colonel Robert E. Dunlap will continue as post commander at Fort Ritchie.

One of five major area commands of the U. S. Army Strategic Communications Command (STRATCOM) located around the world, the NCC operates a network of strategic and special communications sites from coast to coast within the continental United States. These include the East Coast Telecommunications Center at Fort Detrick, Md., fixed satellite relay stations in California and New Jersey, and other important communications facilities. Among several special communications systems supported by the NCC are the nationwide networks of Civil Defense.

The planned relocation of NCC Headquarters from Alexandria to Fort Ritchie was announced in March of this year, and the move of equipment, office furnishings and personnel has been proceeding on schedule. The total number of military and civilian personnel accompanying the move will not exceed 200.

RUMORS, REPORTS AND REFLECTIONS

by Vant Neff

Incongruities:

A certain arrogant union leader feasted at world-famous restaurants, and in general, lives high off the hog, while his rank and file followers pressured for more money. Ironically, this very same "leader" was on the Sanitation Department payroll, though records prove that over a period of 15 years, he never once reported for a regular job of work. With his unsavory background, is it any wonder that once again he is under government investigation—this time, for alleged misuse of union funds?

The Russians urge an end to biological weaponry. Long ago, the United States, at the direction of President Nixon, curtailed all biological warfare. What, if anything, in war-making capabilities have the Russians discontinued?

American car sales are up 12%. Foreign car sales in the U. S. are up almost 50%. Yet our own auto workers are enforcing demands for higher wages, so that the price of American cars are automatically increased in the vicious wage-price push. Are the unions so short-sighted that they will price us out of world markets?

Black artists at the Whitney Museum exhibition insist that their work only be selected and judged by black critics. Racism, anybody?

Russia exhorts that the Israelis give back the captured lands to Egypt and Jordan. How about the Russians giving back all the Baltic states, the Finnish border, Poland, East Germany, Czechoslovakia, etc., etc.

Have you noticed that the students of South Korea are battling the police and authorities? They are against government military training programs. Korea is highly vulnerable to guerrilla infiltration from Communist North Korea. What you can't notice is that the student demonstrations and battles are financed by the Communists. The same sponsorship is undoubtedly true most often in most parts of the world.

It's a fact that radical groups work towards the destruction of our country. Yet our own courts have ruled that the government may not tap radical phones without court permission. Which means that by the time the justice department secures an order the whole community knows about it. Incongruous, huh?

Since U.S. troops are withdrawing anyway, I wonder why it has never occurred to the North Vietnamese to disengage from the fighting? Could it be the dictates of the Communist high command?

Met a good-looking, long-haired Harvard student on the train.

Making conversation on the long ride, I asked him what he intended to do after graduation. "Nothing for the Establishment!" he spouted. "I'm a chem major, so naturally I've had nibbles from the recruitment boys from the industrial companies. I told them, 'thanks but no thanks!'"

"Have you better plans?" I inquired.

"Of course," he scoffed. "I'm going back to the bench. Do things with my hands. Create."

"What kinds of things?" I queried.

"Useful things. Leather crafting. Shoes. Vests. Belts. Maybe woodworking. Unusual furniture. Designs. Americans have to get back to doing things that essentially benefit mankind, not destroy him. No bombs for me."

I was curious to know whether the rest of his Harvard mates shared his hippie resistance to technology.

"Not all," he admitted. "But some of the enlightened ones do." Then, in soothing tones, he demanded: "Can you name one person who ever did anything worthwhile for the human race, locked up in a stuffy chemistry lab?"

Controlling myself, I answered, "Yes, Jonas Salk, for one."

Let them die, the chief of the hospital employees' union virtually said of the patients. Crusty Leon Davis, leader of the way-left Local 1199, Drug and Hospital Workers' Union, pulled no punches about priorities. "The welfare of our members comes first. The public's welfare, second."

Sickening, I say. But isn't this the callous attitude of so many labor leaders? (Luckily, not all of them!) During one of the many strike threats that hit hospitals on the Eastern seaboard, Mr. Davis unequivocally stated that an actual strike would be "real tragic, real serious, and real deadly."

Davis' use of the word "deadly" is all too true, referring to the helpless victims—the critically ill, the injured, the patients just out of surgery—who might not make it through the night without vigilance, care and concern.

Aside from the threat of strikes in hospitals, millions of people are victims of the union's exorbitant wage demands which have to be met through jacked-up costs of hospital services, rooms and medicines. It's the public, whose welfare is relegated to second place by the union masterminds, who has to pay. As usual. Or else die.

Well suited: an enraged local of the United Auto Workers union is suing officials of the national union. Why? They're infuriated at the spending of union funds on political candidates, and on radical and left-wing causes. The men don't want it. They won't buy it. And what's more, they're telling the world that they won't pay for it. It remains to be seen whether the union's leaders, whose power is absolute, will yield to their members or the courts!

Inside information: It has been whispered that almost $200 million appropriated for welfare programs has been mismanaged, "misplaced," or perhaps just plain mulcted. Scandal? That's putting it mildly.

Where did the dough go? And wasn't it tax dollars, culled from you, me and the rest of the garden-variety taxpayers in this country?

Pay attention, Americans! We work too hard for our money to let it flow down the drain. Or worse yet, to permit it to pass into the pockets of inefficient or unscrupulous persons who don't really give a hoot about anyone else, as long as they get theirs. Time to take the wraps off, I say. If you or I swiped $5, we'd be up on petty larceny charges. How can these guys get away with it?

Let's not kid ourselves. The higher wages skyrocket, the higher the cost of everything must soar. It's an endless wage-price push, and nobody, least of all the worker, stands to gain very much. His so-called raise all too quickly turns out to be merely momentary paper profits and may often buy him less . . . and less . . . and less. The only real increase in purchasing power comes from increased productivity.

Final note: Disgusted by the British auto workers' performance, the Ford people are cutting off any new investments in England.

But from where I sit, this is just one more case of organized labor using its excessive power to kill the goose that lays the golden wage.

Sen. Beall Notes St. Joseph Closing, Introduces Emergency Fund Bill

Responding to the "considerable concern in the Congress and the country regarding the financial difficulties facing many of the nation's colleges and universities," Senator J. Glenn Beall, Jr. (R-Md.) last week introduced in the Senate the Emergency Higher Education Assistance Act of 1971.

Senator Beall said his bill would "authorize $150 million for interim emergency assistance to the nation's institutions of higher learning which are in serious financial distress." He noted St. Joseph College, a private institution in Emmitsburg, Md., "has already announced it will close."

Senator Beall explained that his bill would provide monies to institutions in need of "additional assistance either to continue its operation or to prevent substantial curtailment of academic programs to the detriment of quality education."

The Maryland member of the Senate Education Subcommittee declared that his measure is not only "designed to help colleges and universities through this immediate period of difficulty, but will at the same time seek the information and support for a long-range policy. Through the studies of higher education financing and cost analysis authorized by the bill, hopefully, we can stop such flying by the seat of our pants on this issue."

Plant Construction Begun

 Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, c/o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of those asked of me in recent weeks:

My daughter and her friends, and I'm sure hundreds of other young adults, have just finished high school and are having a hard time finding employment. I would appreciate it if you can mention this act in your column and ask businessmen to give all young people a chance to work.

Thousands of our young people are looking for permanent or summer employment this year. Most are eager, willing and able individuals who really want to work. Businessmen with job openings are urged to contact the nearest State Employment Service Office to list their availabilities. In Garrett County, employers should call 334-2183; Allegany County, 722-1930; Washington County, 733-0100; Frederick County, 662-2166; Carroll County, 848-9440; Howard County, 730-0880; and Baltimore County, 823-3300. Thank you.

Last week I noticed three gasoline motor boats operating in the new lake at Rocky Gap State Park. Please tell my why, since it is my understanding that no such boats are allowed on these waters?

Officials in the State Department of Forests and Parks have assured me that such recreational operations are not authorized on the Rocky Gap Lake. Furthermore, the Superintendent of State Parks informs me that the incident you cited was one in which three motorboats from a rescue team had been given special permission to practice at Rocky Gap.

What is Congress doing to prevent the killing of bald eagles, like the two dozen that were found poisoned in Wyoming last month?

In recent testimony before the Senate Appropriations Committee, Nathaniel Reed, Assistant Secretary of the Interior for Fish, Wildlife & Parks, outlined immediate steps being taken to curb deaths of bald and golden eagles from illegal poisonings. The Department of Interior, he said, has asked the Environmental Protection Agency to ban the interstate shipment of thallium sulfate for animal control purposes. The chemical has been identified as the cause of 22 recent deaths of bald eagles in Wyoming. The EPA is also being asked to revise all other poisons which can be used in animal control programs to assure adequate controls over their usage. Finally, the Council on Environmental Quality has started a comprehensive study dealing with the problems of wildlife extinction.

My brother is mentally retarded and qualified to attend special education classes in a town 20 minutes from our house. My mother has contacted people to try and get him transportation to school but it appears no one can get him a ride. Can you help us?

As you are aware, transportation has now been arranged for your brother through the generosity of a neighbor in your community. Citizens having similar problems cutting through red tape should contact my office. Just drop me a note c/o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515.

VA is urging employers to develop GI Bill on-the-job training opportunities for returning veterans. If interested, contact the nearest VA office for information.

Curbing Inflation

Since 1965, our nation has been caught in the midst of an inflation which has exceeded all previous periods of inflation since the end of World War II. For many, we have entered a dangerous economic period. Every family in America has experienced the results of inflation in the rising costs for food, clothing, housing, education and other essentials in today's world. At the same time inflation is pushing up the cost of living, it is eating away at the pay raises and savings of every worker. Those such as the elderly and retired who must live on fixed incomes are actually fighting for survival. We must put an end to this insanity that some call an economic cycle.

Some observers took comfort from the fact that the Consumer Price Index rose at an annual rate of 2.8 percent (seasonally adjusted) for the first four months of this year, compared to a 5.5 percent increase during 1970. However, in May consumer prices rose 0.5 percent, the steepest monthly increase since last December. The May gain compares to increases of 0.3 percent in both March and April and smaller increases in the first two months of the year.

The overall national consumer price index rose in May to 120.3 percent of the 1967 average, a level 4.4 percent above a year ago. The index means that a cross-section of consumer goods and services that could have been purchased for $10 in 1967 cost $12.08 in May.

May's increase in consumer costs was not entirely unexpected. Many economists had warned that the relatively low increases earlier in the year were too good to be true and had warned the public to brace itself for a sudden jump in the CPI. These economists were looking at other indicators such as the GNP price deflator which rose at the highly inflationary rate of 5.4 percent for the first four months of this year. Meanwhile, wholesale prices rose 5.3 percent during the same period.

In an effort to make information like the figures I have quoted available to the general public and the Congress, I have introduced legislation to establish a Federal Prices and Incomes Commission which would encourage increases in productivity and provide for a healthy and stable economy by conducting a continuous review of wages and prices. To accomplish its purpose, the commission would be authorized to hold hearings, subpoena witnesses, conduct investigations and obtain relevant information from government agencies.

Whenever the commission determines that there has occurred, or is pending, a significant adjustment in wages and prices in any industry, it will report its findings and recommendations for legislative action to the President and the Congress. Currently there is neither an objective source for raw economic data nor a formal monitoring mechanism of the economy. The public has a right to know the true state of the economy. The Mathias bill would fill that void. This commission will enable the President to stabilize wages and prices and to make his decisions on the basis of objective, technical information.

MONOCACY GIRL SCOUTS AT GREENTOP JUNE 4-7

Girl Scout Community 60 of the Monocacy area, comprising the towns of Emmitsburg, Thurmont, and Lewistown, held the community encampment at Greentop June 4-7. The troop mixing plan devised by adult leaders last year, was used. National and international Scout movement events of this type are designed so that people from different regions or countries can forget their differences and form lasting friendships as they meet face to face.

Co-ordinators Mr. and Mrs. Donald Marshall of Thurmont, working with troop leaders, placed the 112 troop members in eight patrols, mixing them to include girls from both Junior and Cadette programs and members from each of the three towns.

Thanks to volunteer cooks, Mrs. Clarice Martin, Mrs. Shirley Geasey, Mrs. Jane Heims, Mrs. Carol Staub and Mrs. Betty Meredith, meals were cooked for the entire camp in the central kitchen, leaving more time for instructions in knot tying, tent pitching and art, by Mr. Tom Geasey, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Garman, and Mrs. Paula Gorman, respectively, and a hike led by Mrs. Barbara DeGhetto. The instructors were aided by Mrs. Cindy Gaver, Mrs. Wayne Shriner, Mrs. Regina Amery, Mrs. Margie Myers, and Cadette Scouts Beth and Susie Morningstar.

Campers were members of Thurmont Cadette Troop 501 and Junior Troops 1288 and 70; Cadette 1316 and Junior 405 and 1238 of Emmitsburg, and Junior Troop 1478 of Lewistown.

Members of the "Dragonflies" patrol were: Lee Ann DeGhetto, Brenda Hahn, Julia Joy, Patty

Transformation Toward Doom
In the civilizations of mankind, history records that the decay of morality was the most decisive factor in the downfall of one after another—ancient Egypt, Assyria, Babylon, Greece, Rome, and nearly every other of the 20 empires that reached the pinnacle of world leadership. Our Western civilization began its rise out of the British Empire, but the relative short span of mankind's freedom under a people's Republic began with the adoption of the U. S. Constitution about 200 years ago. The U. S. quickly became an example for the world of nations, the recognized world leader.

And now as she approaches the bi-centennial, moral decay has spread into the body, mind and heart of our society. We can deny it to the high heavens—until we step to the looking glass and see clearly what we are becoming as a nation. Trying to hide the evils of Communism, so that we can justify our cowardice in compromising with it, is only one facet of the moral breakdown—but it is perhaps the origin of the decay. Now we are involved in transforming every principle in the moral code that undergirded for nearly 200 years the strength on the glory of America. In our present series of columns we will examine the most obvious examples of decadence. At the moment we are looking at our cowardly confrontations with evil Communism.

50-Million Killed
The looking glass will not permit us to escape the reality of Communism's nature and our contamination with it. The Congress of the United States recently published the documented record of Soviet Communism's massive extermination of life for "political defection," and the Defense Department is the source of documented information on the horrible toll in human life wrought by China's Red bosses. Castro and Ho Chi Minh and the others have been, in comparison, small-time butchers. The U. S. Congress sets the total (innocent citizens) killed by Soviet Communism at 21,500,000 and the documentary files indicate the toll, when additional information can be validated, may be closer to 50,000,000. In China, as TIME Magazine reported, U. S. records and studies set the total of citizens murdered by Mao-Tse-tung's executioners at more than 20,000,000.

Yet, we are comrades of the Soviet dictators in a world "brotherhood of nations" and today the crusade of some of the most publicized members of Congress to achieve U. S. recognition and United Nations membership for Red China has apparently been joined by the President; and the American public is "adjusting" to the eventuality.

Our Demoralizing Fears
Why are we forsaking our principles and adjusting to comradeship with evil? We are afraid. Not many of us are ready to admit to acceptance of the propaganda axiom: "Better Red than Dead." But we are accepting as our policy in confrontations with Communism, however painstakingly we try to disguise it in our own minds: "Feed the Russian Bear and One Day He will Lose his Appetite or his Teeth." And lately we have adopted the same policy toward the Red Dragon of China. Are we truly afraid? Yes, but we are whistling and looking away as we walk by the graveyard chanting a litany for "peace."

Fear of Red China and Soviet Russia dominated U. S. actions in Korea in 1950-51. On June 24, 1950, the might of Soviet Russia and her North Korean Communist ally came down upon South Korea with thundering Russian tanks and chattering MIG fighting planes.

President Harry Truman, with the instinctive support of the entire nation, sent General Douglas MacArthur (then in Japan) to the aid of the little nation which was our friend and co-treaty partner. America's instinct for "right" and her gallant men and great military strategy executed by MacArthur whipped the enemy hordes; but fear generated in high places forbade victory over the enemy and turned Korea into America's sorriest disgrace.

No-Win War

Korea, because of fear of antagonizing the Russian Bear, became America's first war in which the U. S. Government deliberately denied our armed forces the freedom to seek military victory. (General MacArthur in a historic speech to a historic joint session of Congress was to say: "In war there is no substitute for victory.") It was the first of two disastrous no-win wars which have bled our country of manhood and resources and strengthened the aspirations of Communists for the first time since the Medicare program started.

Social Security News

The items that make up the overall 50 cent increase include: —31 cents to cover an estimated increase of 6.7 per cent in the level of physicians' fees recognized by the program in the fiscal year beginning in July; —10 cents to cover an estimated worldwide. MacArthur contended there was only one purpose worthy of waging war: to uphold right. And, he said, the thrust toward victory over evil must never be contaminated by a fear of losing. This eloquence was from the old-fashioned code of morality that we had already begun to transform.

MacArthur, for his principles, was humiliated as no American General before him. The citizenry summoned courage enough to give him an historic homecoming. But today his image and his creeds have eroded on the national scene as we adjust to "new values" and cherish too much our "survival at any cost." (To be continued).

Commissioner Lowers Insurance Increase

Maryland Insurance Commissioner Thomas J. Hatch announced that he has disapproved the amount of rate increase requested by the Maryland Blue Cross and Blue Shield Plans for non-group subscribers, and shelved for the present, the so-called progressive rating system.

The Commissioner indicated, however, that he will approve an increase of an average of 15.5% in the rates for Blue Cross and an increase of an average 12% for Blue Shield.

At the same time, the Commissioner announced that he will shortly convene hearings designed to inquire into the problem of ever-increasing hospital costs. The hearings will be designed to make a detailed inquiry into relationships between Blue Cross Board members and the hospitals and physicians, as well as the method used by hospitals to ascertain charges for services rendered.

An analysis of the filings made by these two plans by actuaries has revealed that, if the total increase requested by both Blue Shield and Blue Cross had been granted, the non-group subscriber would have experienced a rate rise of 30.5% in the case of Blue Cross and 32.0% in the case of Blue Shield, on an annual basis.

Sloppy Joes Mexican-Style

Olé Sloppy Joes have gone Mexican! It's the festive corn bread base that takes this popular lunch and supper entree south of the border.

Whole kernel corn and bits of pimiento and green pepper deliciously fleck the crunchy corn bread. Preparation is especially easy with convenient corn muffin mix. As the corn bread bakes, the sloppy Joe mixture, seasoned with chili sauce and dry mustard, can lazily simmer to a perfect blend of flavors. Serve the savory beef mixture atop the golden, toasted corn bread for cheers of "Mucho gusto!"

Mexican Corn Bread Sloppy Joes

Makes 6 servings

Corn Bread:	Sloppy Joe Mixture:
One 12-oz. pkg. (2 cups)	1 lb. ground beef
Flake Corn Muffin Mix	1/2 cup chopped onion
1 egg	One 8-oz. can tomato sauce
1/2 cup milk	One 6-oz. can tomato paste
One 7-oz. can whole kernel corn, drained	1/2 cup chili sauce
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento	1/4 cup hot water
1 tablespoon chopped green pepper	1 teaspoon salt
	1 tablespoon vinegar
	1/2 teaspoon dry mustard

Heat oven to hot (425°F.). For corn bread, empty contents of corn muffin mix package into bowl. Add egg, milk, corn, pimiento and green pepper. Blend only until dry ingredients are thoroughly moistened. Pour batter into greased 8-inch square baking pan. Bake in preheated oven (425°F.) 20 to 25 minutes.

For sloppy Joe mixture, brown meat in a small amount of hot shortening in fry pan. Add onion and cook about 5 minutes. Stir in remaining ingredients and simmer 20 to 25 minutes.

To serve, cut corn bread into 6 pieces; split each horizontally. Toast until golden brown. Top with hot sloppy Joe mixture.

Emmitsburg Community Vacation School Ends Summer Program Friday

Friday evening, July 2, at 7:30 o'clock, the first phase of a joint venture for the children of the Emmitsburg community will come to a close when the Vacation Church School holds its closing program in the Parish House of Elias Lutheran Church. This event is open to all who desire to attend. For the first time in its history, the Vacation Church School has been jointly sponsored by all the churches, Protestant and Roman Catholic, in Emmitsburg. Pupils and members of the staff have come from every church.

The children will gather at Elias Lutheran Church around 7 p.m. for the last minute instruction, while parents and friends look over the class exhibits which will be in the lower room of the Parish House. At 7:30, the classes will have a program during which each one will present some song, poem, verse or other activity representative of their course.

of study during the past two weeks. An offering will be taken to help with the expenses of the school. Seton Center has again, for the third year, been chosen as the project which will receive some financial aid from the school, and the gift will be presented to a representative of the Center during the program. Refreshments will follow the program.

This Vacation Church School has been conducted for children from the age of three-and-a-half through the 6th grade. The second phase of the summer program will begin on Tuesday, July 6 and will be for children from the fifth through 8th grades in the mornings and 9th through 12th grades in the evenings, held at Mother Seton School. Full particulars and registration blanks are available at any church in town.

Everyone is welcome to attend the program tonight at Elias Lutheran Church.

Reading Club

Active At Library

The Summer Reading Club is in full swing in the Emmitsburg Library. Forty-nine children have registered for the program. Many have already reported on more than their quota of one book per week. However, may I remind those who have not given their reports in, they are now due.

Two groups of children visited the Library last week. Mrs. JoAnn Myers brought a group from the Seton Center, ages ranging from 7 to 13, into the Library for a first visit. The group was given a brief explanation of how the Library works and was invited to join the reading club. They borrowed books and many were registered who had never visited the Library before. The second group to visit was the usual class of pre-schoolers from the Seton Center. This group was accompanied by the teacher, Mrs. Carolyn Lewis and her assistant, Mrs. Springer. The group enjoyed a story, "Mop-Top," by Freeman, told by Mrs. John Warthen, and played a game using bricks to build a house. The Library encourages any group visits to the Library and invites anyone not owning a borrowers' card to come in and register now.

The Library will initiate a film program along with the story hour, to be held every Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. All children are welcome.

The Library is grateful to the Garden Club for planting the flower boxes in front of the Library. They look beautiful and everyone appreciates the effort that went into planting them. When everyone realizes the service the Garden Club is performing, I am sure they will all have their flower boxes out before Mother's Day in 1972. Thanks again Garden Club for helping to make Emmitsburg beautiful. The Library doubly appreciates the club as they decorate the library window and door over the Christmas holidays.

The books that seem to be circulating more heavily than others in the Library include: The Godfather, Love Story, Making of a Surgeon, A Quiet Voyage Home, Testimony of Two Men. Your book does not have to be a best-seller. There is plenty of good reading still on the shelf.

Garden Club Helps

Beautify Cullen School

The Silver Fancy Garden Club met on June 17 at the home of Mrs. Elwood Baumgardner with Mrs. Harry Mohny acting as co-hostess. A delicious luncheon was served by the hostesses to sixteen members and two guests.

Vice president Mrs. Charles H. Smith conducted the business meeting during which the following committee reports were given. Mrs. Keith Brown and Mrs. Simon Klosky of Civic Beautification told of the planting of the pots on the square in Taneytown, and of plans for planting trees around the square in Emmitsburg.

Mrs. John Chenoweth of Garden Therapy reported that a group of club members purchased flower seeds and supervised the planting of an annual border at Victor Cullen School for Boys.

Mrs. Keith Brown and her committee were complimented on the success of the annual card party held in May to raise money for the club's projects.

The program consisted of a discussion concerning the planting and care of roses.

The next meeting will be held on July 15 at the home of Mrs. John White, Emmitsburg, with Mrs. Vernon Keilholtz serving as co-hostess.

Fr. Carroll To Speak In Emmitsburg July 12

Catholics and other Christians are asking: "What has become of Mary?" after the changes in the Roman church at the recent Vatican councils.

Mary has not been downgraded in the devotions attached traditionally to her as Mother of Jesus Christ, affirms Franciscan Father Alfred Boeddeker of St. Boniface Church in San Francisco and director of its Marian Center Library.

"Quite the contrary, there is a renewed interest in the Blessed Virgin's proper place in the economy salvation, judging by the great number of inquiries," said Father Boeddeker. "We are getting appeals from the clergy and laymen, young and old, and from students as to Mary's status in these changing times."

Accordingly, the eminent Mariologist, Father Eamon R. Carroll, O.Carm., S.T.D., will be in Emmitsburg on Monday, July 12, 7 p.m., to speak on "The Biblical Portrait of Mary, Woman of Faith" Sponsored by St. Joseph College, the lecture will be held in the Retreat Room at St. Joseph's Provincial House, and is open to the public.

On sabbatical leave from the Catholic University of America, Father Carroll is the first lecturer on the National Marian Lecture Tour which was initiated in February under the auspices of the Marian Center Library.

Mrs. Rachael S. Rickards has returned to Baltimore after spending several days with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. Harry Scott, Villa Rest.

UNEMPLOYMENT BENEFITS INCREASE JULY 1st

An increase of $13 in the maximum unemployment benefit amount became effective on July 1, according to an announcement made today by Mrs. Rita C. Davidson, Secretary, Maryland Department of Employment and Social Services.

Mrs. Davidson said that this will bring the maximum weekly benefit amount up to $78 in conformance with the change enacted by the last General Assembly and signed into law by Governor

Mandel. To be eligible for the $78 weekly benefit amount, a claimant must have earnings of at least $2,801.01 in his base period (the first four of the last five completed calendar quarters prior to the effective date of his initial claim benefits). Also, a minimum of $1,848.01 must have been earned in one of those quarters.

The Maryland Unemployment Insurance Law provides for the payment of $3 for each dependent child under the age of 16, up to a maximum of our children. However, the weekly benefit amount plus the dependents' allowance cannot exceed the maximum weekly benefit amount of $78.
