I wonder if Emmitsburg is represented in the Maryland Municipal League? I notice in the Chronicle that the 25 member Executive Committee includes Mayor Powell of Taneytown. Congratulations, Taneytown for your involvement. If someone in Emmitsburg is interested, I'm told that the person to contact is Mrs. Elaine J. Simons, Director of Membership, who lives in Lanham, Md.

It has been said that one of the chief dangers in life is that you may take too many precautions.

November, 1972 will see nearly 140 million Americans eligible to vote including 18, 19, and 20 year olds. According to Census Bureau estimates, Maryland will have 2,715,000 voters of which 478,000 will be newly enfranchised. Roughly half of the new group will be in the 18 to 20 age bracket with the balance those who turned 21 since 1968 those previously disenfranchised by long residency requirements or literacy laws. I wonder if Emmitsburg will have its share of these new voters? One good sign of a vibrant, growing town is new voters and I sure hope that we come up with our share.

The Census Bureau estimates that more than 10% of the 1972 voters will be in California. We have all heard of the growth of that state, perhaps we in Emmitsburg should take some lessons from the far west state.

I was walking down by the square the other day and just about fell on my nose when my clumsy old feet came upon a broken patch of sidewalk. I wonder if the town fathers ever walk through the square? If they stumbled on that sidewalk I bet that they would get it fixed pronto. Abby will have to get more sure footed shoes if we don't get some more observant sidewalk fixers in town.

The barley harvest is progressing slowly in central and northern Maryland areas where storms have caused widespread lodging. Corn has been making generally good growth although some fields have been starting to "curl" in the dry areas where there has been no moisture. Just goes to show you that you can't please all the people all the time no matter what happens. Many of us have known that for a long time.

The Army has long been proud of its Big Red 1. Now we in Maryland have a Big 1st to be proud of. Comptroller Goldstein down in Annapolis announced that effective July 1, a state tax was actually reduced, thanks to the 1971 Legislature and its Senate Bill No. 1. Henceforth the state bite on admissions and amusements will be only 1/2% rather than the 4% it used to be. There is a hitch, as always. Counties or cities and towns can claim an additional tax if they desire. Abby is happy to report that no such claim appears for Frederick County or any incorporated town in the county. Cheers for us. What a surprise, taxes coming down. I thought that tax reductions had gone the route of covered bridges. Another surprise, none of the tax goes to the state. All revenue from admissions and amusements is distributed to the subdivisions, less unestimated administrative costs. Hmmm, always a hooker.

Vigilant Hoco Co. No. 6 has been out collecting in its annual fund drive. I can't think of a more worthwhile cause, these fellows work their life every time they answer an alarm, all at no pay. If you haven't been contacted yet, keep an eye peeled for one of the firemen. They should get a donation from everyone.

I see where Frank Robinson was named most valuable player of the All-Star game, the first fellow to be so recognized in this game, the World Series, and both leagues. He sure gives our little leaguers a goal to (Continued On Page 8)

Commissioner Myers Lists Park Plan

Emmitsburg Parks and Recreation Commissioner Eugene Myers announced Wednesday that he has received a preliminary proposal for a planning study for a 6 1/2 acre town park for Emmitsburg from Lloyd-Smith Associates, a landscape architectural firm in Towson. The Lloyd-Smith firm was recommended by Spencer Ellis of the Maryland Department of Parks and Recreation in Annapolis. The estimate totals $2500, of which $1500 is for a preliminary plan and $1000 is for its revision into a final plan.

The preliminary development plan will include a proposed layout of facilities and improvements including vehicular access, parking, service, pedestrian circulation, recreational areas and/or structures, related fixtures and planting. Presentation and discussion of the preliminary plan to the local Board and representatives of the Maryland Department of Forests and Parks are included in the proposal.

The final development plan will indicate the proposed arrangement as outlined above and include such changes as required in the agreed upon preliminary. It will be suitable for reproduction and presentation including quantity and cost estimates, recommended staging or phasing of construction and preparation of project applications in conjunction with Emmitsburg representatives.

The extent of working drawings and specifications will be determined in the future by the requirements of the agencies involved. They would be at additional cost.

Myers is also getting estimates of cost from the Frederick County Planning and Zoning Department. It is possible that the county Planning and Zoning Department will be able to help Emmitsburg with planning for its park thereby reducing the planning cost.

Local Teen Center Opens Saturday Night

Harry Otterson, representing the Frederick County Board of Education, announced that the Emmitsburg Teen Club will hold its first meeting in the new teen club center (the gymnasium of the middle school) on Saturday, July 17, 1971. Money for this program has been provided by increasing the state money allocated for Northern Area recreation projects to the Frederick Board of Education.

The Teen activity schedule for the balance of the summer will be: Saturday nights, 6-10 p.m., Teen Center open. Activities available include a trampoline, gymnastic equipment, table tennis, pool, basketball, movies, music and dancing, and instruction in golf, fly casting, and tennis.

Monday night, 6:30 p.m., bus leaves from the square for Catoctin High School and participation in that teen summer program. Wednesday, Thursday, Friday night, the teens will participate in Father King's program which will be held at various facilities around Emmitsburg, depending upon the activity.

In this program the busing to Catoctin High School previously offered on Wednesday night has been changed to Monday night so that it will not conflict with Father King's program. Additional bus trips are being planned for every other Saturday morning to points of interest selected by the teens.

Otterson said that the 1971 Teen Program is a first for Emmitsburg in that an active program has been developed which uses all the local facilities on an impartial, nondenominational basis. The new state allocation of funds is adequate to provide for the Emmitsburg Teen Program whereas the previous allocation was insufficient to provide for the older teens.

The Teen Center will be supervised by Harry Otterson and three staff members to be hired. The club program will change as the desires of the teens are made known. The teens themselves will have a large voice in selection of the activities. It is hoped that all area teens will participate in this fine program.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white chiffon with empire bodice. Lace interwoven with satin ribbon accented the bodice and cuffs of the full bishop sleeves. Her fingertip illusion veil fell from a daisy bonnet. She carried a cascade of daisies and baby's breath.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Pease wore a mint green dress, with matching accessories and a white orchid corsage. The groom's mother chose an ice blue crepe dress, matching an ice blue and a white orchid corsage.

Miss Edna Zimmerman, sister of the groom, attended the guest book.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the social room of the church. Assisting were Mrs. George T. Schroeder, Jr., aunt of the bride, and Miss Victoria Schroeder and Mrs. David Shue, cousins of the bride.

Prior to the wedding, two showers honored the bride: a party shower given at the couple's apartment by Mrs. Marvin Laws, and a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Charles Clark, at her home in Buckeystown.

Maryland Board Of Public Works Approves Frederick County School Funds Of $9.3 Million

The Maryland State Board of Public Works met Tuesday in Annapolis and approved $9,326,340 in school construction funds for Frederick County. The ten projects approved in the 1972 fiscal year totalled $9,234,000 with an additional 1% to provide for the inspection and other necessary supervisory services associated with such major construction projects. Five of the projects were funded for complete construction with the remaining five receiving planning money only.

Projects approved for Frederick County include:

The Linganore Jr.-Sr. High School at $2,170,900. This is to be an addition of a vocational-technical instructional wing, an open space instructional area equivalent to 10 classrooms plus other instructional areas. It will increase the Linganore School capacity from 825 to 1,400 pupils.

Emmitsburg School Gets Planning Funds

Dr. John L. Carnochan, Jr., Frederick County Superintendent of Schools, told the Chronicle late Wednesday that he was particularly pleased that the Board of Public Works and the Interagency Committee on School Construction had been able to fund ten of the requested fourteen Frederick County school projects. In addition to the ten projects, planning funds for Emmitsburg Elementary have been made available through the use of existing Board of Education funds which will be reimbursed in the future.

Emmitsburg Elementary had been listed as priority 7 on the County's original list of 14 projects submitted to the Interagency Committee. The availability of planning funds in 1971 will permit the selection of an architect and the orderly development of the project this year so that construction can proceed next year without delay. Carnochan said that Alford Carey, Executive Director of the Interagency Committee, the County Commissioners, and G. Hunter Bowers, Jr., President, representing the School Board, had concurred with this plan.

The addition to Emmitsburg Elementary will be the number two project in priority in 1972, behind Middletown Elementary, according to Carnochan, in concurrence with the Commissioners, Bowers and Carey. Since the planning will be completed this year, Emmitsburg has reasonable expectation of construction next year.

Old Line Lives Again As First Maryland Regiment At State Park

Maryland derived its most popular nickname, "Old Line State," from its brave troops in the American Revolution. Today, the Maryland Line lives again in the First Maryland Regiment, a re-creation of one of the historic military units on which Washington could always rely. The 60-man organization is composed of history buffs from colleges and high schools in this region. These young men, all volunteers, are dedicated to presenting for the public a view of the Maryland soldier of the Revolution as he actually was. Authenticity in all details is the watchword of the organization. Led by a military historian turned television producer, William Brown III, the First Maryland is comprised of an infantry company and a rifle and drum corps. The regiment has mastered the intricate drills of the period and the musicians have learned nearly 100 different Revolutionary War tunes. The unit specializes in drills, maneuvers, live musketry, cannonading, and related activities. Many of the troops demonstrate 18th century crafts, including tin-smithing and leather work. This summer the First Maryland is scheduled to perform at Fort Frederick State Park on July 24-26, August 28-29, September 25-26, with a special performance entitled "The American Soldier, 1775-1945" from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. on October 10. Signs along Interstate 70 and U. S. 40 mark the way to the park, which is on State Route 56, about 10 miles west of Hagerstown.

Local Seton Program Has Good Start

Sharing, learning and fun highlighted the first week of the Liturgical-Recreation Summer Program being held at Mother Seton School. The morning session for grades 5 to 8 was held from 9:30 to 11:30. Tuesday included an introduction to the theme of the program, "Christ the Healer", and a discussion of the first week's emphasis—Healing in Nature. An art project of making shadow drawings helped everyone get to know each other better. Following this activity the children planted sunflower seeds outside near the school building.

The activities of the Senior Program held in the evenings, centered around the theme of "Awareness". Wednesday evening the group became aware of each other by participating in two or three games which opened the session. A short film on the same theme followed. During the remainder of the evening an informal social was held in the school auditorium.

Wednesday, the boys and girls took a nature walk to Tom's Creek. While they were there they sketched a scene in nature, played baseball and ended with a prayer service. On the walk home, each enjoyed a popsicle.

On Thursday the same group deepened their sense of awareness through an art activity. Sister Anna Mae, head of the Art Department at SJC, introduced the class to ceramics. Even the beginners were pleased with the results.

A full length movie, "The Proud Rebel", was shown on Thursday. Other aspects of healing were presented in this film.

The Senior program closed the week with a Paraliturgical Service, followed by an evening of Miniature Golf.

IRON FOR CHILDREN PUSHED

Dr. Neil Solomon, Secretary of Helath and Mental Hygiene, this week voiced endorsement and encouragement for the program proposed by Maryland child health care officials to prevent iron deficiency in infants.

The Secretary said that he is in total agreement with the statement of the American Academy of Pediatrics that the knowledge and means to prevent iron deficiency as a significant pediatric problem are available now.

Dr. John L. Pitts, Chief of the Division of Maternal and Child Helath, and Miss Clare Forbes, Chief of the Division of Nutrition, both of the State Health Department, have forwarded to all local health departments and public health agencies, dietary guidance procedures to increase amounts of iron in infants and pre-school children.

Emmitsburg Little League

Thirteen runs in the last inning gave the Red Sox a 19-3 win over the Yankees Monday evening.

However, the sixth inning run-away was actually a continuation of a rally begun in the fifth when Greg Adelsberger blasted out a grand-slam homer to provide four runs for the Sox. Adelsberger's fifth inning homer followed a solo homer in the fourth.

Tim Andrews was another Red Sox player to achieve a four-bagger in the contest, with his homer helping out the 13-run production in the sixth. In an effort to halt the flood the Yankees had three different pitchers on the mound in the last two innings. Red Sox100 14(13)—19 Yankees012 00 0—3

Local Holsteins Get Production Credits From Holstein Association

A report of milk production levels attained by dairy cows in the area has been received from Holstein - Friesian Association of America. The actual food production output, recorded in the DHIR program, by these local Registered Holsteins is:

Carrolland Burke Thelma 4966-363, a nine-year-old, produced 25,680 lbs. of milk and 934 lbs. of butterfat in 365 days. Hills-Hope Fond Master Joy 6517866, a four-year-old, had 20,820 lbs. of milk and 812 lbs. of butterfat in 365 days. Hills-Hope Chief Josy 7026299, a two-year-old, had 17,230 lbs. of milk and 749 lbs. of butterfat in 353 days. All are included in the herd tested for Mr. and Mrs. James R. Hill, R2, Emmitsburg.

These new production figures may be compared to the estimated annual output of 9,388 lbs. (4-366 quarts) of milk and 345 lbs. of butterfat by the average U. S. dairy cow.

Production testing is made available through the cooperative efforts of the state and local testing associations and Holstein - Friesian Association of America. Dairymen enrolled in the program pay for the service.

Going Barefoot Invites Foot Problems

"Going barefoot in the summer invites special foot problems," Dr. Harry Shapiro, President of the Maryland Podiatry Society, warned recently. "It exposes the feet to injury and infection, but proper care and common sense can reduce the hazards."

A major infection is a condition known as plantar wart. This occurs when a virus invades the sole of the foot, causing a painful growth which requires professional care. The plantar wart looks like a small piece of glass or splinter, but when pinched, the area is extremely sensitive. Wearing thongs or sandals when walking on hot sidewalks or rough ground lessens chances of infection.

Athlete's foot and fungal infections of the nails are complicated by excessive perspiration. Fungus nail shows itself as a fellowly thickness at the end of the nail. Keeping feet clean and dry, changing shoes and socks frequently, and using a good foot powder will give protection from these irritating conditions.

Podiatrists also recommend wearing safety shoes with protected toes when operating power lawn mowers to prevent accidental toe amputation.

Employment Survey To Be Held Here

The Bureau of the Census will conduct a survey of employment and unemployment in this area during the week of July 19, John G. Gibson, Director of the Bureau's regional office in Philadelphia announced this week.

This survey is conducted monthly by the Bureau for the U. S. Department of Labor in a scientifically designed sample of households throughout the entire United States. The employment and unemployment statistics which are based on the results of this survey are used to provide a continuing measure of the economic health of the Nation.

James Mudgett Is Candidate For House

James R. Mudgett, an attorney who has practiced law in Maryland since 1958, announced his intentions to become a candidate for a seat in the House of Representatives, representing the Sixth Congressional District of Maryland.

The Sixth Congressional District encompasses Allegany, Carroll, Frederick, Garrett, Howard, Washington Counties and portions of Baltimore and Montgomery Counties.

Mudgett, a 36 year old veteran of 18 years service with the U. S. Coast Guard Reserve, is married and the father of five children. He has expressed his interests in participating in the legislative functions of both local and national government in the past and now he feels that he is at the point where he can offer a significant contribution to the preservation of good government at a crucial time when this is becoming increasingly important day by day.

Mudgett is a graduate of Mt. Vernon School of Law and has been admitted to practice before the State of Maryland and Federal Courts since 1958. He is a former vice president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. He has served as a Justice of the Peace in Maryland, a Deputy United States Marshall and as president of the Parent-Teachers Association.

Destroying Drugs

Drugs destroy.

Some measure of the drug crisis facing the United States can be gained from figures which indicate that 1,000 babies born in New York City each year are already addicted to drugs. They inherited the drug problem from their mothers who were using narcotics and other addictive substances while they were pregnant. This sad example is only a small picture of the national tragedy of drug abuse. It sticks in one's mind because the children who will suffer the consequences of their mothers' drug habits are totally innocent.

While some are being brought addicted into the world, others are dying from drugs.

In New York City the rate of deaths from narcotics jumped over 500 percent in the last decade. More New Yorkers between 15 and 35 years of age die as a result of narcotics than from any other single cause. Drug habits which cost $5 a day to maintain in Vietnam can cost $100 a day in the United States. Those who fall to kick drugs often fall into a life of crime in an effort to support their habits.

These tragedies can no longer be allowed to continue. We must effectively move against the horror of drug abuse by coordinating and executing our programs from the highest office in the land, the office of the President.

It is to this end that I have cosponsored President Nixon's legislation to establish a new top-level authority to combat drugs. The bill would create a Special Action Office for Drug Abuse Prevention within the Executive Office.

Operations Committee, of which I am a member, held hearings on the bill recently. The opening session was unusual, unprecedented in my congressional experience. At one time, the committee heard testimony from and asked questions of Attorney General John N. Mitchell, Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Elliot L. Richardson and Undersecretary of Defense David Packard, all of whom underscored the seriousness of our national narcotics problem.

From the testimony before the committee, it is clear that the Congress has to act immediately and provide the funds to examine why drugs command such a strong hold on their victims. If we can find the answer to this question, perhaps we can find out how to undo the deadly bond between drugs and the human personality.

Despite all the discussion about drugs in recent years, there is still an appalling amount of ignorance about the actual effects of the various natural and industrial drugs. The problem is compounded today because we are not only contending with ancient narcotics but also with a whole new array of chemically-produced hallucinogenic substances. At present, nine federal agencies are involved with controlling drug addiction. As a result, government efforts have been fragmented. The magnitude and severity of the present drug threat demands that federal efforts be coordinated. It is my hope that the Congress will move swiftly on President Nixon's drug legislation. The proposed Special Action Office would have the necessary authority to coordinate existing drug programs and destroy drugs.

Western Maryland Service Stations Compete For Contest Awards

Eight Western Maryland service stations are among the 101 semi-finalists in the Maryland Petroleum Association's Service Station Beautification Contest.

Western Maryland contender's include the Williamsport Shell operated by L. Keplinger at U.S. 11 & I-81; Kenneth R. Scott's Gulf station at Md. 60 and Long Meadow Drive, Hagerstown; the Humble station operated by W. N. Rinehart at I-70 and Maryland 65, Hagerstown; Aaron Bittinger's Texaco station located at the

In addition to the chance of winning $1,000 and a mink stole to the wife of the top operator, local entrants are also eligible to win a $100 savings bond for the best station in their area.

College Students Have Marathon Dance

The marathon dance craze of the depression era—complete with goldfish swallows and cigar-smoking, tuxedo-clad M.C.'s—will be revived this fall at the University of Maryland for the second consecutive year... with one major difference. This year, it will be open to any college student in the United States.

Last year, 22 of the original 37 couples competing made it to the end of the gruelling 52-hour marathon, and in the process raised $16,000 for muscular dystrophy victims.

Although the 1970 version was open only to students sponsored by organizations at the University of Maryland, marathon chairman Jack Hay has already dispatched invitations to more than 500 student body presidents throughout the U. S. Because of the national scope of this year's marathon, he hopes to raise $200,000, a slight increase over last year's $16,000 total.

A $5000 scholarship is being offered to the winners, defined as "that couple still dancing at the conclusion of the marathon whose sponsors have collected the most money for muscular dystrophy." Four colleges responded to the invitation within a week, according to Hay, who is now looking for businessmen and private citizens to sponsor the scholarship and other prizes.

Hay is president of the University of Maryland chapter of Phi Sigma Delta fraternity, which has sponsored annual fund raisers for muscular dystrophy since 1964.

The "Wisdom" Of The Young
Forces of destruction within America are trying to kill logical thinking. And in one of the most vital areas of logic, concerning the very nature of mankind, they have been astoundingly successful. Some anthropologists, and the propagandists who serve the "revolutionary" cause, have (it would seem) actually convinced many Americans that youth—from teenagers through the twenties—is the wiser and more capable segment of our society. Not only must the young of today be listened to, we're told; they must be recognized as worthy of supreme authority. They are wise; adults live in another age ("Neanderthals," is the designation) and cannot be respected!

This goes against all logic and most of the scientific findings concerning the nature of mankind. But when we hold up the looking glass to see the image of our nation reflected, there it is: Young people dominating the scene. Not only are they dominating the scene, their influence today is shaping the destiny of the nation, for good or bad. The "Kill-Logic" campaign (and it is a campaign waged by people who know what they are doing; most of them over 30) reached first into the home. Like a Madison Avenue project, there was created the widely advertised "generation gap," disrupting family equilibrium, and thoroughly confusing many people. As was only natural, the young (most of them) grabbed it. Trouble Was Generated

It is my conviction that the disastrous scourge of drug misuse, rise of obscenity, and violent demands for permissiveness toward all abnormal behavior, all of which continue to show alarming growth, evolved to a substantial extent out of the enmities generated among young people against their parents and elders by those who branded the parent-generation as "old-fashioned, unresponsive, dull, dim-witted and dictatorial." Youngsters, inherently rebel-lous against authority, most of them anxious to have a taste of any "forbidden fruit," especially if it becomes the "Now" or "In" thing, and all impelled to some degree by the herd instinct, have been inundated with a wave of glorification of the young and condemnation of the older generation. Getting "high" on drugs, amplifying their "hard rock" music to ear-shattering volume, participating in "free speech" and free unrestricted sex as well as other anti-social behavior—these actions became the trademarks of a youth "culture" to which the communication media, the arts, movies, publishing, institutions of education and many politicians all began to pay homage.

Not Condemning Youth
We're not ourselves "down" on American youth; we're worried about them and about the country's survival, and we're trying to be clear-headed. Only a small percentage are revolutionaries, but various polls nevertheless have shown that more than half of our 8,000,000 college students (normally the leadership group) now reject basic principles of American capitalism. And although there are signs that many young people who are lured into the degenerative back-allys of social conduct by genuine revolutionaries are coming out again into the light, there also is clear evidence at hand of the acceptance in many vital circles of our society of the phony proposition that the present crop of youth may indeed be smarter than their parents.

William Brooks, United Press International writer whose reports and opinions go nationwide, reflects a viewpoint now held by an important segment of the communications media: "Compassion and wisdom do not necessarily accompany advancing age." He says this while giving journalistic protection to the hoodlums, led by Communists and other radicals, who tore up the city of Kent, Ohio, preceding the tragic deaths on the Kent State University campus on May 4, 1970 and while smearing the adult townspeople who complained when their city was attacked. Endangering Nation?

Howard K. Smith, the Washington ABC-TV anchorman and a maverick among "liberal" journalists, says most of his "liberal" colleagues of the networks and metropolitan press practiced biased reporting in order to protect young mobsters creating turmoil across the nation. This is a serious indictment. Mr. Smith's statement appears in one of the largest-circulation magazines in America. Yet few people have spoken out to challenge the illogic undergirding the glorification of a law-breaking "hippie culture" which seeks to divorce itself from its own rules—public use of obscenity in speech, writing and the arts; free and perverted sex, made as the participants and promoters desire, drug taking for "mind blowing," destruction of the principle of private property—and so forth. This situation represents a breakdown of traditional morality. It could be halted with an uprising of the sober-minded people of America. But cowardice dictates the wide spread attitude: "Don't stick your neck out;

WASHINGTON REPORT

FROM SENATOR J. GLENN BEALL JR.

Jobs Bills—Cancer Agency

Expansion of job opportunities for the unemployed and the underemployed is one of this Administration's highest priorities.

Last Tuesday the President vetoed a bill that has been erroneously dubbed a "jobs bill." It was not a jobs bill. The President vetoed a bill that supposedly would "accelerate" public works. It won't even do that! Public works is not synonymous with jobs... particularly "jobs now!"

This bill authorized public construction projects. Construction projects have notoriously long lead times. Only 10% of the funds the bill authorized would be likely to be spent within the next 12 months!

The bill would have little effect in reducing joblessness in the areas where it is now most concentrated! Among the Vietnam veterans, unskilled youth, and other untrained unemployed men and women... only the construction industry would be directly affected!

Accelerated public works is an emergency measure. To me that implies marginal, hurriedly planned, environmentally damaging, and uncoordinated projects. We simply can't stand any more of those.

Forgotten by too many is that we have gone down this road once before. In the early and mid-sixties we had a simply disastrous experience with an "accelerated" public works program.

I am confident the President's veto will be sustained in the Senate. The popular Economic Development Administration and Appalachian program to which the "accelerated" public works title was unfortunately attached will be promptly reintroduced. The President has assured a quick signing of these two bills if accelerated public works is dropped.

The President in his veto message of the accelerated public works bill had high praise for another bill that is, indeed, a jobs bill: The Emergency Public Service Employment Act. Now, this act means jobs! The accelerated public works bill didn't!

This bill provides $2 1/2 billion for public service jobs at the state and local level. It authorizes a two year program of transitional jobs—not dead end jobs. I particularly like the provision to give special attention to returning Vietnam veterans.

The bill went to the Western White House Wednesday. I would expect a prompt Presidential signature.

Wednesday following the Fourth of July recess, a vote of historic significance was taken in the Senate on the war on cancer. By 79-1 the Senate voted to establish a new, independent, Conquest of Cancer Agency to be located within NIH. The director of the new agency will report directly to the President. I am, of course, very pleased that the headquarters of this massive search for a cure for cancer will be the National Institutes of Health in Maryland.

Professor Johnson Schedules Retirement

Prof. Lester O. Johnson, a member of the Gettysburg College faculty for 41 years, will retire at the end of August, President C. Arnold Hanson announced this week at a meeting of the Board of Trustees.

Prof. Johnson, who is retiring a year early for reasons of health, joined the Gettysburg faculty in 1930 after serving as superintendent of the Carpio public school system, Carpio, N. D. During his teaching career he has specialized in public school administration.

Within the forestry profession, specialties range through timber cruising, public relations, wildlife management, design of recreation areas, building forest roads, work in fire control and timber sales. Some foresters go into business for themselves at such jobs as growing Christmas trees or consulting with industries that have forest holdings.

calm it, cool it, button up, and go on about your own business." Isn't this endangering the nation? I feel strongly that it is. (Continued next week).

Cooking with Molly

By Molly Bishop, Home Economist, Roman Meal Company

Out-Of-The-Ordinary Outdoor Meals

Wishing the outdoor eating season would hurry up and get here? Here's a delicious idea with a touch of Oriental flavor.

Teriyaki Sirloin Kabobs
2 lbs. boneless sirloin steak, 1-inch thick piece
1 cup soy sauce
1/4 cup granulated sugar
2 cloves garlic, thinly sliced
2 1/2" slices of ginger root 6 sliced

frankfurter buns (optional)

Cut meat into 1/4-inch wide strips. Make a marinade by combining soy sauce, sugar, sliced garlic and ginger root. Place meat strips in a flat, oblong casserole and add marinade. Let stand for at least two hours, stirring occasionally. Thread meat onto skewers. Grill over hot coals. Or, if it's not quite warm enough for outdoor cooking, broil kabobs at 500° F., turning so they cook on all sides. To serve, eat from the skewer or place grilled kabobs, unskewered, in frankfurter buns. Yield: six kabobs.

BUSINESS AND THE STOCK MARKET

Third-Quarter Business Outlook

By Babson's Reports Incorporated, Wellesley Hills, Mass., July 15, 1971—In spite of occasional expressions of doubt, it does look as though the bottom of the 1969-1970 recession was established during the final quarter of 1970, with an upturn effected during the first half of this year. The recovery process, however, has been considerably less vibrant than was earlier anticipated. This is particularly true in "real" terms, without regard for the artificial stimuli brought about by post-strike recovery and the upward pressures of inflation.

Nevertheless, even without such unnatural energizers, the economy has displayed an increasing number of signs of recovery. Outstanding among these at the present time are improved activity in residential building and a pickup in consumer spending.

Unresolved Major Problems
There are still some soft spots in the economic fabric which are preventing faster and more widespread progress. Business expenditures for new plant and equipment have, for example, been rather severely curtailed for several quarterly periods. While dollar outlays have recently been running slightly ahead of a year ago, this gain is largely due to inflation. In other words, buying of capital equipment in terms of physical units is probably already trailing last year, reflecting a substantial excess in productive capacity.

Unemployment and price inflation remain vexing problems. Odds are that both will remain extremely sensitive areas over the near term. The Administration may, in fact, be forced to resort to additional pump-priming measures, while simultaneously trying to curb inflation.

Rule This Quarter

Unlike the first two quarters of 1971, the current three-month span is destined to suffer from the constraints brought about by large-scale strikes. Industrial production, retail trade, employment, and personal income will all be seriously affected if the strikes are long-drawn-out in copper, West Coast shipping, and steel. Even if the copper and steel industries are subjected only to token walkouts, they will still have to work off heavy strike-hedge inventory stockpiles. Regardless of what actually happens in this labor-relations field, the business recovery will almost certainly proceed at a slower pace than was the case during the first half of 1971.

It does not, however, seem likely that the economy's upturn will actually be reversed. An encouraging degree of support should continue to stem from residential building and, at least to some extent, from consumer buying. It should also be remembered that government spending—at all levels—will score increases in this quarter.

Limited Upside Progress
If labor problems do not prove too restrictive, Gross National Product should still be able to chalk up a mild gain, in both current and constant (deflated) dollars. All in all, industrial production will do well to post a modest advance. The value of capital spending on the part of business is expected to show little change, while the physical volume is likely to dip below that of a year ago.

Corporate profits, ex prolonged labor tie-ups, should be able to top the results of the first two quarters of 1971, although not by much. Total employment should shade higher in this quarter, but—again—not to any appreciable extent. There is not likely to be an equivalent drop in the jobless ranks, since the labor force is growing faster than industry can absorb new employees into its ranks.

A key question today is what tack the nation's consumers will take. Barring prolonged work stoppages, personal income could well trend materially higher during this quarter. Replacement demand is sharply on the increase, and consumers have a good backlog of savings on hand. Thus, some appreciable advance may lie ahead for retail trade, provided strikes are not overly severe.

Restrictions Eased On Farm Program

Effective July 1, "wet storage" and baled-hay storage farm structures will be eligible for approval under the farm storage and drying facilities loan program, reports Raymond F. Jaeger, Chairman of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee.

Loans for oxygen-free and silo-type structures—"wet storage"—will be available. Also added to the program are loans for baled-hay storage which can be used by producers in conjunction with the new farm program provisions dealing with hay for emergency use.

Both changes in the farm storage facility loan program were made in recognition of changing conditions affecting harvesting, storing and using crops, the ASC Committee Chairman said. Inquiries should be made at ASCS county offices by interested producers.

OPEN LINE

By Congressman Goodloe Byron Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, c/o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks:

What is being done about the pollution caused by cars?

Regulations relating to control of air pollution from motor vehicles are included in the 1970 Clean Air Amendments signed by President Nixon last December. These amendments established final exhaust emission standards for carbon monoxide and hydrocarbons to begin with the 1975 model year. Generally, they require a 90 per cent reduction from the levels allowed by the standards in effect for the 1970 model year.

I understand that you are a member of the Communications & Power Subcommittee. Perhaps you can tell me exactly who regulates the telephone industry?

Regulatory jurisdiction over the telephone industry is divided between the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) and the State commissions. The FCC regulates interstate message toll calls, commonly referred to as long distance calls. The State commissions regulate intrastate message toll calls and local exchange calls even in instances where the boundaries of the exchange area overlap state lines. In terms of plant investment, the FCC exercises jurisdiction over approximately 25% of the Bell System while the State commissions exercise authority over the remaining 75%, and over virtually all of the independent telephone companies.

I know your awareness of the Jobs for Veterans Program and would appreciate any help you could give us in publicizing the complexity of the problem we face?

This request was sent to me by James F. Oates, Jr., National Chairman of the Jobs for Veterans Program and I am most happy to comply. Jobs for Veterans is a national effort to highlight the returning veteran and to make use of the talents and skills he has acquired in the military service. Each veteran deserves the opportunity to find his place in our economic system. This year over one million servicemen and women will complete their military service in the Armed Forces and return to civilian life. Perhaps one-fourth of them will return directly to school, but most will desire to enter the civilian employment market. Many young men and women completing military service will be seeking their first significant job. This is a critical period for these young people, especially those returning to areas where the competition for jobs will be increasing.

My office has been working with the Department of Labor in an effort to seek funding for vocational and training programs for the Cumberland Jobs for Veterans Task Force. And I commend those American businesses, organized labor, veterans organizations and state and local governments who have lent their support in making full use of the talents and ambitions of these fine young people.

Progress Reported On 1972 Wheat Program

Provisions of the 1972 voluntary wheat program will be announced as early as possible so that producers of winter wheat will have time to plan their farming operations, according to officials of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

"The 1972 national domestic wheat allotment of 19.7 million acres, the same as last year, has already been announced and individual farm domestic allotments are now being figured," said Raymond F. Jaeger, Chairman of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committee.

In order to plan their operations, wheat producers also will want to know the level of set-aside acreage for 1972, whether additional diversion will be included, whether barley will be included in next year's feed grain program, whether substitution between wheat and feed grains will be permitted, what will be the loan level for wheat, and other decisions which the Agricultural Act of 1970 delegates to the Secretary of Agriculture.

"Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin makes these decisions," Mr. Jaeger said. "But before he does, he gathers the best data and informed advice. For instance, the National Advisory Committee on Grains for Wheat, Feed Grain and Soybeans, met recently in Washington, D. C., to discuss and advise on the wheat and feed grain situations and provisions of the 1972 wheat program."

"The Secretary has also requested statistics, projections, and recommendations on wheat from several agencies in the Department of Agriculture, including ASCS, which administers the wheat set-aside program. ASCS called in a group of State ASC Committeemen—all farmers—from the major wheat States to get recommendations on the 1972 wheat provisions."

"And I'm sure that Secretary Hardin is also hearing from—and listening to—farm groups and individual farmers on the subject. No decisions will be made without careful consideration of all the factors."

The time factor is recognized as very important, Maryland ASC Committee Chairman Jaeger said and assured wheat growers that information on the 1972 program will be released as soon as possible after program decisions are made.

Frederick Hospital Joins Info System

Two more Maryland hospitals have joined the Maryland Blue Cross and Blue Shield Health Data Service, a computerized information system designed to provide more effective and economical use of health care facilities. The addition of Good Samaritan in Baltimore and Frederick Memorial, Frederick, brings to 15 the number of hospitals across the state now participating in the program. Health Data Service has been in operation since April 1, 1970 and is one of the first such systems in the nation.

Through the computer facilities of Blue Cross and Blue Shield, Health Data Service furnishes participating hospitals' utilization review committees with comparative data on services provided to various categories of patients by diagnosis. The committees use this confidential data to evaluate the patterns of care provided in their institutions and to help identify instances of possible improper use of such services.

4-H's 'Learn Their Bugs' Through Entomology Program

More insects inhabit the earth than all other living things put together. Entomologists estimate there are over 1.5 million different kinds with nearly 1.0 million identified and given names.
Young people find the study of insects fascinating. They collect and identify various species. And they find the life cycles equally interesting. Among the favorites with 4-H entomologists is the Monarch Butterfly and its life stages illustrated here. Their work also may lead them into scientific careers.
Hercules Incorporated, one of the nation's leading chemical companies, in an effort to help provide young people with more knowledge about the insect world, has supported the 4-H entomology program for the past 20 years. In 1970, nearly 56,000 youths between the ages of 9 and 19 participated in various 4-H entomology activities supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service.
4-H's enrolled in the entomology program "know their bugs"—what they look like, where to find them, and how to control the harmful varieties. The young people find the useful insects, raise insects for experimental purposes, trade specimens and exchange information. Some former 4-H entomologists have broadened their interests through an international teen entomology group.
Adding to the 4-H members' fun of working in entomology are the opportunities provided for recognition. Hercules Incorporated provides medals of honor for four members in each county and a $50 U.S. Savings Bond to one winner in each state. The company also treats 16 sectional winners to an expense-paid trip to the 50th National 4-H Congress, Nov. 23-26, 1971. And that event will award $700 educational scholarships to six accomplished young scientists.
Over two decades of association with 4-H, Hercules also has supported the development of popular educational materials.
For more information, contact the county extension office or the state 4-H leader at the land-grant university.

Catoctin High School Track Damaged

Roy Comer, Supervisor of Physical Education for the Board of Education, and George Kuhn, physical education teacher at Catoctin High School, examine damage caused to the school's synthetic track surface by gasoline from mini-bikes used illicitly on the track. (Kuhn holds a pencil indicating depth of the hole in the surface.)

Vandalism to Frederick County schools is small compared to many other school systems in the country, especially more urban ones. Local officials estimate that as much as $5,000 is spent each year repairing damages caused by vandals and replacing thefts. It is obvious, according to these same officials, that money devoted to this type of repair cannot be used to provide better education for Frederick County children.

School administrators are requesting the cooperation of the community in attempting to reduce the amount of damage done to local schools. They are asking people who live near schools to report suspicious behavior to the police so that checks can be made and misbehavior reduced. They are also requesting that parents as much as possible have some idea of where the children are and what they are doing. Vandalism is a problem which is difficult to solve, but intelligent cooperation between the parents, the community in general, and the school system can go a long way toward keeping it at a manageable level.

Both educators and parents recognize that a certain amount of prankishness is characteristic of all youth and most make no complaint about typical youthful misbehavior. Some damage moreover is caused by youths who probably do not realize they are creating a problem. The new resolute track at Catoctin High School has a rubber base material which is susceptible to erosion by gasoline. Local mini-bike riders have been dripping gasoline on the track creating holes which seriously affect its use in athletic events. In addition, using it as a race track wears down the relatively soft surface quite rapidly. The answer, short of replacing the track frequently, is to fence the area at considerable cost or to persuade the mini-bike devotees to go elsewhere for their activities.

Some damage is, however, due to pure "cussedness". Recently Elm Street School, Frederick, had 30 windows broken as the result of vandalism. A return visit it got another 17. Broken windows are not uncommon in large systems today, but as Donald McLuckie, Principal of Elm Street noted, "This is the first time we have had any large scale damage at Elm Street in a long time". Bills for such repairs do amount to a substantial burden for the taxpayers of Frederick County.

Area Community Show To Be Held Sept. 17-18 At Catoctin High School

Plans for the Thurmont and Emmitsburg Community Show, to be held on September 17-18 at Catoctin High School, are now under way. This being the 15th anniversary of the Community Show, all former FFA Chapter Sweethearts at both Thurmont and Emmitsburg Community Shows will be honored on Friday evening.

Prize money to winning exhibitors will be increased to about $1,000. First, second and third place winners in all departments and classes will be increased 25 cents.

The Catoctin High School Band will perform on Saturday night. During the next several weeks members of the Thurmont and Emmitsburg Granges will be contacting various business places in the northern end of the county for advertisements in the community show booklet. Their continued fine support will be greatly appreciated.

During the coming weeks, be thinking about your entries to exhibit at the show and win some prize money, a blue, red or white ribbon or better yet, a department champion ribbon or even the Grand Champion ribbon of the show. This event is sponsored by the Catoctin FFA and the Thurmont and Emmitsburg Granges in cooperation with the Maryland State Fair Board.

SENIOR CITIZENS TO MEET

The Emmitsburg Senior Citizens Club will hold its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, July 20, at 7:30 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fuss will be present to tell of some of their interesting travels. Do turn out for an interesting and profitable program. Mrs. Kathryn Klosky and Mrs. Elizabeth Nestor are on the refreshment committee.

Where and when is the next bus trip or a colorful picnic?

Fly Rod Casting Clinic

The Catoctin Recreation Center will sponsor a casting clinic during the week of July 26-29 in the evenings at the local high school. Emphasis will be placed on offering both beginning and advanced casting instructions to local anglers. The clinic will be directed by some of the top casting authorities in the area, including the Maryland State Champion. Local anglers should watch next week for details concerning time of the clinic.

Find Summer Jobs For College Students

Students attending Luther Rice College, Alexandria, Va., the four-year Baptist liberal arts college in the National Capital Area, are finding many job opportunities for employment for the summer and for part time work during the fall and spring semesters.

Luther Rice College attracts students who are active in their churches, and a large percentage plan to become pastors, evangelists or musicians. The college has many calls from area churches for help in these career fields. Some students have pastorates, others work as associates and directors of youth activities.

Students who are able to do heavy manual labor find in the busy construction industry well-paid jobs and opportunities for keeping in top physical condition. Other students are employed as life guards, playground supervision, clerks, typists and household work. So far as is known, every student who desires employment has been able to secure a job. Several young ladies are provided room and board in exchange for light house work and babysitting.

Luther Rice College expects a steady growth through the coming years because of natural advantages of the National Capital Area. The College welcomes applicants from all races and provides a special tutoring program for those who are not proficient in English.

Byron Cites Political Campaign Reform Bill

Rep. Goodloe E. Byron said this week that the campaign reform bill approved by his House Communications Subcommittee is "urgently needed to hold down spiraling campaign costs and to provide for a more complete account of a candidate's expenditures."

Last Wednesday the House subcommittee approved a measure setting a limit of ten cents per eligible voter on general election political broadcast, newspaper and magazine spending. Political broadcast spending would be limited to no more than half this amount.

"In the 1968 presidential election the three contending parties spent a reported total of $100 million, up 67 per cent over 1964. And this does not include spending for House and Senate seats, gubernatorial chairs or local races," Byron said.

"The time is ripe for positive campaign reform but Congress must act soon before the start of the 1972 campaigns," he said.

The freshman congressman said it was his understanding that the measure would "probably" be brought before the full committee later this month.

"If our full committee gives it quick action then perhaps it might reach the floor of the House before the August recess," Byron said.

Soccer League Opens

Area people interested in the game of soccer are invited to report to the Catoctin High Recreation Center for participation in a recreation soccer league.

Scheduled to begin Wednesday evening, July 21 at 7:30 p.m., is a four team league with seven members to a team. People of all ages are invited to play in the league that will feature seven aside play, participation by everyone, a good workout for those fellows needing a little jogging time, and play on a smaller than regulation field. The league will run each Wednesday night for six weeks with games slated for 7:30 and 8:15.

Doctor Re-Elected To AAGP Membership

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—George L. Morningstar, M.D., Emmitsburg, Md., has been re-elected to active membership in the American Academy of General Practice, the national association of family doctors. Re-election signifies that the physician has successfully completed 150 hours of accredited postgraduate medical study in the last three years. Members become eligible for re-election at the end of the third year following their election to membership.

The Academy, the country's second largest national medical association, is the only national medical group that requires members to keep up with medical progress through continuing education.

The Academy, founded in 1947, and headquartered in Kansas City, Mo., has been instrumental in the establishment of a new primary medical specialty in family practice. The new specialty is expected to increase the numbers of family physicians available to serve the public in the future. The Academy's postgraduate education program is the foundation of eligibility for family doctors now in practice who apply for certification in the new specialty.

shoot at. It was about time the American League had a turn in the win column, even though I can't be too sorry for them because I can remember as a youngster several years in which they took the senior circuit with no apologies.

High school principals in Frederick County have complained that some graduates have used aerosol paint cans to immortalize their memory. I know of no instance of this in Emmitsburg even though some autos were painted a couple of weeks ago. I'm sure glad we haven't had any more of that, it could be very costly for the owners.
