LOOKING AHEAD

By George S. Benson, President, National Education Program
Searcy, Arkansas

We Cannot Trust The USSR
Although our present U. S. foreign policy would seem to be based on a trust in the integrity of Communist Russia and Communist China, some of the way people among those responsible for our national defense point out that there is overwhelming evidence the Reds cannot be trusted. When the Kremlin bosses of Soviet Communism declare themselves publicly for "world peace," Chairman F. Edward Hebert of the House Armed Services Committee says he can't hear what they are saying because of the shattering noises made by their swiftly expanding navy, air force and unmatched nuclear missile arsenal.

"Russia," he said to me, "is essentially a land nation with practically no usable year-round port facilities on her own land area. Yet, Russia is building—has built—an all-ocean Navy. In fact, she obviously is determined to become 'Mistress of the Seas.' She is building the mightiest and biggest fleets in all the world, deploying fleets in all the oceans and seas. Why, unless there are plans for world aggression, does Russia build such far-reaching Naval power?"
The "Soft" Attitude
Some people in Washington, who have consistently taken a "soft" attitude toward the continuing growth of Russia's power, explain it by saying,

"Well, the Russians are afraid of U. S. intentions; and they have China to contend with. They are arming for self-defense." Most of the key security people in Washington scoff at such an explanation. "The Russians are no fools," they say. "They know their history and they know the attitudes of Americans. They know that we are not an aggressive nation, that we do not want any part of Russia, or Asia, or any other country. They know this, and they mean to take advantage of it—by trying to weaken our ca-capacity to defend ourselves, while they build a massive striking force. And as for China, she is, compared to Russia militarily, a primitive country; she would be no more than a flea on the back of the mighty Russian bear! Russia could knock out China in a few days."

"Second To None!"
Senator John L. McClellan, whom I consider to be a Rock of Gibraltar when the security of the American people and our national defense is involved, is worried about our deteriorating military strength. He told me off the record some of the factors creating his anxiety about our safety in a world becoming dominated politically and militarily by the Soviet Union.

And for the record, Senator McClellan, who is Chairman of the powerful Government Operations Committee and a ranking member of the Appropriations Committee, gave me this terse statement for publication:

"Our Government, its leaders and the Congress—and the American people—must determine at once that we are going to maintain an air force, missile capability and submarine fleet second to none in the world! I do not think it is advisable or necessary for us to keep large ground forces overseas. We should withdraw 300,000 GI's and their families from Europe, and leave 50,000 as our token manpower force in NATO. I believe other NATO countries, whom we have helped reestablish themselves economically now should shoulder the burden of NATO manpower in Europe. Our air force, submarines and missiles would continue in a deterrent role. In this manner, we could save $4 to $5 billion a year, and this money could be put into military hardware, along with some of the billions we will save as the Vietnam war winds down."

Urgent Citizen Business
Are our Government leaders and the Congress— and the American people—determined at once to rebuild a military strength second to none in the world? No. Not in January 1972 are they that determined. Some people in the Executive Branch (particularly in the Pentagon) want this done; a majority of the House membership wants it done, and a growing number of Senators are awakening to the mounting Soviet military threat and our dwindling strength. But there are not yet enough Senators determined to push through a crash-program of Navy re-building, missile catch-up, and submarine and air force expansion needed as a minimum, in the opinion of the experts I contacted, to protect the U. S. in any event-uality. So this, it seems to me, is the most urgent citizen business. We will continue to report on the national defense crisis, but for now our most urgent plea is for every citizen to write his Senators and the President once a week until we see clear evidence that we are on the way to regaining a military superiority that would convince the Soviets they cannot destroy us.

NO. 23,586 EQUITY IN THE CIRCUIT COURT FOR FREDERICK COUNTY MARYLAND

BRENDA LEE WILLIS
125 Water Street
Frederick, Maryland
VS.
LOWELL GEORGE WILLIS
322 Elmira Street
Williamsport, Pennsylvania

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
The object of this Bill of Complaint is to procure a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the Defendant, Lowell George Willis.

The Bill recites that the Complainant, Brenda Lee Willis, is a resident of Frederick County, State of Maryland, where she has resided for more than one year last past; that the Defendant, Lowell George Willis, is presently residing at 322 Elmira Street, Williamsport, Pennsylvania; that the parties to this cause were married on the 3rd day of February, 1969, at Frederick, Maryland, by Rev. Odell R. Carr; that as a result of the said marriage no children were born; that the parties to this cause have voluntarily lived separate and apart without any cohabitation for more than eighteen months prior to the filing of this Bill of Complaint, and that the separation between the parties is beyond any reasonable hope or expectation of reconciliation.

The Bill then prays that the Complainant, Brenda Lee Willis, be divorced A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the Defendant, Lowell George Willis, and be granted the right to resume her maiden name of Brenda Lee Cregger, and for such other and further relief as the nature of her case may require.

ORDER OF COURT
It is thereupon this 10th day of January, 1972, by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, Maryland, sitting as a Court of Equity, ORDERED that the Complainant give notice to the Defendant of the object and substance of this Bill, by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in the County of Frederick, once each week for four successive weeks prior to the 12th day of February, 1972, commanding him to be and appear in this Court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 14th day of March, 1972, and show cause, if any, why a Decree should not be passed as prayed.

BUSINESS AND THE STOCK MARKET

Labor Outlook For 1972
By Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass., January 27, 1972—Despite the fact that the new year opened with continuing trouble on the docks and recurrent friction between labor and the Pay Board, 1972 will see far fewer situations than were noted in the past two years. For one thing, only about 2,800,000 employees are covered by pacts scheduled for reopening this year, compared with approximately 4,800,000 in both 1970 and 1971. Even more significant is the lack of pattern-setting industries involved, and surely none on the level of the steel giants that met unions at the bargaining table in 1971. There will, as usual, be expiration or reopening of agreements in a fair number of fields, including machinery, communications, retail outlets, clothing manufacturing, chemicals, and building trades. But for the most part, settlements should be made without serious dislocation of management-labor relations or critical flare-ups over concessions. Perhaps the touchiest conditions exist in the building industry, where outsized benefits may be negotiated, bringing the Pay Board into open fray with union forces. If the public good is threatened by a walkout—as in the case of the longshoremen—Congress will not hesitate to pass a one-shot restrictive law as it has in the past, even though this is an election year.

Phase Two Problems
There have been differences among the Pay Board's three factions since the initiation of Phase 2, with fault-finding over decisions and disagreements over the fairness of pay versus price rulings. This year, however, tensions should be somewhat reduced because of more relaxed standards. The Board has adopted rules which permit raises to be granted if they fell due during the wage-price-rent freeze period, although there is still a general guideline of 5.5%. Here again, however, there is considerable elasticity, and some wage hikes in both multi-year contracts and newly signed agreements are being allowed to surpass this yardstick limitation under special circumstances. There are still enough uncertainties and enough confusion to keep both employers and workers restless while Phase 2 is still operating.

Labor authorities are basically of the opinion that controls are illegal because they change terms included in an already accepted pact. More economists, politicians, and businessmen also have an uneasy feeling about the effectiveness of wage-price curbs, particularly in peace-time. President Nixon himself—despite brave claims that price increases can be reduced to 2%-3% a year within a reasonable length of time—has never really had confidence in such wage-price curbs. He has clearly recognized their failure in the past, and he has strongly hinted that he intends to terminate Phase 2 before the year is out. Since he generally goes through with his promises—and it is an election year—controls could easily be over and done with long before the deadline of April 1973 recently established by Congress.

New Labor Laws
It is the opinion of the Research Department of Babson's Reports that Congress will not enact any new "anti-labor" legislation this year, except—as we have noted—one-shot measures if they are really needed to protect the public. The so-called simple are not of a kind to antagonize organized labor in an election year by passing any law that could conceivably be thought of as anti-union. If there is such action, it will not be taken until things are safe politically again in 1973.

There will be an increasing trend toward shorter-term labor agreements, insisted upon by unions in the hope of getting bigger raises after controls are eliminated. Over recent years the pattern has been three years pacts with front-loading of the largest raise in the first year, smaller increases in the second and third years. But stress will be on brief contracts in 1972, with building pacts already averaging eighteen months instead of 1970's thirty months.

County Ambulance Drivers Taking Emergency Medical Care Course At Frederick Memorial Hospital

A course in emergency medical care is presently being offered to 30 county ambulance drivers and assistants at the Frederick Memorial Hospital. Classes began on Wednesday evening, January 19.

The block of instruction, which is divided into two courses, Emergency Care I and II, is being taught by Dr. Robert R. Roberts, assisted by James Snyder of Laytonsville. Three members of the ambulance squad of each unit in the county are participating in the courses, which are recognized by the Fire Service Extension Department of the University of Maryland.

Upon completion of the course, which was formulated by the U. S. Department of Transportation, the ambulance personnel will be given emergency medical technician certificates. The classes will be held for three hours every Wednesday and ending with the test on June 14.

Dr. Roberts said that he will be using a textbook entitled "Emergency Care and Transportation of the Sick and Injured," prepared by the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons for the Department of Transportation. Dr. Roberts is an official contributor to the book.

The subject matter given in Emergency Care I includes: airway obstruction and pulmonary arrest; bleeding and shock; wounds and bandaging; injuries of the head, face, neck and spine; injuries to the eye, chest, abdomen, pelvis and genitalia; fractures of the upper and lower extremities; medical emergencies I, and lifting and moving patients.

Instruction during the Emergency Care II course will cover: operations of driving an emergency vehicle; maintaining a safe and ready vehicle; records and reports; communication; procedures of hospital emergency rooms; responding to an ambulance call; mechanical aids to breathing; pulmonary resuscitation and cardiac arrest; child birth and problems of child patients; medical emergencies II; emergency medical vehicle design and use of forcible entry tools (outdoor course).

Dr. Roberts said that the instruction will also include observing various departments and equipment at Frederick Memorial Hospital.

Taking the course from the Emmitsburg Ambulance Corps, which is sponsored by Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 6658, are chairman Leo M. Boyle; James Kittinger, and Charles Champlain.

W-2 Deadline Near

The deadline for employers to give employees their 1971 W-2 forms is Monday, January 31, 1972, Irving Machiz, District Director of Internal Revenue for Maryland and the District of Columbia, said this week.

The form should show earnings, income tax withheld and Social Security information.

A W-2 from each employer has to be filed by the employee with his income tax return. Therefore, it is important that employers furnish W-2's to their employees by the date required to permit timely preparation and filing of employees' tax returns.

A penalty may be charged for each late W-2 he sends out.

Town Library Offers Many Services

Are you the well read person? I don't suppose that is a fair question to put to the people of Emmitsburg. I don't really propose to ask whether one considers himself well read. The Emmitsburg Library is one of the town's oldest establishments. Beginning in 1906 it opened for a few hours per week to the Emmitsburg people. Now it boasts of having 92,000 books owned by the people of Maryland. Your Emmitsburg Library has been open for almost ten years and you have at your fingertips the resources for approximately 8,000 books plus the advantage of the more than 50,000 books in the C. Burr Artz Library in Frederick. The Enoch Pratt Catalog at your local library will enable you to familiarize yourself with the Baltimore collector, and enable you to order any book listed therein.

Whenever you have a question on the weather or the time to plant your spring onions, or where to send your daughter to college, or maybe you want to pass your High School Equivalency Test, visit your local library. If we don't have the answer we certainly have the facilities for finding out. Libraries are anxious to be of service to the community, why not drop in and find out what it is all about. You're eligible for a card and you need only one for the whole state to partake of this privilege.

Back to the original question in the beginning of this article. I have been asked to recommend books to a person who would like to consider herself well read. How does one go about telling such a person what to read? Does keeping up with the best sel-

By Congressman Goodloe Byron Maryland—Sixth District

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks. Letters should be sent to me, c/o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515.

I read that the National Park Service has developed environmental lesson books for school children. Can you send me information on these books?

These new "Adventures in Environment" books are designed for use by middle elementary and some junior high school classes and consist of three soft cover books. Two are for pupil use, one of these for the classroom, and the other—small enough to slip into a jacket pocket—for outside environments. The third book is a teacher's guide. The lessons were conceived as a means of giving young people a greater enjoyment and appreciation of parks and an expanded sense of citizen responsibility for the stewardship of the parks. More than 80 areas within the National Park System, including Catoctin Mountain Park in Thurmont, are being utilized as schools for environmental learning in conjunction with the lesson books. Information on ordering the "Adventures in Environment" publications may be obtained by writing to the Silver Burdett Company, Morristown, New Jersey 07960.

Do you have any available figures no the supply and demand for coal last year? According to the Bureau of Mines, the domestic demand for bituminous coal in 1971 remained at approximately the 1970 level. The Bureau also said that growth in coal consumption by the electric utility industry to offset declines in all other markets and that a "pronounced increase" in 1972's coal supply is expected to rebuild stockpiles depleted by the 44-day work halt. Incidentally, as a result of the strike, production of coal and lignite declined nearly 9 percent.

By what criteria are wildlife restoration funds distributed among the states? Wildlife restoration funds are derived from the 11 percent excise tax on sporting arms and ammunition and distribution is based on a formula which takes into account the number of hunting license holders and the area of each State. Maryland received $226,000 in fiscal year 1972 and these monies must be used on approved State wildlife projects which include acquisition of land suitable for habitat, development of the habitat and research to aid in managing game species.

Several months ago I applied for Veterans Education Benefits to pay for correspondence course lessons in heavy equipment. I have not heard anything from VA and am running out of my own money to pay for the schooling. Could you check with VA?

Your inquiry concerning the GI educational assistance allowance was brought to the attention of the Veterans Administration. VA regrets the delay and inconvenience caused you and a check for $800 has been sent to cover your educational and related training expenses.

Byron Offers Legislation To Promote Research Program On Heroin Addiction

A bill to promote an emergency national research program to combat heroin addiction has been introduced in the House by Rep. Goodloe E. Byron (D-6th-Md.). Byron said the bipartisan measure, which would stimulate public and private industry in seeking a cure for heroin addiction, was a result of lengthy investigations and hearings held last year by the House Select Committee on Crime. "The report indicated a link between spiraling crime figures and heroin addiction, and conservatively estimates a financial drain on the economy at $3 to $3½ billion," Byron said. "In addition to the social costs of lives ruined, the addict is a major burden to police departments, hospitals, courts and correctional personnel."

Perspective In Learning By Hazel Brown

'What Should I Do? My Child Can't Read'
Reading is more than just recognizing and saying words. It is a process of thinking, evaluating, reasoning and problem-solving. It is an essential tool of learning.
There are times when educational, emotional, and intellectual factors are such that a reading disability does occur. What can you — as a parent — do if this should happen with your child?
First, parents should not become anxious from the many publications on "dyslexia" or specific language disability. There is little agreement among educators as to what this term actually means. It usually has some neurological implications which are very difficult to diagnose. A minority of children with reading problems could be classified as "dyslexic." It is better if parents just ignore labels and try to help their child achieve some success.
The possible causes for reading difficulties are many. Usually a combination of causes are present such as emotional maladjustment, unfavorable attitudes, lack of reading readiness, ineffective teaching, visual deficiencies, hearing deficiencies, and other physical conditions. The home environment may also be related to the success or failure in learning to read. No one knows for sure why, but boys seem to have more difficulty than girls.
Parents can be of great assistance if they become aware of a child's reading problem as early as possible. The parents and teacher should discuss the problem and possible cooperative solution. If the difficulty is too severe to be handled by the classroom teacher, the parents should make arrangements for the child to visit a reading center or clinic. Information about qualification can be obtained from the International Reading Association, Newark, Delaware.
Parents should insist upon consultation with the diagnostician or specialist about the results and implications of the testing. You have a right to know what follow-ups should be made. Ask the specialists what suggestions they have and then be willing to follow that advice.
There are many things which parents can do to enrich a child's remedial reading program. The following are some suggestions.
1. Regulate the child's activities when he is out of school so that he has a chance for outdoor play after periods of study.
2. When helping the child with reading activities, control tempers and anxieties.
3. Provide news papers, magazines, and books which offer interesting topics. Boys like to read the sports page, a racing magazine or directions for building a model.
4. When listening to your child read, tell him a word if he gets into difficulty.
5. Let the child know that you appreciate his accomplishments. Such as: Stressing his ability to play ball rather than discussing his failure to read well.
6. Avoid ridicule or making comparisons with others in the family.
7. Help your child by reading to him assignments in content areas, such as history, arithmetic, etc.
Following these suggestions in combination with what the teacher suggests should enable your child to improve his reading skills. Learning must be a cooperative effort between the parents and the teachers.

Town Postmaster's Zip Column

The proposed increase in postage rates, which were to become effective on January 24, 1972, have been postponed until further notice.

Sidney Lanier will be honored in the third stamp in the American Poets series, to be issued at Macon, Georgia, on February 3, 1972. Previous American Poet series stamps commemorated Edgar Lee Masters and Emily Dickinson.

Lanier was born in Macon, Georgia, February 3, 1842. He had a brief, but distinguished career as teacher, lawyer, musician and poet. Lanier died at age 39.

His statue is in the Hall of Fame at New York University, in recognition of poetry drawn mostly from the Southern scene. Lanier's knowledge of music—he was first flutist with the Peabody Institute orchestra in Baltimore—prompted him to experiment with new poetry techniques as he broke away from the patterns of Tennyson and other Victorians. This stamp will go on sale at our office on Friday, February 4, 1972. George E. Rosensteel, PM.

Roxie Aubol Wins Youth Leadership Contest Sponsored By Frederick Elks

Miss Roxie Aubol, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Aubol, Sr., of 22 Blue Ridge Avenue, Thurmont, won first prize in the 1971 Youth Leadership Contest, sponsored by the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks in Frederick County. Her prize was a $50.00 scholarship, to be used in furthering her education. She will be entered into the state-wide competition.

Roxie, a senior at Catoctin High School, included in her application an essay covering her contributions to the youth of the community. Also included in her application was a letter of endorsement from Mr. William B. Green, Sr. of the National Security Agency in Washington, D. C., which read in part, "Roxanne is an extremely industrious person and through her own initiative has held difficult part-time jobs and still maintained high scholastic standing."

Newspaper clippings, a recent photograph, and a family biography, which was supposed to be written by a relative or guardian, and which was written by Mrs. Aubol, were also included in Roxie's application.

Maryland Representative Goodloe E. Byron had written a letter of congratulations to Roxie for her participation in Girls' State, a citizenship development program sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary which was held at the University of Maryland, Baltimore Campus, in Catonsville. This letter was also a part of Roxie's entry.

An honor roll certificate and a letter of commendation from Mr. Harper Long, principal of CHS, were both included in Roxie's application.

During the last three years, Roxie, an honor roll student, has been an active member of many clubs and committees. As a freshman and sophomore, she was a Student Council Representative, and in the eleventh grade, she served as parliamentarian. In ninth when a sopho, was a member of the Valley Region Association of Student Councils, and grade, Roxie was a member of its executive board.

Roxie was a student representative for the Catoctin High School Community Association for two years, and represented Catoctin at a Leadership Workshop held at St. Mary's City over the past summer. As a member of the planning committee for the first Frederick County Educational Conference, an organization that endeavors to close the communication gap between parents, teachers, and students, Roxie represented Catoctin High School at the
