Local residents will have to agree that the Good Lord had us in mind during last week's flood. Some areas in Frederick County were hit pretty hard. In Maryland, perhaps Howard County was hit harder than most. We here in Emmitsburg and much of the northern part of the county came off pretty lucky.

Certainly, some folks had some water in their homes or businesses and others were kept from regular duties by high water on the roads. However no one in the immediate area suffered the real hardship inflicted on others in the country.

Area people are to be commended for their assistance to Detour. This town experienced extensive damage from Pipe Creek but appears to be coming out of it very well.

Vigilant Hose Company members did a yeoman's job by pumping basements. I'm sure the damage to residents belongings would have been much greater without their efforts. In addition, some of the equipment of both the Rocky Ridge and Thurmont Fire Companies were in town giving a hand. Our appreciation goes to them also.

The town council ought to give all the companies a big pat on the back.

I was interested in the comments of a law officer in southern Frederick County. He commented on the help received from the long haired young people in his area. He said that the youths came in and worked side by side with everyone else during the storm, then left without asking for anything. I'm sure the story was the same in many other areas.

This week McGovern people had a little trouble with their arithmetic. Most of us heard the announcement that George had enough votes to clinch the nomination after wheeling and dealing with a group of blacks. This was followed shortly by a correction. The new count left him a few votes short.

You would think that a fellow hoping to be President would have at least one fellow on his staff who can add.

The County Commissioners probably will be working on flood problems for some time. However they did find time recently to allocate $500 for Emmitsburg's summer recreation. We had better make good use of th money. I hear it will be the last for mthe county and there will be no budget next year. This years program looks great but the town had better start saving its pennies if we hope e to be able to carry the whole load next year.

ANNOUNCE BIRTH

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard C. Thompson, Baltimore, announce the birth of a son, Brian Charles, on June 15.

Mrs. Thompson is the former Rebecca Keilholtz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Keilholtz, Tract Road, Mr. Thompson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Thompson of Rocky Ridge.

VFW AUXILIARY MEETING

The regular meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary to Emmitsburg Memorial Post 6658, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be held at the Post Home on Thursday, July 6, at 8 p.m. Prior to the regular meeting, the Anniversary Party Committee will meet at 7 o'clock.

Orioles In Top Spot

Monday night the Orioles took over undisputed first place in the Emmitsburg Little League, by defeating the Red Sox 6-5. The game was tied going into the fifth inning. The Red Sox came up with two big runs, but the Orioles came back with three on a hit batsman, a single by Dwight Topper, and they were driven in on a double off the fence by Sam Topper, who scored the winning run one out later on a single to right by Lenny Zentz.

Area Deaths

CHARLES W. KNOX
Charles William Knox, 68, Mountainview Rd., Emmitsburg, died at the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, Tuesday evening at 9:04 o'clock.

A native of Carroll County, he had resided in the Emmitsburg vicinity for 42 years. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Knox.

He is survived by his wife, Dorothy Baumgardner Knox; two daughters and a son, Polly, Linda and Charles Thomas Knox, all of Emmitsburg; a sister, Mrs. Mary Carbaugh, Hanover, and three half brothers, Paul Knox, McSherrytown, and George and Ralph Knox, both of Taneytown.

He was a member of Elias Lutheran Church, Emmitsburg; the Fraternal Order of Eagles, Gettysburg, and was a social member of the VFW of Emmitsburg.

Funeral services will be held Friday morning at 10:30 from Elias Lutheran Church, Emmitsburg, with Rev. W. Ronald Fearer and Rev. Philip Bower officiating. Interment will be in the Keysville Cemetery. Friends may call this evening (Thursday) at the Wilson Funeral Home in Emmitsburg and at the church Friday morning from 10 o'clock until the time of service. The family has suggested that in lieu of flowers donations be made to the Heart Fund or to Elias Lutheran Church.

MRS. LAYMAN REESE

Mrs. Lottie I. Reese, aged 48, wife of Layman J. Reese, of Blue Ridge Summit, died at the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, Wednesday afternoon following an illness of five years.

She was born in Adams County, daughter of the late Clarence and Grace Miller Harbaugh.

Surviving in addition to her husband, are one son, Richard Reese of Fairfield and two daughters, Mrs. Diane Wagerman and Miss Barbara Ann Reese, both of Blue Ridge Summit; two grandchildren; four brothers, Stanley Harbaugh, Highfield, Morris Harbaugh, Blue Ridge Summit, Leroy and Russell Harbaugh, of Fairfield; and three sisters, Mrs. Bessie Benchoff, Charmian, Mrs. Geneva Sanders, Blue Ridge Summit, and Mrs. Ruth Sites of Fairfield.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2 p.m. with the Rev. Fr. John Paukovits officiating. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery, Fairfield. Friends may call at the Wilson Funeral Home in Fairfield this evening (Thursday).

Completes School

Richard Green
Richard Green, 14, has just completed his 8th year of school at the Rock Creek Center for Exceptional Children in Frederick, with a perfect attendance for the second year in a row. Dickie is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Green, 429 Lincoln Ave., Emmitsburg.

Lions Club

The Emmitsburg Lions Club held a regular meeting Monday evening, June 26 with President Norman Flax presiding. The Club voted to donate $100 for the benefit of Detour flood relief. Installation of next years' officers will take place at the next regular meeting. An attractive program is being arranged for the event.

The annual All-Star game of the Frederick-Carroll Softball League will be held this Sunday evening on Emmitsburg's Community Field beginning at 6:30 p.m.

The new High's Store on West Main Street opened Wednesday. District Supervisor Jim Hoagland and Manager Jim Wisotzky were out front ready to greet the first customers.

Catoctin Team For Quiz Show Chosen

A three-man team has been chosen from the student body of Catoctin High School to represent the school on the television quiz show, "It's Academic."

The team consist of seniors Katie Marshall, Domitio Baysic, and Bob Henke. The three alternate team members are senior Susie Morningstar, and sophomore Bill Gray and Pat O'Brien. The students were chosen mainly on the basis of an audition held April 29 at WBAL, where "It's Academic" is videotaped. The actual show on which the Catoctin High students will appear will be taped December 16, 1972 at WBAL in Baltimore.

"It's Academic" is a quiz show in which high school students compete for scholarships for their school. The student representatives are quizzed orally in five main categories: history, literature, science, mathematics, and general knowledge. The show is a test of both ready knowledge, but respond before its competitors.

Starting with the opening of school in September, the team and alternates will drill once a week until December 16, when the show will be taped. Mr. Michael Miller, of the CHS English department, is the team's coach. The date on which the Catoctin students will appear on TV will be announced later.

Sale Repeated

Due to the inclement weather, the arts and crafts sale which was held at the Charnita Ski Lodge on June 24, will be repeated Saturday, July 1, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the lodge.

Along with the local crafts, ten professional artists will be exhibiting. Special feature this week will be charcoal sketches.

Citizen Comment

President
Vigilant Hose Company
Emmitsburg, Maryland
Dear Sir:

Now that we have dried up our basement and removed the traces of the recent flood, I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Emmitsburg Vigilant Hose Company for their wonderful help they gave us during that eerie evening when the waters never seemed to stop gushing in. Gene Myers and his men of the fire company not only were indispensable that evening; by their presence they provided us cheerful encouragement and tremendous moral support. The humor which they and their colleagues from Rocky Ridge supplied either when the generator failed to crank up, or when we did not have enough hose, or when we ran out of buckets, gave us all a moment to pause and think of other less fortunate people who were rendered homeless by this flood.

Thank you again for your help, and I hope the events of that evening will not become a weekly occurrence.
Sincerely,
Emile A. Nakhleh

SJC Math Teacher Advises TV Series

Sister John Frances Gilman, Ph.D., associate professor of mathematics, St. Joseph College, has been named principal curriculum advisor by the Maryland State Department of Education, Division of Instructional Television, for an upcoming series in calculus for TV.

Sister John Frances will advise on scripts, videotapes and piloting for 60 television lessons of a 90-lesson calculus series to be produced in color by the Division of Instructional Television in cooperation with the Division of Instruction and the Washington County Public School system.

The State Department of Education has arranged for Sister John Frances and William Kercheval, mathematics supervisor, Washington County, to serve as consultants for the series. Thomas Rowan of the Division of Instruction and chairman of the State ITV mathematics committee, is also serving as advisor to this series.

Thirty of the 90 lessons will be self-instructional and/or classroom teacher taught lessons. The calculus programs are designed for those high school seniors of exceptional mathematical ability. Freshman students in college taking introductory courses in mathematics may also benefit from the series. Each program of the 60 color telecasts will be one-half hour in length and will be taught by Thomas Prather and Richard Munch, calculus instructors on loan to the Division of ITV from the Washington County Public School System.

The series will be introduced at selected schools during spring semester 1973, and shown statewide over Channel 67 during the following fall semester. A graduate of Manhattanville College, Sister John Frances was awarded the master's degree in mathematics at the Catholic University of America and the Ph.D. at St. Louis University. She has been a member of St. Joseph's faculty since 1966, and was appointed director of the computer science program there in 1968.

A member of several professional organizations and honor societies, Sister John Frances is currently serving as president of the board of the Maryland School - College Mathematics Association. She is the author of several articles on mathematics, has lectured widely, and is the recipient of several grants, notably from the DuPont Corporation to develop a series of computer programs and a student handbook of computer programmed chemistry problems.

LEGION TO MEET

The regular meeting of the Francis X. Elder Post 121, American Legion will be held Monday evening, July 3, at 8 o'clock. The meeting will be held at Kump's Dam Park. Note the change in date due to July 4 being a holiday.

Speaking of animals extinct and other wise; near Wooler, Northumberland, England, is a herd of pure, uncrossed white cattle whose ancestors roamed the hills there more than 10,000 years ago.

Town Chorus Gives Concert Next Week

The Emmitsburg Community Chorus will present a repeat of its Spring Concert, "Music From Across the Footlights," on Friday evening, July 7, at 8 o'clock, in DePaul Auditorium, St. Joseph College, D.C., will direct the group and Miss Beverly Davis will be the pianist.

Everyone is invited to this program and there will be no admission charge. Plan now to attend.

Notice to all chorus members: Rehearsal June 30 at 8 p.m. at St. Joseph College. Please be there!

Church Council To Begin Youth Events

On Monday, July 3, St. Joseph's Church, in conjunction with the Emmitsburg Council of Churches, will begin the annual Recreational-Religious Youth Program. The first two weeks will have morning sessions, from 9:30 to 11:30, at Mother Seton School and is open to children who have completed the 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th grades. The program is being conducted by three Sisters of Charity, and two Vincentian seminarians. There will be no session on Tuesday, July 4. On Monday, July 10, and Monday, July 17, there will be all-day trips to Caledonia Park for all the children who have participated in the daily sessions. Children not previously registered may enroll at the first session on Monday, July 3.

A second two-week session, to be held in the evening from 7:30 until 10, will be held for high school students. Information about this program will be given in a later edition.

Byron Offers Aid To Flood Victims

Immediate and long range help for flood victims will be the goal of Sixth District Congressman Goodloe Byron. Byron told a regional press conference Monday at the Washington County Courthouse in Hagerstown that he was "shocked" by the tragedy of the tropical storm Agnes that devastated this region and much of the East.

To speed up help to area home owners and businesses, Byron will bring to the flood-damaged communities this Thursday and Friday an "emergency mobile office . . . to expedite applications for federal flood disaster relief funds."

He is also asking the Office of Emergency Preparedness to include Washington and Allegany Counties, along with Frederick and others already listed, to receive federal aid. By being included in the President's call, he explained, loans and assistance will be expedited.

For the future — "even though it may sound like closing the door after the horse is out of the barn," Byron said he will introduce a bill to provide "low cost federal flood insurance."
Byron said, "We won't be able to prevent floods, but with (Continued On Page Eight)

Susan Keepers Wed To W. E. Sanders

Mrs. W. E. Sanders, Jr.

Miss Susan Joan Keepers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Keepers, R1, Emmitsburg, and William E. Sanders, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Sanders, Sr., R2, Thurmont, were united in marriage, June 17 at 1 p.m. at a Nuptial Mass in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Emmitsburg.

Rev. Joseph O'Brien, Baltimore, performed the double ring ceremony in a setting of pink and white roses, carnations and baby's breath. Acolytes for the ceremony were Jeffrey and Stephen Keilholtz, cousins of the groom. Leontor was Carl Wetzel, Thurmont. Organist for the ceremony was Larry Forney and soloist was Miss Joyce Shields, Emmitsburg.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white floor length Victorian style organza gown with a full skirt and attached train. Pink satin ribbon outlined the square illusion yoke with Venise lace and daisies at the hem line. Her veil of imported illusion fell from a Venise lace profile accented with leaf and pink flower design. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink rose buds.

Miss Holly Ann Keepers was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a pink floor length organza gown with mandarin neckline, long bishop sleeves, satin sash at the empire waistline, and a soft gathered skirt. She completed her outfit with a matching picture hat with satin ribbon and carried a nosegay of daisies, carnations, and roses with matching ribbon.

The bridesmaids were Miss Susan Sanders, R2, Thurmont, sister of the groom, Miss Sandra Orndorff, Emmitsburg, cousin of the bride, and Miss Diane Martz, East Berlin, Pa. They were attired in gowns identical in style to the maid of honors in colors of blue, yellow, and green. Each carried matching nosegays of daisies, carnations and roses. The flower girl, Miss Renee Wirt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Wirt, Erie, Pa., and niece of the groom, wore a floor length gown of white organza accented with pink daisies in the same style as the maid of honor. She wore a flower headpiece and carried a basket of summer flowers.

Bernard Fink, Jr., Baltimore, was best man. Ushers were Lewis Krietz, Emmitsburg, Michael Krietz, Thurmont, Timothy Keepers, Emmitsburg, and brother of the bride, and Staff Sgt. Francis Kokojo, USMC, Quantico, Va. Master Guy A. Baker III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy A. Baker, Jr., Emmit Gardens, was ringbearer.

A wedding reception was held at Mother Seton School following the ceremony. The bride is a graduate of St. Joseph's High School, Emmitsburg, and the Hanover School of Nursing, Hanover, Pa. She is employed at the Annie M. Warner Hospital, Gettysburg, Pa.

The groom is also a graduate of St. Joseph's High School and Mt. St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg. He served three years of active duty as 1st Lt. in the U. S. Marine Corps, including a tour of duty in Vietnam. He is presently employed by Stoy Malone Company, Certified Public Accountants, Washington, D. C.

Following a wedding trip to Canada and the New England States, the couple will reside at R1, Emmitsburg. Immediately following the wedding rehearsal, a buffet dinner for the wedding party was hosted by the groom's parents at their home.

Area Damage Light From Recent Flood

Although many Emmitsburg residents experienced water in their basements as a result of last week's flood, damage in the area was relatively light compared with other areas in Frederick County. Total flood damage in the county could rise to $20 million.

Perhaps the hardest hit nearby town was Detour which had water up to the second floor in some houses. The Emmitsburg Lions Club donated $100 to Detour relief Monday. The Rocky Ridge Fire Company has been collecting relief donations this past week.

A spokesman said that damage to the county's bridges and bridge approaches is estimated at more than $7 million.

The $7 million damage estimate does not include the remainder of the county's roads. Ten bridges are closed in the county, while the Devilbiss Bridge between Rt. 15 and the Walkersville area was being checked by the Army Corps of Engineers to determine whether it was irreparably damaged.

Some repairs may postpone the scheduled improvement of other county roads, since money slated for their upgrading may have to be used for flood repairs.

The sewage treatment plant serving the Point of Rocks Estates and other commercial concerns outside the town had an estimated $6000 damage to its pumps and electrical equipment.

The Ceresville Sewage pumping station had $60,000 damage to its electrical system and auxiliary generator. However, a plant on New Design Road near Noland's Ferry was saved from the deluge by a water-sealed door.

The county's parks lost between $25,000 and $50,000, partly from the flood, and partly from looting.

The $2,000 damage to the Thurmont Elementary School, Emmitsburg Middle School and Carroll Manor Elementary, would probably not be eligible for federal or state relief because their damage came from rain leaks and not the flood.

Congressman Goodloe Byron will be at Winchester Hall in Frederick Friday morning between 9 and 10 o'clock to explain how to apply for federal relief.

Post Office Closed

Our business lobby will be closed on Tuesday, July 4, in observance of Independence Day.

There will be no rural delivery service on this day. However, there will be a dispatch and receipt of mail in the morning only.

Therefore, those customers renting post office boxes, may pickup their mail after 9 a.m. and until 6 p.m., at which time the lobby doors will be locked.

On Friday, June 30, a new commemorative postal card will be placed on sale. It commemorates Tourism Year of the Americas '72.

Tourism Year of the Americas '72 is sanctioned by the General Assembly of the International Union of Official Travel Organizations. One of its goals is to foster friendship and understanding, thru travel, among the peoples of the United States, Canada, Latin America and the Caribbean. The United States Travel Service of the Department of Commerce guides these activities in the United States.

Each of the five pictorial postal cards has on the reverse side reproductions of four scenes that are high spots for tourists. The message area is to the left of the front of the card. The cards will be introduced with ceremonies in Brussels, Belgium, in conjunction with the major stamp exhibition, BELGICA.

Vacation School Program Ends Fri.

The Emmitsburg Community Vacation Church School, which began June 19, will hold its concluding program this Friday evening.

The school, which has been sponsored by the Emmitsburg Council of Churches, has involved over 109 children from the area from Nursery thru the Sixth Grade. The Director of the school has been Mrs. John C. Chatlos with Mrs. Guy A. Baker, Jr., as assistant director.

The concluding program will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Parish Hall of Elias Lutheran Church. Certificates of attendance will be presented to those children who have participated with gold stars going to those who attended seven or more of the sessions. The program will feature class presentations expressing the meaning of their lessons. An offering to help defray expenses and contribute to the school project will be received during the program.

The concluding program is designed to recognize the children as well as to allow parents and friends to see the work of the school. Parents and others will be able to view the children's displays from 7 p.m. until 7:30 p.m. in Elias Church's Parish Hall basement. While parents are visiting the display the children should report to their regular classrooms at the usual time

FREDERICK COUNTY BACKGROUNDS

BY SAMUEL CARRICK
More About The Smiths
Of The "Cattail Branch"
"Crossing the uplands of time,
Skirting the borders of night,
Scaling the face of the peak of dreams,
We enter the regions of light,
And hastening on, with eager intent,
Arrive at the rainbow's end.
And there uncover the pot of gold
Buried deep in the heart of a friend."

—Grace Collidge
In effect this running account of the people buried in old Tom's Creek Lutheran and Reformed churchyard is a genealogical and historical study of the background of the present Elias Lutheran congregation. "What is past is prologue" and the ancient graves at old Tom's Creek are the visible as well as the unseen past. What these pioneers wrought with heart and hand becomes the heritage of the present. So many names have been lost—due to the ravages of time and vandals—that it is necessary to give credit to the "unknown dead" who also labored to establish the church on the then frontier. The Smith family of the "Cattail Branch" can be numbered among those who founded the church on Tom's Creek in 1757. They were a numerous clan and the sons and daughters of the old pioneer and his wife married into neighboring families until the relationships were almost impossible to determine. In Tom's Creek churchyard the Smith monument was located about the middle of the present area and around them were interred their children and grandchildren—"even unto the third generation." Many of the old markers in this section were ripped out and carried away in the early part of the twentieth century but a few remain to tell the story of this pioneering family. In 1956 there were nine marked Smith family graves at Tom's Creek. In addition there were two graves marked with native stones without inscriptions. At least five unmarked graves are also plainly visible. Some of the Smith inscriptions were listed last week—they are concluded today—as follows:

21. Sacred to the memory of Mary Ann Smith, wife of Samuel Smith, and daughter of George and Elizabeth Troxell, died July 24, 1847, aged 41 years and 5 months.

Note: Samuel Smith, the husband of Mary Ann Troxell, was probably a grandson of George (1) and Christiana Smith, of the "Cattail Branch". Samuel Smith died in 1830 in the 28th year of his age. His wife survived him by some seventeen years. It will be remembered that the Troxells were also an old family in Tom's Creek Hundred. They came into Frederick County, Maryland, from Pennsylvania, and built one of the first mills on Tom's Creek.

22. Sacred to the memory of Sarah E. Smith, daughter of Samuel and Mary Ann Smith, died January 8, 1830, aged 3 months and 24 days.

Note: This little girl died just two months before her father and the historian and genealogist cannot help but wonder as to the cause of death in both cases. Perhaps there were other deaths in the family during the same period? One thing is certain—it must have been some highly contagious disease.

23. (Black Slate Stone) In memory of Dr. Samuel Smith, son of John and Catharine Smith, died May 12, 1831, aged (obliterated).

Note: The inscription on this stone is badly worn and quite difficult to decipher. John Smith, another son of John and Catharine Smith, is also buried at old Tom's Creek. Here are also interred the father, John Smith, his first wife, Catharine Smith, whose grave is now unmarked, and his second wife, Sarah Smith. This concludes, for a time at least, the story of the Smiths of the "Cattail Branch."

The next family, of the Tom's Creek Lutheran congregation, to be included in this series, could, at one time, boast of three generations buried in the old churchyard. Today there is no trace of the Waybright family in this ancient burial ground. In the Evergreen Cemetery, Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, these graves can be found (Area D) and they tell a rather complete story.

1. In memory of Michael Waybright, born A.D. 1728, died A.D. 1820, aged 92 years.

2. In memory of Anna Widler, wife of Michael Waybright, born A.D. 1735, died A.D. 1801, aged 66 years.

Note: Michael (1) Waybright and his wife were among the early settlers in Tom's Creek Hundred and were counted among those who purchased "one acre" of ground on Tom's Creek for use as a church and burial ground. In the fullness of time they were interred in this ground among their neighbors and friends. A hundred years later, more or less, their bodies were removed to the cemetery at Gettysburg to be buried with their descendants.

Emmitsburg Library Seeks Special Books

If you belong to an organization that would like to donate a special book to the library in your honor the library would be pleased to use a book plate in the front of the book as an acknowledgment. Some outstanding books on art, antiques, biography or history books would be most gratefully accepted. Some outstanding gifts that are currently in the collection of the library include: Two volumes of "Williams History of Frederick County," donated by Mrs. Marguerite Gellwicks in memory of her late husband. "Pictorial History of World War II," given by Fr. Stauble. "A Handbook of Popular Antiques," by Katharine Morrison McClinton, given by Mrs. John Walter. "Sportsman Encyclopedia," given by the Sportsman Club. "O Jerusalem," given by Mrs. Thomas Seess. A good book the library would like to own and has not had money to buy is a book on collecting bottles by Cecil Munsey. There is a growing interest in bottle collecting and such a book would be an asset to the collection. If you would like to show an interest in your local library by donating a substantial work or taking a particular interest in a special collection of the library, talk to your club about it. Maybe you could help build our biographical section. There are many famous and outstanding people we would like to own books about but cannot afford. Your particular interest could be in the coin collecting or stamp collecting. It could be art or travel. If your club would like to show interest in this worthwhile undertaking, just call us at 447-2582. We would like to hear from you.

The library is most grateful for gifts from Mrs. Frank Ligorano, Mrs. Pat Warthen, Mr. Jack Kaiser, Mr. Robert Mashall, Mr. Bernard Kaliss, Mrs. Hazel Caldwell and Mrs. Nancy Danner. The library is also grateful to Mrs. Becky Brown for letting us display her paintings in the library window; also Mrs. M. Gardner, a newcomer to the area, for displaying her art in the library, and to Miss Donna Needy for her contributions to our display material and making our reading poster. A special thanks to Mrs. Templeton for volunteering her time to speak at Mother Seton School about the Library's summer reading program and to Mrs. Klosky and her helpers for planting our flower boxes again this year. With your continued interest our library will continue to grow and serve the people of this area.

Perspectives In Learning By Hazel Brown

Parents Involvement In Learning Programs
There are many times when parents have a desire to become involved in school activities and learning experiences, but they have no way of fulfilling their interests. Perhaps the concerned parents should initiate "The Parent Involvement Program" in their schools.

This Parent Involvement Program is an interesting idea, specially planned to develop a partnership between teachers and parents. It is what the title suggests—an involvement program. The parents can go right into the classroom and actually participate in the educational activities. It gives parents an opportunity to work cooperatively with teachers and students in many learning experiences.

The main objective of the program is to make learning more child-centered and child-oriented. With parents directly involved with teaching and learning, the children are bound to benefit.

Educational programs can be expanded and can become more flexible, because the parents as helpers can greatly increase the attention given individual students. Much individual instruction takes place that could never happen in most crowded classrooms, and many parents have background experiences which can help the students to develop broader interests.

Many school systems are unable financially to give the students the type of individual attention that is needed. Teachers are often willing and eager to try new methods and techniques but cannot do so because of lack of time, help, and support.

A parent volunteer or helper can free the teacher so that he can improve instruction. A free helper often gives the teacher the necessary encouragement he needs to expand programs and to experiment in new learning activities.

Volunteer parents are busy in many schools doing clerical jobs, checking papers, completing attendance forms, filing materials, and cataloging books. In other schools the parents are working directly with the teachers and students in the classrooms. Many parents read children stories, help them play games, work with hobbies, speak about interests, and many other education-related activities. The activities that parents can become involved in are limitless. The program can be just as creative as the people who participate in it.

Most teachers want parents to be involved and are eager for partnership programs to be developed. Since it is a voluntary concept, all the people involved should feel that they want to work cooperatively and that the program will be a valuable asset in opening lines of communication between the school and the home. Parents who have worked with the Parent Involvement Program have no special qualifications. They are basically interested in education and enjoy working with children in a learning situation. They feel that the entire community will benefit from a parent-teacher partnership and are willing to try anything to meet their goals. They are responsible and dependable people who work hard and find the rewards to be tremendous.

This program can be a success in any community. It needs only parents who are interested in children and learning. Voluntary projects such as this don't just happen—someone has to be the innovator. Get involved!

Bread Winner

Bake "Nectarine Nut Loaf" one day and start enjoying it the next day. It's one of those very delicately flavored breads that actually tastes better the second day.

Made with mashed fresh nectarines and chopped pecans, the loaf is highly recommended for breakfast or weekend brunch or as a snack at any time. Simply slice and spread with butter for a real "bread-winner."

|---|---|
| 2 or 3 fresh nectarines from California | 2 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour |
| 1/2 cup shortening | 2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder |
| 1 cup sugar | 1 teaspoon salt |
| 2 eggs | 1/2 cup chopped pecans or roasted diced almonds |
| 1 teaspoon vanilla | |

Blanch nectarines, remove peel. Mash enough fruit to measure 1 cup. Cream shortening with sugar; mix in eggs and vanilla. Sift flour with baking powder and salt; add to creamed mixture alternately with mashed nectarines, mixing well after each addition. Mix in nuts. Turn into greased and floured 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan; bake in 350 degree (moderate) oven about 1 hour. Cool in pan 10 minutes; remove and finish cooling on rack. Wrap and store overnight for best slicing. Makes 1 loaf.

LOOKING AHEAD

By George S. Benson, President, National Education Program

Searcy, Arkansas

Young America in Vietnam
 Four-star Marine Corps General Lewis W. Walt, in his address to our Freedom Forum at the American Heritage Center in Searcy, Arkansas, gave an entirely different picture of South Vietnam, its people and the war effort, and particularly the role played by American GI's than was reported to the American public by various news media, particularly the TV news "shows." I want to turn over the remainder of this column to General Walt, who commanded the Marine Corps and the Naval forces in Vietnam for two years and has been in constant touch with the situation since his retirement.

"As a U. S. Commander sent to Vietnam, I was to help the South Vietnamese to drive the enemy from their soil and to stay there and protect them until they were able to take care of themselves—until they got strong enough. That is exactly what we have done. The Vietnamization program is nothing more than the principal of building up the South Vietnamese people to where they can take care of themselves, economically, socially, and militarily.

The Unreported Story
 "While I was there, at least half of my Marines were working in the villages and the hamlets with the people in pacification programs. We built such things as children's orphanages, sick bay attendances, and things like this—with the Marines. We spent a lot of time and our Marines took a lot of money out of their own pockets in order to do that. We have children's hospitals out there in Vietnam today. I want to tell you about how one of these hospitals got started.

"It was in July, 1965. I went out to the headquarters of one of my battalions. As I arrived there were five Marines who had been out on a patrol for five days. Near the end of the area where they were on patrol, they ran across a village that the Viet-con had attacked and burned and the villagers were all gone or were dead. But they found a little baby still alive. As I arrived at headquarters this Marine—an 18 year old—came in. He had mud from head to foot.

Heart Of The Military
 "He was tired, hadn't had any sleep for two or three nights, and he was holding this baby in his arms. I asked him what he was going to do with it. He said: 'I don't know, General, but I wasn't going to leave it out there.' So the doctor took the baby and he put it in a little ration box, a pasteboard box, and put straw in it, and started taking care of the baby. The next time I went out to the battalion's headquarters, they had two more babies; and they had started building up a temporary hospital. Today we have a got a very modern children's hospital at the site, as a result of that first baby picked up. Approximately 50,000 kids have been taken care of in that hospital!

"This is just one of the things in the Vietnam war that you don't hear about—a very important part of the war.

Future Bright
 "What about the future of Vietnam: I still have the highest confidence in the South Vietnamese people. I think it is going to be a strong nation. It is going to be a democratic nation—a free nation. I think history is going to prove that what we have done there for that little country and for Southeast Asia is one of the greatest things that our nation has ever done for the free world and the people of the free world.

"I honestly believe that someday the Vietnam war is

Beall Backs Funds For Veterans Administration Hospital In Baltimore

Senator J. Glenn Beall, Jr. (R-Md.) has urged that funds be retained for a new 510-bed Veterans Administration hospital in Baltimore when a Senate-House conference committee considers that part of a pending appropriations bill.

The $5.2 million item for planning and site acquisition was added by the Senate when the $11.9 billion fiscal 1973 budget for the Veterans Administration was acted on as part of a larger appropriations bill.

Senator Beall voted for the hospital funding when the Senate passed its version of the appropriations bill recently. A conference with members of the House of Representatives has been requested to work out differences of $28.3 million in the construction budget and other items in the bill.

In his letter to the Senate conferees, the Maryland Republican said, "As you know, there has been growing concern about the adequacy of medical facilities for our veterans, and the situation in Baltimore is particularly acute.

"The existing facilities are not only inadequate, but they are also obsolete. The new hospital has been promised for some time, and further delay will seriously affect the quality of care available to our veterans."

The new hospital is to be built adjacent to the University of Maryland Hospital in downtown Baltimore. Construction costs have been estimated at $36.4 million.

Speaking about the project, Senator Beall said, "The existing 300-bed VA hospital in Baltimore is regarded as rather small, and some work already has begun in the conversion of the Fort Howards veterans hospital into a facility for physical medicine and rehabilitation services, which we are eagerly looking for."

"The new hospital certainly is needed, and I am convinced that now is the time to put it on stream. Planning and construction involves a time lag of three or four years, so we should be looking ahead and anticipating our needs. Otherwise, we will find ourselves confronted with a situation that has no immediate solution," he said.

WASHINGTON REPORT FROM SENATOR J. GLENN BEALL JR.

Child Development

The Senate has just passed child development act to extend and broaden the concept of the Headstart program, which came into existence seven years ago to help disadvantaged children by offering them special pre-school training.

I believe that properly structured child care programs have a great potential for stimulating the educational development of children, but these sensitive childhood years also hold potential for equally great abuse. In considering this sort of legislation, therefore, I think two points should be kept in mind.

First is the need to provide opportunities for children to be in a healthy environment where they can prepare themselves for school and their future role as responsible citizens.

Secondly, we should be careful about the way programs of this sort are administered to make sure that the federal government does not assume a dominant role in the education process. One of the great strengths of our education system has been that we have locally-controlled schools, and it seems to me that any child development program is largely an extension of the educational process. As such, it should be controlled by citizens as much as possible.

To make sure that there is adequate program development before we begin funding, the first year of this three-year $2.9 billion program will be taken up by planning.

The legislation has been written so that the responsibility for developing programs may be shared by local agencies and by the state, where in some instances a child development program can be set up to supplement the state's public education system.

In Maryland, for instance, the state can develop the program in each of the county school districts, but the local schools would still retain their degree of control. Thus, it serves a useful purpose to have the state considered on an equal basis with local prime sponsors instead of being preempted by them, and that is what one of the amendments which I supported will do.

It has also been my opinion that one of the great impediments to the delivery of very worthwhile governmental services has been the overextension of the bureaucracy which produces a morass of paper work.

One of my own amendments which was adopted could break these bureaucratic logjams by establishing programs entirely at the state level. Under my plan, states will compete for special funds to administer demonstration programs completely on their own, and five of them will be chosen.

By turning over the administration of a program to those states that do have the capability of administering them, we will be seeking to reward excellence and achieve the highest quality possible rather than legislating to the lowest denominator.

This legislation still must go to the House of Representatives for further consideration, but I am hopeful that it will pass that body in a form that can be accepted by the President.

REA Program Still Accepts Requests

Most county ASCS offices are still accepting requests for cost-share assistance under the Rural Environmental Assistance Program. Raymond F. Jaeger, Chairman of the Maryland State ASC Committee, said that farmers planning to carry out practices under the REAP Program should either visit or call the local county office. Requests must be filed before the practice is started.

Jaeger reminded Maryland farmers to report the completion of practices just as soon as possible. Early reporting will enable county offices to make payments about July 1, 1972. Farmers who have delayed performing practices because of wet land or other reasons should contact the county office for advice. It may be possible for the county committee to extend the reporting date.

Tips To Add Safety And Save You Money

TAMING THE TIRE KILLERS
 Squirm... road hazards... heat build-up. Individually or combined, these three driving facts of life can steal years of usefulness from your tires.

With Fiberglas® belted tires, however, you can effectively tame these "killers."

Just as a toy snake stops wriggling when it's reinforced with a piece of tape, Fiberglas cord helps keep a tire's tread from squirming. High speed wheel tests have demonstrated that Fiberglas cord belts give tires added stability and longer tread wear.

Road hazards like potholes, rocks and other debris are also less threatening to tires made with Fiberglas. And that's because—pound for pound—this man-made cord is stronger than steel!

And, because they reduce road friction by the added stability, Fiberglas belts help to take the heat off heat buildup.

For a free booklet of helpful information on tires, write to Miss Marjorie Meeks, Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corporation, 1 Levis Square, Toledo, Ohio 43659.

BUSINESS AND THE STOCK MARKET

Are There Too Many People?
By Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass., June 29, 1972—Recently the prophets of doom have renewed with increasing zeal their perennial alert that the world is overpopulated. During World War II it was considered dangerous and unpatriotic to advocate manpower cuts when we were facing overwhelming odds on two fronts. Now we are warned that the human race faces extinction by starvation unless drastic steps are taken to achieve zero population growth worldwide. Compulsory birth control and easier abortion laws are repeatedly urged.

World Outlook
Those saying that families must be limited by law point out that the world's population has leaped ahead until it is moving close to the 4-billion mark. A leading argument—and one which should not be dismissed lightly—is that people are becoming so numerous that the limited resources of the earth and the seas will simply not be able to provide enough food for them all.

Attention is also called again and again to the steady loss of the world's food-growing topsoil through erosion and the exhaustion of the land by overcultivation. It is alleged that many years, even decades, will be required to renew this topsoil, and we are assured that Mother Earth is well on the way to becoming a giant dust bowl.

U. S. Deficiency
Such dire warnings cannot be ignored, for they hit close to home. In our own wonderfully productive land, soil conservation has long been necessary because of prior carelessness and waste. Despite our strides in soil nutrients, soil testing, and agricultural engineering, our annual loss of good soil is staggering, while our surplus of rich land for farming is being cut back every year.

Yet the picture is not as bleak as the prophets of doom would have us to believe. For one thing, if we stopped the malpractices that are eating away at our supply of precious topsoil and set about systematic restoration, it would not take forever and a day to do the job. Agronomists tell us that renewal of topsoil can be effected in seven years, and sometimes less than that.

Chemurgic Contribution
Chemurgists of long experience here in the U. S. and elsewhere tell us that the world's average production of most cultivated crops per acre is only a tiny fraction of what is demonstrably possible. Overlooked also by those who fear the world is running out of food and there is no recourse but to curb population is the progress scientists are making in their studies of plant growth. Already, such growth can be fostered and quickened by various means. Some day artificial growth processes may be developed on a scale large enough to make possible a tremendous expansion in total food output.

Remember, too, that millions of square miles of arable land in Asia, Africa, and South America still await cultivation. If there is an insufficiency of food for the people of the earth, the fault lies at least partly with the inadequacy of existing production and distribution systems, and our abuse and mishandling of natural resources.

End Of U. S. Baby Boom
Here in the U. S. we are still a long way from zero population growth, but the new emphasis on family planning has already brought us face to face with the reality of a declining birth rate. We have three million fewer preschool children now than we did a decade ago. Businesses catering to the needs of infants and toddlers are already feeling the repercussions from this right now. In the late 1970s and early 1980s, those selling to teen-agers will be effected. In the 1990s we will have a young-adult group smaller in terms of numbers than other age categories. This will mean some adverse impact on housing, auto, and appliance markets, even if current declining birth rates should prove only temporary.

Frederick County Farm Queen To Be Selected From Area Candidates At Contest To Be Held In Rocky Ridge July 26

Fellowship, fun and "flowerers", either real or in the form of prizes, are part of the experience for farm girls, 16 to 20 years of age, by participating in a county Farm Queen Contest, according to Mrs. Roy Schnebly, Women's Chairman for Maryland Farm Bureau.

Qualifications are that participants must be unmarried and maintain a home on a farm, although she may be working in town or be in college. Her parents must be current members of a county Farm Bureau prior to the county contest.

Participants will be judged in the three areas of (1) general appearance, (2) personality and manners, (3) farm, home and community responsibilities. Mrs. James Ensor, chairman of the state contest, reports that the points on judging have been changed to place greater emphasis on the third judging area.

A "queen" will be selected in each of the 23-counties within the next six weeks. She will represent the county in the Maryland Farm Queen Contest on August 28, at the opening of the State Fair at Timonium.

The selected State Queen will reign over the Fair as a living representative of Maryland's agriculture, the State's largest industry that involves 3.2 million acres or 49% of the total land area of the state.

Awards, travel and an opportunity to obtain a 4-year tuition scholarship to the University of Maryland, or an alternative cash prize, await the selected state winner.

Application blanks and complete details on county contests are available from the county Farm Queen Contest chairman, Mrs. Merile Duvalle at 845-6222, or Maryland Farm Bureau, Box 337, Randallstown, Md. 21133.

The Frederick County contest will be held at noon on July 26 at Mt. Tabor Park, Rocky Ridge.

U.S. Senator

The Federal Press

In recent months, the nation has heard a great deal about secrecy in government. It does not take too much of a memory to recall the so-called "Anderson Papers" and "The Pentagon Papers." But while there has been so much attention drawn to secret government documents, very little is written about the regular government operations which day after day tell the public and the press what the United States Government is doing.

These operations occupy a large segment of our national government. Actually, there is some dispute over how much is spent annually by government departments, agencies and commissions to inform the public and the press. The Office of Management and Budget estimates the cost to be $160 million, but others have disputed that figure and projected their own figure of $500 million. The gap in estimates is caused by the lack of a uniform definition of what constitutes public relations or public information in government.

Rather than get involved in tallying up my own guess of what the government spends to inform the public, I would like to point out that such efforts are unique for government. Many acts of the executive departments, the independent agencies and even the Congress itself could be done in secret or at least without making any effort to tell the public or press what has transpired, but the fact is that the government wants exposure for its activities. Government agencies and members of Congress publish newsletters, bulletins, pamphlets and press releases all of which contribute to the knowledge of the general public about what their government is doing.

Of course, such activities can fall into the good news-bad news syndrome. Sometimes when the people learn of the activities of a government agency through that agency's own information service, they don't like it. A great storm of protest is likely to surface, complete with speeches in Congress and perhaps even votes against that agency's appropriation. As a result an unpopular program can die very quickly.

On the other hand, some of the programs which are described by information services are approved by the general public. In those cases, there tend to be congratulatory, laudatory speeches in the Congress and the appropriation for that program will be sustained and perhaps even increased. This is the democratic way.

The federal press is important to good government. When public information is carefully and thoughtfully done, as it is in most cases, the federal press makes a real contribution to the maturing of our representative democratic system. Without the federal press we would know less about subjects which are of great importance to all of us.

Recently I had the privilege of attending the Ninth Annual Awards Banquet of the Federal Editors Association at which high marks were given to those who deserved recognition for the quality which they brought to their work. As I reviewed the publications on display at the luncheon, I was reminded of the words that Thomas Jefferson employed in writing the Declaration of Independence—words that could be adopted by the Federal Editors Association as a motto in the years ahead. That we in America do care and have a decent respect for the opinion of mankind.

NEWS OF ECOLOGY

Nature Weaves A Wondrous Fiber

In this era of highly justified environmental concern, more and more people are joining hands with nature in protective alliance. And, as often happens when friendships are formed, we are beginning to better appreciate the attributes of our new and natural partner in life.

Take, for instance, her ability to weave and gift us with wondrous fibers like wool. In addition to being naturally wrinkle-resistant, colorfast, resilient, water-repellent and fire-resistant, wool is also completely biodegradable. And that's because wool is a protein fiber, made of the same substance as your own hair and fingernails. Further, because woolen fabrics breathe with your body, they help to conserve your body temperature in hot or cold weather. This, in turn, helps to conserve precious fuels used in heating and air-conditioning.

All of which goes to prove that it's not only nice—but also wise—to join hands with Mother Nature.

BICYCLING BRIEFS

THE FIRST CRUDE "BICYCLE" WAS BUILT IN THE LATE 1700S BY A FRENCHMAN. IT HAD WOODEN WHEELS AND A ROUGH WOODEN CROSSBAR WITH A PADDED SADDLE. THERE WERE NO PEDALS AND THE FRONT WHEEL COULD NOT BE TURNED TO THE RIGHT OR LEFT. THE RIDER STAPPED THE CROSSBAR AND PUSHED AGAINST THE GROUND WITH HIS FEET TO MAKE THE CONTRACTION MOVE FORWARD.

THE ROOMIEST BICYCLE EVER BUILT IS THE DOUBLE-BANKED 28-SEAT 30-WHEELER—BUILT IN 1968 IN SWITZERLAND!

AMERICANS TODAY CAN SEE MORE THAN 50 MODELS OF BICYCLES IN ALL MAKES AND SIZES (INCLUDING PSYCHEDELIC FLORAL PATTERNS) AT THEIR VISTA DEALER, WHO DISPLAYS AMERICA'S MOST COMPLETE LINE OF FINE BICYCLES. The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks. Letters should be sent to me, c/o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515.

Are there any government figures available on the cost of owning and operating a family car?

According to the Federal Highway Administration, you will spend about 13 1/2¢ a mile to drive and maintain a 1972 standard size car for 10 years, which is $13,500 for the estimated life of the car. If you have a 1972 compact you will spend about 11¢ a mile, or $11,000 for using the car for 10 years. The purchase price is the first cost that must be paid in operating your car during its approximate 100,000-mile, 10-year life. Depreciation is by far the greatest single cost, followed by gasoline expenses, maintenance and repairs, garaging, parking and tolls, and insurance. You may obtain a free copy of the report, "Cost of Operating an Automobile," by writing to the Federal Highway Administration, Transportation Department, Washington, D. C. 20590.

How many people are receiving social security benefits in the United States?

At the end of 1971, a total of 27.3 million men, women and children were on the current benefit rolls. This figure represents an increase of nearly one million from the end of the previous year. The monthly amount of the cash benefits payable to these beneficiaries as of the end of 1971 was nearly $3.1 billion. This exceeds the figure for a year earlier by $430 million, and reflects both the higher number of beneficiaries and the 10% benefit increase provided by the 1971 Amendments to the Social Security Act. Incidentally, 95 out of every 100 children under 18, and their mothers, can count on monthly cash benefits if the family breadwinner dies.

Can you send me a list of the products the government has recalled from the supermarket shelves over the past year?

Citizens interested in the Food & Drug Administration's product recall reports should write to the Office of the Assistant Commissioner for Public Affairs, Food & Drug Administration, Washington, D. C. The complete "FDA Weekly Recall Report" is available without cost.

I am having difficulty receiving black lung benefits and was already denied once back in 1970. Can you please help me as I am on in years and can't get around too well?

After receiving your letter my office contacted local officials to obtain your record of Coal Mine employment which was required by the Social Security Administration in order to process your claim.

As you are now aware, your claim has been expedited and you will be receiving a retroactive check for $2900 and regular monthly benefit checks for $161. Citizens experiencing similar difficulties in receiving government benefits justly due them should feel free to contact my office for assistance.

CONVENIENCE CAMPING

Camping out is in! People from Maine to Missouri are trading the pressures of everyday living for the simplicity of the great outdoors.

Whether you're "roughing it" in a pup tent or in a trailer, one thing's for sure... you need recipes that are fast and easy, yet hearty enough to satisfy those fresh-air appetites. Camper Burgers are ideal. They're made with thin patties of ground beef pressed together to enclose a center of prepared bacon-horseradish cheese spread. Canned Mushroom Gravy laced with chili sauce doubles as the basting liquid and the delicious topping.

Because canned gravies are so convenient, they're perfect for your vacation pantry. Five gravies in all... Beef, Chicken, Chicken Giblet, Mushroom, and Brown Gravy with Onions... are ever-ready to perk up a dry sandwich or to transform leftovers into a hearty campfire stew.

CAMPER BURGERS

- 1 1/2 pounds ground beef
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Dash pepper
- 4 teaspoons cheese spread with bacon and horseradish
- 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) Mushroom Gravy
- 2 tablespoons chili sauce
- 2 hamburger buns, split and toasted
- Pickles

Season beef with salt and pepper; shape into 8 thin patties. Spoon 1 teaspoon cheese spread on each of four patties. Top with remaining patties; press edges together to seal. In saucepan, combine gravy and chili sauce. Heat; stir now and then. Broil patties 4 inches from heat 15 minutes or until desired doneness; turning and brushing with sauce every 5 minutes. Serve on buns with remaining sauce. Garnish with pickles. Makes 4 open-face sandwiches.

Bradfield Awarded NCAA Scholarship

James E. Bradfield, a 1972 graduate of Mount Saint Mary's College, has been awarded a $1,000 scholarship by the National Collegiate Athletic Association. An outstanding performer in soccer during his four undergraduate years at the Mount, Bradfield is one of only 38 recently graduated athletes selected from all over the country to receive the awards.

In a letter of notification, Walter Byers, Executive Director of the NCAA, said that "considering the number of potential candidates across the country, this award stands as a significant honor for the student and a tribute to your institution." The latter said the award was for use in pursuing postgraduate studies at the university or professional school of the recipient's choice. Bradfield developed an impressive reputation during his four years at Mount Saint Mary's for his exemplary performance in virtually all realms of college activity. In athletics, he started all four years on the soccer squad and this past fall served as co-captain of the team. He was named to the 1st team of the Mason-Dixon Conference All-Star lineup, and was later selected to appear in the national awards volume, "Outstanding College Athletes of America."

In academics, he was a Dean's List student every year, and graduated last month 19th out of a class of 266. He pursued a Biology pre-med major and was named at commencement to the Monsignor Tierney Honor Society, called by Dean Bernard S. Kaliss the, "highest honor attainable by an undergraduate of Mount Saint Mary's College." He was also awarded at that time the Doctor Edward J. Flanagan Memorial Prize as the graduating senior in pre-medicine who had shown consistent concern for his fellow man and significantly encouraged others to do likewise.

He was also selected for inclusion in "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges" as well as Delta Epsilon Sigma, the national honor society of Catholic colleges and Universities, and Beta, Beta Beta, the National Biology Honor Society. Bradfield, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Bradfield, 238 Claremont Road, Springfield, Pa., will attend Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia this fall.

VFW TO MEET JULY 5

The regular meeting of VFW Post 6658 will be held Wednesday evening, July 5, at 8:30 p.m. The meeting will be held at Kump's Dam Park, weather permitting.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Topper, R2, have returned home after a trip to Florida. While there they visited with Mrs. Topper's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Myers and family, who live in Orlando. On their return trip, they visited with their son and daughter-in-law, Sgt. and Mrs. Michael Topper and family at Camp Lejeune, N.C.

Byron Sets Police Conference July 14

Congressman Goodloe E. Byron of Frederick has announced that he will sponsor a day-long conference at Frederick Community College July 14 to assist local law enforcement officers and officials.

The purpose of the conference is to find out what federal and state law enforcement assistance is available and how best to obtain funds for needed programs.

Federal programs will be discussed by the keynote speaker, George Trubow of the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration of the Department of Justice. Richard Wertz, Executive Director of the Governor's Commission on Law Enforcement and the Administration of Justice will discuss programs, priorities, and plans in Maryland law enforcement.

The morning session will include a panel discussion, and the afternoon session will include a consultation period so that local police and officials can discuss their special problems.

The afternoon session will also include police displays as well as a mobile crime lab. The displays will be open to the public.

At the same time Cong. Byron announced the crime conference, he also revealed that the results of a recent Sixth District questionnaire indicated that crime was the number one problem on the minds of his constituents. Byron has now distributed another questionnaire contained in his "Reports to the People" newsletter, which asks those responding to indicate how much a problem crime is in their area. The questionnaire also asks for possible reasons for crime as well as f or suggestions on how crime can be reduced. Byron said the questionnaires would be used at the Law Enforcement Conference to indicate the greatest areas of concern.

John Engle Weds Catherine Sanders

Mrs. John Warren Engle, Jr.

Catherine Eileen Sanders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark A. Sanders, Taneytown, R2, and John Warren Engle, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Warren Engle, Morris Plains, N. J., were united in marriage June 17 at 1 p.m. in St. Joseph's Church, Taneytown. The altar for the ceremony was decorated with white carnations and pompons. Rev. Fr. John Kerr officiated. Mrs. Helen Gorman was the organist. The soloist was Lewis McAllister. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white silk organza, styled with a lace trimmed modified empire bodice, long bishop sleeves and a lace flounce. A cathedral length mantilla of matching alencon lace completed her outfit and she carried large white glameillas.

New Tax Rules For Maryland Residents

Maryland taxpayers working in Delaware and Pennsylvania will have more than vacation time to look forward to this summer with the announcement by State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein of a tax break. "Effective July 1, 1972, new income tax withholding tables for the State of Maryland will be in the hands of Pennsylvania and Delaware employers who have Maryland residents on their payrolls," Mr. Goldstein said. "The new tables mean that Maryland residents who pay income taxes, not only in their own State, but also in Pennsylvania or Delaware, (in whichever state they are employed,) will have a little less Maryland withholding tax deducted from their pay checks."

For example: The Maryland resident employed in Pennsylvania or Delaware, with a weekly pay check of $125 and two exemptions, has in the past been subject to a Maryland State withholding deduction of $4.56. "Under the new withholding tax tables," Mr. Goldstein said, "the employee with $125 a week and two exemptions, working in Pennsylvania, will have a Maryland State withholding deduction of only $1.90. For Maryland residents working in Delaware, the deduction will be $1.61. This particular example, taken from the new withholding tables, will be effective for Maryland residents living in counties with a 50% surtax rate. These new tables take into account the law provision allowing a credit against the Maryland tax for the tax our residents are required to pay to Pennsylvania or Delaware."

Car Wash

The GM Softball Team of the Frederick-Carroll League, will hold a car wash Saturday, July 1, from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the rear of Wilson's Funeral Home and the Laundromat. Free pick-up and delivery service may be had by phoning 447-2023. The price will be $1.50 per car, including windows cleaned, inside and out.

Byron Offers Aid To Flood Victims

(Continued From Page One) such insurance we may be able to prevent (the economic tragedy) and the time to do it is right now, right after this terrible thing has happened."

The Congressman will visit 15 communities next week in Frederick and Washington Counties to meet with the citizens. He will be in 72 towns in the Sixth District throughout Central and Western Md. in the weeks ahead.

He will make himself available to constituents at post offices on July 5 in Smithsburg (1 p.m.), Highfield (3 p.m.) and Sabillasville (5 p.m.)

In addition to questions on the flood emergency, "Citizens with opinions on impending legislation or national and regional issues should feel free to drop by and discuss them with me openly," Byron said.

He sees low-cost federal flood insurance as costing the average family about $95 a year, and feels that the counties can become eligible for it with little difficulty.

"But it is important that we talk about it now; we can't be certain about future floods and other emergencies. It is difficult to obtain commercial flood insurance," he said.

The President's disaster fund, the Sixth District Democrat said, is $92 million dollars. The damage in Maryland alone has been estimated at $55 million. "So you can see, the fund is totally inadequate. Even if we could immediately process loans, only limited funds will be available to Maryland. It is the government's responsibility to have this assistance available."

Congress will not be in session Friday, and Byron said he plans on being in the area with Small Business Administration representatives to see what can be done about providing long-term, low-interest EBA loans.

He said help is also available for temporary housing, as well as temporary mortgage and rental payments.

Byron said his "mobile office" will have full information this Thursday and Friday. He plans to go into the communities and said there will be one site in each county where citizens may pick up and fill out forms.

A low cost federal flood insurance program, Byron said, would provide flood victims with immediately assistance, "so they don't have a go ask for a handout."

This insurance should also be available, he stated, to families who—because we do not realize the changing nature of American society—have second homes, recreational homes, which are generally along rivers and streams.

Regardless of the size or cost of these "second homes," he said, they should also be able to insure them, as well as all homes, against the obvious tragedy floods can cause.

Byron said the blame for the inadequate President's Disaster Fund "belongs to all of us," for not providing enough money to take care of any emergency.

"Maybe a large national disaster fund" should be created, he said, setting aside money to take care of the victims of such disasters with a national fund similar to Social Security and the national roads fund.

Byron also stated his position on major issues now before Congress "so the people of the Sixth District can have a clear understanding."

On the combined Welfare Reform/Social Security package, Byron said he agrees "with the basic provisions of Social Security-increased benefits and increased income levels. These are good changes . . . and others are long overdue."

However, Byron said, "I do not agree with the provision

Lewis Appointed Achievement Judge

J. Richard Lewis, Supervisor of Secondary English and Foreign Languages for the Board of Education of Frederick County, has been appointed a regional judge in the National Council of Teachers of English Achievement Awards Program for 1972.

This nationally recognized competition, now in its fifteenth year, cites high school seniors for excellence in English and recommends them to colleges and universities for admission and financial aid. Approximately 7200 students are candidates for Achievement Awards in 1972.

The NCTE also honors teachers and schools that have participated in the training of these young men and women. Students are nominated for Achievement Awards by their high school English departments and are selected for Awards by state judging committees on the basis of an autobiography, an impromptu theme, and a sample of best writing. The regional judging committees are composed of both high school and college teachers of English who work under the direction of State coordinators. A judge reads and rates, on the average, 45 compositions written by 15 nominees. His evaluations of the entries are then turned over to a state coordinator who reports the results of the state's contest to NCTE headquarters.

The National Council of Teachers of English is a professional organization of individual and institutional members at all levels of instruction. Its goal is to increase the effectiveness of the teaching of English language and its literature in the nation's schools and colleges. NCTE furnishes such teaching aids as books, recordings, and literary maps, and publishes several professional journals, among them "College English" and "English Journal."

Maryland motorists should think twice before throwing trash or litter from their automobile onto Maryland highways, since after July 1, they will be subject to a one-point assessment against their driving record in addition to the normal fine upon conviction for such an offense.
