Most Anything At A Glance

- By Abigail -

Last week I mentioned new sidewalks going in along Main Street. I should have said "old sidewalks are coming out", because so far, that's all that's been done. Wonder if its due to that famous "red tape" that's always slowing down projects, or just bad planning on someone's part?

The Cub Scouts are again looking for den mothers. Our Boy Scout and Cub programs have been a credit to this community. It keeps the boys busy, while providing them with worthwhile activities. They get a heck of a lot of fun out of it, besides the skills and citizenship training which will prove valuable to them later on in life. There are surely a couple of women somewhere in this area who are willing and able to devote some time to keeping the Cub Scout program going here in Emmitsburg.

I certainly do hope that everybody in town reads the report on what happened at the Town Meeting this week. Seems that only one of our local townfolk showed up and stayed for the whole meeting just to see what was going on. Luckily, the two reporters were there again, so the commissioners weren't too lonely.

A sure sign of Fall is the annual Community Show which will be going on this weekend at Catoclin High School. With a variety program, dance, contests, football game, supper, and crowning of the new Catoclin FFA Chapter Sweetheart, it promises to provide something for everybody to enjoy. There'll be an antique show, in addition to the usual exhibits. All in all, looks like plenty of fun for local folks this weekend.

I think I've heard everything now. The scientists have come up with a toilet that will work with or without gravity which means that space travelers in the 1980's will be able to enjoy "all the comforts of home" while bouncing around in outer space. Several companies are investigating its potential for use here on Earth. It comes as something of a shock to an old-timer who remembers all too well the little houses that used to decorate the back yards of everybody's home.

One of our businessmen has been seen sweeping the sidewalks around his establishment with what appears to be daily frequency. It certainly is an improvement over the way the former tenants kept the place. Apparently the folks around here appreciate it, as I've seen a good number of them visiting his store.

Elias Lutheran Church To Celebrate 175th Anniversary October 1-8

Elias Lutheran Church of Emmitsburg will celebrate the 175th year of its present Sanctuary, beginning October 1. Built in 1797, the stone structure, with walls three feet thick, has been enlarged and remodeled several times. The various colorings of stone fascinate the tourists who stop to photograph the building that was erected when George Washington was President.

The congregation is 215 years old, documenting its beginnings on the bank of Tom's Creek, just east of Emmitsburg. Pastor John George Bager, who is buried in the Lutheran Cemetery in Abbotstown, organized the congregation in 1757. One-third of the founding 34 families were from the Monocacy Congregation, which was the first Lutheran church in Maryland.

The highlight of the coming celebration will be the publication of the Church's History, written by Pastor W. Ronald Fearer. The 165 page volume is the product of 1 1/2 years of research and writing. The book contains two appendices written by Byrle Fraley M. MacPherson. The first is a genealogical study of the founding families, and the second is a listing of the graves and inscriptions of the Church's various cemeteries. Dr. MacPherson will lead a round table discussion of the History on Tuesday evening, October 3.

A pictorial directory of the present congregation has also been prepared and will be available during the week-long affair.

Many gifts have been bought for the church. They will be received and blessed on Wednesday, October 4. On that evening the church will also honor its Pastor Emeritus, Philip Bower, and a recently ordained son of the congregation, Pastor Ronald Reaves. Pastor Bower had served the church for 37 years, until 1962. Pastor Reaves was the first Ordinand in the church's 215 years.

The week of events begins with Holy Communion on October 1. That afternoon, guided tours of the church's four cemeteries will be available. An open house at the Parsonage is also planned.

On Monday, October 2, the Pastor and Choirs will lead the congregation in tracing the worship of the six generations since 1797, with a special emphasis on the hymns that were used by each.

A fried-chicken supper has been planned for Saturday, October 7, in the Parish House. This is one of three suppers the church holds throughout the year, and the public is cordially invited.

The celebration ends on Sunday, October 8. The Sunday School will provide a Birthday Party at 9 a.m. A special candle holder for 175 candles has been made, and a cake large enough for all will be served. The pre-school and elementary classes will pay tribute to the church, along with special music from some of the older members of the church. The Youth of the Church are responsible for decorations. At the service that day, Pastor Fearer will suggest the mission of the congregation during the next decade.

A special Anniversary Committee, representing the various groups of the congregation, has planned this important week in the life of Elias Church. All members are urged to participate fully. Friends of the church and other interested persons are also invited to attend. Similar Celebrations, which served as precedents, were held in 1947, 1922, and 1897.

Voter Registration Drive Scheduled

The Democratic Party's Election Year voter registration drive has been under way for more than a month in some Maryland Congressional Districts, and will soon be rolling in all of them.

The state-wide effort, part of a national drive being run by the Democratic National Committee, is being coordinated out of the McGovern/Shriver State Headquarters in Baltimore.

The state office has provided local organizers with guidelines on how to select target areas, set up a canvassing operation, and approach potential voters. The local offices, though, are given considerable leeway, so that there are exceptions to every generalization about the local drive.

Most of the local registration efforts will focus in areas where voter registration levels are thought to be low, such as apartment complexes, and where there are indications of support for Democratic candidates, as indicated by votes in past elections.

Most of the drives are expected to last until late September or early October, when the focus will shift toward canvassing for McGovern rather than for registration.

Phone Books Ready For Delivery

New telephone directories for Frederick and nearby communities arrived this week, according to C. V. Weakley, manager for the C & P Telephone Company.

This year's phone book will provide callers with more than 40,000 telephone numbers. In addition, the Yellow Pages section has about 130 pages of listings for local businesses and professions.

History Of St. Joseph College Completed; Tribute To Alumnae Assoc.

In tribute to the 75th anniversary of the founding of the St. Joseph College National Alumnae Association, Sister Mary Bernard McEntee, a 1925 graduate of the college, recently completed a history of the 163-year-old college for women.

The 90-page soft cover book entitled "The Valley", traces the founding and development of St. Joseph's Academy, the high school, the college and the alumnae association.

With her appointment as Alumnae Historian, Sister Mary Bernard started two years ago to research her story. A year was devoted to delving into dusty archives, poring over shelves of ancient catalogs, college and alumnae minutes, and campus publications. Stacks of turn-of-the-century photographs were identified, and hours devoted to chats and correspondence with scores of alumnae who recalled with remarkable clarity incidents of campus life over 50 years ago. One alumna produced a letter which is included in the book, describing the restricted student life of the 1860's.

Written with wit and often with tongue-in-cheek in the light of campus 1972 mores, Sister Mary Bernard relates many anecdotes of early student life. Relating the dating game of the late 19th century extending into the 20th, she observes:

"It is remarkable that so many romances between Mount men and Saint Joseph's girls ended in marriage. It is a tribute to the ingenuity and perseverance of both parties. For many a long year only 'relatives' were permitted to meet on visiting days, and a fantastic number of 'cousins' seemed to be registered at both institutions. It took a strong heart and a determined will to come 'a-courting' at Saint Joseph's. The boys were accompanied by two seminarians who sat to the bitter end, impervious to the punctures of Cupid's arrows. The girls 'came to the parlor' sedately chaperoned by one of the sisters who sat in the middle of the group, piously telling her beads until the visit was ended and the seminarians had herded their charges out the 'Front Door' and headed them up the road towards home." (p. 42)

Dedicated to the founder of the college, Blessed Elizabeth Ann Seton "who forged the first links in the chain of events herein chronicled . . .", the author highlights her narrative with several photographs to illustrate the "olden days" in contrast to the modern campus atmosphere.

The chronicle is divided into four sections: Mrs. Seton's School, Growth and Development of the Educational Program, This Was Their Life, and The History of Saint Joseph's Alumnae.

The book was published by the Times and News Publishing Company of Gettysburg. Since it was published in limited edition, the book promises to become a collector's item in short order. Offered first to alumnae of the college, a small quantity are on sale to the public at $5 a copy. Mail orders, accompanied by a check or money order payable to St. Joseph College Alumnae Association, are being accepted at the Alumnae Office, St. Joseph College, Emmitsburg, Md. 21727.

Senior Citizens Slate Fall Bazaar

Monday, Sept. 11, the regular Board meeting of the Emmitsburg Senior Citizens Club was held at 1:30 p.m. in the Center with seven members present.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by the Secretary, Edie Baker, and approved by the club.

Under discussion were the Fall Bazaar and the Christmas Party. The bazaar will be held at the Center on November 11, 1972, at which time Mrs. Anna Bushman and Mrs. Anna Gerkin will act as Chairman and Aid, respectively. Hopes are rising for an afghan to be raffled off. Other prospects are a wool blanket for chances, door prizes and other interesting articles.

The annual Christmas Party will be held at the VFW on December 4, at 6:30 p.m. At that date the Club will celebrate its seventh birthday. A number of others active in the life of the Club will be invited to help in the celebration.

The programs and dates for the 1972-73 meetings are as follows: Sept. 19, garden bingo; Oct. 17, Mr. Linder speaks on whom and where to receive cheaper drugs, at which time the Marian Singers will be invited to perform; Nov. 21, Sister Anna Mae will show slides; Dec. 4, Christmas Party and seventh birthday; Jan. 16, Sunrise Singers; Feb. 20, covered dish supper; March 20, games; Apr. 17, open date; May 15, bingo; June 19, open date.

The meeting adjourned at 2:45 p.m. In order not to miss anything or remember everything, why not clip the above dates out and place in a conspicuous place?

Don't forget the Autumn Foliage trip on Saturday, October 7, leaving the Center at 7 a.m., for Peddler's Village and New Hope for the train ride. Bring lunch for noon meal and dinner will be eaten at end of trip.

The U. S. Environmental Protection Agency will conduct a course on the safe use of pesticides next week in Atlanta, Ga.

Mount Announces Contributions

Mount Saint Mary's College received contributions totaling $213,924 during academic year 1971-72 versus $107,460 in 1970-71—a 100% increase in one year—according to A. Vernon Davis, Director of Development and Public Relations.

Annual support, in the form of unrestricted gifts, amounted to $113,163 last year as compared with $82,145 in 1970-71. Restricted gifts, largely for the endowment, came to $100,761 last year versus $25,315 in 1970-71.

Davis reported significant increases in alumni and parent support, triggered by the first annual Mount Fund campaign through which the Mount now actively solicits unrestricted gifts for annual support. In just one year, alumni contributions rose 86%, from $38,000 in 1970-71 to $71,151 in 1971-72; and the number of alumni making contributions increased 65% from 700 in 1970-71 to 1,155 in 1971-72. During the same two-year period, contributions from parents of students rose 100%, from $4,000 to $8,320.

Davis attributed the success of last year's fund-raising efforts to the volunteer leadership by alumni, parents and friends in the Mount Fund which was inaugurated as an annual campaign by the new 50-member National Development Council headed by Thomas S. Hogan, 1948 Mount graduate and a prominent lawyer in Providence, Rhode Island. The important increase in alumni support resulted from a nationwide telephone calling effort within the Mount Fund's Alumni Division headed by Edward F. Egan '52, President of Hess, Egan & Hagerty, Inc. of Chevy Chase, Md. Sparking the Parents Division as General Chairman was Rocco M. Laginestra, President of RCA Records in New York City.

Business support for Mount Saint Mary's College came to $30,148 last year, and gifts from friends totaled $3,544.

While the bulk of business gifts came from Maryland firms solicited through the State Association of Independent Colleges, other contributions were obtained by three leadership groups: Area Business headed by Thomas B. Schmidt '43, who operates his own service business in Harrisburg, Pa.; National Business, chaired by H. James Maurer '59, President of Petm Laboratories, Inc., of Philadelphia; and Baltimore Business, headed by W. Lee Harrison, father of previous Mount students and a prominent Baltimore County attorney.

The Friends Division was headed by Sebastian J. DeMeglio '53, a Vice President of Colonial Williamsburg.

While contributions in all categories showed significant increases last year, the first annual Mount Fund failed to reach the $150,000 goal established by the college's Board of Trustees as the 1971-72 need for unrestricted gifts. The Mount Fund fell short of its goal by $36,837. However, as of June 30, the closing date for the campaign, there were $20,802 in individual alumni commitments or pledges scheduled to be paid by the end of the calendar year.

"Alumni contracted in the Mount Fund campaign make their gifts according to their own calendar year arrangements, and not necessarily according to the Mount's July 1-June 30 fiscal year," Davis said. "Payments of the $20,802 in outstanding commitments from our 1971-72 campaign will be counted in the Mount Fund for 1972-73, the goal for which, incidentally, has been set at $175,000 by our Board of Trustees."

Seminary Slates Bazaar & Dinner

Mount Saint Mary's Seminary will sponsor a bazaar and spaghetti dinner on October 7. The bazaar will be in the gymnasium while the dinner will be served in the seminary dining room. Both will begin at 1:30 p.m. The dinner will close at 7:00 p.m., but the bazaar will continue into the evening. Everyone is cordially welcome to attend this affair.

Town Adopts New Regulations

The Town Commissioners initiated annexation proceedings involving about 20 acres of land at their regular meeting Monday night. The property is owned by E. William Garde and is north of town on the Irish Town Road. They agreed to provide Mr. Garde with a letter stating that this property would be provided with water and sewage services if it was annexed. A Public Hearing on the proposed annexation is scheduled for November 6.

The Commissioners formally adopted the new Emmitsburg Subdivision Regulations as submitted to them by the Planning and Zoning Commission. These regulations will go into effect Oct. 2, 1972.

Emmitsburg Development requested the town develop additional drain lines in Emmitt Gardens, which was agreed to. A request for cost estimates for water supply lines was received from Central Maryland Development Corp., for a potential development of 10 apartment units facing Patterson Alley. It was agreed that such lines should be 4" in diameter; Commissioner Flax will prepare a cost estimate before October 1. Commissioner Flax noted that when the two proposed annexations were completed and developed, it would mean the supplying of an additional 100,000 gallons of water a day. The Town usually requires 300,000 gallons per day when the schools are in full operation.

The Commissioners decided to seek more information about joining the county in enforcement of the State Plumbing Code before making a decision. The Frederick County Commissioners have set an October 1 deadline on this.

The Commissioners discussed the manner of reimbursement for residents who have new sidewalks and curbing put in. It was decided that the residents should present their receipts bills at the Town Office for refund of the curbing portion. It was noted that this refund applies to the first 2000 feet installed each year. A $50 donation to the local majorette group, the Dynamics, was unanimously approved. A resolution was adopted requiring that the cost of annexation proceedings be borne by the person or firm requesting such annexation. The Town's bills were read and approved for payment.

Commissioner Myers stated that Community Field will be closed Thursday for seeding and will not be available to play on for the rest of the year. He also reported that the trenching, underground wiring and installation of dug-outs was expected to be completed before winter.

Parking on town streets was discussed. It was decided to more rigorously enforce the two-hour limit areas.

An offer had been received from Freeman Shoe Co. to buy the parking lot adjacent to their plant for $9,500. The Commissioners strongly approved of this action and will present it to the Fire Co. for their consideration at the next Fire Company meeting.

Council agreed that not enough Town business was being transacted on Friday night to justify the hours the Town Office was being kept open. The Town Office will now be open only the second and fourth Friday evenings of the month instead of every Friday.

Local Girls Team To Play Sunday

The Fireballoettes, the local women's softball team, will be playing the women's team from the Freeman Shoe Factory of Hanover this Sunday. Game time is 2 p.m. at the high school ball field.

The game was originally scheduled for last Sunday but could not be played because of play-offs in Hanover. Everyone is encouraged to attend if at all possible, to support the new team.

NATION'S TOP CHEERLEADERS POOL ADVICE FOR PARENTS

"My mother never told me to watch out for my roommate's boyfriend," laughed Missy McCary, co-captain of the Notre Dame Cheerleading Team, in a humorous aside at a recent panel discussion of college seniors. She and the other winners of this year's All-American Cheerleader Awards were being interviewed on what parents should advise college freshmen-to-be.

When asked, "What do you wish your mother had told you about college?" elfin Amy Dianne McClain, the top cheerleader of the University of Tennessee, replied, "The thing I wasn't prepared for was the amount of work. You really have to learn how to budget your time." Jose Pena, of the University of Texas, agreed. "The big difference between high school and college," he said, "is that you can't go out for everything in college. You can't go out for, say, the tennis team, the cheerleading squad and be in the drama club. Parents should advise freshmen to decide on one major extracurricular activity and then concentrate on it."

The top cheerleaders in the country had just been presented with $1,000 scholarship checks from Ultra Brite, which underwrites the annual All-American cheerleader awards in recognition of the bright smiles that are an important key to the cheerleaders' personalities. Ultra Brite also presents a grant of a full year's expenses to the college cheerleading team that the International Cheerleading Foundation ranks the best in the country.

Mary Rooney Frailey, a double winner—she won an Ultra Brite All-American scholarship in addition to being a member of the winning Notre Dame team—says typing is a must for college, and if summer schedules permit, it's suggested that students who haven't had typing in high school take a short course before college starts.

Kevin Chismire, co-captain of the Notre Dame team, stresses, "One of the most important things parents can do is re-affirm their confidence in their son's or daughter's ability without setting impossible goals." And Mary Jane Scarborough, of Western Kentucky University, advises, "Don't let your teenager get discouraged if he or she doesn't make a certain team or club the first year. I was discouraged when I failed to get on the cheerleading squad in my freshman year. Then I tried again, made it as a sophomore, and look what happened—the $1,000 Ultra Brite award, TV tours, trips to New York and Los Angeles to perform before the cameras, offers to do ads and commercials, even a letter of congratulations from the governor."

Probably the biggest "must" for freshmen today, says Kevin Chismire, is to be well informed. "Reading the newspaper—not just the entertainment or sports page, but the whole paper—is an important habit to get into." Three cheers for that advice!

Knights Plan District Grotto Mass

Brute Council 1860, Knights of Columbus, Emmitsburg, met last Tuesday evening at the Council Home with Grand Knight George L. Danner presiding.

Lawrence Koib reported on the recent family picnic which was a tremendous success having had over 200 in attendance. Eugene Rosensteel reported on the upcoming Knight of the Year Dinner-Dance to be held on Saturday, October 7 at the VFW Home in Emmitsburg. Deadline for purchasing tickets to this affair will be October 3.

In case of inclement weather the Mass will be held at St. Joseph's Church in Emmitsburg, with Rev. Carl Fives, council chaplain, officiating the Mass.

The Council voted to make application for a Columbian Squire Circle. This organization is made up of Catholic boys ages 13 to 18 years. Their fathers do not have to be members of the Knights. The Council must await the approval of the State and Supreme Council before much else can be done.

Nominations for the Knight of the Year were held. The five highest nominees will be announced at the Monday, September 18 meeting at which time the council members will vote for one. The winner will be announced at the dinner-dance on October 7 and will be awarded a plaque.

District Deputy Andrew Komierinski was introduced by the Grand Knight. He spoke briefly on the Social Action

Program that each council in the state is being urged to join.

Following adjournment, refreshments were served by Harold Davis. Members were reminded that the next meeting will be held on Monday evening, September 18, at 8 p.m.

Thurmont Bombers Take Semi-Finals

The Thurmont Bombers won the 1972 semi-finals of the Frederick-Carroll Fast Pitch Softball League with a 9-3 win over Freeman Shoe on Sunday at Emmitsburg.

Bob Clabaugh pitched the win and Wayne Lingg was the loser. Eddie Ridenour and Gary Clabaugh blasted home runs for the victors. The always-tough Freeman Shoe team had beaten Thurmont two games out of four in the regular season and finished third behind Liberty and first-place Thurmont. The Bombers won the first playoff game 4-1, but Freeman evened the series in the second game with a 4-3 victory.

After a scoreless 2½ innings in Sunday's contest, Don Little singled and was driven in as Eddie Ridenour blasted his homer to put Thurmont two up after three. Freeman bounced back with a run in the top of the fourth as Junie Ohler singled and was sacrificed in by Lee Ott. In the bottom of the fourth a double by Gary Clabaugh, a triple by Harvey Dewees and a Bob Clabaugh single produced two runs which proved to be sufficient for the win. But in the fifth, the Bombers came back with a five-run icing for the cake. Little and Ridenour led it off with singles and scored as Gary Clabaugh nailed an inside-the-park homer. The Bombers' final two runs scored from a hard-hit double by hurler Bob Clabaugh.

Singles by Dick Ott and Juni eOhler produced two Freeman runs in the top of the seventh but it was too late.

The finals between Thurmont and Liberty, will begin Sunday, Sept. 17, at the Thurmont Community Park. Game time is 5:45 p.m.

NEW BRIDGE

A new bridge to replace the former one destroyed by "Agnes", will be constructed on Md. 75 over Sam's Creek in Union Bridge, Carroll County, according to David H. Fisher, State Highway Administrator. The new bridge is expected to be opened on or before November 15.

The Now Washbasket

Before you store your woollens for the summer they should be washed so that they will be put away clean. Wool is safely, easily and speedily hand washable in the new cold water soap or even in washing machines with special woolen settings.

If washed properly in cold water, the woollens will not shrink or sag. Tedious blocking is unnecessary for today's wool sweaters. All you need to do is palm-and-finger press the body and alignment of seams when the sweater is laid out flat to dry.

The colors will be brighter and the fibers softer if you add ¼-cup of a borax-based product like Borateen to two tablespoons of soap in a basin of cold water.

Multi-colored wool sweaters will run only when the garment is left in a saturated state. You can prevent running if you open up the garment immediately after washing, layer the sleeves and front and back sections with absorbent towels and place on a flat surface to dry.

Never permit the garment to remain in a wet state and never roll it up or stack it over other wet clothes. Woollens are static free, the American Wool Council points out, and most woolen garments are permanently moth-proofed.

To save valuable closet space keep wool sweaters folded in a drawer, wardrobe box or on a shelf.

Dynamics Win Six Trophies Saturday

The Dynamics, a newly formed majorette group in Emmitsburg, participated in their first competitive event Saturday, Sept. 9, and came home with six trophies. They were one of the six groups who took part in the annual All-Frederick County Majorette Competition, held in the parking lot of the Frederick Shopping Center on W. Seventh St. in Frederick.

Tonya Miller was one of two Grand Champion Individuals chosen. On her way to the grand championship, she picked up trophies for best appearing and military strut (both first place), second place in basic strut, third place in costume, and fourth place in junior leader.

The Dynamics took second place in the Tots competition and Tonya received third place in the Costume, age9-11 competition. The Judges Award went to Billie Jean Miller of the Dynamics.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Miller serve as directors for the group. Their daughter, Billy Jean, serves as group instructor. The group has been raising the money needed for uniforms, equipment, etc., thru sales and soliciting contributions from local businesses and civic groups. Over 50 young people are now participating in the group, all from the Emmitsburg area.

The group is making plans now for their participation in the Firemen's Parade, October 14, during the Colorfest Celebration.

Miss Orndorff

FREDERICK COUNTY BACKGROUNDS

BY SAMUEL CARRICK
More Zacharias Genealogy
"This is autumn wealth untold."
"Maples flaming, bronze and gold
Flame against the clear blue sky;
An orchard where ripe apples lie
Half hidden by the uncut grass;
Crimson sumac, sassafras,
And classic oaks that over-look
Smoky asters by the brook;
Orange bittersweet, corn in shocks;
And in my garden, lingering phloz."

The notes pertaining to the Zacharias family, of Stoney Branch, and their private burial ground, are continued at this time.
As stated in last week's column any number of reasons might have influenced Mathias (1) Zacharias and his young wife in their decision to emigrate to America. A little better than a year after their arrival in Philadelphia, in the Province of Pennsylvania, they were in Frederick County, Maryland, and a warrant was issued to Mathias (1) Zacharias for 125 acres of land, located on "Stoney Branch", near what is now Motter's Station, about two miles south of where Emmitsburg would be laid out in 1787. This warrant was dated December 10, 1754. At that time the "Blue Mountains" marked the far western frontier and life for those who sought to establish a home there, life was hard, difficult, and dangerous.

On December 10, 1759, Frederick Lord Baltimore, conveyed to Mathias (1) Zacharias a deed for the land he had warranted. On April 14, 1760, a resurvey conveyed 85 additional acres to his grant and a deed was issued for the same on September 29, 1762. Mathias (1) Zacharias named his plantation "Mon Dollar." Since the Palatinates, or Germans, who emigrated to the colonies before the War of the American Revolution, were considered aliens in that they were not part of the British Empire, they had to go through a ceremony of naturalization. On April 18, 1762, Mathias (1) Zacharias appeared before the Provincial Court and received his certificate of citizenship. This was necessary to confirm title to his lands. Although the young emigrant did not realize it he was now an "American."

The lands chosen by Mathias (1) and Elizabeth Margaret (Kuhn) Zacharias, were on the then frontier, but the area they had settled in was by no means isolated or far from various small settlements. Taneytown, located about 8 miles to the east, had been settled since 1740. Thurmont, about six miles to the southwest, had been founded as Mechanicstown, in 1751. Frederick County had been "carved" out of Prince George's County, in 1748, and the county seat, then known as Fredericktown, about twenty miles to the south, was quite a flourishing "metropolis."

Near what is now the town of Graceham, located about six miles to the south, two churches had been established. One, known as the "Church at Monocacy," was established between 1732-34. It was located approximately two miles from Graceham. The Moravian church, at Graceham, was, indirectly, a "daughter" of the Monocacy congregation and was founded in 1746. In 1757 the Tom's Creek Lutheran congregation bought a "measured acre" on Tom's Creek, built a log church and established a burial ground. In due time a school followed the church and the Zacharias family found themselves with more advantages than they had dared hope would be theirs in the New World.

To sum it all up there were at least twenty families settled within a three mile radius from where the first Mathias settled. The Zacharias family probably came into Maryland with the so-called Monocacy settlers but like so many others they "spread out" and took up lands distant from that settlement.

With his own hands Mathias (1) Zacharias cut a home from the wilderness. He built a house and other necessary buildings, cleared land for fields, and, all unknowing, helped to lay the foundation for this great nation. On one part of his plantation, on a gentle slope, just west of the house, he set aside for a family burial ground. Just who was the first person interred there is not known—it was probably a child—belonging either to Mathias (1) Zacharias or one of his neighbors. Childhood diseases, in that day, were often terminal and all old burial grounds bear mute witness to the high rate of infant mortality.

The first burial in the Zacharias family burial ground of which there is record was Mathias (1) Zacharias himself. He died October 7, 1773, and two days later was interred "on his farm." His remains, along with others buried there, were removed to Mountainview Cemetery, near Emmitsburg, in the early part of the twentieth century. His grave was probably marked with a native stone, as were so many others, for no regular grave marker exists at the present time for the old pioneer.

By his last will and testament, dated October 6, 1770 and entered to probate November 20, 1773, Mathias (1) Zacharias devised his entire estate to his wife and his three children. It is quite probable that Mathias (1) and his wife were the parents of more than three children for large families were the rule rather than the exception at that time. Other issue may have died early and been interred in the family plot and the graves marked with fieldstones—now lost.

The data pertaining to the Zacharias family will be continued in this series next week.

Perspectives In Learning By Hazel Brown

Being Physically Ready For First Grade

Most parents send their children to school with the hopes that they will meet success in the 3R's during the first year. These parents should be aware of their role in preparing the children physically for that big venture in learning.

It must be recognized that learning involves the "whole" child. Mental, emotional, social, physical, and educational factors affect the ability to learn and if there is a weakness in any one of these areas, the learning process may be affected.

The physical well being of children is the responsibility of the parents. Healthy children are usually happy and contented. They are capable of prolonged periods of concentration and work. If they come to school tired, hungry, and ill, they will be irritable, inattentive, and unable to use their learning potential.

Before children come to school, they should be checked by a physician for possible vision and hearing impairments. Most tasks in the first grade involve listening and seeing. If any problem exists in these areas and goes unrecognized, the child may suffer emotionally as well as educationally.

Vision is the path through which printed words or symbols go to the brain for interpretation. If the child's ability to see is impaired, the image he sees will be blurred, distorted, or unrecognizable. He will be unable to identify likenesses and differences in shapes, letters, and words. If he has difficulty with eye control, he may tire easily or be unable to focus his eyes for extended periods of time. Any difficulty with vision can be very harmful to the first-grade child as he may think that everyone sees things as he does and will not be aware that he has a problem.

Parents should watch for symptoms of possible eye defects such as red watery eyes, rubbing the eyes frequently, tilting the head, squinting, sleepiness, inattentiveness or disinterest in reading or writing.

All children should have a visual examination prior to beginning the first grade so that this basic tool is in perfect condition.

The ability to hear well is the next most important tool for learning the 3R's. Even the slightest hearing loss can decrease the child's opportunity to gain new ideas, new vocabulary and to imitate correct sounds. The ability to hear and distinguish the difference in similar sounds and words is very important in learning to read and spell.

The observable signs of hearing difficulty might be inattentiveness, requests for repeating of statements, misunderstanding directions, tilting the head, a blank expression, and withdrawal. A hearing test administered by use of an audiometer is recommended as it can detect high and low frequency impairments.

Parents, before your child meets unnecessary frustration, be sure he is physically ready for the first grade.

WASHINGTON REPORT

FROM SENATOR J. GLENN BEALL JR.

The Constellation: A Symbol

On a September day long ago, a milestone in our nation's naval history was recorded in Baltimore. The occasion was the launching of the U.S. Frigate Constellation, the first ship of our Navy, on September 7, 1797.

The Constellation proudly sailed out of Baltimore harbor and carried the American flag to the far corners of the world during her many years of service. Her logbook includes several battles on the high seas, diplomatic and humanitarian missions, a trip around the world, and service as a naval training ship.

As recently as World War II, the Constellation was still in commission as the flagship of the Atlantic Fleet, stationed in Boston. In 1955, this gallant vessel was returned to Baltimore to become a part of our national heritage.

Special celebrations are scheduled in Baltimore this month to mark the 175th anniversary of the launching of the Constellation, which is undergoing restoration as a national landmark and historic shrine.

To bring national attention to this project, and to help finance the costs of restoration, I sponsored legislation authorizing the U.S. Mint to strike a medal commemorating the 175th anniversary of the launching of the Constellation. The measure has been passed by the Congress and was just signed into law by President Nixon.

The mint will strike up to 100,000 of the medals for the Constellation Restoration Committee, which brought the ship back to Baltimore and has been using its limited resources quite well in carrying out work on the vessel.

The restoration committee will pay the full costs of the work at the mint. The medals will then be sold to the public, with proceeds to be used to continue work on the Constellation.

On the surface this may appear to be an item of minor importance, but a closer look reveals quite the opposite.

Each year, more than 70,000 persons visit the Constellation, and most of these are school children. To them, the Constellation is a living, embodiment of their nation's history. It is a symbol that lends meaning to the names of people like John Paul Jones, and to events like the bombardment of Fort Mifflin.

The Constellation also will be a focal point of Baltimore's Inner Harbor redevelopment effort, and as such will add something special to the character of the community.

The meaning of this intangible "something extra" can be seen in the recent stories about how the people of St. Michaels, on the Eastern Shore, are trying to obtain some old cannons being stored at Fort Mifflin.

These people believe the cannons were used in the defense of their town during the War of 1812. To them, there is a special significance in those relics. The residents of St. Michaels are proud of their history, and they want to have the cannons on display in their town square to remind them of their heritage.

The Constellation already has become the same kind of symbol to many of the people who have walked her decks or helped out with the monumental task of restoration. Thus, the sale of the commemorative medals will help support a valuable educational aid and cultural addition to the community.

As the spirit of our nation's bicentennial celebration takes hold, interest in the Constellation is sure to gain momentum. Meanwhile, the 175th anniversary of the first ship in the Navy on September 7th provides us with a good time to set a goal of completing work on the Constellation in time for the bicentennial celebrations in 1976.

LOOKING AHEAD

By George S. Benson, President, National Education Program
Searcy, Arkansas

A Public School Must!

This column and next week's column will present a report on one of the most hopeful projects with which I have been associated during my 40 years as an educator—a pilot-plant citizenship education program in the public school systems of Batesville and Searcy, Mississippi. In the beginning it will be integrated into history and government classes. Work is under way during the vacation months to select materials and structure the program and in September, a full year's experimental program will begin the general supervision of Batesville Superintendent of Schools Lawrence M. Mullins. Details on the project should be of interest to every person in America; but first I wish to relate a pertinent incident.

As this column is written I've just witnessed a provocative hoax conducted as a feature of the American citizenship seminar for high school student leaders in the auditorium of our American Heritage Center in Searcy. In the audience were 500 selected high school juniors and seniors from Florida, Alabama, Tennessee, Texas, Arkansas, Missouri, and Mississippi. We conceived the hoax years ago to demonstrate to adults as well as young people that Communists are articulate in agitating for their system and Americans are not.

A Communist? Dr. Clifton L. Ganus, Jr., President of Harding College, was at the lecture giving some of the early history of America. A dark-haired man wearing glasses rose in the audience, challenging some of his remarks. There was a sharp exchange. The stranger pressed his points. Then he said, "Since this is a forum seminar, I feel I should be heard." Dr. Ganus responded, "Okay, come and take over the lecture for 10 minutes."

The stranger began with disarming eloquence, but soon was launched on a powerful denunciation of the American system, describing it as a mechanism with which the rich and powerful exploit the poor and unfortunate. He listed alleged grievances. Some of the youngsters in the audience began to rise to his challenge. They tried to shout him down. This seemed to set him on fire. He attacked the principles of capitalism, and quickly it became obvious he was either a Socialist or Communist, and he was a skilled debater.

The Hoax. The speaker accused America of "imperialism" and, finally, cited the Communist line that "America is out to control the world, and the brutal attack on Vietnam is proof." Scores of youth in the audience now were shouting, demanding that the speaker be denied further use of the lecture to condemn our country and glorify Communism. Passions rose. Heated words were shouted back and forth. And had they not been restrained, some of the boys would have gone up on the stage.

Then the hoax was revealed. The speaker was a professor at Harding. He had "faked" being a Communist. But what about the arguments he had set forth challenging the American system? During the controversy, the aroused youngsters had not given valid answers. The points made by the "Communists" were now chalked on a blackboard on stage. The audience was asked to answer them, to give the true facts about America, countering the Communist arguments. Lots of speakers arose. But only a few could make telling points. The "Communists" won most of the arguments by default. The results showed that these outstanding young Americans were not effective debaters for the American system.

To Fill Void

This was a cross-section of American high school youth. It demonstrated what I have said for decades—that our school system has not fulfilled the obligation to teach each succeeding generation of youth the economic, political, governmental and ideological facts which prove that while it may not work perfectly, the American system is the best on earth for human progress. And because they are uninformed, millions of our American youth of today have succumbed to the Communist Socialist "line" and are antagonistic toward our system.

The project beginning in the Batesville and Searcy school systems this fall is designed to fill the void in the public school education. Next week we will report on how the project got started and the hopes of everybody involved in its operation that it will become a pattern that can be applied to school systems throughout the nation.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

office for a free copy of IRS Publication 553, "Highlights of 1971 Changes in the Tax Law."

Q. Is the cost of sending a handicapped dependent to a special school a deductible medical expense?

A. Yes, if the taxpayer itemizes deductions and does not claim the expense as a child or disabled dependent care deduction, payments for sending a mentally or physically handicapped dependent to a special school are medical expenses if the principal reason for his attendance is the institution's resources for alleviating the handicap. For example, the cost of sending a blind child to a school to learn braille, or a deaf child to learn lipreading, are medical expenses. They may be included with other medical and dental expenses which are deductible to the extent they exceed three per cent of the taxpayer's income.

In addition, the cost of meals and lodging supplied by the institution, and of ordinary education furnished incidental to the special services may be deductible. Q. I received a cash award from my employer because a suggestion of mine was adopted. Is the award taxable? A. Yes. An award or bonus given employees for work achievements or suggestions is taxable.

Capitol Comment

By Charles McC Mathias
U.S. Senator

Unfinished Business

Everyone, businessman or housewife, sooner or later has to sit down and decide where he is and where he needs to go. That time is at hand for Congress. Now that the conventions are over, it is time to decide just what we must do in the remaining days of the session. With elections coming up for the entire House of Representatives and one-third of the Senate we must move rapidly if we are to discharge the necessary items on the agenda before the gavel finally falls and this Congress, the 92nd, passes into history.

As this is written, the Senate is moving on two major items, revenue sharing and the interim arms limitation agreement. There are some hard fights ahead, especially on the revenue sharing bill which means so much to Maryland. Unless the bill is passed, Baltimore City will face a whopping budget imbalance, since their budget for the twelve months beginning last July was based on the hope of getting additional funds through revenue sharing. And unless some funds cut by the Senate Finance Committee are restored, the whole state could lose $23 million dollars, money vital to school construction across the state. I hope that our efforts to do this are successful and that my next report has some good news to report on revenue sharing.

There is a lot more unfinished business.

There are many appropriations measures still in committee awaiting floor action or in conference due to differing House and Senate versions. These bills cover the period beginning the first of last July and carry through until the end of next June and until these decisions are made the departments of government are in the dark as to how much they can spend during that period of time.

In the area of crime there is so much that needs to be done, highlighted and dramatized by the incident in Baltimore when the mayor of Baltimore, William Donald Schaefer, became a crime statistic himself, just a few days ago. His watch was snatched right off his wrist as he was stopped at a traffic light in Baltimore. The mayor said that the boy who grabbed the watch seemed well dressed and "didn't look as if he needed to rob anyone," an indication of the critical juvenile crime problem to which I have been addressing myself these many months past and on which the Congress is dawdling.

Clearly, the juvenile crime problem goes deep, and needs more attention than we are giving it. I have proposed that the Federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration commit forty per cent of its money toward juvenile crime. The figures show that most criminal careers begin before the age of twenty-one.

Also in the area of unfinished business, there is some good news to report. . . good news for people who are planning the St. Michaels Days Festival in the middle of this month. Two cannons which helped defend St. Michaels from the British in the war of 1812 are on their way back to the Eastern Shore from Fort McHenry, and they'll be there in time for the St. Michaels days events.

However, Fort McHenry which has had the cannons since they were seized by federal troops during the Civil War, has only agreed to a loan, and the question of proving whether the cannons belong to St. Michaels is still under challenge by the military in charge at Fort McHenry and in the Department of the Interior.

I hope that a recent meeting with Secretary of the Interior Rogers Morton, an Eastern Shore man himself will continue to bear fruit in the form of some reconsideration by his agency's historians. Alan Heritage, the chairman of St. Michaels Days has promised that his committee will continue to fight to convince them on the score. In the meantime, the cannons will be where they belong, at least for the celebration.

BUSINESS AND THE STOCK MARKET

Bright Prospects For Truckers

By Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass. — The trucking industry promises to record encouraging increases in revenues and earnings this year over 1971 levels. There are a number of reasons for the year's anticipated good showing: The recent decision (late July) of the Interstate Commerce Commission to permit temporary freight-rate advances; the re-institution of the investment-tax credit; the benefits of a continuing upswing in the nation's economy, along with the associated boosts in freight revenues and tonnage; and the basic growth in trucking stemming from multi-destination cargo as business moves more toward the suburbs.

Another Uptick Year

The industry's revenues and earnings in 1971 reversed the downturn of the preceding year. Reacting to the impetus of a larger volume of freight and substantial improvement in earnings, the stocks of most of the motor carriers moved upward in price during 1971. The suspension of rate increases earlier this year, however, caused a pullback in this sector of the stock market.

But in July, under an ICC decision, truckers were allowed temporary rate relief. As a result of this, plus the expanded volume, revenues for 1972 as a whole may be expected to exceed last year's pace, and profits should also be ahead of the 1971 level. As the favorable earnings are reported, look for renewed interest in the common stocks of the trucking companies. In spite of the suspension of rate increases earlier in the year, earnings in the first half of 1972 were still on the rise and gave the industry a head start into the remaining months of the current year.

More Growth To Come

There are several factors working in favor of the trucking industry versus its major competitor, the railroads. These include the approaching completion of the 42,000-mile interstate highway system, the growth of intermodal transportation, the flexibility of trucks, and the change in legislation concerning allowable weights, sizes, etc. of motor carriers. A case in point is the webbing out of business into suburban and fringe areas. Another plus is the growth of shopping centers, which can of course be best served by trucks. Shippers recognize the flexibility of trucks, particularly in situations which warrant smaller-sized cargoes. Under conditions involving multiple destinations and/or origins, trucks are virtually essential.

Due to the aforementioned factors among others, trucks continue to capture a steadily larger percentage of the freight dollar at the expense of the railroads. For instance, in 1960 motor carriers accounted for 42% of the transportation dollar as compared with 49% for the railroads. By 1963, motor carrier revenues had exceeded those of the rails, and by 1970 the latter's share had slipped down to 41%. It is estimated that the total of the freight dollar going to the railroads may decline to some 29% by 1980. If this guess is accurate, then it is obvious that the longer-range outlook for the trucking industry is extremely encouraging.

Favored Issues

The Research Department of Babson's Reports feels that marginal carriers may be hard pressed to compete against larger, more efficient operators. The latter can usually increase productivity by greater use of double trailers, employment of computers, more efficient traffic management, and by possibly restructured rates, primarily on the smaller shipments (less than a truckload).

Although the industry is highly regulated, Babson's Reports sees more pluses than minuses in the outlook. But the key to profitability is still in the rate structure and its eventual revamping. Currently favored for purchase are two New York Stock Exchange trucking issues: U. S. Freight and National City Lines.

Vital Records To Be Centralized

Maryland is moving toward "one-stop" service in providing citizens with copies of vital records. Dr. Neil Solomon, Secretary of the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, said recently, "Our objective is to combine Baltimore City and State record keeping into one coordinated operation where previously there had been duplication and confusion," said the Secretary.

Until now, these records for residents in the 23 counties and the City of Baltimore have been separate, and citizens frequently encountered inconvenience in obtaining the vital necessary information.

Although complete physical merger of the records from Baltimore City's Bureau of Vital Records and the State's Division of Vital Records within the Maryland Center for Health Statistics is not slated until 1974, a law that went into effect on July 1 initiated the administrative procedures making the merger legal. In 1974 all records will be consolidated on microfilm when the entire Department of Health and Mental Hygiene moves into its offices in the newly constructed building located in the State Office complex on West Preston Street in Baltimore.

"The merger of existing records from the 23 counties with the records from Baltimore City," Dr. Solomon said, "will effect a saving of time for persons seeking certificates of birth and death, and will also simplify the recording process and thus effect a saving of money."

Physical merger of records will begin on January 1, 1973. Until then, the two operations will continue operating exactly as they have been. New records for Baltimore City residents registered between July 1 and December 31, 1972, will still be housed in the Municipal Office Building.

Until the records are consolidated in microfilm and moved into the new building, the Baltimore City office will house records of City residents from 1875-1972, inclusive. Records on file at the State Office Building, 301 W. Preston St., date back to 1898 for the remaining Maryland subdivisions.

After January 1, 1973, all new certificates will be registered and stored at the Preston Street Office. A $2.00 fee will be charged for each certified copy of a birth, death, or fetal death record. All will bear the State seal.

Sidney M. Norton, bringing 24 years of experience as Director of Vital Records for the Baltimore City Health Department, has been appointed State Registrar of Vital Records.

Vernon R. Randall, who for the past two years has been serving as Chief of Vital Records for the Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, will serve as Assistant State Registrar of Vital Records.

THE STEERING COLUMN

Q. How about some tips on driving at dusk?

A. Here are some, relayed from the American Trucking Industry by Clark Equipment Trailer Division and the ATA Foundation. They're based on the experience of professional truck drivers.

● At twilight, objects appear farther away than they really are, so don't let your eyes play tricks on you. Allow extra leeway during this critical visibility period.

● Use low beam lights. High beam light adds to the overhead brightness still in the sky, making it difficult to see dull objects along the roadway.

● One way to help eliminate the marked contrast between a lighted sky and a darkened road surface is to screen out the sky with your sun visor. This helps you concentrate on the important road area ahead.

● Time to check your gas tank. Many gasoline stations close at dusk.

Q. What's the best way to cross bumpy railroad tracks? A. Slow down ahead of a railroad crossing or another bumpy spot in the road, but don't apply brakes while crossing over it. Braking at this time causes severe stress on springs and axles and makes the car rigid for a much more uncomfortable ride.

Q. Are trucks becoming more or less important to the economy?

A. More important, and dramatically so. Inter-city truck tonnage has more than quadrupled since the end of World War II. Today, three out of every four tons of freight moved in America goes all or part of the way to the consumer by truck.

What is especially noteworthy is the number of products required for day-to-day

There's an easier way. living that are delivered almost exclusively by truck—70 percent of all meat, poultry, dairy products and drugs; 80 percent of all clothing; and 98 percent of all fish and seafood products. That's quite an impressive list.

So you've lost weight! The newest you is a shadow of your former self, yet you're not happy. If you're flabby here and there, if you detect a few bulges where there should be none, your muscles need toning and firming.

You'll feel better and look trimmer if an exercise routine is included in your every day. Plan your exercises at the same time each day, starting out with a 15-minute program and working up to half an hour. Wear an exercise suit (leotards will be fine) and exercise to music—it'll be more fun and seem less like work. Never exercise on a bare floor. Use a mat, a rug or even old blankets. And take it easy on the first exercise day!

If you crave a snack after your workout, munch on vegetables or a low-cal bit of fruit. Quench your thirst with a small glass of milk. It's the best thirst quencher, and you'll be drinking good health. Remember that your body cells replace themselves at the rate of three billion per minute with a process called mitosis. Treat the new you to good health!

Stretch for your waistline, do back kicks for hips and thighs. Touch your toes and do sit-ups. It will take about two to three months to tone and firm the muscles you have neglected for a long, long time. Persevere and never skip a day of exercises.

Diet and exercise — to feel better and look shapelier.

In describing the way a man should conduct himself the apostle Matthew wrote: "Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you."

According to the Bible, as interpreted by famed theologian Dr. Oswald Hoffmann of radio's "The Lutheran Hour," "Prayer is an admission of weakness, and that's the first step on the road to power. . . Prayer does things. It works."

OPEN LINE

By
Congressman Goodloe Byron
Maryland—Sixth District

The following question were typical of the kinds asked of me in recent weeks. Letters should be sent to me, c/o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515.

I believe an error has been made in my credit rating. How can I straighten this matter out?

Under the Fair Credit Reporting Act you must be notified if an investigative report is being prepared on you. The law also allows you to request a consumer reporting agency to clearly disclose the nature and substance of all information in its files on you, as well as the recipients of any report on you which it has furnished. If you feel the information contained in the files is not complete or accurate, the consumer reporting agency must reinvestigate and record the current status of that data. And if an error has been made on your file the information must be immediately struck from the records and you have the right to request notification of the change be sent to any persons you may designate.

I was told that Social Security will not handle black lung claims after this year. Is this correct?

No. The new black lung law extends the Social Security Administration's responsibility for taking claims until July 1, 1973. Payments based on claims filed before this date will continue to be made by the Social Security Administration after July 1, 1973 and throughout the lifetime eligibility of the beneficiary.

Can you tell me if the new AMTRAK bill contained a provision for giving passes to retired railroad employees?

Yes. The bill was signed into law last June and authorized AMTRAK to negotiate the return of rail passes with the companies. Negotiations were completed and the new pass system went into effect on July 24 providing passes to those railroaders who were eligible at the time AMTRAK was created.

Five months ago I completed a VA-approved vocational correspondence course. Despite numerous phone calls and letters to VA I still have not been reimbursed the veterans benefits due me. Can you please aid me as we need the money now?

Upon receipt of your letter my office contacted the Veterans Administration in Baltimore. VA apologizes for the inconvenience caused you and as you are now aware, an educational assistance allowance of $802 has been sent you for the correspondence training you received. Citizens experiencing similar difficulty with VA matters should feel free to contact my office in Washington for assistance.

ADD SPIRIT TO HOME-MADE RELISH

What's easy to prepare, unusual to serve and makes a great gift? Why, home-made relishes, of course; preserved in extra spicy and high-spirited marinades.

So, if you'd like to give your parties and friends a deliciously different kind of gift, try blending these recipes with liquor and spice and other things nice:

Gin-une Olives

1 jar (7 oz.) green olives
¼ cup gin

Drain ¼ cup of the brine from olives, replace with gin. Wash outside of jar and relabel in your own design. Cover. Marinate 24 hours or longer.

Scotch Beans

1 pound whole green beans, cleaned
1 cup water
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pickling spice
¼ cup Scotch

Cook green beans 10 minutes in salted water. Drain, reserving cooking water. Pack beans upright in tall, narrow glass container. Pour pickling spice and Scotch over beans. Fill container with hot cooking water. Cover. Marinate 24 hours.

Bourbon Beets

1 can (1 pound) sliced beets
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
1 tablespoon vinegar
1/3 cup Bourbon

Drain beets, reserving liquid. Place beets in a glass container. Add seasonings, vinegar, Bourbon and beet liquid to fill. Cover. Marinate 24 hours or longer.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
The Bill of Complaint is a suit to procure a divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the Defendant, Anthony D. Bergman.

The Bill recites that the Complainant is a resident of Frederick County, State of Maryland, whose last known address was 11455 Doverwood Drive, Riverside, California; that the parties to this cause were married on the 3rd day of October, 1970, at Lewistown, Maryland, by Rev. Darryl Frey, a regularly ordained Minister of the Gospel; that as a result of the marriage between the parties to this cause no child or children were born; that the parties to this cause have voluntarily lived separate and apart without any cohabitation for more than eighteen months prior to the filing of this Bill of Complaint, and that the separation between the parties is beyond any reasonable hope or expectation of reconciliation. The Bill then prays that the Complainant, Linda K. Bergman, may be divorced A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the Defendant, Anthony D. Bergman; and for such other and further relief as the nature of his case may require.

COURT ORDER

It is thereupon this 15th day of August, 1972, by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, Maryland, sitting as a Court of Equity, ORDERED that the Complainant give notice to the Defendant of the object and substance of this Bill, by causing a copy of this Order to be inserted in some newspaper published in the County of Frederick, once each week for four successive weeks before the 23rd day of September, 1972, commanding him to be and appear in this Court, in person or by Solicitor, on or before the 24th day of October, 1972, and show cause, if any he has, why a Decree should not be passed as prayed.

Byron Steps Up Campaign

Rep. Goodloe Byron stepped up his '72 campaign for reelection last week by saying that he would campaign on his record in every county in the 6th District.

In an informal talk to campaign volunteers Byron said that Congress would probably be in session until October but that he would continue to discuss national and regional issues with citizens on face-to-face basis during available morning and evening hours.

He said he would stand on his record in Congress and then cited his actions to hold down taxes by cutting back on "excessive and low priority spending programs" such as foreign aid and a guaranteed annual income.

Byron also reviewed his legislative efforts "to provide Central and Western Maryland citizens a better quality of life." He cited his bills to aid older Americans, railroad workers, miners, veterans, farmers and young people.

He said last year's Economic Development Conference and the Rural Development Act of 1972 were among the highlights of his first term because they will help industry create new jobs and also improve community facilities in the 6th District.

Park To Host School Tours

Starting Tuesday, September 26 and continuing each Tuesday through October 31, local craftsmen will be demonstrating various aspects of pioneer mountain life at the Folk Culture Center in Catocin Mountain Park. School groups can arrange to tour the Center between 9 a.m. and 3:00 p.m. by making reservations in advance through Catocin Mountain Park Headquarters, Thurmont, Maryland 21788 or by phoning 271-7447 or 824-2574.

In making the announcement, Park Superintendent Frank Mentzer stressed the importance of the craft exhibits as an educational experience, not only for the study of pioneer life at the elementary grade levels, but as a means of understanding social and cultural change with changing technology at the upper grade levels. Students attending the Frederick and Washington County and the District of Columbia Outdoor Environmental Schools will be touring the Center as a part of their week-long experience in environmental education at resident camps in Catocin Mountain Park. Over 8,000 school children toured the center during a similar program last year.

Other park facilities available to visiting groups include the Environmental Center where students learn first hand about the things of the natural world and how man has used them from the time of the Indian to the present, the Charcoal Trail which describes charcoal making as it was done for the Catocin iron furnace, two self-guiding nature trails, other trails to points of interest, and picnic areas for those spending the day. Details are available by contacting the Park.

Catocin Mountain Park, a unit of our National Park System, U. S. Department of the Interior, is located three miles west of Thurmont on State Route 77.

THERE'S SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE IN NOVA SCOTIA

You don't have to be a fisherman to love Nova Scotia, according to A. Garret Brown, Nova Scotia's dynamic Minister of Tourism. Despite the lure of 3,000 lakes, hundreds of rivers and the Atlantic Ocean—teeming with tuna, pollock, trout, shad, striped bass and salmon—lots of people who visit this Canadian maritime province have other vacation sports and activities in mind.

"That's because Nova Scotia, like no place else on earth, offers more than just a little bit of something enjoyable to everyone who comes to her shores," says Mr. Brown.

Take her 4,000-mile coastline, for instance, which boasts 150 beaches separated by rustic fishing villages and surf-splashed rocks. It's not only the perfect place to go to quietly and uncrowdedly get back to nature, but additionally offers yachting and boating enthusiasts, and now scuba divers, an unparalleled marine playground to ply their sport. In many parts of the province, sailing craft (complete with skipper) may be conveniently chartered, which means you don't even have to bring your own boat. For a change of pace and scenery, visitors can take a motor trip around the 184-mile Cabot Trail. Located in Cape Breton, this impressive "skyway" is an exciting kaleidoscope of lofty mountains, deep, green valley vistas, and salt tingling seascapes.

History buffs, on the other hand, can opt to see the Annapolis Valley where, at Port Royal in 1605, Canadian history began with the establishment of the "Habitation" by Samuel de Champlain.

And then, of course, there's Halifax, Nova Scotia's capital city. Swinging and charming, it has modern shopping centers, a professional repertory theater, large hotels, good restaurants, cocktail lounges and clubs with professional entertainment. It also has the Citadel, Canada's most frequently visited historic park; one that offers an outstanding view of the city, harbor and neighboring Dartmouth.

"These are just a few—a very few—of the somethings for everyone that have earned Nova Scotia her world renown as Canada's Ocean Playground," Mr. Brown says.

Announce Registration For Continuing Adult Education

Vote for continuing adult education in the Emmitsburg area. Register next week for the course of your choice. Acquire a hobby, upgrade your skills, improve your basic education. Remember, even if you are forty or fifty or sixty years old, it is not too late to get your high school diploma.

Nine courses are being offered beginning the week of September 18. A boxed listing is given separately in this issue of the Chronicle — see page 5. Emmitsburg Lifelong Learning Council urges area residents to take advantage of these courses which are offered in cooperation with the Frederick County Board of Education. Fees are small and travel is minimum. An enrollment of ten is necessary in order for a course to get under way.

Registration is accomplished simply by appearing on the first evening of class. No previous skill or experience is necessary for any class except Typing II.

Everyday Fix-it is a new course which teaches the student to save money on simple electrical, plumbing and general household repairs. Any man or woman can learn how to use a few basic tools and cope with many routine household breakdowns.

The course is taught by Dr. Robert T. Marshall at the St. Joseph High School Shop on DePaul St. on Wednesday nights for 10 weeks. The component people of tomorrow are the ones who enroll now in Everyday Fix-it. Women, who more and more are doing little repair jobs themselves rather than nagging their husbands and boyfriends, are especially welcome in this class.

Home Nursing, taught by Frances Bittle, R.N., will be held at Seton Center on Thursday nights for 12 weeks. It will cover first aid in the home, poison control for toddlers, care of the bed patient in the home, accident prevention in the home, basic nutritional needs of home-care patients and those on special diets.

A description of Painting for Beginners, taught by Sr. Anna Mae at St. Joseph College, was given in an earlier news release. For further information phone 447-6111 and ask for Sr. Anna Mae. All other courses are self-explanatory.
