From what I've heard the Community Show last week-end was bigger and better than ever before. Several local folks who had never attended before commented on how surprised they were at how much they had enjoyed themselves. Many of our local entrants came home with blue ribbons which just goes to show how much talent we have hidden around here.

I see where the Communist Party candidates will be appearing on the ballot in Adams County in November. There are those who would argue that since this is a free country this is a right the Communists are entitled to. However, seeing as one of their most publicized aims is to overthrow by any means, our way of government, there are those that feel that we are carrying things a bit far in allowing them this privilege. It will be very interesting to see how many votes their candidates receive.

North Vietnam has released three more of our men which is certainly a cause for rejoicing. The last releases were made in 1969, and Hanoi certainly took advantage this time of the resulting publicity. When those fellows are "generous" they make sure the whole world knows about it. Whoever arranged the "Gala Ceremony" should receive this year's award for "The World's Best Publicity Agent."

In case you've ever asked yourself why anyone would want to be President anyway, what with all the problems and tensions they are going to face, this might be part of the answer. I just read that the basic retirement pay for a former U. S. President is $60,000 a year. He is also entitled to an office staff with salaries totaling $96,000; that amount is in addition to office space, equipment and furniture. A President's widow is entitled to receive $20,000 a year. Seems like a real smart young man might be able to get himself elected, serve his four years, and live out the rest of his life in pretty nice style.

I've been hearing a lot of talk about the plans for Colorfest Weekend. The Firemen's Parade is shaping up to be bigger and better than ever before. Even going to have some majorette competition which means more marching and drumming for those of us who like to tap our toes as we are sitting in our lawn chairs enjoying the sights. The town is really going to be involved this year with more activities taking place here. I'm looking forward to the Block Party to be held on Saturday, and I might even go on one of those helicopter rides I've been hearing about. I kind of suspect that these old bones are going to give out before all the activities are over.

With Colorfest Weekend, of course, come tourists and groups to perform, and others who are new to our area. It reminds me of that slogan the government puts out every summer, about a foreign guest's most memorable experience might be you. I think it's something we should remember that a lot of these folks will be taking home with them the memory of how friendly people around here are.

FOOD SALE

The Dynamics Majorette group of Emmitsburg will hold a Food and Rummage Sale on Sept. 30 at 9 a.m. in the Emmitsburg Fire Hall. All are invited to come and look around. Any support will be greatly appreciated.

PARENTS TO MEET

A parents meeting for the Dynamics Majorettes will be held on Tuesday, Sept. 26, at 7:00 p.m. at Mother Seton School.

Firemen Meet; Discuss Colorfest

The regular monthly meeting of the Vigilant Hose Co. was held on Sept. 12 in the Fire Hall with President Leo M. Boyle, presiding.

Both truck and equipment foremen, Terry Myers and Mike Trout, reported that all was fine and in order. Chief Guy R. McLaughlin reported that seven fire calls, one assist with the VFW ambulance, and one practice was held since the last meeting. Fire Police Chief Paul Keepers requested the company's permission to give food tickets to fellow fire police who will be helping with traffic and various other duties on the day of the Colorfest parade and block party. The motion was favorably carried to do likewise.

Harry Green, chairman of the recent summer feed reported on its success.

The president was asked to secure information from the insurance agent regarding injuries to persons other than firemen with the company's equipment and when the information is obtained will report back to the company with same information.

The next matter discussed was who will respond in case of a fire or other type of emergency during the Colorfest block party. It was decided that the chairman of each stand or committee would arrange to see who would go.

Fund Drive Chairman, Jim Kittinger, reported that a total of $7,114.64 has been donated with four routes yet to be turned in.

Chief McLaughlin reported that Fire Prevention Week will be Oct. 8-14. He said that an invitation was received from Adams County to be in the Hook-Up Contest to be held at Abbotstown. He then appointed 2nd Assistant Chief Harry Green to prepare a sign and have it hung on the front of the Hall for that week.

Thomas White reported on the Frederick County Fire Prevention Committee. He reported that all Frederick County fire sirens will be blown on October 11 at 7 p.m. to remind everyone to hold fire drills in their homes and to keep "Fire Prevention" in mind at all times. The committee will also secure punch-out fire trucks for all first and second grades in the county. The committee will also hold a Fire Prevention Poster Contest during that week.

Discussion was held about the letter received from the town regarding the sale of land to Freeman Shoe Company. A motion was made following considerable discussion to sell the land and was voted to do likewise by members attending.

President Boyle appointed Charles Hartdagen chairman of the Shooting Match with Austin Umbel as co-chairman with Harry Green refreshment committee chairman. Larry Little and Thomas White will serve as co-chairmen of the Evening of Games to be held Ronald Cool will head the refreshment committee. Permission was given by Charles F. Stouter to hold the shooting match at his meadow.

Due to a dinner to be held at the Fire Hall on October 10, the meeting time was changed to 8:30 p.m. As refreshments will not be served the committee was appointed for the November meeting and will consist of Terry Myers and Phil Little.

Coffee House To Open On Square

A new thing is happening in Emmitsburg. Beginning September 23, a coffee house, the "House of Shalom", will be co-sponsored by the Emmitsburg Council of Churches and Christianity on the Move. This FREE coffee house will be held in the Senior Citizens Center on the Square for the youth of the area every other Saturday.

The doors of the "House of Shalom" will be open at 3:00 p.m. Youth from Frederick County and the Washington area will be present to sing and share about the realities of the Christian life. Many youth today are finding that the teachings of Christ and the Bible give definite solutions to the problems of this NOW Generation. The counselors and staff will be available to discuss these things with any visitor to the "House of Shalom".

At 7:00 p.m. an informal service will begin. Singing and sharing will be featured, and everyone will be encouraged to participate. A final thought from the Bible, expressing God's interest in today's youth, will climax the evening.

Letter To The Editor

Editor, Emmitsburg Chronicle: Mention was made in last week's issue of the Chronicle of the need for Den Mothers for Emmitsburg's Cub Scouts. I would like to add my own plea for support for the Cubs. We have a good Cub Scout Pack in Emmitsburg with 35 boys active in the group and many more wanting to join. Unfortunately we have only two Den Mothers and we need five to do an adequate job with the boys we have—much less encourage new members to join.

Being Den Mother to eight or nine boys eight to eleven years old once a week is no easy job, but it is rewarding and can be fun. It requires no special talent and training can be given here in Emmitsburg for any woman who would like to help the young boys of our town learn valuable skills and develop and enjoy themselves in a worthwhile way.

I hope a lot of future Cubs and their parents will come to Scouting Night next Thursday, September 27 at 7 p.m. at the Public School to find out more about the program. Perhaps if the boys are interested, they can persuade a few of their mothers to help us out.

Respectfully,
Robert M. Preston
Cub Scout Master

PP&K Clinic Scheduled Saturday

All the youngsters who have registered for the local Punt, Pass and Kick Competition to be held Sat., Sept. 30, will have a chance to tune up their skills at a special practice session to be held Sunday, Sept. 24 at Emmitsburg Community Field.

"Our PP&K Clinic will begin at 2 p.m.," said John Hollinger, local sponsoring Ford Dealer. "The Clinic's purpose is to familiarize the boys with competition procedure and to provide them help on punting, passing and kicking from the football coaches we'll have there. In case of bad weather, the Clinic will be held in Mt. St. Mary's College Gym. All contestants should wear sneakers."

"We're fortunate to have Thurmont Midget League Head Coach Earl Radtke as our clinic director. Throughout his many years of experience in athletics, Coach Radtke has made football his specialty and has devoted much of his time working with young aspiring players."

"In addition to Coach Radtke, we'll also have a number of able assistants," said the Ford Dealer.

Hollinger noted that registration for Punt, Pass and Kick is still open to all boys 8-13 years of age. All that is required is that the boy come into the Sperry Ford Sales showroom and sign up for PP&K with either a parent or guarantor. There is no entry fee or charge of any kind. Registration closes September 29.

"We'll be awarding a total of 18 winners' trophies in our local PP&K competition on Sept. 30," the Ford Dealer said. "And from our contest, winners could go on to win in the Zone, District, Area and Division competitions. After that, top competitors in each age group will go to Dallas where they'll be in the National Finals in the Pro Bowl Game, January 21."

"The all-expense-paid trip includes the parents of each finalist, a special tour of fabulous Dallas, a Banquet of Champions celebration, and the chance to meet some of the top players and coaches in professional football. Naturally, we hope some of our Emmitsburg and Thurmont PP&K winners will make it all the way to the National Finals," Hollinger said.

The Ford Dealer further explained that each boy upon registration receives a free PP&K Tips Book. In the 1972 edition, there are competition tips by NFL stars Dave Lewis, Robert Staubach and Garo Yepremian plus all-round suggestions from Coaches of the Year Don Shula and Tom Landry. The Tips Book also includes complete PP&K rules and helpful conditioning exercises for contestants.

This is the 12th anniversary year for PP&K. From its inception, the youth activity has been sponsored by the Ford Dealers of America and the National Football League. In that time more than 8,000,000 boys have taken part in PP&K, making it the largest and fastest growing activity of its kind in America.

The attractive 24-page booklet is primarily directed to "white collar crime", the very real crimes of consumer fraud, investment fraud, medical quackery, and the various ways unsuspecting persons may be cheated.

"Along with a discussion of what each person should be aware of, we have included lists of do's and don't's as specific precautions to be taken with each type of business dealing," Mr. Burch said.

"We are making copies of this booklet available to groups and individuals at no cost in the hopes that the information provided will help them stem the rise in every type of crime," Attorney General Burch said.

Requests for copies should be in writing and addressed to Attorney General Francis B. Burch, Consumer Protection Division, One South Calvert Building, Baltimore, Md. 21202.

"Serving as Manager-Assistant Treasurer of Eastern National Livestock Show for the past 11 years he has had extensive experience in all facets of administrative responsibility," added Oakley.

His agricultural background includes being raised on a dairy and beef farm, managing several large beef cattle farms and teaching vocational agriculture.

He has served as chairman of Maryland Agriculture Week, Farm-City Day Committee, initiating the first Farm Visitation Day, and several Chamber of Commerce Committees.

Episcopal Bishop To Be Named

A Suffragan Bishop will be elected by the Episcopal Diocese of Maryland at an all-day Special Convention, Friday, September 22, at St. Timothy's Church in Catonsville.

The Suffragan Bishop will assist the Diocesan Bishop, The Right Reverend David K. Leighton, Sr., in the administration of the Diocese, which totals 42,000 communicants.

The new assistant Bishop will have prime responsibility of that portion of the Diocese west of the Baltimore Beltway and lying in Carroll, Howard, Frederick, Washington, Allegany and Garrett Counties.

The assignment of the Suffragan to these counties is an attempt to strengthen Diocesan unity by placing a Bishop full-time in the area immediately accessible to the people. The new Bishop will live in the Frederick area.

Although his primary responsibility will be in western Maryland, the Suffragan also will assist Bishop Leighton in confirmations all over the Diocese.

Deadline Set For Disaster Loans

The Small Business Administration has set September 29 as the deadline for those seeking disaster relief loans.

Senator Charles McC. Mathias Jr. (R-Md.) said today. Senator Mathias said a booklet to help citizens who are trying to repair the damage inflicted by Tropical Storm Agnes earlier this year is now available from SBA offices in Baltimore and Washington.

"The booklet tells the who, what, where, when, and how of obtaining government assistance for disasters declared by the Small Business Administration as a result of storms, floods, earthquakes or similar catastrophes," Senator Mathias said.

"Those who need relief should contact the Small Business Administration no later than September 29, 1972," Senator Mathias said, adding that claims submitted after that date will not be considered by the SBA.

Mathias Applauds Court Decision

Senator Charles McC. Mathias, Jr. (R-Md.) this week applauded a federal court decision declaring domestic sections of the 1970 Bank Secrecy Act to be unconstitutional and said he was hopeful "the court's ruling will spur the Congress to reconsider the law."

"The 1970 law requires that a bank must turn over its records to the Treasury Department at the department's request from the Treasury Department," Senator Mathias said in remarks prepared for delivery on the Senate floor.

Citing press reports, Senator Mathias said a federal court in California held that provisions of the 1970 act would permit the government to "unreasonably invade the right of privacy protected by the Bill of Rights, particularly the Fourth Amendment provision protecting the right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures."

New regulations governing immunizations required for school children were announced this week by Dr. Charles Spicknall, Deputy State Health Officer for Frederick County.

Dr. Spicknall said that proof of immunization against polio, measles, rubella, tetanus, diphtheria, and pertussis (whooping cough) will be required of all children in nursery, kindergarten, and first grade by January 1, 1973.

"The new regulations," Dr. Spicknall said, "were signed into law by Health and Mental Hygiene Secretary, Dr. Neil Solomon, on August 18. The Maryland General Assembly," continued, "gave authority to draw up these regulations to the Health Department with concurrence by the State Department of Education, and the Medical-Chirurgical Faculty of Maryland."

Dr. Spicknall also stated that by September, 1973, these immunizations will be required of students through the sixth grade.

FREDERICK COUNTY BACKGROUNDS

BY SAMUEL CARRICK
"This, Our Country"
"Wild Geese."
"Hark, that is more than
wild geese going south,
That from a cloud at the
autumn sunset's edge,
As keen as the word in a lonely prophet's
mouth—
It is a promise and pledge!
They will return, they will break on the old earth's grieving
With clear, sweet clamor,
prevailing on and on;
And they will be more than a wedge of wild birds

cleaving
Home through an April
dawn.
Land they could call their own, freedom to worship God as they desired, the right of choice — what more could a man ask not only for himself
the frontier of the New World was hard—but—compared to the trials and chains of the old—it was paradise. This was paradise. This must have been the thought of the first Mathias Zacharias — he died in peace—to rest in the ground
he had claimed from the wilderness. Through "blood, sweat, and tears" this had become his country — he and those who followed were Americans.

Mathias (1) Zacharias and his wife, Elizabeth Margaret (Kuhn), were the parents of at least three children — as follows:
1. Mathias (2) Zacharias—
born July 5, 1757.
2. Anna Elizabeth Catharine
(2) Zacharias—born May 15, 1759.
3. Maria Elizabeth Catharine
(2) Zacharias — born March 11, 1766.

The only son of the pioneer
Zacharias and his wife, according to a fairly reliable family tradition, served in the Continental Army during the War of the American Revolution.
There is a Mathias Zacharias listed among the fifty-two privates in Captain Benjamin Ogle's company, a unit
was raised in the Emmitsburg,
Graceham, Thurmont district.
This was probably the son of the emigrant.

Again referring to the family tradition Mathias (2) Zacharias was present at the siege of Yorktown in 1781 and acted as one of the guards who escorted the Hessians captured
there when they were taken to York, Pennsylvania, probably by way of the famed Monocacy road — which passed near the Zacharias plantation.
According, also, to this same family tradition, a flask, still in the possession of a descendant, was given to Mathias

(2) Zacharias by one of the unfortunate Hessian prisoners on that occasion. Research has shown that this flask was probably a product of the Amelung Glass Works.
Therefore it could not have been given to Mathias (2) Zacharias in 1781. It is possible, however, that it was given to the young soldier by a Hessian prisoner, whom he had met on the way from Yorktown to York. It will be remembered that many of the Hessian prisoners remained in this country after the close of the war and became excellent citizens. Many were skilled artisans and found work
at such places as the Catocin
Iron Works or the Amelung
Glass Factory, to mention
only a few.

After the war Mathias (2)
Zacharias was content to return to the farm willed to him by his father. As a matter of fact he added to his acreage. He applied for a warrant of survey for twenty acres adjoining his own, which was conveyed to him, being part of "Addition to Honey Ridge," by Patent Deed of the State of Maryland, dated April 27, 1784.

These lands, some 254 acres
in all, remained in the Zacharias family for about one hundred and sixty years.
Mathias (2) Zacharias married Anna Stockslager, the daughter of Albertus Stock-slager. His wife was some two years younger than her husband. She was born October 25, 1759.

Mathias (2) and Anna (Stockslager) Zacharias were the parents of six children—
as follows:

1. John (3) Zacharias — born April 4, 1788—died October 28, 1832—buried on the family ground—remains later moved to Mount View Cemetery. The inscription from the marker at his grave follows:

2. In memory of John Zacharias, died October 28, 1832,
aged 44 years, 6 months and 24 days.

2. Mathias (3) Zacharias—born September 8, 1789—died July 13, 1849.

Note: This third Mathias
Zacharias is interred in Mountain View Cemetery, his body having been removed from the family burial ground at "Mon Dollar." The inscription follows:

3. In memory of Mathias Zacharias, died July 13, 1849,
aged 59 years, 9 months, and 29 days.

3. Christian (3) Mathias
—born March 19, 1802—died
October 1, 1875.

Note: The youngest son of Mathias (2) and Anna (Stock-slager) Zacharias, who acquired the ancestral home and lands. On May 12, 1836 he married Sarah Picking, the daughter of John Picking, who in turn was the son of John and Esther (Burns) Picking,
of the vicinity of Zora, Adams County, Pennsylvania. Sarah (Picking) Zacharias was born January 1, 1812 and died September 10, 1865. Seven children were born to this union.

Christian (3) Zacharias was first interred in the family ground but his remains were later moved to Mountain View Cemetery. The inscription follows:

4. In memory of Christian Zacharias, born March 19, 1802, died October 2, 1875,
aged 73 years, 7 months, and 12 days.

These notes pertaining to the Zacharias family will be continued in this series next week.

Amendment To Ease Tax Burden

Senator Charles McC. Mathias, Jr. (R-Md.), has introduced an amendment to the revenue sharing bill in an effort to ease the growing property tax burden on those with fixed incomes, and to provide local property taxpayers with valuable, easy to understand information on what their tax burdens are compared with others in the same area.

The proposed amendment
provides federal supplements, through state governments, to property taxpayers with low and middle incomes who are paying a high percentage of their incomes in property taxes. To qualify for the program, state governments
would have to adopt a series of reforms in property tax assessment methods, as well as providing more information in clearly understood form to the taxpayer when he receives his bill.

Although the amendment is submitted for consideration
with the revenue sharing bill, Senator Mathias emphasized that he does not intend to bog
the Senate down in debate, and thus impede the final voting on revenue sharing itself. However, the Senator said, "The aim of the revenue sharing bill is eventually to reduce the burden of local taxation, and this amendment, which attacks a specific area of the same problem, should be brought to the attention of the Senate now."

The bill provides for Federal payments to state governments amounting to fifty per cent of state tax relief payments to the state residents.
The effect of the bill would be to encourage state governments to set up their own property tax relief programs,
and to reform present procedures.

Relief would go to individuals whose property taxes on a principal residence exceed 8 per cent of their total income, and whose total income is not over $15,000 a year.

The individual would be relieved of property taxes over eight per cent, up to a maximum of $300.00.

The bill also provides for comparable relief for renters and sets up means for determining whether their property tax burden meets hardship standards.

To qualify for federal aid
under the program, state governments would have to set up assessment procedures and send out tax bills with comparative information to the taxpayers. Each would have to conform with standards set up in the legislation.

WASHINGTON REPORT FROM SENATOR J. GLENN BEALL JR.

Unfinished Business

Congress has made a good start after returning from the Republican Convention and Labor Day recess, and those who received my newsletter
during the break know that venue sharing is the top priority item on the Senate agenda.

Other important bills also are coming to a vote. For example, legislation was passed to support drug treatment programs and to aid the victims of crime. One of these bills will provide benefits to the survivors of law enforcement officials killed in the line of duty. Another vote provided funds to continue the anti-poverty program for the next two years.

The responsibilities of public office go beyond passing laws and making appropriations to federal agencies,
however. There is an additional obligation to keep watch over how the American tax dollar is spent.

Thus, when I recently earned that $60,000 in poverty funds was to be used to send 67 underprivileged teenagers on a "cultural enrichment" trip to Europe, I demanded an explanation and corrective action by the director of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Most Americans will never enjoy a trip to Europe, on a vacation they would have to work and save for, and it certainly isn't good government when public funds are put to this kind of use. Fortunately,
I have been assured that no federal funds have been or will be expended on this program.

There is another subject involving a large amount of tax dollars that I am watching even more closely. That, of course, is the revenue sharing legislation.

The bill that has been reported to the Senate by the Finance Committee is vastly different than the legislation

which was passed by the House of Representatives.

The House version of the bill, which I cosponsored in the Senate, used a formula that took into consideration such factors as the ability to raise revenue at the local level. Maryland, with its graduated income tax and other revenue measures, was to receive $117.5 million,
under the House revenue
sharing plan.

The changes made in committee had the effect of stripping away funds from states such as Maryland, which would lose $22 million in comparison to the legislation which I sponsored.

Amendments already have been prepared to substitute
the original formula, or to arrive at a compromise that will be more equitable to all states, and I feel confident that more changes will be made before the Senate acts on its version of this most important bill.

However, the final version of a revenue sharing bill is certain to be drafted by a conference committee, where differences will be reconciled
between the House and Senate. Since this could be a lengthy and involved process,
it is important for the Senate to complete action on its version of the bill without unnecessary delaying tactics.

Otherwise, time could run out for revenue sharing this year.
There are other matters
that also must be taken up before the 92nd Congress concludes its work. These include the arms limitation agreements reached by President Nixon during his trip to Russia, along with several appropriations bills. There is a tight schedule for getting this work done, but if the brisk pace of the first few days can be kept up, then the work of the 92nd Congress can be completed on time.

Have A Beautiful Nordic Day

Vital vittles for good morning eating are eggs, Norwegian style — a puffy golden omelet stuffed with fresh garden vegetables and topped with savory smoked Norway sardines.

You couldn't get off to a better start: Norwegian Farmer's Breakfast is a veritable gold mine of energy.

It may seem unusual to serve sardines, which we all love as lunch or dinner appetizers and snack-time favorites, for breakfast. But a lot of people (aside from Norwegians who have been doing it for centuries) are using them as breakfast food. These slender little fish are amazing storehouses of nourishment, ready-to-serve, completely edible from tip to tail. Full of protein, calcium and phosphorus and high in vitamins A and D, Norway sardines are especially fine food for growing youngsters.

NORWEGIAN FARMER'S BREAKFAST

- 8 eggs, lightly beaten
- Salt and pepper
- 1 cup grated Cheddar cheese
- 1 cup fresh spinach, torn into small pieces
- 6 cherry tomatoes, halved
- 1/2 cup fresh or frozen peas
- 3 radishes, thinly sliced
- 1 can (3 1/2 ounces) Norway
sardines, drained

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Combine all ingredients except sardines in a bowl and beat lightly. Butter four oven-proof ramekins or small baking dishes and divide mixture evenly between them. Bake for 35 to 40 minutes or until puffy and lightly browned on top. Serve at once, topped with sardines.

Makes 4 servings.

Capitol Comment

By Charles McC Mathias
U.S. Senator

Property Tax Reform

Next to leaky faucets, the biggest headache facing the nation's homeowners is the property tax. The cry for tax relief can be heard from all sections of the country. Every American feels the need for tax relief.

In an effort to answer these pleas for help, I joined with Senator Charles Percy of Illinois and offered a plan which guarantees relief to the small property owner and those who live on fixed incomes. The legislation provides for the reform of state property tax procedures by creating a systematic program through which states would be compensated for granting tax relief to their citizens.

Individuals whose property tax exceeds eight per cent of total income not exceeding $15,000 could receive a tax relief of up to $300. Comparable relief would be available to those who rent.

To qualify for federal aid under the program, state governments would have to set up assessment procedures and send out tax bills that detail how the tax was computed. Comparable tax computations on neighboring property would have to be available.

This measure is not a radical approach to the problem of property taxes. Eleven states have such programs.

Senator Percy and I introduced this measure as an amendment to the revenue sharing bill. We did so because the aim of the revenue sharing bill is eventually to reduce the burden of local taxation, and this measure, which attacks a specific area of the same problem, needed to be brought to the attention of the Senate.

The Senate Finance Committee, which has jurisdiction over such proposals, was intrigued by the Mathias-Percy tax plan. The committee suggested that, because of the importance of the subject, it had to be studied to determine how it would affect the tax system in each of the fifty states.

The committee has undertaken its study and will prepare a report and hold public hearings within the next few months.

The Mathias-Percy tax plan offers a realistic chance for tax reform and I will stay in close touch with the Senate Finance Committee as it determines this proposal's future.

St. Mary's Trip

I was happy to be able to make a recent early morning trip to St. Mary's City, in St. Mary's County, the site of the first settlement in Maryland. While in the county I visited an excavation at St. John's House where Governor Charles Calvert, who later became Lord Baltimore lived. This is an important archaeological project because it has already told new things about how America developed. St. John's is a very timely discovery because it comes along as we are preparing for the Bicentennial. To appreciate the Bicentennial we can't focus just on 1776, but have to understand what led up to the American Revolution. St. John's is a site of the beginning of the fight for women's rights. It was in St. John's that Margaret Brent first advanced the cause of women's suffrage. The house is one more example of Maryland's contribution to our history and hope that many of you will have the opportunity to visit it.

Because it used noisemakers to sound alarms, America's first fire department was called "The Rattle Watch."

What joy and triumph, after all, to be sincerely honored by the ones we loved

LOOKING AHEAD

By George S. Benson, President, National Education Program
Searcy, Arkansas

Project Of National Significance

Woodrow Loden operates wholesale and retail gasoline and oil establishments in South Panola County, Mississippi. Lawrence M. Mullins is Superintendent of Schools at Batesville, one of the leading little cities in the county. For years both have had a common worry: viewing the massive alienation of American youth from the basic principles of our capitalistic system, they have worried about the failure of public education to create understanding and appreciation of, and support for, the American system.

Mr. Loden became president of the Batesville Chamber of Commerce January 1, 1972. One of his first actions was to telephone me in Searcy, Arkansas. He told me of a mutual determination of School Superintendent Mullins and himself to develop a public school program in American citizenship education. He asked for our help. He had seen some of our National Education Program films and had heard me speak at Batesville civic club and at convocations in the junior and senior high schools of Batesville. Because I too, had worried about the omissions of basic citizenship education in the schools of America, I jumped at the opportunity to join with school patrons and officials in such a project.

Workshop For Teachers

Some of our NEP staff went to Batesville and met with public school officials, school board members, and civic leaders. We were asked to return in April and conduct a day-long workshop for history and government teachers in the Batesville and nearby Searcy school systems. This was to be the "kick-off" for structuring a school program to be integrated into government and history classes, and extended to the whole student body.

At the April workshop, we had about 25 teachers and supervisors. Our staff presented the following workshop program: "The Problem We Face" — Dr. Benson; "Challenges to Solutions" — Dr. Benson. "This Is our Problem"

Citizenship Materials

After an hour question-and-answer period the workshop recessed for lunch. Then these NEP films were screened: "Meet King Joe—King of the Workers of the World," "The Structure of the American Way of Life," Harding College students Doug Heimburger and John Brunner presented "The Structure of Freedom" using styrofoam building blocks. Dr. Barnes conducted a seminar: "Methods—Concept teaching Multi-Media;" the following NEP films were screened: "Going Places" (how the American economic system works); "Plymouth Colony" (from the common storehouse system to private ownership and private enterprise); "Albert in Blunderland" (a technicolor fantasy on life in an ant colony); "What Is Socialism" (a lesson in political science); "Why Play Leapfrog" (what causes inflation); "The Devil and John Q" (the mistakes of political expediency); The workshop ended after an hour long panel discussion.

The school officials immediately assigned a teacher-supervisor committee to spend the summer months developing a structured program to be integrated this fall with the history and government classes. School assembly programs, at the rate of about once a month, will be conducted by government and history students, utilizing some of the films and visual aid tools from their classroom citizenship courses.

Needed Nationwide

Our NEP staff will be collaborating with the Batesville-Searcy school people. The Boards of Education in the two systems have given enthusiastic endorsement to the project. The citizen leadership of the area has pledged all cooperation. From time to time during the 1972-73 school year, we will go to Batesville and Searcy and report on progress of the project. All who are involved in its development and refinement are aware that it is a national "pilot-plant" operation, and thus of national significance.

At the end of the school year we will be prepared to aid in the spread of the program to other school systems throughout the nation. It has great potential. If the project or some adequate parallel, could be adapted to the curriculum of schools in the 50 states, our freedom system could be made secure (and improved in its workings) and the threat of Socialism-Communism would dissipate and finally disappear.

Perspectives In Learning By Hazel Brown

Newspapers—Still First In Reading

Thank goodness, we are still reading the newspaper! This is the first reaction after reading the results of the most recent Educational Testing Service survey on adult habits.

The Educational Testing Service survey, by Donald A. Tismen, is a part of a more thorough study to determine the American adult reading habits. The study hopes to find what Americans of various economic and educational backgrounds read, and under what conditions.

Of the 5,000 adults questioned, 73 per cent stated that they had read a newspaper the day before and 91 per cent of them had read the front page.

The next most popular reading material was mail. Fifty-three per cent of the respondents had read mail — mostly bills or statements. Forty-seven per cent had read advertisements which had come in the mail and 33 per cent had read some personal mail. Thirty-nine per cent of the adults being surveyed had read a magazine the day before. Most of the magazines were of a general interest, news or women's and home-making magazines. Most people had read the magazine at home.

Books were found to be read least. Thirty-three per cent of the adults said they had read a book the day before being questioned. The variety of books was extreme. Sixteen per cent said they had read the Bible.

Fifteen per cent of the adults interviewed had read a menu the previous day while 61 per cent had read advertisement displays while shopping. Seven per cent stated that they had read a guarantee or warranty, and 54 per cent had read something on the television screen.

There may be some question as to why a survey such as this is conducted. The answer is that it is just one part of extensive research being done to determine a set of tasks to be used in measuring the functioning reading competence of American adults. The Right to Read program has encouraged many projects such as this one to help identify the overall reading level of Americans. From such findings the areas of concern might appear.

It is hopeful that research in adult reading habits will lead to educational programs for adults which will help them to improve their skills in all areas of communications. Too many adults are being forgotten today when plans for new programs are initiated.

FANCY TAT

There are about 26 trillion living cells in the human body, and each one of them secretes chemical compounds called enzymes. Made mostly of protein, these enzymes are vital to life because they break down substances the body needs into forms it can use.

Enzymes also play an important part in keeping America clean. When just a small amount of them are added to detergents and pre-soaks, they help to get many tough stains (like blood and grass) out of clothes as no other cleansing agent can. The Food and Drug Administration reports they are safe to use and effective. Enzymes are biodegradable, too, and do not cause pollution.

Ford Division's new F-Series pickup trucks, including this F-100 Ranger XLT, feature the most extensive changes in six years. The F-100/250/350 light trucks include an all-new cab, new interiors, new exterior sheet metal, longer wheelbases and wider tracks. Cab length is increased two inches, permitting more leg room and a roomy storage area behind the seat in most models. New features include front disc brakes on all two-wheel-drive models, double wall construction of the cargo box and optional power steering and automatic transmission in four-wheel-drive models.

BUSINESS AND THE STOCK MARKET

Outlook For

Nonferrous Metals
By Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass., Sept. 21, 1972—The aluminum, copper, lead, nickel, and zinc industries in late years have been experiencing some serious difficulties. In reflection of this, the stocks of the foremost companies in these fields are now priced near their lows for the past few years.

Despite the depressed prices of the common stocks of the important nonferrous companies, however, the Research Department of Babson's Reports is not currently recommending their purchase. But "hold" advices are being maintained at current low levels since some intermediate-term improvement seems likely. When purchases are being considered, there appear at present to be more attractive opportunities in areas other than nonferrous metals.

Aluminum
Last year was particularly troublesome for the aluminum industry as excessive worldwide additions to capacity were made at a time when both the economy and aluminum were lagging. Thus, an oversupply situation developed and prices weakened. To add to the problem, the industry signed a costly three-year labor agreement. The four leading aluminum producers—Alcoa, Alcan Aluminum, Reynolds, and Kaiser—were all under considerable pressure.

So far in 1972 there has been some moderate improvement, although the aluminum outlook is far from bright. Prices of some fabricated products have been increased, but aluminum prices in general remain weak and the world oversupply persists. A higher return on the industry's investment is a must if meaningful progress is to be made. But this does not appear to be a near-term probability.

Copper

Housing and autos, the two largest markets for copper, have been doing well this year—which has been of some help to the copper industry. Overall, however, copper prices have been depressed and worldwide demand has been sluggish. In July prices of the red metal were reduced 20 per cent by the major producers.

Recently, copper future prices moved up in anticipation of a pickup in demand. So far, however, increased demand has failed to materialize. The copper industry remains extremely volatile, and profits of its leading producers—Anacosta, Kennecott, Phelps Dodge, and Cerro—will fluctuate widely.

Lead And Zinc

Lead supplies currently exceed demand and American Smelting lowered its lead price by 1/2¢ a pound a few weeks ago. Despite this, however, it should still be a reasonably good year for the lead industry due in part to the excellent business experienced by the battery makers. Consumption of lead for gasoline additives is turning downward, but not as rapidly as might be expected. St. Joe Minerals, the nation's Number One lead producer, is doing better this year.

In May the price of zinc was raised from 17¢ per pound to 18¢. Many in the industry feel that another price rise is imminent. Thus, some inventory building is currently taking place. Actually, because production capacity of the nation's zinc industry has been sliced nearly in half by the closing of several old smelters, domestic zinc is in short supply. The leading producer of this metal is New Jersey Zinc, a subsidiary of Gulf & Western.

Nickel

Because of steadily rising costs of both labor and materials, nickel prices were recently raised 15¢ by the two leading producers, International Nickel and Falconbridge Nickel—both Canadian companies. Everything considered, however, prospects for the nickel industry are not especially bright although there has been some betterment over last year's poor showing. Hopefully, the supply-demand situation will show some further improvement over coming months.

Ecology Workshop Set At Frederick Community College September 29

In response to one of the most critical contemporary problems, the Maryland Community Colleges plus University of Maryland Biology Consortium has announced that an Ecology Workshop will be conducted at Frederick Community College, on Friday, Sept. 29 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Dr. Robert V. Bielarski, Chairman of the Mathematics/Science Division at Frederick Community College, has been named coordinator of the Workshop.

The Biology Consortium was formed under the sponsorship of a grant from the National Science Foundation for the improvement of Biology education.

The workshop on ecology to be held at Frederick Community College is designed to define problems, approaches and concerns involved with the introduction of ecology in the biology curriculum.

As college biology teachers are very aware of national concern with the environment, they are making every effort to integrate these concerns into their biology courses.

In order to present the varied approaches to the subject of ecology, the workshop will hold a morning session for presentation of speakers from research in ecology, environmental health, Governor's Commission on environmental college ecology instructors, and the Chesapeake Bay. The afternoon session will be devoted to small group workshops with speakers and participants to discuss individual concerns involving ecology in the classroom.

An optional field trip on Saturday morning, Sept. 30, will be conducted for those interested participants. The field trip will be led by Dr. William Meredith of Mount St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg.

Sen. Eagleton To Speak At Loyola

Senator Thomas F. Eagleton (D-Mo.), former Democratic vice presidential candidate on the McGovern ticket, will speak on "Political Issues" in the gymnasium at Loyola College, Baltimore, 1 p.m., Tuesday, Sept. 26.

The senator, a graduate of Amherst College and Harvard Law School, served in the U. S. Navy from 1948 to 1949 and has been in public service since 1956, when at the age of 27 he became the youngest person elected to the office of circuit attorney of St. Louis, Mo. In 1960 he became Missouri's youngest attorney general and in 1964, the state's youngest lieutenant governor. He was elected to the U. S. Senate in 1968.

County Sponsors Free Loan Films

The Carroll/Frederick Audio-Visual Cooperative is sponsoring a special "free loan" 16mm film program October, 1972 through March, 1973. According to Edward Cessna, director of the Cooperative, 70 different films will be available each month, and may be borrowed by churches and adult groups (teen aged through Senior Citizens) in Carroll and Frederick Counties. The films cover a wide range of subjects such as art, drugs, nature, and social problems.

Mr. Cessna stated that film reservations are now being accepted at the Cooperative Office, 520 North Market Street, Frederick, at all Carroll and Frederick County Public Libraries, and on the bookmobiles. Film catalogues will be available to aid borrowers in selecting films. Mr. Cessna urges that borrowers make reservations at least 10 days prior to the use date. Such advance reservations will help insure satisfactory service. Borrowers will pick up and return films at the Cooperative office or their nearest Carroll or Frederick County Public Library.

Although this is only a six month program, Mr. Cessna stated that if it is successful it will be continued beyond March, 1973.

Announce Disposal System Grant

Baltimore has been chosen to receive a $6 million federal demonstration grant for a new solid waste disposal system, it was announced by Senators J. Glenn Beall, Jr. and Charles McC. Mathias.

The grant will be used to help build a pollution-free facility capable of processing 1,000 tons of solid waste per day. When complete it will be the largest plant of its kind in the United States, the two Republican senators said.

Senator Beall said the system is designed to produce saleable by-products that will offset as much as two-thirds of the plant's operating costs. He described the project as an example of what can be done when our planners and scientists work together on the problems facing our nation.

Senator Mathias said the plant is scheduled to be built and operating in about two years. The $14 million facility is being designed by Enviro-Chem Systems, Inc., a division of Monsanto Corp. The $6 million federal grant is being matched by a $4 million grant from the Maryland Environmental Service and $4 million from the city.

Sandwich Idea

The makers of Thomas' English muffins borrowed the idea from among the 20 top winners in the 1972 Sandwich Idea Contest and added their own special touches. Originally called Dietary Delite, it was created by Barbara Bove, dietitian at Pt. Pleasant Hospital in Pt. Pleasant, New Jersey.

Liverwurst Delight
6 Thomas' English muffins
Butter or margarine
1/3 cup Russian dressing
Lettuce leaves
12 slices medium-size tomato
12 slices liverwurst (about 1/4-inch thick)
1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese with chives, softened
Split English muffins by scoring with tines of fork and then gently pulling apart. Toast; butter. Spread muffin bottom halves with Russian dressing, then top with lettuce, tomato and liverwurst. On remaining 6 halves, spread cream cheese evenly. Close sandwiches. Garnish with radish roses and carrot curls. Makes 6 sandwiches.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks. Letters should be sent to me, c/o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515.

Do you have any information available for schools relating to physical education programs?

The President's Council on Physical Fitness & Sports has just published two booklets designed to increase public understanding and support of school physical education programs. One of the pamphlets is entitled "What Physicians Say About Physical Education" in which doctors talk not only about the necessity for school programs, but also the importance daily programming and about the role physical activity plays in the total development of a child. The other pamphlet, "Interpreting Physical Education," contains suggestions for effectively telling the physical education story to students, parents and school administrators. You may order your copies, free of charge, from the President's Council on Physical Fitness & Sports, Washington, D. C. 20202.

How much money was funded for small community water and waste disposal grants for 1973?

Last month the House approved USDA appropriations for fiscal year 1973, including $150 million for rural water and waste disposal grants. This figure represents a 50% increase over the previous year.

What was the Maryland share of farm export last year? Maryland accounted for $41 million in farm commodity exports in fiscal year 1972 which was a fractional share of the national export figure of $8 billion. Feed grains, soybeans and tobacco were the leading commodities exported from our State. Detailed statistics can be obtained by writing the U. S. Department of Agriculture directly or by asking your local library for a copy of "Foreign Agricultural Trade of the United States".

I am a World War II veteran who has been unable to work for the past two years. I applied for a veterans pension last summer but have not received any reply. Can you aid me as I receive less than $250 a month and still have several dependents in school?

Upon receipt of your letter the Veterans Administration was contacted in your behalf. As you are now aware a monthly compensation has been awarded you, including a retroactive check covering a six month period. Citizens having similar difficulty receiving benefits justly due them should contact my office in Washington for assistance.

FCC To Provide CLEP Testing

Frederick Community College has been officially designated as a testing center for the College-Level Examination Program (CLEP). This program is designed to enable individuals who acquired their education in non-traditional ways to demonstrate their academic achievement. It is also intended for use by those in higher education, business, professional licensing agencies, industry, government, and other fields who need a reliable method of accessing a person's educational level.

The College-Level Examination Program is offered by the College Entrance Examination Board, which for years has been providing testing and guidance services to schools and colleges and to students who proceed from high school to college in the conventional way. These services have not been readily available to, or appropriate for, those who have gained their education outside the classroom through such means as correspondence studies, television courses, independent study, on the job training and experience, and so on. Yet such unconventional means are being used more every year.

Francis R. Smith, Director of Testing and Development Education at Frederick Community College, has been appointed to direct the local CLEP Testing Center. The exams are scheduled to be given on the third Wednesday of each month at 9:00 a.m. Descriptions of the tests and registration forms may be obtained from the College. Students desiring to take one of the exams must register at least three weeks in advance of the testing date.

The best way to learn about the examinations is to call the College and have them send you specific information regarding the exams. Should you have such interest or any other questions, please feel free to call Francis Smith, Frederick Community College, 662-0101.

Additional Courses To Be Offered By Learning Council

Two additional courses, Physical Fitness for Women and Tips for Tutors, will be offered beginning the week of Sept. 25 by the Emmitsburg Lifelong Learning Council.

Physical Fitness for Women is a 12 week course which will meet each Thursday night at Seton Center in Emmitsburg at 7 p.m. This is basically an exercise course designed to improve muscle tone, shape up the body and increase general physical well-being. It is offered by LLC in cooperation with the Frederick County Board of Education and will be taught by Nora O'Brien. The fee for the course is $8; payable at the first session on Sept. 28. For further information call 447-6102.

Tips for Tutors is a short course which will train volunteers to assist the local schools in teaching reading and math to students who need special help. Anyone in the community interested in this volunteer work may enroll in this course which is free of charge.

Five evenings of instruction will be held in the Adult Education room at Seton Center over a period of two weeks. Basic Math will be covered from the tutor's viewpoint on Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 26 and 27, from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Maureen Hinke of St. Joseph College and Mr. Marion Helowicz of Mount St. Marys' Seminary, will instruct.

On Thursday evening, Sept. 28, Mrs. Mary Seess, Emmitsburg Basic Education teacher and coordinator of the Tips course, will discuss tutoring techniques as well as problems which the volunteer instructor may encounter. This session will begin at 7:30 p.m. Experienced tutors will be present to contribute to the discussion and a question and answer period will be included.

On Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 4 and 5, volunteers from the Frederick County Laubach Literacy Council will be at Seton Center from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. to prepare tutors to help students who lack basic reading skills.

The Laubach method is used by an international corps of volunteer teachers who seek to eradicate illiteracy under the slogan "Each one teach one." Mrs. Evelyn Balzler and Mrs. Henry Eigelsbach will conduct the reading sessions.

Tips for Tutors is offered by LLC in cooperation with GAP, a volunteer service organization at Mount Saint Mary's and St. Joseph Colleges. Mr. Kevin McLaren, who heads the tutorial branch of GAP, has cooperated with Mrs. Seess in organizing the course.

Baby sitting will be provided at Seton Center for the children of students enrolled in Tips for Tutors.

Fireballettes
Schedule Game

The Fireballettes will be playing again this Sunday (Sept. 24) at 2 p.m. at the Middle School Field. Their opponents for this game, The Middleburg Mfg., hold second place in the league standings.

In last Sunday's game the Fireballettes lost to Freeman Shoe of Hanover in a 20-16 game. Freeman Shoe is the first place team in their league.

Although a new team, the local girls have been taking on the best competition available, and making a very presentable showing. With a start like this in their first year, we'll be expecting great things from these girls next season.

The turn-out for last week's game was even greater than expected. The girls are counting on our continued support this Sunday.

Byron Opposes Guaranteed Income

Rep. Goodloe Byron said this week that he opposes the guaranteed annual income plan currently before Congress noting that it would double the welfare rolls at an increased cost of $5 billion to $10 billion dollars.

"During the last ten years the number of persons supported by welfare payments rose from 3 million to 10 million and if this new plan is enacted nearly 20 million will qualify for welfare," he said.

"This uncontrolled growth suggests that welfare is in the process of becoming a means of supporting a growing non-working class and this is not a good omen for our society."

"The work incentive in our Nation must not be eroded and we must do everything we can to ensure that a person is always better off working than not working."

"I would agree with the U. S. Chamber of Commerce in that we must concentrate our efforts on job training and job placement programs. This would include after-work training programs to upgrade the skills of adults with low earning power as well as the heads of working poor families."

"In this way we can give individuals a hand-up, which most people prefer, rather than a hand-out," Byron concluded.

JUNIOR FIRE MARSHALS HELP PREVENT FIRE

With more than 11,000 deaths—one-third of them children—due to fire in the United States every year, it is more important than ever for Americans to marshal their resources to combat the tragedies of this vital (and mortal) statistic.

Underlining the imperative nature of such a battle are figures showing that, for the same one-year period throughout the nation, there are nearly 1,000,000 fires, property losses totalling over $1,000,000,000, and more than 300,000 fires in the home.

How can we contain this deluge of destruction?

Perhaps the best long-range answer is the education of youngsters in the ways of preventing blazes. One leading insurance company, The Hartford Insurance Group, has been making just such an effort since 1947, when it announced the formation of the Junior Fire Marshal program.

Designed for classroom use, from kindergarten through third grade, the program's aim is to teach children the danger of fire, how to prevent fire and what to do in case of fire.

Implemented through thousands of Hartford agents from coast to coast, the Junior Fire Marshal program is a year-round activity. It's most important week, however, is the one in October designated as National Fire Prevention Week.

During National Fire Prevention Week, each child involved in the program receives an eight-page magazine featuring instructions in fire prevention and fire safety, frequently in story form, and a lengthy Home Fire Safety Check List. The child must take his check list home and, with the help of a parent, use it to check his home for a variety of fire hazards. The child who completes a fire hazard check of his own home and returns the report to his teacher, with a parent's signature, becomes a Junior Fire Marshal, and a member of the largest and most widely-accepted fire prevention education program in the world.

During Spring Clean-up Week, each child again receives an eight-page magazine, this time featuring incentives to prevent fire by cleaning up the environment. At the same time, teachers receive guides—as they do during National Fire Prevention Week—to aid them in conducting the program.

With the help of parents, Junior Fire Marshals check their homes for such fire hazards as frayed electric cords, piles of rubbish, and uncovered cans of paint.

All Junior Fire Marshal materials are produced by The Hartford, and are distributed by its agents who volunteer to become involved in the cause of fire prevention by running the Junior Fire Marshal program in their towns.

These agents must first make a presentation on the JFM program to the town's school superintendent or school board, and obtain permission to conduct the program. They then order desired materials from The Hartford, deliver it to the schools, and frequently make personal visits to the classrooms to help teach fire prevention lessons. Some go so far as to sponsor town-wide Fire Prevention Week parades.

For further information about the program, see your local Hartford Insurance Group agent or write to Junior Fire Marshal Headquarters, The Hartford, Hartford Plaza, Hartford, Connecticut 06115.

Mrs. Frailey Returns From Africa Trip

Mr. T. J. Frailey recently arrived home from a 32-day tour of Africa with a group from Washington, D. C., under the direction of Dr. Edward B. Lewis, Pastor of Mount Vernon Place United Methodist Church in Washington. The group traveled by TWA to Rome and from there on various airlines throughout Africa.

The first stop in Africa was Monrovia, Liberia, where the group was received by President Tolbot. The group was also taken through the Firestone Rubber Plantation in Liberia and shown the process of obtaining rubber from the tree and the various stages of manufacturing it for shipment. From Monrovia they touched down at Accra, Ghana and Lagos, Nigeria on the way to Johannesburg, South Africa. The group also visited in South Africa at Pretoria, Kimberly, Cape Town and Cape of Good Hope where they saw the Indian and Atlantic Oceans meet. In Rhodesia they visited Victoria Falls and had a ride on the Zambesi River. From there all went on to Nairobi, Kenya, starting a safari of ten days thru Kenya and Tanzania. During the safari everyone descended the Ngorongoro Crater, 2000 feet below sea level, by land rover.

After returning to Nairobi, the group left for Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, where they were entertained at the American Embassy by Ambassador and Mrs. Adair. From there the entourage went to Cairo, Egypt, where everyone visited the Pyramids and Sphinx, and had a ride on the Nile River before the trip to Rome via Jeddah, Saudi Arabia and Athens, Greece. From Rome the group again took TWA to Kennedy Airport in New York and home by American Airlines.

An 8-cent Wildlife Conservation Commemorative Stamp, goes on sale today at our office.

Gifford Pinchot, who with Teddy Roosevelt and John Muir, helped to arouse America to the need for conservation, had this definition of the subject: "The wise use of the earth and its resources for the lasting good of men."

Earlier Ralph Waldo Emerson and Henry David Thoreau, had forecast the day when a nature-rich nation would despoil itself.

The four jumbo-size Wildlife Conservation stamps, printed on the same sheet, continue the highly popular series.

Reproduced are the fur seal, the cardinal, the brown pelican and the bighorn sheep. The Postal Service points out that these are not necessarily endangered species, but rather that all forms of wildlife should be of public concern.

in the Francis Scott Key District.

Under a clear sky, host Troop 284 of Emmitsburg encamped on Friday night on the college-owned piedmont to the east of Route 15. Visiting troops arrived on Saturday morning in time for a 9 a.m. registration.

As soon as the camp was organized, the scouts assembled to hear Fr. Thomas Phillips of St. John's Parish, in Frederick, outline the procedure which leads to meriting the Ad Altare Dei (To the Altar of God) emblem. This emblem, which is a Catholic scouting award, calls for a long-range program of Christian formation. Fr. Phillips, who is Chaplain for the Francis Scott Key District, says it usually takes a scout about two years of dedicated effort to obtain the award. It can be received only by a scout of first class rank.

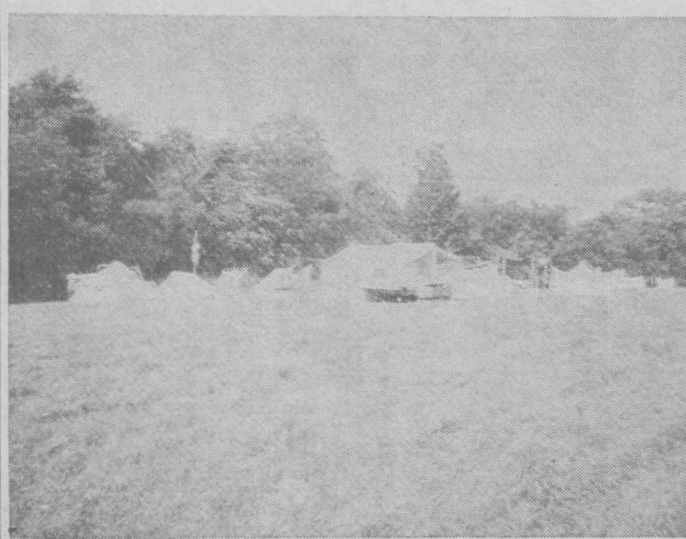

The days' activities included afternoon hikes which were planned to encourage small-group religious discussion during the rest period, celebration of Mass at the Grotto of Lourdes at sunset, and a Council Campfire which concluded with song and a candle-lighting ceremony.

Mass at the Grotto in the Blue Ridge foothills back of the college was celebrated by Father Joseph Sannino, C.M., of St. Joseph's Parish, Emmitsburg, with scouts from Troop 284 serving as altar boys. Singing was led by the Sunrise Singers, a choral group of boys and girls from the area.

Seniors from Mount St. Mary's Seminary helped coordinate the day's events. They went along on the afternoon hikes as adult resource people and they planned the Council Campfire.

Following the Campfire, adult leaders adjourned to the Knights of Columbus Home in Emmitsburg to assess the camping retreat. The evaluation session was chaired by Fr. Joseph Davies of Hagerstown, Council Chaplain for the Baltimore area.

It was decided to make the camping retreat an annual opportunity for troops in western and central Maryland.

Also projected was a 1973 own troops to strive for the Ad Altare Dei emblem. The workshop will be under the direction of Robert A. Rosensteel.

steel, Emmitsburg Scoutmaster, with a committee to be announced later.

On Sunday morning, Fr. Harry J. Flynn, Rector of Mt. St. Mary's Seminary, spoke briefly to the campers on aspects of seminary life. The flag was lowered during a mid-morning closing ceremony and the scouts, weary in body, refreshed in spirit, broke camp and headed for home.

The planning for the camping retreat was handled by Robert A. Rosensteel, chairman, and Michael H. Scheerer, co-chairman. Fr. Davis acted in an advisory capacity and Mr. Julian Karczewski coordinated the work of the seminarians. Each participating scout received a circular blue patch which was designed especially for FSK Catholic Retreat 1972.

Representatives were present from the following troops: 799 of Frederick; 274 of Frederick; 1998 of Frederick; 718 of Taneytown; 268 of New Market; 1 of Hagerstown; 18

Spotlight on HEALTH

Before election day, sales for antacids to relieve simple heartburn may rise along with tempers. Remedies for swallowing too much air should do well, too. Tension and anxiety lead to air swallowing, a major contributor to formation of gastrointestinal gas. According to published medical studies, a tablet called Phazyme has proved effective in breaking up the entrapped gas bubbles that cause gas pain.

Physicians advise that heated debates and missed meals or food eaten hurriedly can take their toll on anyone's intestinal system. A fact there is bound to be agreement on, regardless of which political party is favored.

One of the most common conditions for which women seek the help of a gynecologist is vaginitis, and particularly the infection caused by the organisms called trichomonas. Its most common symptoms are an intense itch and an unpleasant discharge.

Fortunately, there are a number of drugs that clear up the condition, including one on prescription in tablet form that has been found particularly effective.

The physician author of an article on vaginitis in the 1972 edition of "Current Therapy" adds that "an occasional vaginal douche to soothe the symptoms may be used in addition to the drug." He recommends using a nonirritating cleanser such as Trichotine twice a week.
