Were those State Men I saw working on a grate on Main Street the other day? Unfortunately, they parked their truck on the better side of the street, but maybe they did notice that hump in the roadway, any way. Let us fervently hope so. At least now we know that the State people do know the way to Emmitsburg.

Speaking of the "way to Emmitsburg", I heard that the new part of Route 15 is due to be opened to traffic in 10 days or so, which will make commuting between here and Frederick a lot easier. It's too bad that no one has yet come up with a plan to keep everybody happy so that the road can be continued all the way up here to town and on to the state line. Maybe the powers that be would consider starting work from this end now, by the time they get south of us, the problem may have resolved itself, time and likely lives will have been saved, and traveling at this end of the county would be much easier.

Seems that another restaurant in town has found it necessary to declare itself "Off Limits" to our young friends out at the college. It is the usual thing of the many nice young folks we have out there, having to suffer for the actions of a group who act somewhat like hoodlums. Is it possible that the decent majority could exert enough influence on the unruly minority to make them change their ways? Probably not, for that majority will probably go on its quiet way, many of them offering their time and talents to our community during their time here, and trying to disassociate themselves from the ruckuses around here. Let us, though, give a nod of approval and thanks to all the young folks out there who act like adults, help out in the community, and are generally good neighbors. And let's hope that the others grow up—SOON.

'Tis the Season to be jolly. It is also apparently the season to grab what you can when no one is looking. A lot of folks around town would like to get their hands on whoever took that Christmas lantern; especially the folks who were and are responsible for paying for the decorations, installing the decorations, and dressing up the town for the holidays.

Well, we finally found out what happened to the Cunningham Landfill project, didn't we? We are going to have to find something to do with that 70,000 tons or so of junk that the people in this county pile up each year. Seems the matter may even end up in a court fight. I think it's a matter all of us around here should keep track of as it is a vital matter to those of us around here. We can't close up the burning dumps if we have no where else to put all that junk.

It was brought to Ole Abbie's attention that there are a few folks here and there around the area who think that I enjoy stirring up trouble and things would be much more peaceful if I'd quiet down a bit. Well, they might be more peaceful, for the moment but sooner or later things are going to get out. Sorry, folks, but I'm going to keep jabbing away at those areas that need a little more attention around here, and just maybe, once in a while, some good will come of it.

Senior Citizens Plan Program

Monday afternoon, Nov. 21, at 1:30, the Board of the Senior Citizens held its regular meeting, which was opened by prayer, led by Mrs. Ethel Fuss.

President La Rue Harman called for the reading of the minutes of the last meeting by Mrs. Edie Baker, which were approved as read. Other members present were Mrs. Helen McNair and Hazel Caldwell.

The group was reminded of the Christmas dinner hosted by the VFW in their quarters on the Square on Dec. 4 at 6:30 p.m. At this time there will be a short talk by Mrs. Pat Throne, and entertainment by the Mother Seton School Glee Club. Mrs. Mary Lowe Smith will also be a guest. The Board planned to have a brief moment of memorial for the most recent loss of four club members, Mrs. Esther Gillean, Miss Louise Sebald, Besse Kolb and Grant Long, at the Nov. 21 club meeting.

The rest of the meeting was spent in planning a tentative program for the rest of the club year as follows: January 16, Sunrise Singers; February, covered dish social; March 20, Marian Society and games, the club furnishing refreshments; April, film, National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The 1973 Spring Bazaar to be held the Saturday before Easter and the Fall Bazaar November 10, 1973.

On Tuesday evening, Nov. 21 the Senior Citizens Club met in the club rooms at 7:30, with 40 members present.

The meeting opened with the singing of "For the Beauty of the Earth." Mrs. Harman read the Psalm, followed by silent prayer and the Lord's Prayer for the late departed members.

The names of prize winners were read and the amount of intake made by each table. The sum total for the club was about $650.00.

A name omitted from the list of winners was Lisa Tyler, winner of the radio.

Members were reminded of the coming events: Dec. 4, VFW Christmas Party; Dec. Party at Frederick, and the 6, Annual County Christmas bus trip which was held Nov. 27.

Sister Anna Mae then showed her beautiful slides of her trip to Europe. In all, she visited 18 cities, among them: Delphi, Istanbul, Vienna, Rome, Athens, Munich, Florence, Venice, Milano, Nice and Cannes. The slides were glorious and Sister Anna Mae's account of the trip made one feel almost there. It was indeed a beautiful experience and many, many thanks to Sister Anna Mae.

St. Joseph's Team Starts Season Friday With New Coach

St. Joseph's basketball players, G. Hemler, R. Williams, and R. Adelsberger, confer with Coach Custer. They open their season Friday night.

The Trojans of St. Joseph's High School will take to the court Friday with a new coach and a new outlook. Robert Custer of Philadelphia will guide his new club against a strong Friends School of Baltimore. Custer, formerly was head coach at Holy Ghost Prep in Philadelphia (9 years) and St. Emma Military Academy of Virginia (5 years). Custer was very optimistic when questioned about St. Joseph's chances this year. "We have three fine veteran players to build with in seniors Roy Adelsberger and George Hemler, and junior Richie Williams. All will start. The backcourt at the moment is the weak spot with inexperience showing but there are two good sophomore prospects, namely Joel Neighbours and Harold Engle-statter trying out for the guard spots. Both will improve as the season progresses. Also in the picture for a starting position is 5'11" Mike Myers and 6'2" Skip Flessner, both players up from the JV club. Albert Hobbs, a good jump shooter, will push the others to see action. Steve Myers, Dick Hobbs and Jeff Wivell round out the squad and supply the hustle and spirit.

"We'll have depth and overall board strength; we hope to employ a variety of effective offensive and defensive variations. Our strength begins with Adelsberger, who could start with any high school team in the country. Roy is very mature with his approach to the game, a superb shooter and definitely all-state material. Roy was born to play basketball, he is our team leader. Williams is another blue chip player for the Trojans, a pure shooter with tremendous outlet and only a junior. Hemler will take care of the rebounding, George is 6' and strong, and a better than average shooter from the high post."

Custer sees St. Josephs as a definite contender in the Blue Ridge Mountain Conference and a club that should improve on last years 10-10 record.

When frontiersman John Colter died in 1813, the sale of his personal property included this item: "To John Simpson — one Dutch oven — $4." That was the equivalent of a week's pay. Today you can buy an identical Dutch oven for about the same price. —Sports Afield

Fatal Accident Mars Holiday

A Blue Ridge Summit motorist, Diane Wagerman, 23, was killed instantly at 6:30 last Thursday evening and her year-old son, Travis, was slightly injured when their car was torn in half against guard rails and a utility pole on Route 16 at Shank's Mill, about 2 1/2 miles west of Emmitsburg.

Emmitsburg firemen spent 20 minutes cutting away portions of the car to free Mrs. Wagerman. She was rushed to the Warner Hospital in the Emmitsburg VFW ambulance.

Dr. Robert S. Lefever, Adams County Coroner, said Mrs. Wagerman died instantly of a fractured neck. Her son, Travis, was treated at the hospital for cuts of the forehead, then released to his father, Jerry Wagerman.

State police said Mrs. Wagerman's westbound coupe crossed Route 16, hit guard rails and a utility pole in the front yard of the Weldon Shank residence.

Emmitsburg Fire Chief Guy McLaughlin said the Shanks rescued the baby from beneath Mrs. Wagerman who was pinned in the wreckage.

Firemen laid hose lines and poured water on cutting torch sparks to keep the residue of gasoline left by the wreckage from igniting. Firemen responded with a pumper and a rescue truck. Police estimated Mrs. Wagerman's 1969 Ford coupe at a total loss.

A native of Franklin County, she was the daughter of Layman J. Reese, Blue Ridge Summit, and the late Lottie J. (Hunbaugh) Reese who died in June.

She was employed as a secretary for Tab Books, Blue Ridge Summit.

During the business meeting, Mrs. Thomas Frailey reported that the annual Christmas Party will be held at 12:30 p.m., December 14 at the Lamp Post, Gettysburg.

Mrs. Robert Clingan announced that club members have been invited to help plan and direct the Advent Family Night Workshop to be held December 3 at Trinity Lutheran Church, Taneytown.

Perspectives In Learning By H. Brown

A Beautiful School
In the present day of critics, pessimists and carpers, there are still some educators who realize the basic needs of the learners they are challenged to teach. These educators are forging ahead in spite of community problems, lack of fun, and discouraging situations.

Recently an article came to my attention about Judy Nash, an elementary school principal in Fairfax County, Virginia. This aggressive principal has encouraged the community and parents to help her renovate and redecorate a drab, gray school building. After a "painting" party, the school is now a beautiful, cheery, multi-color arena for learning.

It is rewarding to know that some school principals still believe that the environment in which children learn is a most important factor. Pleasant surroundings can be the stimulation and motivation needed to encourage children to accept the challenge of learning.

Color can do much to establish a mood and atmosphere for developing creative thinking and encouraging curiosity. Can you imagine the different effect one room painted light yellow and one painted gray would have upon a young child? The addition of bright colors to any classroom creates interest and encourages reaction from the students. A beautiful school can establish an atmosphere for a high level of involvement by the learner. A little paint can change a dull situation into an exciting experience.

It is encouraging to read that parents are volunteering to help create the ultimate atmosphere for learning. When parents become involved, the children become more interested. They realize that what happens at school is really important. They understand that parents and teachers care about them.

The community project of redecorating a school building is much more than just making the classrooms more colorful. It is a cooperative effort in overcoming the disinterest in education. It is involvement with learning, children, and fellow parents.

A "beautiful" school could be enjoyed by your children, too. All it takes are some in-

4-H Club Holds Achievement Night

The Rocky Ridge Progressive 4-H Club held its thirteenth annual banquet and achievement night on Friday, November 17, at the Rocky Ridge Fire Hall.

Guests at the banquet were Rev. Franklin Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Saylor, Miss Phyllis Wivell and guest speaker, Kevin Hall, a former FFA National Public Speaking winner. The theme of Kevin's talk was setting a goal in life. Achieving this goal requires careful planning, determination, and getting involved.

The welcome to the parents was given by Angela Wivell. The program also consisted of the history of the club for the past year, which was presented by Vicky Bollinger and Mark Wivell. The club leader, Mr. Sterling Bollinger, then made the presentation of awards. A trophy was given to the junior and senior member for achievement in club work during the past year. Receiving the junior award was Angela Wivell, and Kiki Wivell received the senior award. The closing prayer was then given by David Bollinger.

Following the program, interested parents, paint brushes, and some bright colored paints.

drawings for a fruit basket, and a dried flower arrangement, were held. The members, parents, and guests all spent an enjoyable evening.

Tallest: This dog record is held by "Broadbridge Michael," an Irish Wolfhound (born 1926) owned by Mrs. Mary Heynon of Kent, England. He stood 39 1/2 inches at the shoulder.

My thanks to the publisher of Guinness Book of World Records (copyright 1966) for providing those, and other, world record facts.

Did you know that since 1965, Russia has issued six stamps depicting these dogs: Caucasian Sheepdog, South Russian Sheepdog, Turkestan Sheepdog, Laika (the famous mixed breed astronaut dog), and an Irish (Irish?) Setter. When will the U.S. close the dog stamp gap? That may be a suggestion your dog club could make to your Congressman.

And Did You Know . . .
Many of us are familiar with famous dogs of today and yesterday, like Lyndon Johnson's beagles, President Nixon's Irish Setter, the Welsh Corgis of Britain's Royal Family.

But did you know that Michelangelo's Pomeranian accompanied his master to work in the Sistine Chapel; that Wagner's Poodle sat in the orchestra pit pricking his ears to the sound of the Valkyries; that Chopin's Minute Waltz was written for a Poodle? And that a Fox Terrier named Laurel followed Napoleon into exile?

FREDERICK COUNTY BACKGROUNDS

BY SAMUEL CARRICK
John Casper Henry Dielman
"December—
This is the month of home and fireside.
The children's month of laughter and glee.
Because a child was born in Galilee
God's love came down to earth to bide."
—Edith Tatum
The holy season of Advent ushers in the Christmas season in the Christian church. Advent is a time for soul-searching—akin to Lent. But because of its place on the Church Calendar—in this day and age—it becomes a time of joyous preparation for the anniversary of the birth of the Son of God.
Of all the delights of Christmas the music strikes a chord in the hearts of all men. Some of the old carols are timeless and of great antiquity and they have an appeal that transcends time and change. The Christmas carols are Christmas. All the great composers have contributed their talents to the music for the "Mass of the Christ." Not the least among these was the late John Casper Henry Dielman, professor of Music at Mount Saint Mary's College.

This year, as in the past, many of the choirs of Emmitsburg and vicinity will sing Dielman's "Christmas Carol." It is an honor to the village and all of Maryland that this talented man once made his home here and found his final resting place in the old "Mountain Churchyard."

was born April 26, 1811, at Frankford-on-the-Main, Germany. Four generations of the family were prominent in the field of the Fine Arts and showed exceptional talent in many branches of the same. The musician and composer was the eldest son of John Casper Dielman, a man of brilliant musical accomplishments.
A half-brother of Henry Dielman, Lewis Dielman, likewise a musician, emigrated to America, and, in his turn, became professor of Music at Calvert College, at New Windsor, Maryland. Of Lewis' two sons, the one, Frederick Dielman, was born in Germany but came to America as a child. He became a successful artist in New York. Lewis H. Dielman, the second son of Lewis Dielman, was born at New Windsor, Maryland in 1864, and was successively a Librarian, Author, Editor, and Historian. It was as the latter that he "made his mark" in Maryland history. His records, particularly those of long-forgotten, now obliterated burial grounds, are in the files of the Maryland Historical Society and are a "boon" to historians and genealogists of today and tomorrow.
John Henry Casper Dielman came to America in 1826 and in 1834 became an American citizen. Less than a month later, on September 9, 1834, John Henry Casper Dielman, was married to Emily Dawson, daughter of Captain Philemon Dawson, of the English Merchant Marine. The marriage took place in old Saint Peter's Episcopal church, Baltimore, Maryland. The bride on this occasion was a descendant of the old English family of Lowndes—no mean heritage to be passed to generations yet unborn.
Of the six children born to the union of John Casper Henry Dielman and his wife, Emily (Dawson) Dielman, four were born in Baltimore, Maryland. The two youngest, Lawrence (Larry) and Adelaide Dielman, were born in Emmitsburg.

The father, John Henry Casper Dielman, came to America to accept with a "job well in hand." His training and talent as a musician had fitted him for the post of conductor. He served various orchestras in this country before coming to Baltimore. From the latter city, in 1843, Dielman joined the faculty of Mount Saint Mary's College. According to the published obituary of Dr. Dielman, he was the first in this country to be distinguished by the title of Doctor of Music. This distinction came to him in 1849 from Georgetown University and he received his diploma from the hands of President Taylor, who presided at the Commencement Exercises that year.
The same account goes on to say that—he was a composer of some merit. His marches composed for the inaugurations of Presidents Jackson, Harrison Taylor, were performed by the United States Marine Band.
It was while head of the Music Department at Mount Saint Mary's College that Dr. Dielman composed his Christmas Carol as well as many other musical compositions. His tenure at the College extended over some thirty-nine years and they were rich—not only in the field of instruction but also in the number of compositions given to the world. In addition to his other duties, Dr. Dielman acted as organist at the Church on the Mountain.
The home of the Dielmans near Mount Saint Mary's was known as "Andora." According to tradition this was the gathering place for the cultural groups of the neighborhood. Good fellowship and worth-while conversation were the order of the day.
Of his family—Dr. Dielman and his wife, must have had mixed emotions. Their children are listed as follows:
1. Mary (2) Dielman (the

WASHINGTON REPORT
FROM SENATOR J. GLENN BEALL JR.

A Good Year for Environment

The 92nd Congress enacted several other measures which deal with water quality and the use of our marine resources. Since the Chesapeake Bay and Atlantic seacoast play such an important part in our Maryland way of life, these also deserve mention.
One is a bill to establish—at both the state and federal levels—policies for the protection, management and useful development of coastal zones and estuaries in the United States. These precious areas provide all of us with scenic open space and recreational facilities, and they also are breeding grounds for most of the finfish and shellfish that have made the Chesapeake Bay famous.
Another measure will protect our marine resources by regulating ocean dumping. Pollution, however, is not the only thing that kills marine life. Man is probably the greatest threat to most ocean animals, and some of these creatures have been hunted to the point of nearing extinction.
Congress responded to this threat by outlawing most killing of ocean mammals and banning the importation of their products, most notably the white fur of baby seals.
Other environmental legislation comes closer to our everyday lives. For instance, noise has become an increasingly irritating form of pollution which will now be controlled by standards on noise levels for products such as aircraft engines.
Even so, it is often difficult to get away from our everyday surroundings and enjoy the natural beauty and solitude of a park. But here, too, Congress has taken action by making it easier for surplus government property to be turned over to communities at no cost for development as parks and recreation areas.
Maryland is one of the first states to see the benefits of this program. Five parcels of land totaling 330 acres have already been deeded to local communities in Charles, Prince Georges, St. Mary's, Cecil and Baltimore Counties.

THE WORD is CIRCLE
By Ralph Rhea
To insure that our life will not get caught in some vicious circle, we must continue to grow through the exchange of creative ideas with others. It is only when we cut off communication that we build barriers to our progress. Fear and mistrust draw a circle that encloses us. Self-expansion through sharing our thoughts and feelings with those we trust can erase the circle from around our life. Continual giving and receiving is the substance of life that feeds the growing person. For a free copy of "The Word" series for this month write: Unity Newspaper, Unity Village, Missouri 64063.

LOOKING AHEAD

Heroin A Contagious Plague
The Bubonic Plague, which came to be known as the "Black Death," devastated areas of central Asia in the mid-1300s, then moved west thru Europe. About 70 per cent of Europe in the 1350s was hit by the plague. More than 25,000,000 deaths occurred as the terrible epidemic wreaked havoc in nation after nation. The "death drug" Heroin in the hands of aggressive forces capable of planting it in large quantities in nations marked for conquest could be the ultimate weapon.

day being spread like a contagion as certain as that of the Bubonic Plague of the Middle Ages. In the introduction of his report to the Senate Committee, on the international drug traffic and in some cases on Communist involvement in it, General Walt draws the parallel.

Aggressive Recruitment
"Drug addiction has all of the attributes of a contagious disease," he says, "because addicts are under an irresistible compulsion to addict others. Indeed, it is just about as contagious and just about as deadly as the Bubonic Plague. (At this point he used a chart) I show you here a diagram which will illustrate how this contagion spreads. The diagram, drawn by a British psychiatrist, Rene de Alarcon, shows how two addicts in the small British town of Crawley spread the sickness of heroin addiction to 56 other people over a period of five years.

"To be precise, Dr. de Alarcon was able to establish that the two initial addicts were directly responsible for initiating another 46 young people into heroin addiction. The origins of the other 10 cases of addiction were not clearly traceable, but there is reason for believing that the existence of an addict community in Crawley played some role. It is common knowledge that no one can even begin to inject drugs into their veins unless they are taught the technique by an established addict, 10,000 Addict 'Communities'."

"Now, multiply the infectious circles in this diagram by roughly 10,000 and you will have some conception of the problem we are up against in America today." He explained that there are at least 10,000 "communities" of heroin addicts scattered throughout the United States at this time, and the numbers are growing.

"A formidable array of new agencies and committees and offices have been set up, each designed to play a specific role in the national war on drugs," General Walt noted. "Indeed, there has probably never been a national effort in any social area comparable in magnitude and urgency to the many-sided effort that is now being made to stem the drug epidemic in our country.

"Despite the vast sums of money we are spending, we are still not winning the war. We are making far more seizures and far more arrests—and so are our friends in Europe and Asia. But the sad fact is that heroin, hashish and cocaine continue to pour into the United States. Even the most optimistic narcotic agents concede that 80-85 per cent, and possibly more, of the total volume of drugs targeted at our country succeeded in evading our various law enforcement agencies. Our heroin addict population today is almost 10 times as large as it was in 1960, and almost twice as large as it was two or three years ago." (The latest estimate is that the number of heroin addicts now approaches 1,000,000; there are an estimated 300,000 in New York City.)

Must Stamp Out Production
General Walt points out that the educational effort has so far failed to "stem the tide" of the "contagious" spread; and he reports that rehabilitation efforts show only a 15 per cent success. "All this," he says, "points to the conclusion that if we fail to deal with this problem (international traffic, and flow into the U. S. jeffectively over the measurable future—the next five years, or 10 years at the outside—our society may be doomed . . ."

General Walt believes that the massive internal efforts now under way to deal with the drug epidemic are indispensable, but that the key to winning the war on drugs is the shutting off of production and distribution at the sources. Next week we will report on the sources.

Capitol Comment

By Charles McC Mathias
U.S. Senator

Preserving Antietam

Among the unfinished business of the 92nd Congress was a bill Senator Beall and I introduced to provide for the expansion of the Antietam National Battlefield in Washington County. Actually, the legislation was introduced twice. The original bill, which was introduced in April, 1971, was revised shortly before the end of the 92nd Congress.

The measure would have authorized expansion of the national battlefield, now about 1,100 acres, to a total of 3,260 acres. Included in the new area would be the 1,800 acres over which the battle was waged and a 1,440-acre environmental protection zone that would preserve the scenery around the battlefield, along the lower Antietam Creek to its junction with the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal National Historical Park.

Following the introduction of this legislation in the first session of the 92nd Congress, an Antietam Battlefield Advisory Committee of Washington County was formed at my request to discuss the legislation for the purpose of offering recommendations for refinement of the original proposal. The committee was appointed by the Washington County Commissioners and was chaired by Commissioner Rome Schwagerl. The committee met several times throughout 1971, talked with local citizens and landowners interested in and affected by the Antietam Battlefield expansion, and reported their findings and recommendations in May of 1972. The thrust of these suggestions were incorporated in the legislation introduced this year.

Under the bill, owners of residential or agricultural properties within the expanded area would, in most cases, have the option of retaining rights of use and occupancy of their properties for purposes compatible with the project.

Another recommendation of the Advisory Committee which we made part of the present legislation involves the appointment of two non-voting members to the permanent Advisory Commission which the bill establishes in addition to seven voting members. These two non-voting appointees would serve one-year terms and be appointed by the Board of Commissioners of Washington County for the specific purpose of advising the National Park Service on the administration of scenic easements. I believe the Antietam National Battlefield Advisory Committee should serve as a model for the permanent Commission. It was most industrious and helpful in serving as a forum from which the citizens and landowners of the Antietam area could express their own thoughts on the legislation and influence the future of the battlefield and its surrounding areas.

Because this legislation incorporates the recommendations of many public officials, historical societies and concerned citizens in western Maryland, it merits wide support and I will work for its enactment in the early part of the 93rd Congress. I think that it is widely recognized that the survival of the Antietam Battlefield can no longer be entrusted to chance or private action.

The beautiful Antietam area attracted over half a million visitors in 1970. Many of the historical sites they come to see, such as the Dunkard Church, the Sunken Road and the fields southeast of Sharpsburg, where A. P. Hill's men rebuffed the advance of Union troops to end the battle, are outside of the current Federal property. The need to encompass these historical portraits in an enhancing and protective frame is apparent to all who visit Antietam and I hope that we will be able to obtain approval of this important bill in the coming year. I introduced this bill in order that it could be studied by the National Park Service, by the citizens of Maryland and by other interested parties, with the hope that I will receive their suggestions and comments during November and December so that when the bill is reintroduced in January it will be the best bill possible and deserving of very swift enactment by the next Congress.

BUSINESS AND THE STOCK MARKET

Stronger Economy Aiding Container Makers

By Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass., November 30, 1972—Betterment is showing up this year in the earnings of companies manufacturing containers and packaging materials, after the relatively depressed conditions seen during 1971. The most impressive gains are being chalked up in the paper-based packaging area, which is more closely tied to variations in the national economy than are other forms of packaging. Although makers of glass containers and metal cans are not enjoying the healthy earnings increases of certain producers of paper containers, they are registering better results than those of last year, and the outlook for further advances is optimistic.

Considering the reasonable price-earnings ratios of many issues in this group, the Research Department of Babson's Reports Inc. feels that most container stocks are well worth holding. For purchase at this time, we recommend Diamond International and National Can, both traded on the

New York Stock Exchange. Things Still Looking Up

According to Department of Commerce figures, shipments of containers and packaging materials for 1971 were valued at $21.5 billion, 5% above the 1970 level and 60% over the $13.2 billion attained during 1963. A continuing expansion of the overall container and packaging industry is looked for, with the annual rate perhaps 5%. Appraising the years ahead, it is probable that output will reach a total value of $26 billion in 1975, $33 billion by 1980.

Plastic packaging, with dollar volume increasing 10-15% yearly, should continue to be the most dynamic part of the packaging industry. Plastic containers are already widely used for liquid detergents, bleaches, cosmetics, and dairy products. Plastic bottles are now being developed for the huge beer and soft-drink markets.

Paper and paperboard packaging accounts for about 50% of the industry's total sales.

Because of its low cost and versatility, paperboard is widely used as carton material. However, flexible paper packaging (specialty bags, liners, converted wraps) has been losing ground to competing materials, and this trend is likely to continue. Fiber boxes, especially water-resistant types, have been finding wider use in food and beverage markets. While the paper container industry was previously plagued with overcapacity, a gradual phasing out of inefficient mills and a stronger economy have resulted in an improved supply-demand relationship, with consequent price firming.

Glass Containers

Better general business is helping the producers of glass containers, but overcapacity problems and rising labor and materials costs are affecting profit margins. For the longer term, a slowdown in the growth rate of nonreturnable bottles and the competition from metal and plastic containers may prove to be sharper negative factors than the current ecological controversy. But glass container producers are fighting to protect their share of the market.

Prospects For Metal Containers

Manufacturers of metal cans have been hard hit by higher costs and a poor price structure stemming from overcapacity. The trend toward manufacture of cans by users themselves has also presented problems. The can companies, however, have been working hard to improve performance through new methods and developments such as on-site production lines, easy-open cans, and cost-cutting measures.

Although can makers' efforts to improve profit margins were blunted earlier this year when the Price Commission rescinded a previously approved 4.3% price hike in favor of an interim 2.0% lift, the latter was upped to a permanent 2.9% increase effective August first. This price relief combined with an anticipated step-up in shipments of metal cans should help lift profit margins.

Mount Schedules College Orientation Day For High School Seniors Friday

The Admissions Department of Mount Saint Mary's College will conduct a joint "Open House-College Orientation Day" on Friday, December 1, according to a recent announcement by Director of Admissions, Lawrence J. Riordan. He said the affair is designed to introduce high school seniors to college life, and will include a series of lectures, campus tours, and open discussions.

Mr. Riordan said the scheduled lectures would cover concerns shared by most colleges and universities, such as student life, admissions and financial aid, and sports. He said also that representatives from Mount Saint Mary's various academic departments will be present to answer general questions concerning college academics. "The program," Mr. Riordan said, "is intended less to promote the Mount than to orient high school seniors generally to the many aspects of college experience."

The program will begin with registration in the Student Union Building on campus at 9 a.m. and will end at about 3 p.m. A noon luncheon has been scheduled for all attending.

Mr. Riordan said that invitations were sent out last month to almost 600 East Coast secondary schools from Connecticut to Virginia, but that the program will be open to the public and that anyone interested in college will be welcome.

GARDEN WORLD

Tips from the American Garden Guide by Alec G. Grahame

NATURE PROTECTS YOUR HOME

Did you know that nature not only beautifies your surroundings, but can be a useful tool in sheltering your home?

Reprinted by permission of Thomas Y. Crowell Company, Inc. from NATURE'S GUIDE TO SUCCESSFUL GARDENING AND LANDSCAPING by William Fiemer III. Copyright 1972 by William Fiemer III.

You can control the climate around your home through your garden — the natural way.

One of the best tips we've seen is a clever way to prevent the heat buildup from sunlight pouring in your picture window. Use nature to your advantage by installing a "trellis awning" horizontally over the outside of the window. A twining vine such as wisteria will provide shade over your window in the summer, and as the leaves naturally fall off in the autumn, you'll get all the winter sunlight you want. You'll never have to put up another canvas awning or block out the view with drawn curtains!

The following questions are typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks. Letters should be sent to me, c/o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515.

How do you feel about health insurance legislation? Federal financing of limited health insurance programs on a voluntary basis is a good idea. In fact, I have co-sponsored a bill that would provide for medical and hospital care through just such a program. Under this proposed legislation the insurance would be financed in whole for low-income families and in part for all other persons through allowance of tax credits. The purpose of this medicare Act is to make it possible for every individual to obtain comprehensive medical and hospitalization insurance designed to protect against ordinary and catastrophic expenses of illness regardless of prior medical history and on a guaranteed renewable basis.

Last year I purchased some beautiful color posters of American wildlife from the Department of the Interior. Are any new picture series planned? The Fish & Wildlife Service of the Interior Department has printed a similar series featuring color reproductions of ten original fish paintings. The paintings include such popular sport fish as largemouth bass, channel catfish and trout in their native surroundings, and each measures 14"x17" with a white border ready for framing. This Wildlife Portrait Series No. 2 is available from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402 for $2.50.

I'm a VA pensioner who has just moved, and wonder what office should be notified about my change of address? Your change of address should go to the VA regional office where your records are kept and to the post office which serviced your old address.

Is there any information available on the Environmental Protection Agency (its objectives, accomplishments, and so on)? A review and commentary on the EPA, air-pollution control, clean water, solid-waste management, radiation, pesticides and noise is available from the Public Documents Distribution Center, 5801 Tabor Avenue, Philadelphia, Pa., for 60 cents. The booklet is entitled, "Toward a New Environmental Ethic," and should be ordered by its stock number 5500-0031.

Evangelist Billy Graham was awarded the coveted "Man of the Year" trophy from Sarah Coventry Inc. at simple ceremonies at the Waldorf Astoria in New York City. Rex W. Wood, president of the international jewelry firm of Newark, New York State, made the presentation to Rev. Graham.

The Rev. Graham was honored "in recognition of his lifelong devotion to bringing a reaffirmation of Christian faith to mankind, a dynamic and inspirational leadership uplifting the lives of millions world-wide, the humble and the mighty, without regard to creed, race, color or worldly goods."

"We are honored to bestow this award on Billy Graham," Mr. Wood said. "We at Sarah Coventry have a deep interest in offering opportunities to improve the quality of life, as we have 40,000 representatives on three continents, including those in Canada, the United Kingdom, Australia and Belgium.

The 1971 Woman of the Year for Sarah Coventry was Mamie Eisenhower, and others who have accepted the award include Pearl S. Buck, Nobel and Pulitzer Prize winner, and Shirley Temple Black, U.S. Delegate to the General Assembly of the United Nations.

Others present for the informal awarding of the Man of the Year trophy included Mr. A. G. Winfrey, Executive Vice President of Sarah Coventry, Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Winfrey.

Q. Are there lower tax rates for widows or widowers?
A. Yes, a widow or widower who can qualify may use the lower tax rates to compute his or her tax. You are entitled to the benefit for certain widows or widowers if your husband (or wife) died within the two years preceding the year for which the tax is being computed and you meet the following requirements:
1) You must have been entitled to file a joint return with your husband (or wife) for the year of death—whether or not you actually filed jointly;
2) You have not remarried;
3) You have a child or step-child who qualifies as your dependent; and
4) You furnish over half the cost of maintaining your home, which is the principal residence of your dependent child or stepchild except for temporary absences.
Q. I spent over $800 for an operation on my 22-year-old son. I can't claim him as a dependent because he earns over $750 and is not a student. Can I still deduct his medical expenses on my return?
A. Yes. You may deduct medical expenses paid for a person you could claim as a dependent except for the fact that he or she had income of $750 or more, or filed a joint return with his or her husband (or wife). This means that all other dependency tests must be met, including your furnishing over one-half of the person's total support for the year.
Q. I received a $2,000 Federal disaster loan to repair damage caused to my business by tropical storm Agnes. The loan was cancelled and the debt forgiven. Does this have any effect on my taking a casualty loss deduction?
A. Yes. You must reduce your casualty loss deduction by the amount of the cancelled loan. If you have already taken the casualty loss deduction by amending your 1971 return without taking into account the cancelled loan, you must include the cancelled amount in your 1972 income to the extent the deduction reduced your 1971 tax liability.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

In case the cancelled amount of the loan, plus any insurance reimbursements, exceed your adjusted basis in the property, you have a gain from an involuntary conversion. For more information, see IRS Publication 547, "Tax Information on Disasters, Casualty Losses, and Thefts." It's available free by writing your Internal Revenue district office.
Q. Which of my home expenses can I deduct?
A. Homeowners who itemize their deductions may deduct the real estate taxes paid on their property and the interest portion of their mortgage payments. Utility costs, repair and maintenance expenses are not deductible.
Improvements to a home or property are considered capital expenditures and are added to the property's basis.
For more information, see IRS Publication 530, "Tax Information on Deductions for Homeowners." It's available free by writing your Internal Revenue district office.

HEADLIGHTS HELPFUL ADVICE FOR THE WOMAN DRIVER
Let's explore a myth right now: there's no such thing as a "relaxing" drive if you're the driver. A car does nothing to revive your flagging energies. If anything, driving at the end of a long, hard day tends to adjust our bodily systems to something less than all-out "Go."
Knowing this and appreciating what it means indicates the absolute necessity of summoning up every ounce of concentration you have left in order to drive your car safely and well. You can put yourself in the right gear by reading the basics on safe driving and car maintenance in a new free booklet called, "Straight Talk for the Woman Driver." Send your name and address to Gulf Oil Company-U.S., P.O. Box 1519-TG, Houston, Texas 77001.
When we are tired we seek to recharge our batteries. In order to do this we have to pretty much unplug our brains. And any car driven by an un-plugged brain is an unguided-at best, misguided—missile. The concept of thousands of similarly unplugged brains operating automobiles on any given evening is enough to strike terror into the stoutest heart.
So keep in mind the state of the machine that is operating the machine.

Holiday Breakfast Star

Bring Christmas spirit to your breakfast table with this scene stealing Holiday Star coffee cake.
Carved and twisted into a three-dimensional star, then sugar glazed, this morning bread is a luscious ornament that reflects the best of the season. Made with enriched flour, it carries a bonus of the B-vitamins, thiamine, niacin and riboflavin, and the mineral iron—all essential to good health.
Coffee cake, especially one as pretty as this, says "love" the way only home baking can.

Holiday Breakfast Star
6 to 8 servings

2 cups enriched flour*	1/2 cup shortening
1 tablespoon baking powder	1/2 to 3/4 cup milk
1 teaspoon salt	Fig Filling
3/4 teaspoon ground ginger	Orange Glaze

Stir together dry ingredients. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Blend in enough milk to make a soft dough. Turn onto lightly floured surface and knead gently 30 seconds. Divide in half. Roll each half to 8-inch circle. Place one circle on ungreased baking sheet. Spread with Fig Filling, leaving a 1/2-inch margin around outside edge. Top with second circle. Press edges together to seal. Slash top circle of dough to form a star, cutting from center of circle to within 1 inch of edge. Lift each point and twist over once. Bake in preheated 450° oven 12 to 15 minutes, or until done. Brush immediately with Orange Glaze. Serve at once warm.

Fig Filling
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon grated orange rind, if desired
1/2 teaspoon ground ginger

Orange Glaze
2 to 3 teaspoons orange juice
1/2 cup confectioners' sugar
Stir juice into sugar a teaspoon at a time, mixing well. *Spoon flour into dry measuring cup; level. Do not scoop.
NOTE: If self-rising flour is used, omit baking powder and salt.

Why Americans own $54,000,000,000 worth of U.S. Savings Bonds.

One good reason is the Payroll Savings Plan. About three-fourths of all Bonds are purchased through the Plan. It's helping Americans save more money than they ever dreamed they could.
That's because the Payroll Savings Plan is such an easy way to save. All you do is sign up where you work and the amount you specify is set aside from each paycheck and used to buy U.S. Savings Bonds. It's the easy way to build a nest egg.
You've got your reasons to save money. There's one great way to do it painlessly. Join the millions who are buying Bonds the Payroll Savings Way.

Now U.S. Bonds pay 5 1/2% interest when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). Bonds are replaced if lost, stolen, or destroyed. When needed they can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Two Attend Annual Ceramic Arts Conference At Penn State College Receives

Mrs. Mary Krom of Emmitsburg R1, and Sister Anna Mae Schaben, Chairman of the Art Department at St. Joseph's College, recently attended the Sixth Annual Ceramic Arts Conference at Pennsylvania State University.

The conference, held on November 17 and 18, was conducted by three internationally known potters: Jeff Schlanger of New York, Patty Bauer of the University of Washington, and Jun Kaneko of Japan. Teachers and students from all over the country had an opportunity to view the latest equipment and supplies for pottery making.

Both traditional and avant-garde examples of the potter's art were exhibited. Sister Anna Mae particularly commented upon an audience participation event conducted by Mr. Kaneko during which the audience was invited to cover a full-sized bicycle with clay. The result was a surrealistic sculpture.

Mrs. Krom was a ceramic student of Sister Anna Mae during the spring semester in a ceramics class at St. Joseph College which was sponsored by the Emmitsburg Lifelong Learning Council. She has purchased a kiln and is now producing pottery pieces in her own home which Sister describes as "unusually fine." Mrs. Krom plans to continue her training in the new ceramics course which will begin in February.

Annual Project Day Tuesday

Local Church women are reminded of the annual "Project Day" to be held Tuesday, December 5 at Incarnation United Church of Christ. Several Christmas projects have been planned and persons are asked to bring ideas and materials to create handmade Christmas items for the shut-ins of the local area. Especially needed are old candles, small glass containers, nylon hosiery and Christmas cards.

All Church women are especially invited to attend this pre-Christmas work day. Though the women will begin at 12:30 to create their Christmas projects, others may stop by Incarnation Church at any time during the afternoon session to contribute their ideas and materials, and time.

QUIZ!
Do you know the meanings of the modern terms "artsy-craftsy," "Beta fiber" and "biodegradable"?

ARTSY-CRAFTSY? If your present dictionary does not enter these terms, you probably need a new, up-to-date one such as the Second College Edition of Webster's New World Dictionary, the newest of the college dictionaries and the only one to be published in the 1970's. Here are the words and their meanings:

ARTSY-CRAFTSY: having to do with arts and crafts; usually used in a disparaging sense to connote faddishness, dilettantism, superficiality...

BIODEGRADABLE: capable of being readily decomposed by biological means, especially by bacterial action; said of some detergents with reference to disposal in sewage...

BETA FIBER: a non-flammable glass fiber made into fabrics, insulation... Thousands of other terms which you might encounter in your everyday reading are explained in this valuable volume.

R for your child's safety

Parents can prevent most falls which are fatal or crippling to children, according to Albert H. Domm, M.D., child safety specialist and medical director of the Prudential Insurance Company. Dr. Domm said the kinds of precautionary measures taken should be suited to the age and developmental stage of the child. Infants are completely at the mercy of the people around them. A baby should never be left unprotected on a bed or sofa. Cribs, high chairs and other furniture should be checked to be certain the infant is not in danger of falling.

Dr. Albert H. Domm He suggested that as soon as the baby begins to crawl, gates be put at the top and bottom of stairways. Doors leading to basements or balconies should be locked. Windows should be securely fastened.

"One to three years is the age of new found exploration," Dr. Domm said. "The toddler must be protected against major dangers, but he is ready to learn from skillful exposure to minor ones," he said.

"The wise mother will let her two-year-old fall from a low stool so that he will learn from it but she will lock the basement door to protect against a serious accident," Dr. Domm said. The Prudential medical director emphasized the importance of continued protection against threats to the child's life and health. Learning under supervision is important but it does not replace protection from major hazards, he explained.

Two Helicopters

Two helicopters have been given to Frederick Community College for use in an aircraft maintenance course, it was announced this week by Senators J. Glenn Beall, Jr. and Charles McC. Mathias. The two Republican senators said the helicopters, which are not flyable, will be used for instructional purposes. The General Services Administration donated the two TH-13M helicopters, through its program for disposing of surplus government property.

Expanded Mini-Semester Offered At Mount Saint Mary's College

Mount Saint Mary's College has expanded the January "mini-semester" it began last year and will be offering a choice of three different courses on campus this January. In addition some students will also be studying abroad in Spain and in Bahrain.

Dean Bernard S. Kaliss reported that the decision to increase the number of course offerings was the result of a student interest survey conducted earlier this fall, and that all classes will be taught by current members of the Mount faculty.

The on-campus courses to be offered are all 3-credit courses, and will include: "Russian Fiction," to be taught by Dr. Robert Ducharme of the English Department;

"Seminar in Buddhism" to be taught by Dr. J. D. Broussard of the Philosophy Department;

And "White Ethnic Groups in America", to be taught by Dr. Robert Preston of the Department of History and Political Science.

All classes will be held five days a week on the Mount campus beginning on Wednesday, January 3, and ending Wednesday, January 24. Classes will meet from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., and students will be allowed to take only one of the courses offered. The January term is set up on a non-resident basis, without dormitory or dining room facilities, in order to keep costs to a minimum. The cost to students already registered at Mount Saint Mary's will be $40.00 per credit hour and $10 registration fee, for a $130 total. Students not currently enrolled at the Mount will be charged $60 per credit for a $190 total.

Persons wishing to register for any of the courses may do so between now and the first day of class, and for further information should contact the Office of the Registrar, in care of Mount Saint Mary's College, Emmitsburg, Maryland 21727.

"New Look" For Drivers Licenses

Maryland drivers licenses will have a new look beginning December 1st, it was announced Tuesday by State Motor Vehicle Administrator Ejner J. Johnson.

According to Mr. Johnson, the new license will be similar in size and shape to the present Maryland license, but will be red in color and contain many new security features not available in the old license. "Fluorescent printing, raised images and sensitive inks, plus totally secure production control will make the license a much more reliable document," Mr. Johnson said.

He noted that the action taken to revise the drivers license was necessary in order to combat the growing problem that Motor Vehicle Administration and law enforcement agencies are encountering with counterfeit licenses. Administrator Johnson said that the very fine steel engraving used for the drivers license give the document a raised image which can be recognized by touch. In addition, specific portions of the documents contain fluorescent printing detectable only by an ultra-violet light. The fluorescent printing will read "VALID".

Background inks for the documents are all in off-shades which are virtually impossible to match and the inks are resistant to alteration. Their sensitivity to chemicals reveals any attempt to alter or remove written or printed information.

The new licenses will be issued to all new drivers and all motorists whose licenses are renewed after December 1, 1972. Mr. Johnson reminded merchants and law enforcement officials that these new licenses will be phased in over a two-year period and that during that time, the old style license will remain valid until the expiration date indicated on that license.

Receive Aid For Chesapeake Bay

The Commerce Department's National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) plans to make a total of $1,415,000 available to Maryland and Virginia to help restore damaged oyster and softshell clam resources of the Chesapeake Bay, Senator Charles McC. Mathias and Senator J. Glenn Beall (R-Md.) announced recently.

The two states requested a total of $390,500 for restoration work in fiscal year 1973 which began July 1, 1972. Maryland requested $130,500 and Virginia $260,000 for this phase of the work, the Senators said.

The $1,415,000 is for a coordinated three fiscal year program which provides that each state will work in its own waters, and sub-contract an estimated $450,000 over the three-year period to the Potomac River Commission for restoration of the shellfish resources of the Potomac, Senator Mathias said.

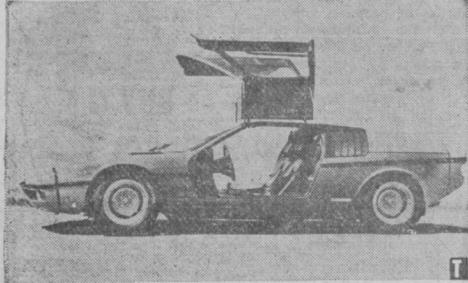

The funding is being made under provisions of Section 4-b of Public Law 88-309, the Commercial Fisheries Research and Development Act which is administered by NOAA's National Marine Fisheries Service. Grants to the two states for the first phases of the work will be executed shortly, Senator Beall said.

Official determinations that a resource disaster had occurred in the Chesapeake Bay as a result of Hurricane Agnes during the past summer have been sent to the federal Register for publication.

The determinations declare that unless immediate measures are taken to restore the affected resources, Maryland could suffer economic losses of some $130 million during the next four years. No projection was given for the Virginia potential loss, but the annual dockside value of Virginia's oyster resources was estimated at $5 million, the Senators declared.

A BIRD? A PLANE? NO - IT'S BMW'S NEW SUPERCAR

BMW TURBO. A dream of a car with turbo-charged fuel injected engine from the Bavarian Motor Works.

The Bavarian Motor Works of Munich, West Germany, BMW for short, have caused another stir in the automotive world. They've just unveiled their latest marvel: the BMW Turbo.

It's a car-buff's dream of an automobile. A sleek beauty in metallic-grounded spectral diamond red with elegant black and white leather interior.

The 2 liter, four cylinder, turbo-charged fuel injected engine puts out 200 HP that can be boosted to 230 HP. Top speed is 170 mph. The engine is located amidships and set transversely just forward of the rear axle. The technical aspects of the car's sophisticated rear axle drive is enough to make the connoisseur of automotive engineering drool.

A car to move fast in, the BMW Turbo is destined to take its place among the legendary classics of BMW, the 507 and the 323.

When you look at the finely honed wedge-shape, spare and sleek, all sinews and muscle, with the wing doors that go up instead of out, most thoughts turn to speed and sport. So it may come as a surprise to learn that this automobile was created under the banner of safety. To the men at the Bavarian Motor Works the BMW Turbo really is a rolling laboratory to test out safety theories that will benefit all of us in the years to come. BMW's brilliant engineers as always keep their eye on the future.

For instance, the Turbo features safety belts that complete the ignition circuit, an entirely new type safety steering column, door posts that continue around the roof to form invisible roll bars. U-shaped supports inside the front and rear section afford extra protection in case of severe collision.

What's more, the front and rear crush zones are made of a non-bursting foam material that is regenerating after light collisions. Imagine what that will mean to marital harmony. She won't have to tell him about the dented fender, because the dent is gone before he comes home!

Sorry, the BMW Turbo is not for sale, since it's not a production model. However, all the benefits that are certain to result from the tests of this car will find its way into BMW's of the future.

about as close to real life as you can get

For a warm and wonderful Christmas give your family a Sylvania color TV.

The picture on a Sylvania looks surprisingly real—maybe even as real as Santa appears to the kids! It's as bright and sharp and colorful as you can imagine. And it's built to last, engineered to perform beautifully for many years.

No wonder it's the perfect gift for Christmas. A Sylvania color TV is enough to warm anybody's heart.
