Most Anything At A Glance

- By Abigail -

I hope that everyone has been enjoying this sunshine we've been having here the last week. It certainly is a welcome change from all that rain. I have heard a few folks grumbling about there not being any snow, but most people are enjoying the dry spell.

A gentleman on the outskirts of town claims to have seen a robin in his yard last weekend. I'm not sure whether to believe him or not. It would seem to me that with the sub-freezing temperatures we've been having, even a bird would have more sense than to stick around here if he didn't have to.

I understand that the town fathers held a closed meeting last week. Just calling it a "closed" meeting gets folks to wondering what's going on. Maybe they should call all their meetings closed and then folks would get so curious they'd insist on being let in just to see what was going on. It is rare for anyone to show up at the commissioners' regular meetings to see what is being done; either folks around here feel they have elected the most competent individuals possible to run the town or folks are just plain too lazy to care and I haven't decided which it is yet.

It seems that several B-B guns ended up in the hands of the town policemen during the Christmas holiday. I did notice several groups of young boys wandering around the town with their little rifles tucked under their arm, apparently looking for what they considered to be appropriate targets. It makes me a bit uncomfortable to see anybody walking down the streets of a town carrying a gun and I'm not the least unhappy that some of these guns, at least, were out of their owner's hands for a while.

I noticed a couple of young, pretty, new residents around town after the holidays. A little asking around and I find that they are VISTA Volunteers, which I think is a kind of "at-home" Peace Corps. It would seem that a community such as ours, with its abundance of resources and talent would be embarrassed by this situation. At the very least maybe the presence of these young ladies will move some of us out of our complacency and awaken us to the problems of the area—and that would certainly be a start in the right direction. They appear to be bright, personable young ladies, interested in what they are doing. I hope the community will join me in welcoming them and giving them support in their activities.

Shopping center, town houses, motel—in Emmitsburg? I keep hearing rumors though it is hard to get anybody to really say yes or no about the whole thing. If it is true it would certainly be a great lift for the community; on the other hand, we've been hearing so many rumors for so many years that I guess we will have to wait and let time take its course before we will know for sure whether this is just another straw blowing in the wind or not.

Parish Schedules Youth Rally Sunday

To re-animate the youth activities of St. Joseph's parish, a Youth Rally will be held this Sunday, January 14, beginning at 5:00 p.m. Mass, discussion, dinner, movies, C.Y.O. meeting, and record hop, make up the elements of the five-to-ten thirty evening. All teenagers, 13 to 18 years, of St. Joseph's parish, are cordially invited to register for this event. No teenager will be refused registration.

In an evening filled with activities, Father Sannino hopes to provide for the parish teenagers a night for "doing something different", at the same time providing stimuli for thought and motivation. The program will be assisted by a staff of young adults from the parish.

The program will begin with registration at St. Euphemia's Hall from 5 to 5:15. A registration fee of one dollar is asked. Registration will be necessary in order to participate, since some commitment on the part of the youth is needed to determine food preparation, and other activity groupings. For those not able to be at St. Euphemia's at the time of registration, preregistration will be permitted by calling the rectory before 5. Only pre-registered or registered youth will be admitted to St. Euphemia's during the evening's proceedings.

At 5:15 the Mass of Sunday will be celebrated for the teenagers at St. Joseph's Church. The scripture readings, the proclamation and the Mass experience will be subjects for discussion upon returning to St. Euphemia's Hall after the Mass. At the hall discussion groups will be formed. Dinner will be served between 6:45 and 7:00.

The discussion groups will give their reports at 7:30. Door prizes will be awarded. Approval of the Youth representative to St. Joseph's Parish Council will be asked. Then those interested in C.Y.O. will meet in a down stairs classroom in order to restructure, elect officers, and approve a tentative program for January and February.

Around 8:00, the first film will be shown called "Agape," a serious discussion film, the no discussion will be scheduled. A record-hop will follow, interrupted by a Laurel and Hardy movie.

The evening will end at 10:30 with a short "thank-you" prayer service led by Father Sannino.

Father Sannino has expectations that if this evening adventure into prayer, thought, and fun is effective, like ventures will be planned on an ecumenical basis.

In York Hospital

Mrs. Paul Keepers, N. Seton Ave., remains a patient at York Hospital, having been admitted prior to the Christmas holidays.

New Pastor For St. Anthony's

The Rev. Edward T. Sargus, Pastor for the last ten years of St. Stephen's Church, Bradshaw, Maryland, has been appointed by His Eminence Lawrence Cardinal Shehan as Pastor of St. Anthony's Shrine, Emmitsburg, succeeding the Rev. Vincent J. Tomalski, who is retiring after 18 years as Pastor of St. Anthony's. Father Sargus, originally from Ohio, was educated at St. Charles College, Catonsville, Maryland and St. Mary's Seminary, Roland Park, Baltimore, and was ordained in June 1939. His first appointment was as associate pastor at St. Bernardine's Church, Baltimore. Later appointments included associate pastor of St. Alphonsus and then St. Matthew's, both in Baltimore. He was made Pastor of St. Peter's Parish, Libertytown, Maryland in 1958 and returned to Baltimore in 1961 as Pastor of St. Martin's. The Pastorate at St. Stephen's, in Bradshaw, came in 1963.

In a few weeks, February 17, 1973, Fr. Sargus will be 60 years old. He is leaving a busy 1000 family parish at Bradshaw and taking up his duties officially on Jan. 10 at St. Anthony's, a parish of 130 families.

Fr. Sargus says about his new appointment: "Having been reared in the mountains of Western Maryland, I am a Mountaineer at heart and the scenic view from the Blue Ridge Mountains in Emmitsburg is superb!"

Fr. Sargus, along with his two sisters, Edna and Adele, have just returned from a month's vacation and a visit to the Shrine of Our Lady of Fatima in Portugal. Fr. Sargus continued, "I am confident that it was through Our Lady of Fatima's intercession that my request for a transfer to St. Anthony's Shrine was granted."

There will be a reception held for the new Pastor of St. Anthony's on Sunday, January 14 in the St. Anthony's Parish Hall, 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. Fr. Sargus hopes that all the members of St. Anthony's Parish will be on hand at that time to afford him the opportunity of meeting and greeting them all. All parishioners are urged to be present for the reception in honor of the new Pastor of St. Anthony's.

Information Week On Alcoholism

The Frederick County Council on Alcoholism is sponsoring an Information Week, January 14 thru 21. The primary objective is to increase public awareness and understanding of the illness. According to the Council, alcoholism is one of the four major health threats in this country, along with cancer, heart disease and mental illness. As an illness it requires medical, psychiatric and social help.

As part of the Information Week activities, a film entitled "For Those Who Drink," will be shown at Seton Center at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, Jan. 18, reviewing the reasons people drink. All interested members of the community are most cordially invited to attend and gain a better understanding of this disease which afflicts so many people in this country.

During the week, mini-courses will be conducted at St. Joseph's College and library and poster displays throughout the county will attempt to awaken community interest in the hazards of drinking and how it can be handled.

The Frederick County Council on Alcoholism is an advisory council, consisting of concerned citizens, whose primary objective is to increase the public's awareness and understanding of alcoholism.

Adelsberger Leads Trojan Victory

Roy Adelsberger poured in 21 of his game high 36 points in the second half to lead St. Joseph's to a 67-55 win over arch rival St. Maria Goretti of Hagerstown. Ritchie Williams added 13 points and George Hemler controlled the backboards with 13 rebounds in the all-around team effort. Joel Neighbors once again displayed excellent ballhandling having but two turnovers. Mike Myers and Neighbors each had six assists.

But the real story was Adelsberger as he came up with his finest career all around game. St. Joseph's after leading 28 to 22 at halftime, had fallen behind 38-37 midway in the third quarter and this is where the Trojan Captain personally took over. Roy hit on eight of ten field goal attempts in the final ten minutes of the game to put it out of reach.

The win made St. Joseph's record of 5 and 2 with key games coming up. St. Anselm of Washington, D.C., will be met at Mount Saint Mary's Gym on Saturday night in a battle for first place. A win for the Trojans will place them at the top of the Blue Ridge Mountain Conference. Coach Custer told this reporter, "the boys are playing their best ball now and if they come up with a top performance we can beat St. Anselm."

Local Youth In Fatal Accident

Russell W. Wetzel, Jr., 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell W. Wetzel, Hornets Nest Road, near Emmitsburg, was fatally injured Saturday morning when a "dumpster" trash container fell on him in the lot behind the Moore Business Co. of Thurmont.

According to Thurmont Police Chief Herman Shook, the truck involved was owned by the boy's grandfather, Charles R. Wetzel.

Chief Shook said the accident occurred as the dumpster was being lifted onto the trash truck. The boy was apparently standing behind the truck when the dumpster fell from the vehicle, first striking the ground, then hitting the boy.

The youth was rushed to the Warner Hospital in the Thurmont ambulance. Dr. Adams County Coroner, Dr. Robert S. Lefever, said the child was dead on arrival at the hospital, with the death caused by a fractured skull.

The boy was a student at the Emmitsburg Middle School and a member of Friends Creek Church of God. He was an usher at the church and member of the youth class and Sunday School.

Beall Introduces Anti-Busing Bill

Legislation to prohibit the implementation of new busing orders during a school year was introduced in the Senate last Thursday by Senator J. Glenn Beall, Jr. (R-Md.).

"I have come forward with this measure in response to last week's federal court order in Maryland, which sets January 29 as the date to transfer 33,000 Prince Georges County school children, or about one out of every five pupils in the school system," Senator Beall said.

"In my judgement, this decision is educationally unsound and administratively indefensible. It goes beyond the mere question of busing—which in itself is controversial—and creates even more problems by aggravating an already difficult situation.

"My personal belief is that children should be allowed to attend their neighborhood schools — and neighborhoods should be open to all people regardless of race, creed, or color.

"I do not believe that forced busing to achieve a racial balance contributes to the improvement of the quality of education.

"Congress, however, has been unable to reach any agreement on the busing issue—but we cannot continue to ignore this problem. It will not go away.

"There have been judicial and administrative excesses that must be restrained, and the decision to implement a massive busing plan in the middle of the school year is a case in point.

"It is disruptive to the continuity of education, it breaks the rapport a teacher has developed with his or her class, it causes enormous scheduling problems, and it has a catastrophic effect on extracurricular activities—which are an important part of a student's over-all development.

"I believe that the members of Congress — regardless of their feelings about busing — do not want to see this kind of disruption in our schools. Indeed, even the Supreme Court has stated that there are obvious limits to busing—one being that it should not impinge on the educational process of the students.

"This is a time for restraint on the part of those affected, but now is the time for Congress to act swiftly in order to assure the continuity of the educational process," the senator said.

Senator Beall also said he has written to the Justice Department, asking Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst to intervene on behalf of Prince Georges County "particularly on the request for a stay of the court's order."

Perspectives In Learning By H. Brown

Parents Want To Help Teachers

There is a heightening and intense interest in education today. Parents and concerned citizens are talking about schools, education and the well-being of our youth more now than they have for years.

The entire public has become familiar with educators' jargon and can use such terms as "non-graded" "learner-centered" or "concept-oriented" as freely and as meaningfully as most educators. The clichés being used today just help to indicate the lack of depth in the understanding of the seriousness of the problems of public education.

The mass media has created an oversimplified version of the educational needs. It has caused many people to feel that there must be an either-or answer to the problems. The discussions have become centered on quality versus quantity education. This influence from the mass media certainly has created problems for sincere educators who have strong concerns about the problems confronting the schools.

Current interest has become intense and educators are desperately trying to channel it into a direction which will bring some assistance to the existing dilemma. It would be wonderful if all the verbal energy could be guided toward developing some constructive relationships between parents and the schools.

Some projects have been tried and are bringing measurable results. The "Right to Read" program has encouraged parents and interested citizens to become volunteer tutors and teacher aides. The programs using paraprofessionals have also brought some assistance to the situation. The Parent Teacher Association has been working very hard to improve its image as a working organization in support of education and communication between parents and teachers.

Teachers have developed classroom projects which include parents as class room "mothers/fathers" and volunteer tutors. These programs have brought the most significant results because the parents really become involved and actually participate at the level of concern.

What better way to understand the root of problems than to be involved in them? The parents who visit the schools to help the teachers and learners really know the depth of the problems. They aren't the people quoting the clichés! They are working with the situation and recognize the true needs.

Parents want to know and deserve to know what role they can play in trying to give support to the educational process. It is the desire of interested people to help which must be accepted by educators. Too long the schools have been limited to teachers and students! The schools must listen to the voices of the concerned parents and take advantage of the interest. What a great source of talent and creative assistance!

Women veterans may now claim their husbands as dependents, to qualify for additional GI Bill allowances on the same basis as married male veterans.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

Q. Each Christmas my employer gives me a turkey. Do I have to include the value of this gift in my income?

A. No. If, to promote goodwill, your employer makes a general distribution of turkeys, hams, or other items of merchandise of nominal value at Christmas or another holiday, the value of those gifts is not income.

However, if your employer distributes cash, gift certificates, or similar items of readily convertible cash value, the value of such gifts is additional salary or wages.

Q. I moved last May. How can I be sure the Internal Revenue Service will send my tax forms to my new address?

A. Just leave your new address with the post office in your old neighborhood. The post office will forward the forms to you. When you get your 1972 income tax return be sure to correct your address on the label in your tax return packet.

If you do not receive your tax forms package in the mail, you can obtain blank forms at any IRS office, most banks and post offices.

Q. My employer is transferring me to another state. What are the rules for deducting moving expenses?

A. In general, your moving expenses are deductible if you satisfy certain distance and time requirements. The distance between your new place of work and your old residence must be at least 50 miles farther than the distance from your old residence to your old place of work. Secondly, during the 12-month period immediately after your arrival in the general area of your new place of work, you must have worked full-time for at least 39 weeks. If you are self-employed, a different time requirement applies.

For more details, write your Internal Revenue district office and ask for a free copy of IRS Publication 521, "Tax Information on Moving Expenses."

Q. Both my wife and I are having dental work done and I'm going to have a big medical expense deduction this year. Is there any way to get some kind of benefit for this now to help me pay some of the bills?

A. Yes. You may be able to have your employer reduce your income tax withholding based on the larger itemized deductions you expect. Instructions for making this change are given on Form W-4. Ask your employer or your local IRS office for a copy.

Some 61,000 veterans who are wearing prosthetic devices are eligible for an annual VA clothing allowance of $150, under a recent law.

It is the aim of most men to get ahead, but today a fellow is lucky if he catches up.

is

By Ralph Rhea

Do you sometimes feel that your life is a continual process of problem solving? When you find the solution to one problem, another immediately presents itself. In the field of human dynamics, it is often more important to find the cause than to try to solve each problem separately. It is true that we are often our own worst enemy. If you have an ideal or goal you wish to achieve, look to see if you are throwing up your own roadblock. Your shortcut to success is to dissolve self-defeat! The Make Yourself
Over Clinic

BY DOLLY REED WAGEMAN,
Director,
The Carnation
Fashion Office

Q: Dear Dolly: The holidays make me feel my worst when I want to look my best. Any suggestions?

A: The problem is that all of us are trying to do twice as much as usual. Lots of partying means lots of rich food and lots less sleep. No wonder the effects show up in disposition and complexion, not to mention waistline! First, the lack of sleep. You're just going to have to find time for a catnap during the day. Soak cotton pads in ice water, wring them out and place over eyes while you lie down for half an hour. You don't need to sleep, but turn off the world. The idea is REST.

As for irregular eating — some is inevitable, but there are controls. Perhaps you don't usually eat dessert, but now you're serving Christmas goodies everytime you sit down. Go ahead and eat dessert when you go out, but continue to skip these high-calorie treats at home.

If you're really smart, you'll keep yourself in shape throughout the holidays by saving up calories during the day. This way, you can splurge at party-time — and still keep your total calories at the right level. How? Make breakfast and lunch each a Mini Meal of Slender diet food from Carnation. One packet of Slender mixed with 6 oz. nonfat milk is just 164 calories. Keeps you going and keeps your figure too. Could be the best present you give yourself this year!

OF HERBS &amp; ESSENCES

Hair was the very first miracle fiber. During its lifetime it takes endless abuse, and to do more than merely survive, it needs care and attention. Hair does not thrive on the heads of procrastinators, but rather on grace that's so popular in Clairol's herbal essence shampoo.

After shampooing, towel-dry the hair; apply generously and distribute well. Rinse thoroughly. Or, mix two capsules with one cap of warm water; slowly pour through the hair and rinse.

Clairol's herbal essence creme rinse comes in two formulas. The conditioning formula for normal or oily hair, and the extra body formula with natural protein for dry and limp hair.

Whichever formula you choose can become your favorite "natural" . . . a beautiful new experience for your hair.

MIND OVER MATTRESS

If your dependence on an alarm clock to get you up in the morning is cause for alarm, wake up to a new sleeping beauty, a real eye-opener that awakens you with gentle vibrations. The exciting new slumber number may well make you want to change the words of Irving Berlin's famous song to "Oh, How I Love To Get Up In The Morning!"

It's Vibra-Bod, a mattress massager that slips between box spring and mattress to deliver the kind of vibrations that hotel and motel patrons have been receiving in exchange for a quarter dropped in a slot at the head of their bed. Manufactured by Master Appliance Corporation of Racine, Wisconsin, this "sleeper" now on the market has the dual ability to help you meet Morpheus as well as gently awaken you.

A real dream of a device, it's now available at a price that gives users a fair shake. "It's a sad commentary on the way we live when our days begin to the tune of a blaring alarm clock," said Frank Pfeil, corporation marketing director. "However, if Vibra-Bod's new shake-awake concept takes hold, it could lay the buzzing alarm clock forever to rest."

To get you up in the morning, the device can be used with an automatic timer, which you can buy separately if you don't already have one. The vibrator's three-position control helps even the most conscientious sleeper to rise and shine. Inserted behind an armchair pad or under sofa cushions, Vibra-Bod also delivers relaxing massage, adding an extra dimension in comfort to standard household furniture.

FREDERICK COUNTY BACKGROUNDS

BY SAMUEL CARRICK

"Further Notes—"

"With sudden warmth my heart said, 'Let us bring New hope and courage into the coming year, And no despair and no unlovely things.' And so we labored earnestly to clear The hate and greed and pettiness away— The anger, perfidy, and prejudice. And brave and full of hope I turned to say, 'Surely no one is so prepared as this.'"

"But, 'Ah,' my heart said, 'Let our faith be steady,' And 'Ah,' my heart said, 'Let our love be deep, And let us be compassionate and ready To give of sustenance that we would keep.' I said, 'And now?' and my heart answered, 'Still There is the Christ for following, if we will.'"

The historical and genealogical data pertaining to Dr. John Henry Casper Deilman and his immediate family is continued at this time. Of the six children born to Dr. Henry and Emily (Dawson) Deilman three have already been dealt with — at some length — in this series. Rebecca, Emily, and Adelaide Deilman remain and require further study.

2. Rebecca (2) Deilman—Born April 8, 1838 in Baltimore, Maryland. Her first marriage was an unhappy one and lasted but a few years. Bernard Quinn, her first husband, was in the Seminary from 1847 to 1854, but discontinued his studies and became a member of the faculty (1854-1858), an instructor of Latin and Greek. He married Rebecca Deilman on July 14, 1858. Three children were born to this union. One of the three—a little daughter, Josephine Mary Quinn, died March 17, 1864, aged 2 years and 2 months.

Rebecca (2) Deilman-Quinn married, for the second time, one Ignatius Moore. To this marriage also three children were born—two of whom are interred with their mother in the old 'Mountain churchyard'. The inscriptions follow:

5. In memory of Rebecca (Deilman) Moore, born April 8, 1838, died May 30, 1915.

6. In memory of Georgia Moore, daughter of Ignatius and Rebecca Moore, born 1868, died 1940.

7. In memory of Emma Chase Moore, daughter of Ignatius and Rebecca (Deilman) Moore, born October 15, 1887, died November 12, 1945.

Emily (2) Deilman—born July 24, 1843 in Baltimore, Maryland. Married John T. Cretin, a cousin of her sister Mary's husband, John Henry Cretin. Emily Deilman and her husband are interred in the "Mountain churchyard" (Saint Anthony's) and their graves are marked. The inscriptions are as follows:

8. In memory of John T. Cretin, born October 20, 1831, died December 6, 1903.

9. In memory of Emily E. (Deilman) Cretin, wife of John T. Cretin, born July 2, 1843, died February 27, 1914.

Adelaide (2) Deilman—born July 24, 1852 in Emmitsburg, Maryland, the last child born to Dr. Henry and Emily (Dawson) Deilman. Adelaide married Charles R. Jourdan, professor of Mathematics and Chemistry at Mt. St. Mary's College from 1865 to 1913.

On Saturday, March 28, 1888, the "Chronicle" published the following announcement:

"A musical entertainment was given at Mrs. C. H. Jourdan's on Saturday last, under the leadership of Mr. Lawrence Deilman, who has inherited his musical talent from his father, the late Dr. Henry Deilman, and which always makes him the center of attraction on such occasions. Among others who took part were John T. Cretin, George Manning, H. F. Manning, and John B. Lagarde."

The obituary of Dr. Jourdan appeared in the "Chronicle" under the date of May 2, 1913—

"Died, Tuesday, April 24, 1913, at his residence near Mount St. Mary's College, Professor Charles Henry Jourdan, aged 83 years. Burial took place in the 'old Cemetery on the Hill.' Dr. Jourdan was born and educated in France. In 1865 he came to Maryland where he joined the faculty of Mount St. Mary's College as Professor of Mathematics and Chemistry. In 1888 he removed to Mexico to found a college. The death of his eldest daughter, Miss Frances Jourdan, induced him to return to the States and in 1895 he again joined the faculty of Mount St. Mary's College."

"Dr. Jourdan is survived by two daughters—Mrs. Francis A. Roddy and Miss Edith Jourdan. His wife was Adelaide Deilman, the daughter of Dr. Henry Deilman. Mrs. Jourdan died in the year 1911."

The death notice of Adelaide (Deilman) Jourdan appeared in the "Chronicle" on January 27, 1911:

"Died, January 20, 1911, at her home near town. Mrs. Adelaide (Deilman) Jourdan, the wife of Professor Charles Jourdan, of Mt. St. Mary's College. The Jourdan home is known as 'Pleasant Level.'"

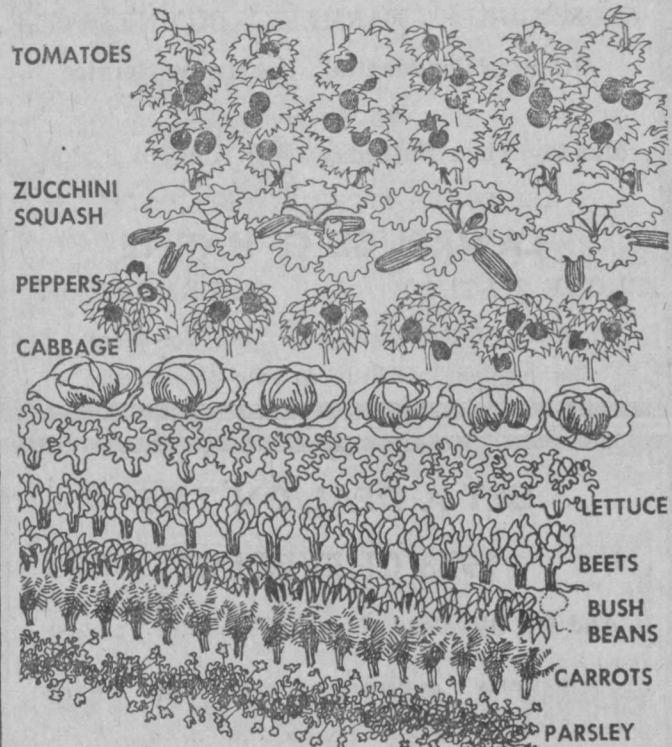

Mrs. Jourdan graduated from St. Joseph's Academy in July of 1877. She was the youngest daughter of Dr. Henry C. Deilman. After her marriage Mrs. Jourdan made her home at the Elder estate, long known as Pleasant Level. Three daughters survive: Fannie, Flora, and Edith Jourdan. Also surviving — one brother, Lawrence Deilman, and two sisters, Mrs. Emily Cretin, and Mrs. Rebecca Moore and her three daughters, Mrs. Nina (Moore) Manning, and the Misses Georgia and Emma Moore. Burial in the Mt. St. Mary's Cemetery."

These notes will be continued next week.

SAVE MONEY GROWING YOUR OWN VEGETABLES

In the vegetable garden featured above, the total seed cost is just $3.10, capable of yielding $100-worth of fresh vegetables. For the beginner, fertilizer and tools may be an extra expense, but clearly the potential savings are worthwhile. Time spent in the garden can be written off as healthy exercise.

People who have never gardened in their lives before are suddenly digging up weed patches to plant productive vegetable gardens. The big incentive for doing this is economy, since a family of four can save up to $100 on grocery bills by letting their garden produce essential fresh vegetables such as tomatoes, lettuce, beets, zucchini squash, bush beans and peppers.

Even a small area just 10 feet wide by 15 feet deep can provide bountiful harvests of tasty vitamin-rich vegetables from spring until fall, with time spent on weeding and fertilizing written-off as healthy exercise.

The garden design shown above fits into the average backyard with ease, will provide a family of four with fresh vegetables from just $3.10 seed cost, and requires no backbreaking work to take care of. It's a versatile garden, and the rank beginner can cut it down to even smaller size if wanted. Also, other vegetable preferences can be substituted for those shown in the diagram.

Radish, for example, can be added without much extra space; eggplant could be substituted for peppers; cauliflower instead of cabbage; sweet corn in place of zucchini squash—and so on. As few as six hybrid tomato plants will produce bushels of fruit. Beets can be planted and harvested within 50 days, then started again. Zucchini squash grows fast and forms a dense bush, producing the fruits over a long period if picked regularly. Carrots are best picked when young and tender, and parsley is the most useful herb to have in the garden, providing extra flavor to so many dishes.

Bush beans are extra productive, and many varieties will mature within 50 days. If the garden produces more beans than the family can eat, they are easy to freeze.

The tomatoes, peppers, and cabbage are best started early indoors — about six to eight weeks before transplanting into the garden. Lettuce, carrots, parsley, bush beans and zucchini squash are best direct-sown into the garden.

In order to obtain full value from a vegetable garden, try succession sowings. For example, sow cabbage in spring, then again in midsummer. At least two crops of lettuce are possible by the same procedure. Also, two plantings of bush beans and carrots will stretch out the supply of fresh vegetables. With beets, three sowings are possible from a single packet — one in April, another in June, and a third in early August.

Alcohol Abuse—II

Government involvement in the problem of alcohol abuse is not new. As early as the reign of King Edgar, English taverns were required to serve drinks in pegged cups that measured the quantity a customer consumed. When a thirsty Englishman finished one portion of his brew, he was taxed one penny before he could go on to the next section of the cup.

Today's programs to curb the abuse of alcohol are, fortunately, more sophisticated and, unfortunately since the problem has grown to critical proportions, more expensive. The federal government has not stood idly by while alcoholism extracts its dreadful price—in both human and economic terms—from our nation. In response to this crisis, President Nixon, increased the Department of Transportation's auto accident and alcohol program expenditures more than fourfold in a one year period—from $8 million in fiscal year 1971 to $35 million in fiscal year 1972.

Everything I've heard so far strongly suggests that the President's initiative and the Department of Transportation's now invigorated Alcohol Safety Countermeasures Programs are paying off. We need look no further than the Greater Baltimore Area Alcohol Safety Action Project for an example of how state and local agencies, including health workers and law enforcement officers can all work in concert to develop joint local safety and health programs that reduce the prevalence of both alcoholism and traffic fatalities.

Project Director Bill Terwilliger and Colonel William Harris of the Baltimore City

Police Department's Traffic Division have collaborated well together to insure that those who come into professional contact with the drinking driver will keep their attention focused on the need to identify, re-educate, treat and rehabilitate this person rather than pursue the once traditional interest in fining or incarcerating him, or just giving him the "good-old-kick-in-the-pants" treatment.

Certainly this therapeutic rather than punitive approach to the problem of drinking which is being pursued in the greater Baltimore area would not have been possible without the high priority attention and support of our health care and criminal justice systems.

I'm proud of this program, but I think too that our state can take pride in itself. Maryland back in 1968, was one of the first states in the Union to enact a statute which repealed the public intoxication offense and established instead a comprehensive new system, under civil law, for detoxification, inpatient and outpatient treatment for intoxicated persons and alcoholics. This is a far cry from where we were in this country during the previous 350 years when public intoxication was handled exclusively under the criminal law. In this respect, the Maryland statute serves as a model for the rest of the Nation.

There is no reason why our Alcoholic Safety Action Project can't also become a national example of the effectiveness of locally planned and developed programs that are designed and carried out with the twin goals of curbing the drinking driver and saving lives.

Will Adult Americans Default?

Given the facts showing the incomparable advantages of American capitalism and constitutional government, the youth generation of the 1970 decade would never buy the phony slogans and propaganda falsehoods of the radicals, the revolutionaries, or any other force seeking to contaminate the minds of our young. So, as I see it, the first responsibility of American parents and our American school system today is that of teaching our young people the exciting true facts of American history and the incomparable human progress that has been made possible within our system of freedom.

Have we fulfilled this responsibility in the America of today? As a teacher, college president, journalist, and parent, I must say we have missed the boat somewhere along the line. No great majority of our young people are rejecting our system, totally. But according to studies made by reputable organizations, the majority of our youth do not clearly understand our system. Thus, the studies and polls show, a majority nationwide reject some of the keystones in the structure of the American way of life. For instance, a majority believes that the major industries of America should be taken over and operated by the Government. Only a small per cent openly advocate Socialism yet most would seem not to realize that Government ownership is the keystone of a Socialist system.

Without Understanding

Many students also reject other basic principles of our American system and embrace other principles of Socialism—without really understanding either system. Those teachers and college instructors who have wanted to teach objectively the true facts about our history, economics, and government, have for many years been working in a climate in which Left-wing, or radical propaganda has made it difficult indeed.

During major demonstrations on college campuses and in the streets, I have witnessed hundreds of thousands of young Americans listening with rapt attention while the fiery speakers for Socialism-Communism have incited them against the American system. The comparatively small amount of positive education on the American system has been presented with none of the excitement or dramatics that the left-wing propagandists achieve. In this we are failing—in our homes and schools and communications media. We must change this.

WHERE SECONDS COUNT FIRST

For the lady in your life, a holiday gift that will stand the test of time is both precious and precise. It's one of a new collection of women's watches to couple high-fashion styling with tuning-fork accuracy.

These avant-garde mini Accutron watches by Bulova feature the same movements as those in the well-known, well-accepted men's larger Accutron styles, and they, too, are accurate to within a minute a month.

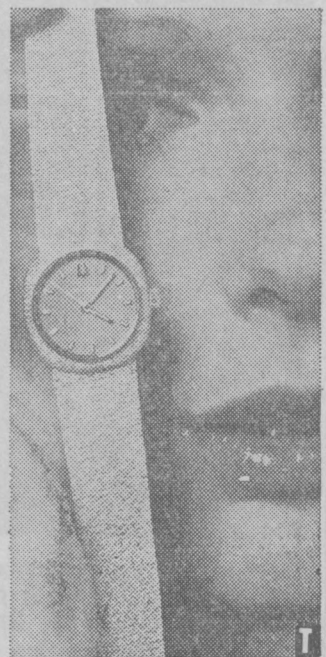

The heart of these watches is a miniaturized tuning fork that vibrates 480 times a second, splitting the second equally into that many parts. By comparison, balance wheels in conventional wind-up, self-wind electric and electronic watches oscillate between 2.5 and 5 times a second. The higher frequency tuning fork compensates for its smaller size.

Cased in either white or yellow 14K, many of these mini feature dials colored in taupe, mahogany, smoke, chocolate, champagne and green lacquer. Some are attuned to solid gold bracelets, others are strapped in suede-like corfam with contrasting piping.

Another line of Bulova watches, the Christian Dior Boutique collection, recently made its debut. The asymmetrical shapes are the most unusual ever... oval, round, oblong and square number-less dials are set off-center. Color-coordinated to skinny leather straps that close with a small bulke, the unique group is accented with shades of brushed silver and gold.

Whether or not she has an hourglass figure, the lady in your life lucky enough to own one of these lovely, up-to-the-minute timepieces will find that both glamour and accuracy have fashionably become second nature.

Bulova's cushion-shaped mini Accutron, faced in dove gray, is attuned to a textured 14K gold case and bracelet.

Textbook:

"Capitalism Stinks!"

The propagandists have not been idle in the classrooms. They have succeeded in getting many textbooks contaminated with biased information detrimental to the American system and advantageous to the Socialist system. Some of these books have made "capitalism" a dirty word. I have just finished examining a college textbook used in I don't know how many colleges and universities (the publisher hasn't answered my letter). The very first sentence says: "Capitalism stinks!" The second sentence says: "Capitalism is a highly destructive, wasteful, exploitative and irrational way to organize the resources of a society like ours." This wouldn't be so bad if youngsters subjected to the book were well informed on the facts about capitalism and socialism. Or if the instructors provided a "rebuttal book," I wonder in how many cases this is done?

I also recently have examined another textbook. This one is entitled: "This Is My Country." It is for Junior High American history classes. It is one of the most beautiful textbooks and one of the most honest in its presentation of historical facts about America that I have seen in my 40 years as an educator. We will review it later.

Propaganda, Not Education
In our column next week we will review "Up Against American Myth," the textbook which condemns American capitalism and agitates for socialist revolution. A student in a history course at North Carolina State University was shocked when the book was assigned in the course. He withdrew from the course. Neither North Carolina State University nor the publishers of the book have answered my letters of inquiry.

When some Arizona parents became disturbed over some of the social studies textbooks being used in the public schools, Education Commissioner Weldon Shofstall got busy. He set up a Commission to examine all social science textbooks. What the Commission, and Commissioner Shofstall, found caused him to say publicly: "Certain forces are trying to involve our schools in an atheistic revolution which threatens to destroy our country and turn American civilization into barbarism." In some other areas textbooks have been exposed by teachers, administrators or parents which tend to alinate our youth generation from the basic values on which our Western civilization was founded and has progressed so hopefully. All of us need to work with school authorities to see that the knowledge sought by our youth includes the true and exciting facts about our incomparable American system.

WASHINGTON REPORT

FROM SENATOR J. GLENN BEALL JR.

Ending the Draft

Three years ago, President Nixon signed into law a measure to overhaul the selective service system, thus setting the course for establishing an all-volunteer armed forces.

Congress has been hard at work on legislation to implement the all-volunteer concept, and our efforts appear to be meeting success as we approach the end of the draft next July 1. In fact, it is expected that fewer than 10,000 young men will be called to duty during these final six months of the draft.

Looking back, it can be seen that the goal of an all-volunteer force is being reached by having first arranged existing programs in better order and then moving deliberately to create more attractive career opportunities in the military.

Just about every young man's family probably breathed a sigh of relief when the new selective service system was enacted in 1969, because it meant an end to the seven years of uncertainty between the ages of 19 and 26.

The old method of selecting the oldest men first cast a shadow over the future of many young men trying to start a career or thinking about marriage and a family. The additional inequities of deferments and classifications caused further confusion and resentment.

The lottery system replaced the old system, and the priorities became the same for everyone, clear across the nation. But what was more important was the complete turnabout of the age factor. Instead of calling the oldest men first, the highest priorities went to the 19-year-olds.

This has enabled young men to make a more thoughtful decision about military service as part of their plans rather than an interruption at some unknown time in the future. One result of this change has been an increase in the number of young men who look at military career opportunities immediately after coming out of high school.

Revising the selective service system was a wise move, and on that was long overdue, but it still did not get to the heart of the question about compulsory military service.

The all-volunteer concept could not be implemented, however, without certain legislative action. The key item was a substantial increase in pay and allowances for personnel in the lower enlisted grades, which is where a young man gets his first impression of life in the military.

The new pay scale which became effective a year ago more than doubled the basic pay of a trained recruit, boosting it from $149 a month to $321 for those living on base. There have been similar changes to improve subsistence allowances for those living off base, along with efforts to enhance the quality of life at military installations.

Women, as well as men, are being sought for an increasing number of military jobs, while civilians are being brought in to do the extraneous work that has often interfered with military training.

Armed forces benefits also have been upgraded. One such action came through legislation which I introduced to set up a survivor benefits program for career military personnel.

This legislation, which was just passed and signed into law by President Nixon, will make dependents of retired military personnel eligible for a portion of his pension in the event of his death.

The result of this type of legislation and the changes within the armed forces has been to increase in the quality and number of volunteer enlistments. Completing this transition by next July 1 will bring a great deal of relief to the young men of America and also stabilize the armed forces of the United States.

BUSINESS AND THE STOCK MARKET

Retirement Ten Years Away?

By Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass. — Even though you may not be planning to retire for another ten years, it is not too early to start preparing for it now. The majority of investors tend to postpone making plans for retirement until it is too late to do a really good job. One who waits until the last moment is usually under the pressure of time, and, as a consequence, more apt to take imprudent risks in seeking to build up investment capital. This often leads to the loss of hard-earned money and defeats the investor's objective precisely when he can least afford it.

Expenses Should Be Estimated
When planning a future retirement program, several basic income ingredients may or may not be included, depending on individual circumstances. These are such factors as social security, company pensions, annuities, retirement insurance programs, etc. This portion of the program probably began with the first job and has been adjusted upward occasionally as earning power increased.

The sooner you can honestly and fairly appraise your anticipated living costs after retirement the sooner you can determine the amount of invested capital that will be necessary to provide the funds to fill the gap between the aforementioned assured income and income from investments. Then it will be possible to consider whether the retirement goal is attainable without major adjustments.

Capital Gains Important

Naturally, the challenge facing the decade-away retiree is the building up of sufficient capital to meet the needs of ten years hence. To accomplish this, the investor should have capital gains as his primary aim, with a long-term goal of increased income. Thus the advantageous placing of funds during the various phases of the securities markets over the coming ten years will be very important.

Playing The Cycles
In years past when high-grade common stocks yielded 6% or more, a fine investment account could usually be built up through the plow-back of dividends each year. Today, with low common stock yields and with current high personal-income tax rates, it is difficult to secure much growth via interest or dividend accumulation.

Consequently, capital gains are especially necessary for the investor who is already in a high tax bracket and who finds that it is almost impossible to increase his estate substantially by saving or investing current income. Building up a fund for retirement, therefore, requires considerable dependence on growth in the market value of the common stocks (or convertible issues) held, and careful timing of sales and purchases at different phases of the total market cycle and of the individual stock cycles as well.

Hedge Your Position

The securities maintained at any given time and in what proportion to reserve funds depends on economic conditions

— current and foreseeable — that affect the securities markets. At present, the Research Department of Babson's Reports would surely not advise a 100% position in either reserves or common stocks. Rather, there should be a backlog of savings accounts or other very liquid reserves that could be relied upon in emergencies. There should also be a supplementary backlog of convertible bonds and preferred stocks. Such issues as Becton Dickinson Vv. Sub. Debs. 4 1/8s 1988, Signal Cos. $2.20 Cv. Pfd. and Woolworth $2.20 Cv. Pfd. might be considered appropriate.

Finally, a list of good-quality growth stocks should be included as a hedge against further inflation. Although a large number of so-called growth issues are now well out of buying ranges, there are still some that are worth considering at present levels. We have in mind such stocks as Pfizer, General Electric, Pennwalt, Culligan, Franklin Life Insurance, and Pitney Bowes.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks. Letters should be sent to me, c/o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515.

I recently read that the Postal Service will deliver mail to trailer parks that do not have such service now. How do we apply?

To apply for mail delivery a mobile home subdivision must have at least 2,500 population or 750 possible delivery stops. Applications for such service should be sent to the Regional Postmaster General in your postal area. Ask your local post office for his name and address.

After 30 years in the Coal Mines I retired because of my health. I applied for black lung benefits last January but have heard nothing. Could you please look into this for me?

Upon receipt of your letter my office contacted the Social Security Administration on your behalf. As you are now aware, your black lung claim has been approved retroactive to April 1972. Citizens experiencing similar difficulties obtaining government benefits justly due them should feel free to write my office for assistance.

Have the new safety devices built into cars over the past several years significantly reduced traffic fatalities?

According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration the death rate per 100 million miles driven has decreased 14½ per cent since 1967. Safety devices in cars, innovative highway safety programs and better drivers have all contributed to the decline in fatalities.

Where can I purchase excess map sheets from the National Atlas of the United States?

A price list and description of the National Atlas surplus materials can be obtained by writing—Distribution Section, U. S. Geological Survey, 1200 South Eads Street, Arlington, Virginia 22202.

Is it true that the deductible for the medical insurance part of Medicare is going to increase?

Yes, the annual deductible under medical insurance part of Medicare has increased from $50 to $60 because of rising medical costs.

My daughter draws a VA pension based on her father's death in World War II. If she works during the summer, will her earnings affect her pension?

No. Income earned by a child will not affect this benefit.

Does your office have any information on what to look for when buying a new home? "Wise Home Buying," a free booklet published by the Department of Housing and Urban Development, may be ordered from Consumer Product Information, Washington, D.C. 20407.

MONEY FACTS AND FANCIES

Did you know that a woman's picture at one time appeared on a dollar bill? That there were once three-dollar bills? That money at one time could be eaten? Or that in South Carolina they once had legal tender you could drink?

These are only a few of the many money innovations for which the creators of early currency deserve credit.

That woman's picture, for example, came into view on a one-dollar 1854 bank note from the Delaware City Bank of the Kansas Territory.

In 1856, also in Kansas, there were three-dollar bills! The notes featured pictures of three cherubs!

Salt, valuable as a food preservative, was scarce, durable, portable and easy to divide. Early Roman soldiers, whose Latin word for salt was "sal," received a regular salt allowance (whence our word, "salary"), and African slaves were once sold for their weight in this precious commodity. Thus the expression "worth his salt."

Liquors and other spirits have also served as money: beer and partial wages for miners in 19th century England; a century before, in South Carolina, rum was legal tender!

Tea, a common if blander beverage money, was used for centuries in the Far East. For ease in handling, it was often shaped into bricks.

Tobacco automatically meant money to our southern colonists during the 17th and 18th centuries. In time, tobacco warehouse receipts were used; but originally the actual leaves circulated!

Over the centuries, money has been the subject of memorable quotations. According to Benjamin Franklin in 1735, "Nothing but money is sweeter than honey."

In 1706, Jonathan Swift wrote: "No man will take counsel, but every man will take money: therefore money is better than counsel." And an old Irish proverb had it that "a heavy purse makes a light heart."

We are indebted to money for several everyday expressions such as "getting your money's worth," "the root of all evil," "filthy lucre," "money talks," "putting your money where your mouth is," and "putting your two cents in."

What is more, there are local sayings relating to money in different countries with differing monetary units. American counterparts of these terms include "penny pincher" and "dollars to doughnuts."

Money-like love—can be a many-splendored thing when a woman who enjoys having her own identity has a "money card" in her own name. If, for example, the car breaks down when she is driving alone, the American Express Money Card comes to her rescue. It pays for repairs—as well as gas, oil and accessories—at more than 161,000 service stations from coast to coast.

If she entertains relatives, friends or business associates, the Money Card can pay for dinner and theater tickets. And she can also use it to purchase those special gifts.

You can't find this kind of money growing on trees, but another kind of money once did! In 13th century China, when under the rule of Kubla Khan, the Chinese produced the world's first paper currency, printed on paper made from the bark of the mulberry tree!

is
TIMING
By Ralph Rhea

"The old world will give way to the new. The old man will give way to the new man." Many people make such statements when referring to our rapidly changing world. One would hope that we could find a bridge which would enable us to bring some of the strength and quality of the old into the new. As we learn to develop a positive expectation for future good, we shall cross each new bridge with excitement and joyous anticipation. ## THE LANGUAGE OF FOREIGN MARKETS

Called "dinero" in Spanish, "argent" in French, and "gelt" in German, money is luring increasing numbers of American executives to visit distant lands in search of business.

Progressive companies are realizing that the demand for the bilingual executive is growing. They have, therefore, begun adopting language training programs for their personnel.

Previously, training of employees was done in classroom groups. But most companies have found that the busy businessman couldn't be tied down to a 10-30 class twice a week—and preferred an individualized approach to learning.

Employees of Control Data Corporation had an even more troublesome "time" problem. Twenty-five employees of this computer company were being sent to Germany to set up a system for Volkswagen. They wanted to learn German but couldn't be pinned down to a schedule, since they were needed whenever computer time was available.

The Sullivan Language Schools, a nationwide network of centers with headquarters in Palo Alto, Calif., solved their problem by setting up an individualized "school" on their premises. The unique Sullivan method was developed under a Carnegie Foundation Grant by the noted linguist Dr. M. W.

Even if their employees are not assigned to overseas duty, some large firms are offering language lessons as a fringe benefit. Companies with plants in Spanish-American districts sponsor courses in Spanish so that their people can better relate to the community.

All in all, the executive who says, "I don't need a second language—there's always someone who speaks English" may become obsolete.

The Sullivan Language Schools have also helped Sears, Roebuck and Co. fashion buyers to learn French and the Latin American Section of A.B. Dick Co. to learn Spanish. The ambitious Japanese of Mitsui Corp. who already speak English are moving on to French, German and Spanish.

The idea that plastics would ever have become a term of derision would have puzzled the scientists who invented the various forms of plastic is used in the human body to replace faulty heart valves and intestinal tubes; it is widely used in packaging. Despite the fact plastic accounts for only two per cent

The industry doesn't want "plastic" to enter the dictionary the way some other materials have done through the centuries.

Believing that thousands of smokers would like to give up the habit, but just don't know how, the Maryland Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association is sponsoring a statewide anti-smoking campaign during the month of January, according to Mrs. Roger Medford, president of the organization.

For assistance, and encouragement to stop smoking, callers will hear a special message by dialing this toll-free telephone number — 800-492-9659—from anywhere in Maryland, at any time during the month of January. "The campaign slogan will be "Butt Out!", and this will be the theme of all anti-smoking activities of TB-RD Associations in January. - All the pollen produced each season by ragweed plants when piled together would form a pyramid as high as a 50-story office building.

- Wind pollination is the greatest cause of hay fever. Pollen known to have come from Alaska has been deposited in Washington and Oregon.
- Some 250,000 persons lose a week or more from work or school because of hay fever.
- Antihistamines usually give temporary relief of major hay fever symptoms. A nasal spray such as NTZ is often recommended rather than a tablet. Antihistamines should be used as directed.
- Hay fever should not be neglected. A physician should be consulted.
- Hay fever can result in impairment of hearing, infections of the ears, sinuses, or even bronchial asthma.
- Summer allergies can be caused by many things besides ragweed — including moth scales, fragments of algae and insect droppings.

You may walk out of a salon looking fantastic with a new short, swinging hair. But if you can't wear, you're going to be unhappy with your hair.

Don't simply look at a model in a magazine and say, "Now that's how I'd like to wear my hair." Your hair may be too fine or too thick for that style, or your face shape too long.

Be realistic. Know that a hairstyle is not going to make you into a new person no matter how hard you try. And it shouldn't. You want to look like you—only a prettier you. Most important is having protein clean, shining hair in the best of condition.

Remember, you're not the newest hair cut or style in the world!
