SERVING THE WONDERFUL PEOPLE OF THE CATOCTIN MOUNTAINS

EMMITSBURG CHRONICLE, EMMITSBURG, MARYLAND, THURSDAY, JANUARY 25, 1973

VOLUME XCIII, NO. 11

Most Anything At A Glance

- By Abigail -

It has been a very eventful week for this nation, and a great deal of it will effect the whole world. President Nixon's announcement of peace in the immediate future was not greeted with dancing in the streets and other forms of celebrations such as attended the ending of other wars. Maybe it is because we have been hoping, praying, and since last fall, expecting this announcement for so long, that it's arrival was something of an anti-climax. Or maybe we just can not comprehend that the whole tragic affair is finally coming to an end.

As someone said after the President's announcement, it is too bad that President Johnson could not have lived a few more days to see and hear that peace is so near. I'm not much of one for writing eulogies, others are much better at the job than I; but it always seems a bit ridiculous to me that we wait until someone has died (and presumably doesn't give a hoot then what we think of them) and then we go around telling each other what a great person he or she was. Maybe we should do a bit more back-patting while people are here to enjoy and appreciate it.

The inauguration last week seemed to go off quite smoothly. Despite fears that demonstrators might get out of hand and cause some damage, only a handful did so. Most folks I've talked to were very disapproving of any type of demonstrations during such an event. I think that sometimes personal demonstration has a place and just might accomplish something, if only to call attention to the particular cause. But the inauguration of a new President in this country, and one that was elected by such an overwhelming majority, is a time for a show of unity on the part of our citizens.

I haven't as yet heard what our local Scout thought of his inauguration activities. But one of my friends at the paper gave me a few statistics and a puzzle. There are 6 million active Boy Scouts in the country. Every 4 years 40 Eagle Scouts are selected to participate in the inauguration ceremonies. There are about 20 Eagle Scouts in an area the size of Frederick County. I understand the local Scoutmaster is in hopes that one of our more numerical minded citizens will figure out for him what the odds are of any one Scout being selected to take part in the ceremonies. I gave up figurin' at 6 million.

Some rather odd things get passed onto me, like the letter from one of those home party plans: offered me a whole page full of gifts, but never really got right down to what I had to do to get one of them. If any of you ladies out there are giving Abbie's name out to a mailing list, I wish you wouldn't.

I also received a message from one of our fine Town Commissioners concerning my references in past columns to "Closed Meetings" held here in town. According to my friend the commissioner, none of their meetings are closed and all are open to the public. As I've said before, I think more folks would show up and try to get into a "closed" meeting just to see what's going on, folks sure don't seem too interested in the regular meetings.

Planning & Zoning Meetings Open To Public

The Commission meets on the third Wednesday of every month at 7:30 p.m. at the Town Office. It is open meeting and all citizens are invited to attend and express their opinions.

VFW Auxiliary To Meet

The VFW Ladies Auxiliary will meet Thursday evening, Feb. 1, at 8 p.m. in the Post Home.

George R. Gelles Appointed Dean

George R. Gelles has been appointed Dean of Students at Mount Saint Mary's College, according to a recent letter from Mount Vice President, Rev. James M. Forker. The appointment, made by President John J. Dillon, Jr., takes effect immediately.

Mr. Gelles, who had served as Associate Dean of Students since 1966, succeeds the late Frank X. Ligorano, who died suddenly last month. Gelles was Mr. Ligorano's personal choice for Associate Dean five years ago, and the two had worked closely since then. When they assumed office, it was the first time in the school's history that laymen had been named to lead that department on campus.

A 1964 graduate of Mount Saint Mary's, Mr. Gelles received his Bachelor of Science degree in economics and then worked for several years as an insurance adjuster. He returned to the Mount in 1967 at Mr. Ligorano's request to assume the Associate Dean's position and since then has served also as Director of Security and Assistant Director of the Student Union.

He has received many honors and awards during his association with Mount Saint Mary's. As a student, he served as President of his senior class, and was named to Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges, and he was awarded the Edward Flanagan Award at graduation as the "member of the senior class who best represents the traditions of Mount Saint Mary's College in conduct, scholarship, and leadership." As a member of the Mount's administration, he has been twice recognized among Personalities of the South, and once as an Outstanding Educator of America.

He is a member of the Southern College Personnel Association, the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators, and the Eastern Association of College Deans. Mr. Gelles has also been active in the Central Democratic Committee, the Elks, the American Legion, and the Knights of Columbus.

He is married to the former Mary Therese DuBreucq of Johnstown, Pa., and they reside with their two children, Gregory George and Christine Marie, on the college campus.

Community Chorus Plans Concert

During the next several months the Emmitsburg Community Chorus will be busy preparing a spring concert to be dedicated to our Nation entitled "Salute to America." This program will be presented May 13 at 8 p.m., in De Paul Auditorium, St. Joseph's College. Rehearsals for this concert will begin Friday night, January 26 at 8 o'clock in the Music Department, St. Joseph College. Anyone desiring to join the chorus is urged to do so. There are no tryouts required, but you must enjoy singing. All voice parts are needed. We invite anyone from surrounding communities.

The chorus is also planning to sing at the 1973 Annapolis Arts Festival which will be held June 15 thru 17.

The group expresses sincere thanks to all who have supported the chorus in the past years and it hopes you will continue your support in the future. Plan now to join us May 13 (Mother's Day). Sister Jane Marie Perrot, D.C., is conductor of the chorus. Mr. Francis Null is president. For any information contact James Kittinger (447-6244) or any chorus member.

Your Federal Income Tax

Q. Is it true that this year's Federal income tax return asks questions related to Federal revenue sharing?

A. Yes. Your 1972 Form 1040 and short Form 1040A ask two questions related to the sharing of Federal money with state and local governments. One question asks the location of your principal place of residence (state, county, locality & township); the second question asks for the number of your dependents who are filing a return of their own or who did not live at your principal place of residence at the end of 1972.

You must supply the correct information in your answers to these questions to ensure that your state, county and local community receive their rightful share of revenue sharing funds.

Q. Does every taxpayer have to give his state, county, locality and township in answering the revenue sharing question on place of residence?

A. All of this information may not be required. Only certain states have townships and these are specified in your tax form instructions. If your state is not listed there, you can leave this column of your tax return blank. Secondly, there are a few places, such as Baltimore City, Md. and St. Louis, Mo., that are not within a county. Once again, these areas are listed in your instructions.

Unless you lived outside the U. S. on Dec. 31, 1972, you must enter the abbreviation for your state in the column provided. In addition, if you lived inside an incorporated city, town, or village, print the name of the municipality in the "locality" column. If you did not live inside the boundaries of such a location, check the box in this column.

Q. Can you give me some tips on how to guard against dishonest tax preparers?

A. The IRS offers the following advice to taxpayers seeking assistance from commercial income tax return preparers: never sign a blank return; do not sign a tax return prepared in pencil because it can be changed later; do not allow your refund check to be mailed to the preparer; avoid the advisor who "guarantees" refunds, wants a percentage of the refund, or supposedly knows all the angles; and avoid the preparer who advises a taxpayer to overstate deductions, claim fictitious dependents or omit income.

In addition, taxpayers should insist that the tax preparer sign the return he prepares and enter his tax identifying number. Finally, be sure to keep a copy of your return.

Q. What are the rules for deducting finance charges on department store revolving charge accounts?

A. You may deduct the "finance charge" levied by retail stores on your revolving charge accounts if the charges are based on your unpaid balances and computed monthly. Also, in the case of bank credit card plans, you can deduct the finance charge if no part of this amount is for service charges, loan fees, credit investigation fees, etc.

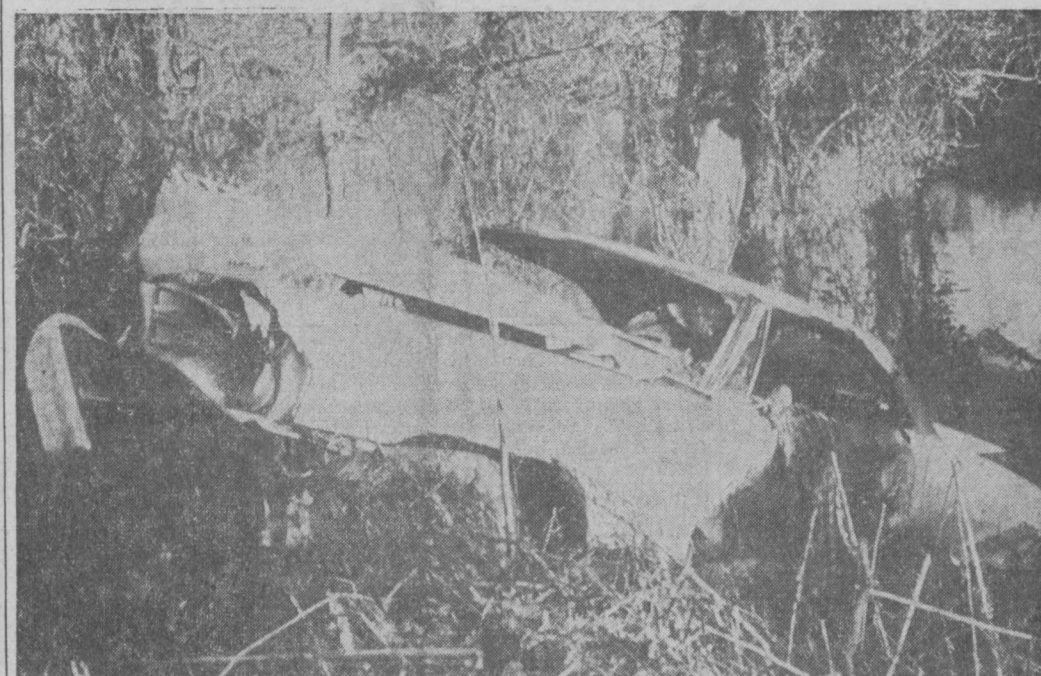

However, if you buy items on the installment plan and the carrying charges are separately stated, but the interest charge cannot be ascertained, deduct the lower of (1) 6 percent of your average unpaid monthly balance or (2) the actual charge for the year. For more details, see IRS Publication 545, "Income Tax Deduction for Interest Expense." Use the order blank on the back of your tax forms package to obtain a free copy.

Q. I had no income tax liability for 1972, but I'm filing a return to recover income tax withheld from my pay. Can I still designate $1 of the tax withheld towards the Presidential Election Campaign Fund?

A. No. You can only make the $1 check-off if you had an income tax liability. This does not mean that because you are getting a refund, you can't use the $1 check-off, but it does mean that you must be able to show tax on line 20 of your Form 1040 or line 21 of your short Form 1040A to use the check-off.

Emmitsburg Man Loses Life In Fatal Car Accident

Car which was being driven by Clarence Van Brakle when he was involved in a fatal accident Tuesday Morning north of town on Business Rt. 15.

Clarence A. Van Brakle, 59, Lincoln Ave., Emmitsburg, was burned to death at 6:50 a.m. Tuesday when he became trapped in the blazing wreckage of his car after it hit the Middle Creek bridge wall and rolled down a 30-foot bank off Business Route 15 in Freedom Twp., a half mile north of the Maryland line.

The Adams County coroner, Dr. Robert S. Lefever, pronounced Van Brakle dead at the scene from incineration.

Van Brakle was enroute to work in Gettysburg where he was employed as a cook for the Kappa Delta Rho fraternity on Carlisle St.

State police said Van Brakle's car apparently crossed into the southbound lane while traveling down a steep hill. His car struck guard rails along the west berm and then collided with the Middle Creek bridge wall causing his car to flip and spin around in the air coming to rest on its left side where it exploded in flames, trapping its driver.

A witness said he saw Van

Brakle waving his arms in a vain effort to free himself from the driver's side of the car while flames were enveloping the car.

Police said Van Brakle's '65 Pontiac hardtop is a $700 total loss.

Firemen from Emmitsburg extinguished the fire and attempted to free the victim but he had already died in the fire.

Firemen, state police and Dr. Lefever, freed the man's body from the wreckage following the blaze. The body was released to the Wilson Funeral Home in Emmitsburg.

The Kappa Delta Rho fraternity members, by whom he had been employed as chef for 17 years, had named him an "honorary member" of the fraternity, some years ago.

A World War II veteran of U. S. Navy Service, he was a member of the Dorsey-Grant-American Legion post, Gettysburg.

He was a member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Emmitsburg.

A son of the late John E. and Mamie A. (Craig) Van Brakle, he is survived by his wife, the former Doris F. Fisher, and the following children: Kenneth C. Van Brakle, Emmitsburg; Joseph L. Van Brakle, Stanford, Conn.; William R. Van Brakle, Chambersburg; John E. Van Brakle, Harrisburg; Thomas E. Van Brakle, Fairfield; Ronald A. and S. Richard Van Brakle, at home and Patricia Penn, Harrisburg.

Also surviving are several grandchildren, 1 great grandchild; a brother, C. Raymond Van Brakle, Washington, D. C.; a sister, Mildred E. Weedon, Emmitsburg, a step brother, Lawrence Johnson, of Chambersburg, and a step sister, Anita Johnson, Emmitsburg.

Funeral services were held Thursday morning with Mass of the Resurrection at St. Joseph's Catholic Church at 11 o'clock with Rev. John King officiating. Interment was in the new St. Joseph's Cemetery.

College And Career Day Closes Mini-Mester Program

Sister Norma Anderson, Guidance Counselor at Saint Joseph's High, explains details to student hosts and hostesses, Roy Adelsberger, Ruth Knox, Jill Lowe, Florence Polk, and Joel Warthen.

A College and Career Day will bring to a climax today the two week mini-mester at Saint Joseph's High School in Emmitsburg.

In announcing the event, Sister Norma Anderson, Guidance Counselor, called attention to the fact that like the mini-mester this is another in a series of "firsts" at Saint Joseph's High. Twenty-five representatives from college to career personnel will be greeted by members of the National Honor Society, Sharon Danner '73, Skip Flessner '73, Christ Skybyk '73, and Steve Hollinger '74.

Students will have the opportunity to select the career or college in which they are most interested. Personal interviews will be set up in addition to the group presentations.

College Admission Counselors include the following: Mr. Joel Tonior, University of Md.; Mr. John Gills, Mt. St. Mary's College; Mr. William Leach, Frederick Community College; Mr. Max Creager, Hagerstown Junior College; Mr. Richard Hajek, Hagerstown Business College; Miss Wendy M. Zimet, Hood College; Mr. Robert J. Edwards, Strayer Business College, Washington, D. C.

Sergeant William Irving, Sergeant Sam Slaughter, Navy, Sergeant R. L. Erle, Air Force and Sergeant Charles L. King, Marines, will represent the armed forces.

Law and order holds a special interest for Saint Joseph's students since the mini-course in criminology. Federal Bureau of Investigation representative, Mr. John R. Thurston, will be present, as well as Mr. Roland J. Meerdter from the Maryland State Police, and Mrs. Michael Schleupner, a lawyer from Westminster.

Professional health careers will be outlined by Mrs. Josephine Delp, R.N., from the Annie Warner Hospital, Gettysburg; Mr. Daniel Martinez, lab technician, also from Annie Warner Hospital; Mrs. April E. Gray, a dental assistant from the office of Doctor Drum in Gettysburg; Miss Gail Strohm, an X-ray technician from Union Bridge, Maryland.

The extent of Community involvement in the career program at Saint Joseph's will also be evident in the person of Mr. Harold Mumma from the Landis Tool Corp., Waynesboro, Md. and Mrs. Aileen Brauer from the Frederick Agricultural Center; Miss Haas and Miss Melquist from the Vista Program; Mrs. Elizabeth Edwards from the Computer Learning Center in Rockville; Mrs. Jean Brunk of Frederick, a former hostess with United Airlines; Mrs. Gladys M. Wilkinson from the Beau Monde Beauty Academy, and Patricia Stevens from the Patricia Stevens Fashion School in Baltimore, Maryland.

Each career or college representative will be hosted by senior students and as guests of the faculty will attend the luncheon prepared by the PTA of Saint Joseph's under the direction of Mrs. George Rosentel, Mrs. Nick Fuscick and Mrs. John R. Devlin.

Community concern and co-operation has been reflected throughout the entire mini-mester at Saint Joseph's. Vista Volunteers, Connie Haas and Elaine Melquist assigned to Frederick County and currently living in Emmitsburg spoke with the students on Monday morning. "Because lots of kids experiment with heavy drinking because there is nothing to do," Miss Melquist sees their role "as an attempt to talk about alcoholism out in the open and educate through discussion

Homemakers Club Enjoys Exotic-fare

Do you like exotic foods cooked with a foreign flair? Then you should have been a guest of the Homemakers Club on January 11 when they were treated to a meal of native foods of India, prepared and served by Mrs. Ditya Singh, assisted by Mrs. Arvin Jones.

Mrs. Singh, who was attracted in her colorful native garb, is a delight to know and as she served the food she had prepared during the meeting, she shared with us many interesting facts of the customs and the culture of her native country of India, many of which she still carries through as she cooks for a family of seven at her home in Emmitt Gardens.

The menu Mrs. Singh selected included a bread called Puri, Bara (lentil cakes) a green vegetable dish called Sag. The dessert of Ruskula (sweet balls cooked in a sauce) and curried fruit, was served with a cup of India tea brewed in the true Indian fashion.

The meeting was called to order by the President, Mrs. Cregger. After the reading of the secretary's and treasurer's reports, the director, Mrs. James Harris announced several upcoming dates of future events, namely a Sew-o-Rama which is to be held at the Frederick Towne Mall on April 4-5; Short Course Day, April 25; A Citizenship Tour of Annapolis on Feb. 20, and the Annual Meeting at Hood College on May 25. Mrs. Arvin Jones, Citizenship Chairman, is planning to go on the tour to Annapolis.

The Valentine's Party which the club members plan to have at Montevue Home on Feb. 14, was discussed and plans were made for the program and refreshments.

The date of the regular meeting of the club has been changed tentatively to the 3rd Wednesday of each month beginning at 10 o'clock.

Since this year marks the 50th Anniversary of the Emmitsburg Homemakers Club, plans are being made for a special event to be held sometime in April. A committee was appointed to make these plans. Mrs. Victor Fiery, Mrs. Charles McNair, Mrs. James Harris and Mrs. Harry Hahn will serve on that committee.

Mrs. Arvin Jones will be the representative for the Annual Meeting and Mrs. James Harris will go to Short Course Day.

The February meeting will be included in the Valentine's Party at Montevue and the March meeting will be held at the Senior Citizens Center on March 21 when Mrs. Luther Cregger will be lesson leader on Pattern Fitting and Alteration. Mrs. Verne Ray and Mrs. Harry Hahn will be hostesses for that meeting. Anyone interested in becoming a Homemaker is invited to attend regardless of race, creed, or nationality.

Engagement Announced

Miss Frances Bacon The engagement of Miss Frances Bacon, daughter of Mr. John Bacon of Taneytown, Md., and the late Mrs. Bacon, to Mr. Patrick Topper Shorb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Shorb, Emmitsburg, has been announced.

Miss Bacon is a 1971 graduate of Saint Joseph's High School, Emmitsburg, and is employed at the Westminster Corporation, Westminster, Md. Mr. Shorb is a 1971 graduate of Catoctin High School, Thurmont, and is employed at Showers Lumber and Millwork, Taneytown, Md.

A March wedding is planned.

groups to the real meaning of "responsible drinking." Sister Genevieve Kureth, Counsellor for Social Work from the Provincial House of the Daughters of Charity in Emmitsburg, highlighted Tuesday's program with a lecture on Mental Health. Following a slide presentation and discussion period, Sister Genevieve who holds her master's degree in psychology from the University of Detroit, involved the students in a sentence-completion technique that touched upon the "self-concept," "defense mechanism," and "emotions." Again, on Wednesday, the Community with Rev. Joseph A. Sannino as Celebrant, joined in the Liturgy of the Eucharist at 9:00 a.m. In his homily, Father Sannino stressed for the students their need to rely on the gifts of the Spirit, especially Knowledge, Wisdom, Counsel, and Understanding as the students mark the end of one semester and look forward to the challenges of the next. Future challenges and growth are now more possible than ever through the recent contributions of such people as Monte Ray '71, Miss Pauline Myers, Mrs. Patricia Muir, Mrs. Anna Martin, Sister Linda Owens, Miss Marianne Meagher, Sister Marguerite Butler, Miss Kathleen Muir, '72, Miss Nancy O'Brien '72, Mr. Ledlie Cunningham of Ft. Ritchie, and Mrs. Frieda Doll, Coördinator of the Frederick County Tuberculosis Association. The Saint Joseph's mini-mester will close officially on Friday, January 25 when the faculty will assemble for an evaluation of the program. Leading the discussion will be the Mini-Committee members, Sister Mary Rose Chiocka, Chairman, Miss Jane Garrett, Sister Frances Cumberland, who prepared the mini-mester realistic conclusions, and Sister Mary Hildenberger from tentative beginnings to

Capitol Comment

By Charles Mc Mathias
U.S. Senator

Let the Sun Shine In!

It is often said that sunshine is the best cure for most ills. This is equally true for political and social ills. With this theory in mind, I introduced legislation that would, if enacted into law, let sunshine into the Houses of Congress. The bill, S. 397, requires members of Congress to make annual public disclosure of their finances.

The notion that financial disclosure can lessen public distrust and improve the credibility of the political process is at least as old as the Republic. While he was President, Thomas Jefferson declared that "when a man assumes a public trust he should consider himself a public property." Support for this concept was later voiced by Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson and reaffirmed by Presidents Eisenhower and Johnson. A 1951 senatorial committee chaired by Senator Paul A. Douglas of Illinois regarded financial disclosure as the single most important piece of legislation that the Congress could enact to lessen the appearance of conflict of interest by public officials.

Twenty-one years later the 1972 elections are widely interpreted as a protest against the so-called "old politics." Examination of public opinion polls provides additional evidence that Americans feel public officials are not to be trusted. A 1967 Gallup Poll indicated that six out of 10 Americans believed shady conduct among Congressmen is fairly common. A Harris survey during the same period noted that over half of the Nation's population felt that at least some Congressmen were receiving money, personally, for voting a certain way. Another Harris Poll published in February, 1972 revealed that during the period 1965 to 1971, the percentage of the public which gave Congress a positive rating, declined from 64 to 26 per cent.

These polls make it clear that the American people are fast losing confidence in the ability of their elected leaders to govern properly. It is clear that the disillusionment with the established order is not as often contended, limited to the young. The discontent pervades all segments of our society and is, in my view, the most serious problem facing the nation today.

For the most part, this attitude of distrust is without foundation. The overwhelming number of those in Congress are honest and hardworking. Unfortunately, the actions of a few unfaithful servants over the years have tainted the reputations of many who have served the public well. But the fairness of this public indictment is not the issue. Our representative system of government is based upon and gets strength from the consent of the governed. Without trust, the system cannot work. Our challenge is to restore confidence in the electorate.

Congress can and should be more open and candid in its legislative activities. Congressmen can provide public access to all congressional meetings. Senator Lawton Chiles of Florida and I have introduced legislation that would accomplish this goal. But the first step toward candor must be a personal one. I believe my disclosure legislation which requires all members of Congress to file with the Comptroller General of the United States the amount and source of all income, gift whose value exceeds $100 and all assets, debts and financial transactions with a value of more than $5,000, meets this requirement. I hope the Congress will meet its responsibility to the people and pass this or a similar bill and without extended debate.

—Grace Noel Crowell
Today will see the notes pertaining to the family and works of Dr. John Henry Casper Deilman come to an end. This is not to say that the "last word" has been said or written on this particular subject. Far from it—and if additional material should come to light in the future it will be included in this series.

The obituary of John Henry Cretin, the husband of Mary (2) Deilman, appeared in the "Emmitsburg Chronicle" under the date of Friday, March 23, 1906. Since it gives some rather interesting data pertaining to the Cretin family, of Frederick County, Maryland, it is herewith given in full.

"Died, Saturday, March 17, 1906, at Andora, near Mount St. Mary's College, John Henry Cretin, aged 80 years and 8 months. Burial took place in Mt. St. Mary's churchyard. Mr. Cretin was a son of Andrew Cretin. His mother was Ann Freen, a descendant of General Nathaniel Green, of Revolutionary fame."

"Emmitsburg Chronicle", Friday, June 4, 1915:

"Died, May 31, 1915, at her home near Mt. St. Mary's College, Mrs. Rebecca Delaney Moore, aged 71 years, 1 month and 23 days. She was the daughter of the late Dr. Henry Deilman. Mrs. Moore is survived by two sons Harry A. Quinn and Edgar H. Moore. Three daughters also survive: Mrs. H. F. Manning (Nina Quinn), Misses Georgia and Emma Moore; and one brother, Lawrence Deilman. Burial in the 'old Cemetery on the Hill'."

Last week a portion of the obituary of Louis Deilman, the half-brother of Dr. Henry Deilman, was given in this column. Today it is concluded—as follows:

"Mr. Deilman was a member of St. Luke's Lutheran church (better known as Winter's Church) and he was laid to rest in the quaint old churchyard by the side of his wife. One sister, Mrs. Margaret Dieter, two daughters, the Misses Lena and Agnes Deilman of New Windsor, are among the survivors. Two sons, Frederick and Louis R. Deilman, of Baltimore, Maryland, also survive."

Note: Louis H. Deilman, the son of Louis Deilman of New Windsor, was quite a noted librarian and historian and his particular interest was the old burial grounds, of Maryland, particularly those of Frederick County. His notes and records are on file in the Maryland Historical Society. The late Mrs. Katharine (Rupp) Nusbaum, of New Windsor, was Mr. Deilman's assistant on many of his "graveyard forays" and some years ago pointed out to the author of this column a number of the sites they visited.

Mr. Louis H. Deilman is interred with his father and mother in the old churchyard at Winter's Church. The graves are marked.

Shortly before the death of Dr. Henry Deilman, his good friend, James Cardinal Gibbons, visited Mt. St. Mary's College. In the account of that event which appeared in the "Emmitsburg Chronicle" on Saturday, October 14, 1882, mention is made of Dr. Deilman.

"On Sunday evening last, His Grace, Cardinal Gibbons, visited Dr. Deilman, who is very ill at present. He sat by the bed for a considerable time. He imparted his blessing."

In the same issue of the paper appeared a brief notice of Dr. Deilman's death—as follows:

"Died, October 13, 1882, Dr. Henry Deilman, of Mount St. Mary's College, at Andora, his late residence, aged 72 years. He became a Professor at the College in 1843."

The following week in the "Chronicle" a full account of Dr. Deilman's career appeared. "Dr. J. Casper Henry Deilman, Professor of Music at Mt. St. Mary's College for almost forty years, died at his home near Emmitsburg, Maryland. He was a native of Germany, on-the-Main, April 26, 1811. He was the eldest son of John Casper Deilman, a musician of that place. His talent for music developed early, and his instruction in the violin began at the age of eleven years. Mr. Deilman emigrated to America in 1827—to accept the post of First Violinist in the Philadelphia orchestra. In 1829 he came to Baltimore, Maryland, where he resided for some fourteen years. Here, in addition to his other duties, he was organist at St. John's Episcopal church.

"In 1843 Dr. Deilman became professor of Music at Mt. St. Mary's College. He became a member of the Roman Catholic church after coming to Mt. St. Mary's.

"Mrs. Deilman was a daughter of Captain Philemon Dawson. Her mother was of the family of Lowndes, who were of the English nobility.

"Professor Deilman was the first in this country who was distinguished by the title of Doctor of Music. This distinction came in 1849 from Georgetown University and he received his diploma from the hands of President Taylor, who presided at the commencement exercises that year.

"Mrs. Deilman died about ten years ago.

"Burial was made in the Mt. St. Mary's churchyard."

These historical and genealogical studies will be continued next week.

Ignorance isn't all it's cracked up to be.

When's the best time to call long distance?

"Who knows."

Should you dial it yourself?

"What's the difference."

Person to person or station to station?

"Who cares."

When it comes to long distance, ignorance is expensive. For instance.

Person to person can cost three times as much as the same direct-dialed call.

You should know the best times to call, too.

Remember, long-distance is usually cheaper weekday evenings and on weekends until 5 p.m. Sunday.

And finally. Whenever possible dial direct.

Direct-dialed calls carry a lower rate than calls that require operator assistance.*

Armed with these few simple facts you will become living testimony to the new age-old adage:

Knowledge is bliss.

*Dial-direct rates do not apply to coin, credit-card, collect, person-to-person, hotel-guest calls, calls charged to another number or calls to Hawaii or Alaska.

The more you know about your telephone, the more it's worth.

Moral Judgment Coming

There are two Chinas. Their societies contrast each other in almost every way. As some forces in America seek to turn American respect and friendship away from one and toward the other, it is well to know some of the basic facts about each China. Our government, basically for reasons described as "in the interest of world peace," has shown friendliness and respect toward Communist China. While our government has not officially withdrawn its friendship and respect from Island China (Taiwan), our officialdom watched without effective resistance while the United Nations kicked out the little capitalist nation and embraced Socialist-Communist China.

There appears to be a moral inconsistency in what we have done. There could be at any time a showdown in which the United States would be confronted with the choice of forsaking Taiwan or rejecting expansion plans of Communist China. As I see it, it would not be a decision on involvement in war, but on whether our present official treatise with Taiwan continued genuinely to be backed with old-fashioned American integrity. It is most unlikely that Taiwan would be attacked by an aggressor so long as that integrity is secure. Yet Red China likely will test our integrity.

Contrasting Ways

A national moral judgment by the American people must be made, it would seem to me, now or in the near future. So let's look at a few facts in the contrasting societies of Mainland and Island China. I know Mainland China from my living there for years among her people and teaching at Sun Yat Sen University at Canton. I know the Communists, who ran my mission family out of China. I know Chiang Kai-shek, and I know the modern little nation of Taiwan.

Mainland China is under the rule of atheist Communists. There is no individual freedom. The economic system is State Socialism — property, production and distribution facilities are owned by the Government. Prices are fixed, wages are fixed and people are assigned their jobs by the Government. The Government is a dictatorship, ruled by Mao Tse-tung and Chou En lai. Churches are not permitted; worship of God is a crime against Communism, punishable as a defecation.

Encouraging Achievements

Island China (Taiwan) is a democratic Republic with three freely elected Houses in Parliament. The National Assembly, the Legislative Yuan, and the Executive Yuan. Mayors and magistrates, members of the Provincial Assembly, and City Councils also are elected. Every citizen 20 years old or older may vote. Membership in the three national governing bodies was expanded in the elections of December 23. Basic economic principles are private ownership of property, the free market, and self-reliance. Prices are controlled by consumer preference, wages by competition and individual capability. Freedom of religion is guaranteed by the Taiwan constitution; there are about 700,000 Christians — Catholics and Protestants; and large numbers of Buddhists, Taoists, and Islamists. Thousands of churches, all over the Island nation, are crowded on days of worship.

The living standard on Taiwan is one of the highest in Asia. During the last 10 years it has increased each year by an average of 10 per cent. The gross national product has risen from $431 million in 1952 to $6.5 billion in 1972. Agricultural land is owned by nearly 700,000 farmers; private industries, with huge investments from U. S. enterprises, have begun to compete in the world markets. There are three major privately-owned TV networks, 78 radio stations, 31 daily newspapers and some 1500 magazines. There is no Government censorship.

At The Human Progress Level

Here are some statistical contrasts between the two Chinas: Taiwan's diet is Asia's highest in calories and second highest in proteins. (2,680 calories, including 69.2 grams of protein) versus Communist China's 1,780 calories and 30 grams of protein. Per capita consumption of electric power: Taiwan, 216 kilowatt

Perspectives In Learning By H. Brown

Performance Contracting To Accountability

The Banneker School experiment, one of the most successful performance contracting projects, has been terminated. The Gary, Indiana, School Board and the contractors, Behavioral Research Laboratories, have mutually agreed to end the experiment in the middle of the third year.

Performance contracting has been an innovative educational experiment where companies with programs for teaching reading, math and study skills are asked to submit bids to school boards. The programs are usually in the form of audio-visual teaching machines, programmed texts, technicians to supervise the use of the machines; Communist China 13 kwhs. Motor vehicles: Taiwan, 139 bicycles, 49 motorcycles and 9 autos per 1,000 people; Communist China 20 bicycles, 0.3 motorcycles, and 0.8 autos. Hospitals or clinics; Taiwan, one for every 13,000 people; Communist China, one for every 110,000. Education: Taiwan, 98.5 per cent children 6 to 12 in school; Communist China, 78 per cent.

Which nation—if a choice must be made—has demonstrated spiritual, economic and political principles and achievements worthy of the respect and friendship of the U.S.A.? Will we default in our old-fashioned American integrity or will it prevail?

Materials and incentive awards for improved performance by the students. The contracting companies promise a specified degree of success, and refund a percent of their profits if the results are less than contracted for. Schools pay for services and the pay depends on the results.

The contractors at the Banneker School proposed to create an approach to learning which would produce at least one grade level of growth in math and reading at a cost of $800 per pupil year. If a child failed to achieve a one-year gain in a year's time, the money spent on that child would be refunded to the school district.

The program operated 2½ years in spite of many problems and vocal critics. The teachers unions protested very loudly; school officials were skeptical; and the Indiana State Department of Education went so far as to drop Banneker as an official school, thus making it ineligible for state aid. After curriculum changes and revisions the school was recommissioned.

The contract with BRL was terminated December 31, 1972, but the programs and staffing patterns will remain. The same materials will be used and some of the programs will be expanded to other Gary schools.

The cost of the experiment was not excessive, and in fact it appears that it will cost less than conventional schools. The BRL guarantees, according to the contract, were voided because of a teacher strike last year and low pupil enrollment this year.

What really failed was not the program but the performance contracting idea, according to Chairman of the Board, Allen Calvin. Most of the staff approved the teaching methods, materials and techniques used by the contracted company and want to continue using them.

It sounds like a re-occurrence of the continued problem with educators. They want to do it by themselves. It is not possible that an engineer can also develop a meaningful learning situation? At Banneker School, the teachers want to manage the program themselves. They no longer want to participate in contracting.

But, the performance contracting projects have provided stepping stones to the "accountability" concepts. The experiments have done much to encourage public awareness of the importance of results and costs. Management of education by objective, management information systems and educational accomplishments audits have become procedures used to achieve accountability. One phase of education reform may be on the wane, but another is just around the corner.

WASHINGTON REPORT

FROM SENATOR J. GLENN BEALL JR.

The Energy Crisis

The term "energy crisis" has been heard quite a bit in the news lately, and it's true that the United States is facing a serious problem in the production and consumption of energy.

It is a complex problem with no easy solution. It involves the electricity that lights our homes, the gasoline that drives our cars, and the fuels that power the industries where we work.

Energy, in short, is the lifeblood of modern societies. Here in the United States, our energy requirements are expected to double by 1985, and that fact is the reason for our energy crisis.

It also is the reason why we must develop a coherent national policy for meeting those requirements. Since problems like blackouts and oil shortages can affect the entire country, the federal government quite properly should exercise the necessary oversight on the supply and demand of energy.

The role of the federal government should not be a deterrent to progress in the private sector, however. It should be to facilitate the development of energy sources while also taking into consideration other factors such as costs, technological alternatives and environmental impact.

Electricity is a form of energy that has created a double problem. New power plants are needed to meet the soaring demand for electricity, and these plants require more energy from other sources in order to generate more electricity.

There are a number of hydroelectric plants that produce electricity by damming large rivers and using the water to operate turbines, but the steam turbine is much more prevalent.

Fossil fuels—coal, oil and gas—are still the most common types of fuel used to generate steam at these power plants. The suppliers of oil and gas are limited, however, and we are being forced to import an ever-increasing percentage of our petroleum from foreign countries, especially the Middle East.

There is a tremendous demand for petroleum products for other uses, too, and buying all this oil and gas involves a greater cost than just the purchase price. It also costs the whole United States money because those dollars are going overseas and not to suppliers here at home.

Yet even though we cannot do anything about the source of the oil, we can do something about how it is transported. A bill which I have sponsored in the Senate would require that American ships carry at least half of the oil that is imported by the United States.

Coal presents a different problem. We have abundant supplies of coal in the United States, but its high sulfur content pollutes the air, and mining operations can spoil the countryside.

Laws are already on the books to deal with the problems of air pollution, and the outlook is good for passage of a strip mining bill in the 93rd Congress.

This kind of legislation should not be looked upon as simply another instance of intervention by Washington. It is an effort by the federal government to establish the national policy I referred to earlier, so that our energy needs can be met in the most practical and beneficial manner.

Nuclear power is the main alternative to fossil fuels, and it is sure to be the energy source of the future. There are still some problems involving costs and high-temperature discharges, but an even greater hindrance in this area is the lack of a single regulatory agency for nuclear power plants.

This has led to conflicting standards for building and operating nuclear power plants, which in turn has led to confusion, distrust and delay in the development of this vital energy source. The need for a unified government approach to the energy crisis is nowhere greater than in the field of nuclear power.

The stakes are too high and the time is too short to continue a fragmented approach toward solving our energy crisis. Without the proper attention now, we may wind up looking for the answer by candlelight after the lights go out.

BUSINESS AND THE STOCK MARKET

Stock Split Candidates For 1973

By Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass., January 25, 1973—Stock splits may reach a new all-time high this year due largely to the expected continuation of a generally good stock market and to high corporate earnings. Last year a record 760 companies split their stock or paid stock dividends of 100% or more, topping the previous high of 698 for 1969. The largest number of splits last year occurred in the first half, and the same will probably be true this year.

Why The Splits?

The primary aims behind a corporate decision to split the stock are to increase the number of shares available and to lower the price of such shares. Most managements like to have their stock actively traded, and in recent years the most popular price level for investor purchase appears to have been between $25 and $50 a share. Purchases can then usually be made in round lots of 100 shares, which is preferred by most traders. So when a stock reaches the $50-$100 area, it is generally regarded as a logical split candidate.

A split, of course, does not have to be on a 2-for-1 basis; it can be any multiple or percentage thereof. Also, there is no assurance that a stock will split when it reaches the $50-$100 range; many issues have sold at or above these levels for years without splitting. By the same token, many stocks have been split under $50 a share.

Other Factors

Recently there have been other factors influencing stock-split decisions. One has been government limitation on dividend boosts to 4% over the average payout in the past three years. This is unrealistically low for many firms. Thus, in order to sweeten the pot for stockholders, many firms have split the stock and then given a small increase in cash payment. A split by itself, of course, does not mean any additional income for the holder.

Another factor which has spurred stock-split activity over the past year or so has been the revised standards for listing on both the Big Board and the American Stock Exchange. For example, to be listed on the New York Stock Exchange a company must have a minimum of one million publicly held shares. On the American Exchange a minimum of 400,000 shares is required for listing, and there must be a minimum of 1200 stockholders—up from the previous 900.

Listed below are several companies whose stocks appear to be in a favorable position to split or at least to pay an important stock dividend this year. They are all doing well and are currently near—and in many cases above—their high levels of the past twelve months.

WOMEN on Wheels

Plymouth's Liz Stimley
In the Driver's Seat

No Sudden Moves on Freeways
The wisest automobile safety expert I know has a rule for freeway driving: don't do anything suddenly.

An unexpected change of lanes, slowing down, or burst of speed on your part may startle another driver. Panic reactions are dangerous.

A driver may lose control of his car if he is frightened into a sudden move.

The excellent signs on freeways provide the driver with plenty of warning of what is ahead. There is no excuse for suddenly cutting across lanes to get to an exit ramp or for jamming on the brakes when one realizes he is in the wrong lane for an exit.

You should always make your intentions known in plenty of time before you make a move. Use those turn signals and keep them flashing until you have completed the lane change.

Do not slow down too rapidly when getting off the freeway. Traffic may jam up behind you.

The driver who sees traffic ahead slowing down should pump his brake pedal several times to warn following drivers.

Don't drive too fast or too slow. The safest speed is that of the normal flow of traffic.

But most important — no sudden moves.

We all have plans.

We plan for a vacation, plan to buy a boat, or a house; or send our children through college.

And, in order to keep those plans from becoming broken dreams, we need money.

That's where the Payroll Savings Plan comes in handy. When you join where you work, an amount you specify is set aside from your paycheck and used to buy U.S. Savings Bonds.

It's an easy way to save money and collect some interest at the same time.

Keep today's plans alive. Buy U.S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan. You won't end up with a bunch of broken dreams tomorrow.

Now U.S. Bonds pay 5 1/2% interest when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). Bonds are replaced if lost, stolen, or destroyed. When needed they can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Take stock in America.

Now Bonds mature in less than six years.

By
Congressman Goodloe Byron
Maryland—Sixth District

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks. Letters should be sent to me, c/o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515.

Where can our school get information and publicity materials on the Presidential Physical Fitness Awards?

Logbooks, qualifying standards and publicity materials may be obtained by writing: Presidential Sports Awards, P. O. Box 129, Radio City Station, New York, N. Y. 10019 or President's Council on Physical Fitness & Sports, Washington, D. C. 20202.

When are you going to send out another questionnaire?

A ten-question survey, covering key issues facing our Nation, will be included in my next newsletter mailed in mid-February. I hope all 6th District residents will take a few minutes to express their ideas and opinions on the survey, because the answers will aid me in making decisions on legislation coming before the 93rd Congress.

I understand that social security payments will be figured differently for retired men in the future. Could you explain this change?

Beginning this year, a man who reaches age 62 will have his earnings figured over a period one year shorter than under the old law. In 1974 it will be two years shorter, and in 1975 and thereafter, eligibility and benefit amounts will be figured over the same period as for a woman of the same age. Since retirement payments are based on a worker's average earnings this change will eliminate more low-earnings years and result in higher monthly social security checks for men who reach age 62 in the future.

Everyone talks about fuel being in such short supply, but are there any government booklets which tell you how to conserve this precious resource?

Information on saving fuel and reducing heating costs during the winter is available from Consumer Product Information, Washington, D. C. 204-07. You might want to request the 25c pamphlet entitled "7 Ways to Reduce Fuel Consumption in Household Heating."

I'm a VA pensioner who has just moved, and wonder what office should be notified about my change of address?

Your change of address should go to the VA regional office where your records are kept and to the post office which serviced your old address.

Few habits put a man on the skids quicker than insincerity.

P & Z Commission Holds Meeting

The regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Planning and Zoning Commission was called to order by Chairman Ernest R. Shriver at 7:40 p.m. on Jan. 17, 1973. John S. Hollinger, Philip D. Topper, and Planning Consultant Alan Musselman were in attendance. The Commission scheduled a Special Meeting for Thursday, Jan. 25, at 8 p.m. to review a subdivision plot.

Next (Mr. Alan Musselman presented an historical sketch of Emmitsburg, including a review of the physiography of our town—i.e., the topography, climate, geology, surface water, ground water, and soil characteristics. The Commission then reviewed several maps pertaining to flood plains and soil characteristics of the immediate locale.

A chart showing Emmitsburg population trends was also studied and it revealed an increase of approximately 250 persons in the last 20 years. Population characteristics were noted, too, such as the percent-age of male and female residents, median age, and the average number of persons per household. Other subjects discussed were municipal services maintained by Emmits-

The meeting adjourned at 9:15 p.m.
