- By Abigail -

The Town Election is over for another year. It was not a spirited contest, as we all know. The rumors of a massive write-in campaign turned out to be just that—rumors. It would have shown a little more community interest if a few more of our registered voters had taken the time to go to the polls. Only a small number of the qualified voters turned out, yet that small number was the deciding factor in who would be holding down the commissioner's seat for the next three years.

I've been trying to figure out whether the poor voter turnout was due to plain old apathy or to the fact that folks were so sure that the incumbent would keep his post that it was a foregone conclusion as to who would win. Whatever it was, shame on all of the voters who weren't out Tuesday and hearty congratulations to those who exercised their franchise by voting.

This is National Secretaries Week, and according to a radio commercial I heard the other day, it's a good time to send your secretary flowers. So any of you men out there who have let the week slip by without notice, you still have a day or two to make amends.

Next week, April 30-May 5, is National Consumer Information Week. Now, the one good thing about this one is that all of us that aren't recognized during the other weeks fit in here. We all consume something, from the tiniest baby to the oldest senior citizen. So, enjoy, folks, enjoy, it's our week!

The weather we enjoyed over the Easter weekend was about as perfect as anyone could have asked for. Parks and picnic areas around the mountains were well used as city folks and local folks alike, went out to enjoy the sun and warmth on Sunday. Nobody expects that such beautiful weather will last long at this time of year, but it was nice and gave many of us a real yearning for summer to get here.

I was down at the Town Park the other day and it looked to me like the work going on was about finished. The ball field is in good shape, the bleachers are up, the picnic pavilions are ready to go. It will add to our town this summer, having such a place to play and picnic, and we owe our thanks to the many persons who have worked long hours to make it possible.

I've also been keeping an eye on the site of the new school. It really doesn't look like much at the moment, but men and heavy equipment sure have been moving a lot of earth around over there lately.

Watergate is still in the headlines with more and more well-known names being tossed around in connection with the intrigue. Incidents such as this point out the fallacies of our system of government, but before we get too excited about our short-comings, it is well to remember that the same system gives us ways to investigate and bring out the truth in such situations. In many countries, the ruling party would just put the lid on the whole mess and the great majority of the citizens would be unaware that anything at all had happened.

I was about to buy a horse after hearing scary stories of gas rationing and gas station closings, when suddenly I was reassured that there will be no gas shortage and there is nothing to worry about. Now they say, no gas shortage, but the price is going to go up, up, up. I think I'll start looking at horses again.

Canned crab meat is available and graded as claw, regular and backfin.

Attend 70th Annual NCEA Convention

Sister Eleanor McNabb

Twenty-four Daughters of Charity from the Emmitsburg Province are attending the 70th Annual Convention of the National Catholic Educational Association being held in New Orleans this week.

Leaving Friendship Airport on Mon., April 23, were Sister Eleanor McNabb, Visitatrix of the Emmitsburg Province and Sister Ellen Sheldon, Provincial Secretary.

Accompanying them, from the Emmitsburg area, were Sister Jerome Nossell, Councilor for Education, Sister Margaret Hughes, Academic Dean at Saint Joseph College and Sister Joan Keating, junior high teacher at Mother Seton School. They were joined by Daughters of Charity from secondary and elementary schools in the Baltimore and Washington areas, from Virginia and West Virginia.

The delegates from the Emmitsburg Province were scheduled to attend the NCEA Opening General Session at 3:00 p.m. at the Rivergate, convention headquarters in New Orleans. Following this session and keynote address by Rev. Raymond E. Brown, S.S. on "The Current Crisis in Theology as it Affects the Teacher of Catholic Doctrine," the Opening Liturgy was to be celebrated by Most Rev. Philip M. Hannan, Archbishop of New Orleans at 4:30 p.m. in the North Hall of The Rivergate.

With the framework of the NCEA formal program, Sister Jerome Nossell, Councilor for Education, has planned two Inter-Provincial meetings. 156 Daughters of Charity who represent teachers, principals, and administrators from all levels of education throughout the U. S., will be in attendance at the first of these special sessions.

On Tuesday evening, April 24, Sister Elise Boudreaux, Visitatrix of the East Central Province of the Daughters of Charity, and Sister Mary Rose McPhee, Visitatrix of the West Central Province, joined Sister Eleanor McNabb, Visitatrix from Saint Joseph's Provincial House, Emmitsburg, as special guests of honor at a dinner meeting at the Marriott Motor Hotel in the "Crescent City." Father Alfred McBride, O.Praem., Director of the National Forum for Religious Education, Division of the NCEA, was the guests speaker. Father McBride chose as his topic, "Religious Experience: the Heart of the Matter."

On Wednesday evening, the NCEA delegates from the Emmitsburg Province came together for a dinner-meeting in the Ibersville Room of the Marriott Hotel. Sister Adele Francis, Supervisor of Elementary and Secondary Schools, planned a slide-presentation and commentary entitled, "Mother Seton's Schools: the Possible Dream," which depicts the changes in education from the early school years of 1809 to the present. This special program was a synthesis for the Daughters of Charity of the overall Convention theme for 1973, "Religious Education: Building Values and Meaning."

All NCEA participants will be in attendance on Thursday afternoon, April 26, for the NCEA Closing General Meeting at which Dr. Viktor E. Frankle, internationally acclaimed author of "Man's Search for Meaning," will speak. His topic will be "Youth in Search of Meaning."

Declare National Postal Week; Issue Ten New Stamps

Serving You

The week of April 29th thru May 5th, has been declared Postal Week in all communities of the Nation. It is a time set aside for recognizing all of the people and organizations who work together to provide good mail service in our community. The Postal Service is one of the world's largest enterprises. Its success directly depends on each person doing his part to help move the mail. Our volume mailers presort and package their materials to help speed them through the mail system with minimum handlings. And individual citizens help, too, by observing rules of good addressing, use of Zip codes, and mailing early at Christmas time when volumes double.

We have also set aside a special day — Monday, April 30th—to recognize Postal People . . . nearly 700,000 men and women who each day move more than a quarter billion pieces of mail, nearly 90 billion pieces a year.

Over the generations one of the ways we have recognized great Americans and important institutions is through the issuance of postage stamps. Contributors to good mail service have been honored, included, most often, Ben Franklin, considered the father of the Postal Service.

We recognized the railroad train for its contribution to speedy mail service. Later we recognized the airplane.

But over the generations, no stamp appeared that recognized all Postal People for their essential role on your Postal Service Team.

Your Postal Service management, in keeping with the spirit of renewal and reform brought about by Postal Reorganization, has therefore decided to issue not one but 10 stamps recognizing the work of Postal People. The day of issue is Monday, April 30th, and the place of issue is in the 31,000 offices of your Postal Service, where Postal People go about their daily work.

PROCLAMATION

I, Richard M. Sprankle, Burgess of Emmitsburg, Maryland, herewith proclaim the month of May as Poppy Days. These Poppies will be sold by the Auxiliary of the Francis X. Elder Post 121 of the American Legion, who will present the Poppies to the people of the community. I sincerely hope that each and everyone will contribute liberally to this worthy cause. The making of the Poppies will give the disabled veterans at Perry Point Hospital beneficial employment, and the funds raised will be used to help wounded veterans of the Nation.

Please give all you can spare!

Area Developer Supports Resort

The following letter was received by the Burgess and Commissioners of Emmitsburg.

Gentlemen:
I am a resident of Pennsylvania but live close to Emmitsburg. I am a real estate developer and am in favor of the proposal of Viking Enterprises for the following reasons:

1. The economy of Emmitsburg would certainly benefit through increased payrolls, both of construction and the Conference Center employees.

2. If the project is well done, it will be an asset to the entire Emmitsburg marketing area and I believe will make Emmitsburg citizens proud of having helped up grade the area.

3. The up grading of Viking's county real estate tax will be of a benefit to all area citizens as the county will have more money to work with for the benefit of all.

4. If the City of Emmitsburg agrees to cooperate with the sewer and water, certainly the Town Engineer will charge enough to clear the Town of any burden and possibly make money to up grade the existing facilities.

5. The out-of-towners that will be brought into Emmitsburg to visit Viking's project will spend lots of money in the town shops and with its various services.

The final decision is, of course, yours and I am sure you will decide what you believe best of the Town and its country neighbors.

Very truly yours,
FRANK B. DARCEY, JR.

SJC Alumnae Meet For 76th Reunion

An unprecedented number of alumnae are expected to attend the 76th annual reunion of the National Alumnae Association of St. Joseph College to be held the weekend of April 27-29 at the Emmitsburg campus. Due to a record number of early reservations, registration for some events which are limited to 600 persons, had to be closed before the cut-off date last week. De-luged with mail and phone requests, the Registration Committee has placed subsequent registrants on a stand-by list in the event of cancellations.

The reunion this year is the last the national group will hold as a corporate entity affiliated with the college. Confronted with the closing of the college in June, the 3,200 member association replied during the winter months to a mail ballot on the Future of the Alumnae Association, voting either to remain an autonomous body, or to affiliate at the invitation of Mt. St. Mary's College, with the Mount's Alumni Association. St. Joseph's Alumnae Board of Directors will consider the results of the vote at a late Friday evening meeting, and report the outcome at the Alumnae Council meeting on Saturday morning. National Alumnae President, Miss Barbara Ann Duffy, will preside at both meetings. A partner with the Philadelphia law firm of Fell, Spalding, Goff & Rubin, Miss Duffy is serving her second three-year term as national president.

Myers Re-Elected For 3-Year Term

With only one candidate running for the vacancy to be filled this year, the turnout for Emmitsburg's town election was sparse. Of the 618 residents eligible to vote, only 85 chose to take the time to select a commissioner. Those 85 represent 14% of the town's registered voters.

E. Eugene Myers, who has served as President of the Board of Commissioners for the past year and Commissioner of Parks and Recreation, was the lone candidate. Myers received 73 of the 75 acceptable tallies. Leo M. Boyle and Allen Davis each received one write-in vote. Ten votes were disqualified for a variety of reasons, including failure to place an X in the box for write-in candidates.

Several of the newly registered 18 year old voters appeared to cast their ballots. This is the first town election in which 18 year olds were able to vote.

Comments regarding the election were few and far between. Many were not surprised about the poor turnout while others questioned the whereabouts of all those planning to run in this year's race after changes in the eligibility of candidates had been made regarding property ownership. Even the crowd that usually gathers at the town office for the posting of the results was absent—perhaps due to the fact that it was all over before 7:30 p.m., and the judges of election including Mrs. Betty Goulden, Miss Josephine Steinberger, and Mr. John D. White, were already home.

The dedication of school bus drivers and the valuable service they perform is well known. Less widely understood, however, is the fact that stringent safety regulations and constant operator training are necessary to maintain a good safety record.

Frederick County's school buses have just undergone one of the three inspections required annually by state regulations. The inspections are performed by Department of Motor Vehicle officers, recorded on one copy of a form with space for all three. Seven general areas of the vehicle are covered: Lights, Front End, Exhaust System, Brakes, Emergency Equipment, Under Hood and General. Each of these is further broken down into as many specific items as may be necessary, with a total of 65 in all.

Twenty-three of these items are starred on the form and a deficiency here will result in immediate suspension of the vehicles tags until corrected. Where repairs are required, the mechanic must sign the form and affix the company name and date.

School bus drivers in Frederick County have also just completed an in-service training program. Presented by representatives of the State Department of Education Safety Division, the training covered two topics: "Student Behavior on School Buses" and "Pre-trip Bus Inspections". The training was offered at six different times in four different locations for the drivers' convenience. Local drivers were given an opportunity to participate in discussions and to hear current documentation.

LEGION TO MEET

The regular meeting of the Francis X. Elder Post 121, American Legion, will be held Tuesday evening, May 1, at 8:00 p.m., in the Post Home.

The Freeman Shoe Softball team will practice Saturday at 1:30 on Community Field.

State School Bus Safety Week

This week is School Bus Safety Week in Maryland. The week is so designated in order to call attention to the operation of the school transportation system, one of the larger passenger carrier in the nation.

Perspectives In Learning By H. Brown

Learning And Johnny's Self-Concept

The way a child sees himself is very important to the full development of his potential for learning. If he thinks of himself as an able individual, he will not fear learning and the new situations which he will be required to face.

Studies have been done to determine the impact certain techniques have on the individual students' self-concept and research has shown that some teachers and certain teaching techniques can develop a lowering of the students' self-concept. Meeting continual failures can have a severe impact on the student, and there are children who lack confidence and self-esteem because they have learned that they are failures at school activities.

A research study done for Better Schools, Inc., in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, found that the self-concept of students in an Individually Prescribed Instruction program was higher than that of similar students in traditional programs.

The lack of failure situations in the IPI programs seem to be bringing positive results. The students tend to learn to like studies more as they remain in the programs a longer period of time. The pupil can become a unique individual with a specific learning need and he need not hide being different nor hide his need for direction and guidance.

The IPI is characterized by the ease that the student can establish his own pace for learning. If he feels frustrated and overwhelmed, he can slow his pace and still meet success. He is only competing with himself so every success is his own success. He controls his own behavior rather than the teacher causing everything to happen to him.

The students who had been learning by Individually Prescribed Instruction had a higher attitude toward school than those in the traditional programs. Students who had been studying by this method for five or six years rated much higher on the tests for creativity and more positive self-concept.

If the results of this study can be used as a basis for thought, it would appear that students who are given individual instruction gain more than the knowledge of the subject matter. They also develop into dependent thinking individuals who can free their mind for creativity. They are satisfied and pleased with learning as a meaningful activity and enjoy school.

It is important that studies such as this one are done because the impact that learning techniques have on individual pupils is very significant.

Learning just for learning's sake is not enough. The by-product of learning situations can be very influential on the personality development of the student and his emotional adjustment. Johnny's self-concept and attitude toward himself is just as important as mathematics or English so let's continue studying the effect that learning has on the self-confidence of the learner.

A Special Privilege Profession?
A considerable controversy has been generated in the press over the refusal of newsmen to divulge confidential information to grand juries investigating criminal acts. There have recently been eight such incidents, ranging in locations from Massachusetts to California. The newsmen defied orders of grand juries and claimed the First Amendment gave them a special privilege to withhold information even if subpoenaed in criminal proceedings. Some went to jail.
The issue of special privilege for newsmen now has reached the U. S. Supreme Court. The "law of the land" has been established denying the newsmen immunity from disclosure of confidential information to grand juries and courts. The high court decision added fire to a widening controversy which now embraces charges (from within the profession of journalism itself), "advocacy" journalism, and "adversary" journalism. About 20 proposed laws overriding the court decision are being considered in Congress.

Vital Public Stake
The public has a vital stake in all phases of the controversy. The Supreme Court has held, in effect, that if a criminal can escape grand jury indictment and court conviction because of the lack of evidence which might have been supplied by a newsmen, the public interest is jeopardized. The court says the constitution grants a newsmen no such special privilege. The other major issue concerns the erection of some kind of safeguard to assure the public that the news and information it receives from the media is not colored, or biased, or contaminated with advocacy or adversary viewpoints of the media.

Since Congress is being pressured to enact "shield" laws to circumvent the Supreme Court's interpretation of the U. S. Constitution, concerned citizens should understand clearly the facts in-involved and the issues being argued. As a journalist for more than 35 years, I honor the profession and contend that most news media are honest and responsible. I support the claim of confidentiality of reporters' sources — except where transcendent public interest is involved.

Newsmen Involved
Three cases reached the U. S. Supreme Court. Justice Byron White, who wrote the majority opinion, states the issue and the decision tersely: "The issue in these cases is whether requiring newsmen to appear and testify before State or Federal grand juries abridges the freedom of speech and press guaranteed by the First Amendment. We hold that it does not." The newsmen involved were Paul M. Branzburg, of the Louisville Courier-Journal; Paul Pappas, television newsmen-photographer of Providence, Rhode Island; and Earl Caldwell, reporter for the New York Times. All three claimed immunity from the common law requiring testimony under subpoena.

No Special Privilege
The Supreme Court opinion said: "The sole issue before us in the obligation of reporters to respond to grand jury subpoenas as other citizens do and to answer question relevant to an investigation into the commission of crime . . . Citizens generally are not constitutionally immune from grand jury subpoenas; and neither the First Amendment nor other constitutional provision protects the average citizen from disclosing to a grand jury information that he has received in confidence. The claim is, however, that reporters are exempt from these obligations because if forced to respond to subpoenas and identify their sources or disclose other confidences, their informants will refuse or be reluctant to furnish newsworthy information in the future."
"We are admonished that refusal to provide a First Amendment reporter's privilege will undermine the freedom of the press to collect and disseminate news. But this is not the lesson history teaches us. . . From the beginning of our country the press has operated without constitutional protection for press informants, and the press has flourished."
The Supreme Court points out that no court or grand jury is asking newsmen for confidential information — unless it is deemed necessary for indictment or prosecution for criminal acts. The media is split on the issue, but powerful elements are pressuring Congress for "total and absolute" immunity from grand jury subpoenas requiring testimony. Our courts must remain all-powerful in safeguarding the public from criminal elements and they cannot retain their effectiveness, it seems to me, if the mere designation "newsmen" permits anyone to defy a common law applicable to all.

BUSINESS AND THE STOCK MARKET

Citizens-Radio Boom Ahead
By Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass., April 26, 1973—Previous to 1947 the radio spectrum was not open to the public as a means of two-way communication. However, in that year the Federal Communications Commission decided to allocate frequencies to various types of businesses and local governments. Before, only radio amateurs ("ham" operators on the short-wave band), police, taxis, and other public services were allowed to own and operate two-way radio equipment.

It took another twelve years after the FCC allocated a group of frequencies for Citizens Band Radio Service to activate the system. It was limited to relatively short-range communication. A bandwidth, designated Class D, is the principal one on which some 900,000 to 1,000,000 licensed operators vie with one another to transmit and receive over the twenty-three channels reserved for them. However, because this bandwidth has become so crowded, there is a clamor from various groups, including the influential Electronics Industry Association, for a proposed new service to be called Class E. This would mean adding some eighty channels, affording a better range, less radio interference, and, above all, a far larger CB market.

CB Equipment And Applications
There is a wide range of equipment available — everything from complex walkie-talkies and do-it-yourself kits to ready-to-use high-powered (5-watt power plus) fixed and mobile sets. The 5-watt handheld (or back-pack) and vehicle-installed systems can transmit and receive up to twenty miles. All of these require FCC licenses. However, license-free hand-held models with a top range of a few miles and with power less than 4 watts are also used by children and adults.

Those sets requiring a license have station call numbers for identification. There are no FCC examinations (so far), and no background in radio or electronics is called for. The applicant must be at least eighteen years old. Besides personal and business use, CB can be utilized for emergency needs. Aid for motorists stranded on remote highways, ship-to-shore calls, crime prevention, are only a few of the unlimited applications. If Class E service is approved (an FCC ruling is still a year or more away), Babson's Reports believes it could eliminate the need to develop an emergency mobile radio service.

Market Bonanza Possible
In the two-way radio communications market, the industrial and commercial radio sector is the largest and is estimated at around $200 million annually. Citizens Band Radio (CB) is second with $70 million. Quite surprisingly, the amateur (ham) radio and walkie-talkie segments only garner $15-$20 million apiece.

The proposed Class E band would, according to the Electronics Industry Association, create a new market in two or three years of $300-$500 million for CB. If U. S. auto manufacturers installed a $200 (estimate) Class E radio in one out of ten cars sold each year, a ten-million car market would, alone, account for $200 million. Also foreseen is a fast-developing market for small personal radio transceivers.

The Investment Media
There are several large and small firms producing the hardware for two-way radio communication. These include the Big Three: GE, Motorola, and RCA; and the other giants, Bendix, Northrop, Raytheon, General Telephone and Electronics, ITT, Schlumberger (Heath Co. kits), Martin Marietta, General Dynamics, and Rockwell International. Small publicly held companies with expertise include Gladding Corp. (Pearce-Simpson), E. F. Johnson, Regency Electronics, Tandy (Allied Radio & Radio Shack), Communications Industries, and Lafayette Electronics.

Currently, the Research Department of Babson's Reports recommends GE and Rockwell International for their diversified business activities. Even though such equipment is a minor part of their operations, these companies are significant factors in the two-way radio field.

VS
NELLIE H. CHANEY 120 South Broad Street Kennett Square, Pennsylvania 19348

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
The object of this Bill is to obtain a Divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII by the Complainant, George W. Chaney, from the Defendant, Nellie H. Chaney.
The Bill states that the Complainant married the Defendant on the 15th day of September, 1951, in Frederick County, Maryland, the marriage ceremony having been performed by Rev. Gustav Schmidt, an Ordained Minister of the Gospel. The Bill further states that the Complainant is a resident of Frederick County, State of Maryland, where he has resided for more than one year last past, and the Defendant is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, residing at 120 South Broad Street, Kennett Square, Pennsylvania. The Bill avers that as a result of said marriage one child was born who is over nineteen years of age and gainfully employed.

The Bill further alleges that the Complainant and Defendant have lived separate and apart without any cohabitation and without interruption for five years prior to the filing of this Bill of Complaint.
The Bill prays that the Complainant be divorced A VINCULO MATRIMONII from the Defendant and for such other and further relief as the nature of his case may require.

It is thereupon this 29th day of March, 1973, by the Circuit Court for Frederick County, sitting as a Court of Equity, Ordered that the Complainant give notice to the said non-resident Defendant, of the object and substance of this Bill by causing a copy of the same to be published in some newspaper published in Frederick County, once a week for four successive weeks prior to the 28th day of April, 1973, commanding her to be and appear in this Court in person or by Solicitor on or before the 29th day of May, 1973, and show cause, if any she has, why a decree ought not be passed as prayed.

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of our dear Mother, Nellie G. Hess, who passed away April 22, 1933.
Mothers are something special, yes very special indeed. I guess you can say they are a necessity
Someone we all need.
We loved our mother very much.
She loved us too, we know. She loved us just like we loved her, but then why did she have to go?
She left us 40 years ago. Now it seems almost unfair She was sweet and never hurt a soul.
And you could tell she really did care.
No one could help her going away.
Leave us standing so sad, but we think we are very lucky,
For the mother we once had. Sadly missed by her son, Charles M. Hess and daughter, Ethel H. Miller 1t

Zip Column
Our customers are cordially invited to visit the Post Office on Monday, April 30, to help us celebrate Postal People Day, during Postal Week, April 29 thru May 5, 1973. An invitation to the same will be sent out this weekend.

Ten commemorative stamps, printed on the same sheet, will be issued at our post office, as well as all other post offices, on Monday, April 30, 1973.

These ten stamps are a tribute to the nation's postal employees, who are in the front line of service to customers. An innovation is that messages will be printed on the reverse side of each stamp. The stamps reflect services performed by postal people, and will be issued nationwide during the observance of Postal Week. Cancellations will be applied on the first day of issue at this and all post offices.

● SJC Alumnae

recalling early college days on Saturday evening in DePaul Auditorium. Mrs. Ryan has prepared a booklet titled, "Turn Back the Clock—The Early Days," a tongue-in-cheek reference to turn of the century rules and regulations of the college. Periodic announcements will be made over the public address system on Friday and Saturday reminding all on campus of schedules and practices followed in years past.

The weekend's program opens Friday afternoon with two courses offered in early college catalogs. "Needlework and Fancy Stitchery," will be given in the Home Ec House under the direction of Sister Madeleine Wheeler and Mrs. Ruth Dillon. Sister Ann. Mae Schaben, assistant professor of art, will offer "Art, Past and Present," in the Art Department.

The annual reception of students into the Alumnae Association will be held at a dinner reception Friday evening. Members of the alumnae Board of Directors and Council will receive members of the classes of 1973, '74 and '75. Benediction in the college chapel at 7:30 Friday will be followed by a social in the Student Center.

The featured event of the reunion will take place during the Saturday luncheon. An alumnae mother and daughter team will act as toastmistresses. Mrs. Edward A. Flanagan, Jr., Baltimore, and her daughter, Mrs. Richard C. Schmidt, Baldwin, Md., will offer "Toasts and Tributes" commemorating all associated with the college over the years. They also plan a "Toast to the Classes" by decades.

A workshop for class secretaries is scheduled for 2:30 p.m. and will be conducted by Mrs. Robert Seaker, First Vice President in charge of class organization.

Priests who have been closely connected with the college over the years have been invited to concelebrate the Saturday Mass at 4 p.m. Principal concelebrant will be Rev. John E. Hurley, C.M., immediate past chaplain at St. Joseph's, and currently pastor of St. Michael's Church, Auburn, Ala. The Sunrise Singers of St. Joseph's Church, Emmitsburg, will provide musical accompaniment and lead the singing for this Folk Mass. All musical arrangements for the weekend are under the direction of Sister Jane Marie Perrot, assistant professor of music.

At 5 p.m., a Social Hour will be held in the Student Center, followed by the Jubilee Buffet and Program in the college dining hall. Members of the diamond, golden and silver jubilee years will be honored in a special program. Five-year reuniting classes will compete for the Hassell Cup awarded by Mrs. Seaker to the class with the highest percentage of members present.

Saturday's program closes with the student skit in DePaul Auditorium.

The Alumnae Memorial Mass will be offered Sunday morning by the Right Rev. Robert R. Kline, current chaplain at the college. Monsignor Kline will also give the homily.

A Communion Breakfast follows the Mass and ends the weekend activities.

Other committee members for the weekend include: Sister Madeleine Wheeler, costume judging; Sister Ethelreda Flanagan, dean of students, working with students Margaret Brown, Rosanna Mancini, Susan Perdue, and Susan Sylvester on the student skit; Mrs. Lloyd Shackelford, dining room arrangements; Mrs. Thomas Goetz, Jubilee Toastmistress; Mrs. Amiel Zak, tribute to Silver Jubilarians; Mrs. Raymond Sedney, respondent to Silver Jubilee tribute; Miss Marie Glynn '73, tribute to Golden Jubilarians; Sister Monica Schneider, D.C. '23, respondent; Sister Margaret Flinton, Friday Benediction arrangements; Sister Denise Eby, Saturday Mass chairman; Sister Marcella Scully, Sunday Mass chairman; Sister Esther Sullivan, college sacristan will coordinate all chapel activities. Miss Margaret Proxell, hostess Friday Social Hour; with Mr. Brian Sarris, director of SAGA Food Service on campus in charge of food arrangements, and Mr. Eugene Rosensteel, bar arrangements for the Saturday evening social.

Local Children

Enjoy Story Hour

The Emmitsburg Public Library has long been the place local children from the Day Care Center have been right at home. They come every week or two, depending on their schedule, to hear a story or check out books and on special holidays they carry a special Christmas card or crisp rabbit to Mrs. Warthen. This past week the children were treated to a real live storyteller. Mrs. Thomas Seess has volunteered her time to tell the children stories that her own children find interesting. The beauty of which is that the children never get tired or bored when they know you are talking directly to them. Mrs. Seess kept the children absorbed for almost an hour after which they had a short candy hunt in the library.

Books that were donated recently to the library include: "Understrike," by John Gardner; "Reunion," by Donald Taggart; A novel of a Veterans' gathering in San Francisco, twenty years later. "The Cauldron," by Zeno; "The Goodbye Look," by Ross Macdonald. These books were donated by Dr. Robert Marshall. Two volumes of "Hurry Sundown," by K. B. Gilden, were donated by Kathy Plumb. Also two books given by Jack Kaiser were "Two Are Eden," by Gene Logsdon. This paperback tells you all you need to know about gardening and subsisting off the land. Also, "Elizabeth Bayley Seton," by Annabelle M. Melville. The authorized biography of one who may well be the first American-born saint.

A film on Monday evening, May 14, at 7:30, titled "Nobody's Victim," will be shown free of charge. You are urged to attend since one never knows when we will be called upon to defend ourselves. Following the film, Officer Filler will be on hand to make comments and give advice.
