Summer has certainly hit the area with a "bang" this last week. Although we've all been waiting for it and complaining over the unseasonable weather we've had, not too many of us were prepared for 80 and 90 degree heat when it finally hit.

For anyone who is interested, Wednesday, June 6, was proclaimed Employment Security Day in Maryland in observance of the 40th anniversary of the Wagner-Peyser Act which established a nationwide network of State Public Employment Agencies under the U. S. Employment Service. We wouldn't want an occasion like that to go unrecognized.

I hear that plans are getting under way for the 4th of July celebration here in town. Seems like a good idea to me. How far away from home can you go in the middle of the week, anyway. And it's about time that the community took the time and effort to recognize our local doctors who have contributed so much to our community. All he has to do is read a few newspaper and magazine articles on how desperately other towns are looking for medical men to realize how fortunate we are to have two such dedicated men in our area.

For those who remember Agnes (and that has to be anyone over the age of 1 year) I hate to tell you, but the hurricane season is officially upon us again. Communities as well as individuals bear responsibility for safe-guarding life and property—especially through advance plans and legislation regulating land use. Many lives are lost because people tend to ignore the hurricane warnings until it is too late. I have a feeling that folks in this area will be paying a little more attention to such warnings this year.

Speaking of hurricanes, those high winds and rain that we had earlier in the week did quite a bit of damage in the area, too. Power was off in some areas and falling trees and our being generally unprepared for the weather caused a lot of the damage.

While gasoline is in short supply in some parts of the nation and motorists leaving on vacations are being warned to fill-up when and where they can, gasoline consumption in our state increased 6.6 per cent during the past year. Many ideas have been offered in an attempt to conserve the fuel in private vehicles, one of the most intelligent is to slow down. A car evidently consumes less gas at slower speeds, and at the same time you might avoid a traffic ticket. You get two advantages from one action that way.

While the value of gold is going up, the good old American dollar is going down. Glad I wasn't planning a trip overseas this summer anyway, it appears that the exchange rate is not going to be very favorable.

In spite of the Watergate affair, Las Vegas Oddsman Jimmy the Greek estimates that the odds are 1,000 to 1 against impeachment of the president and 200 to 1 against his resigning. Of course, Jimmy isn't always right. A couple of years ago he was giving 2-to-5 odds that Edmund Muskie would win the Democratic nomination.

For those of you who may have missed the antique car show and jousting tournament last Sunday, it was an experience. Of course, it is hard when one realizes that one was once delighted when dad brought home that new car—just like the one that was classified as an antique now. And the Jousting Tournament was interesting with a very young man in his early teens leaving bystanders standing gasping at his skill.

Mr. Combs received his bachelor degree in arts and sciences with distinction. He will enter the graduate school of economics at U. Va. in the fall.

Vacation Church School To Begin

The Community Vacation Church School will be held this year from Monday, June 18 through Friday, June 29. Classes will be offered for children whose 4th birthday falls during 1973 and through the 6th grade. Also, an adult study group will meet at the same time but only on Tuesdays and Thursdays of these two weeks.

Registration is important to help complete plans before the beginning of the school, and to help in the purchasing of materials. A pre-registration should be made with cards returned by June 10 to church superintendents or by mailing them to Mrs. Mildred Breining, Box 239, Fairfield, Pa. 17320. Final registration will be June 17th.

Classes will be held each night, except Saturday and Sunday from 7 to 8:30 p.m., with the Adult Study Group meeting on only two nights of each week.

On the opening night all children will meet at Elias Lutheran Church at 7:00 p.m. At that time they will be assigned to their classroom locations in the various churches. Thereafter they will go directly to the church in which their class is held, and should be picked up there, except as noted.

Monday evening, June 25, everyone will meet again at Elias for a special program, and then go to their assigned churches for the remainder of the week.

An Open House and special exercise will close the school on Friday, June 29.

The school is financially dependent upon the offerings of the children each night. Such offerings will be used both to help defray expenses, materials only, as staff and teachers donate their time and talent, and for a special project which will be presented to the children on the second Monday evening.

The school is open to all children and adults of the community and is a cooperative venture sponsored by all the churches of the community. Every child will have the opportunity for wholesome and happy experiences at the school with friends.

Ed Combs To Head Atlanta FTC Office

Chairman Lewis A. Engman of the Federal Trade Commission announced that Edward Combs, a career employee with more than 22 years of service with the agency, has been appointed director of the FTC's regional office in Atlanta, Ga. The appointment is effective June 25.

The FTC's Atlanta regional office serves a six-state area: Alabama, Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee.

Chairman Engman said, "The Commission is relying increasingly on its regional offices in its efforts to eliminate deception and unfairness from the marketplace. Atlanta is the hub of one of the most dynamic and fastest growing areas in the country, and Ed Combs is an ideal choice to head our office there."

"His credentials are impressive. He has had extensive experience in all aspects of the Commission's broad range of activities. His performance has been outstanding and I have confidence it will continue to be in his new assignment."

Mr. Combs has been an attorney adviser to Commissioner Paul Rand Dixon since April, 1963. He joined the FTC in 1951 and was an attorney adviser for the next 10 years, five with the former Bureau of Antideceptive Practices (now the Bureau of Consumer Protection) and another five with the former Bureau of Consultation. From January 1960 until joining Commissioner Dixon's staff, he prepared documents implementing Commission decisions in adjudicative matters.

Mr. Combs graduated from Mount St. Mary's College, Emmitsburg, in 1941 with an A.B. degree. He earned his law degree from Dickinson School of Law in 1948. From September 1941 to January 1946 he served in the U. S. Navy.

He is married to the former Justine E. Charles. They have one daughter, Nancy, 20.

Mr. Combs is the son of Mrs. Cooley Combs, Emmitsburg, and the late Cooley Combs.

Town Ecumenical Service Sunday

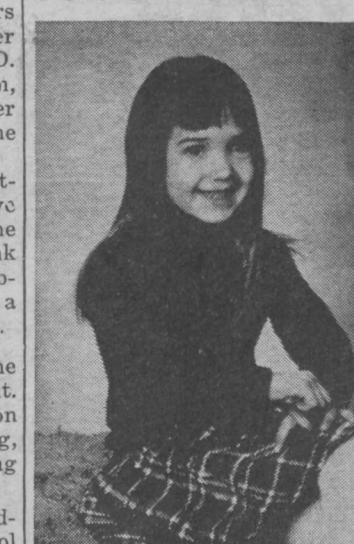

An ecumenical service, marking Pentecost, will be held Sunday, June 10, at 5:00 p.m. at the Grotto, near Mt. St. Mary's College. Sponsored by the Emmitsburg Council of Churches, and planned by the Worship Committee of that organization, members of all Churches have been invited to participate in celebrating The Festival of Pentecost. Dr. Herman G. Stuempfle, Jr., of the Gettysburg Seminary, will preach the Sermon. He serves as Dean of the Seminary and is Homiletics professor at the nearby Lutheran Seminary.

Music for the outdoor Service will be provided by the Emmitsburg Community Chorus, the Sunrise Singers, and a folk group from Hagers-town.

Following the Service, the group will have a fellowship picnic in the Student Union Building on the Mt. St. Mary's campus. Persons are asked to bring a sandwich and a hand-held dessert. The Emmitsburg Council of Churches will provide drinks, pickles, chips, etc. Local Boy Scouts will be assisting with parking prior to the Service at the Grotto and at the Student Union Building. In the event of rain, the Pentecost Service will be held at Saint Anthony's Church with the picnic being held in their fellowship hall.

Last year more than three hundred fifty persons participated in the ecumenical Service, which was held indoors at the Mount Saint Mary's Chapel. Due to inclement weather, this year it is envisioned that many more persons will take advantage of the opportunity to celebrate Pentecost.

Three Gettysburg residents were apprehended Sunday evening by Emmitsburg Police after having allegedly stolen a car on the Emmitsburg Town Square. Charged with Grand Larceny were Richard E. Carbaugh, age 23; Preston A. Carbaugh, age 22, and a 17-year-old juvenile female, all of Gettysburg. The trio were detained overnight in the Adams County Jail and transferred to the Frederick County Jail on Monday afternoon.

Three motorists were charged with vehicle violations during the past week by Officer Fuss. They were: Martin E. Wivell, R2, Emmitsburg, operating a motor vehicle in a negligent manner; John I. Talbot, Finksburg, Md., operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated (possible $250 fine); and William J. Veroster, Jr., of Gettysburg, failing to stop for a stop sign.

Sgt. King noted that not all candidates at Bainbridge are selected to go to the Academy.

LCpl. Keeney will be in the graduating class of 1977 and will be commissioned as an officer in the United States Marine Corps upon graduation.

Quilt Show At Catoctin Park

Local churches and senior citizens will be displaying their quilts on Sunday, June 10 from 1 to 5 p.m. at the Camp Peniel Auditorium in Catoctin Mountain Park.

Some quilts are 150 years old, some were made this past winter but all reflect traditional patterns of the Catoctin area and many hours of painstaking hand-work. Visitors are invited to browse and discuss quilting with the artist-craftsmen themselves. Some quilts will be available for purchase. So plan an afternoon discovering the fascinating world of quilting.

The Camp Peniel Auditorium is located in Catoctin Mountain Park, a unit of the National Park System, U. S. Department of the Interior, 2 miles west of Thurmont on State Route 77.

Announce Summer School Programs

Plans have been announced for the programs which are to be conducted in county schools this summer. Most programs will be in session for students from June 19 through July 17. This is a shorter period than in previous years but during the four week period a more concentrated format will provide a much more intensive program.

Certain other summer instructional programs such as Driver Training, Recreation and Migrant Programs will operate on a six week schedule beginning June 18 and concluding on August 1.

As in the past the secondary summer school will be held at Gov. Thomas Johnson High School and other schools as the need is indicated and funds are available. The elementary summer program will be held at local elementary schools. Teachers in the elementary program will meet classes in the morning and will work with individuals or small groups in need of attention in the afternoon. The secondary summer school program will be in operation for a full day's session daily.

Interested parents should contact their local elementary school for further information.

FIRE CO. MEETING

The regular meeting of the Vigilant Hose Co. will be held Tuesday, June 12 at 7:30 p.m. in the Fire Hall.

Town To Hire Part-Time Meter Maid

The Town Commissioners agreed to a request from the developer of Silo Hill for a written commitment that the town would supply water and sewage facilities for approximately 40 units during the next year. Mr. Sill, in return, agreed that the letter also stipulated that the development would pay whatever the hook-up and service charges were at that time.

After discussing the new police schedule which had been presented by Chief Filler at last month's meeting, the Commissioners agreed to the hiring of a part-time meter maid. Officer Fuss, noted, that for those residents who thought that the college students were responsible for most of the trouble in town, it was interesting to note that there had been more trouble around the town since the students left than had been while the schools were in session. Officer Fuss also received permission to have minor damage to the town police car repaired.

Commissioner Flax reported that a representative from Buchart & Horn had been in the area and that the feasibility study was under way. Water and sewer hook-up problems arising from the construction of new homes in Emmet Gardens was also discussed.

The Commissioners approved donations to the Vigilant Hose Co. Fund Drive—$2,000, Little League—$50.00, and the Community Day sponsored by the Emmitsburg Council of Churches to be held on the 4th of July—$50.00.

It was suggested and approved that Revenue Sharing Funds received by the town be used toward retiring outstanding bonds and cutting down on the town indebtedness. An offer to buy outstanding town bonds was turned down by the Commissioners as not being economically feasible.

The Commissioners had received complaints about uncovered garbage and trash cans and noted that the Town Ordinance stated that all such receptacles must be covered and that violators were subject to a penalty.

Two Battles For Power

When Edith Efron's book, THE NEWS TWISTERS, arrived on the book racks in New York City bookstores in 1971, it was described by the few newspaper reviewers who permitted themselves to admit its existence as "A Bombshell" attack on TV network news departments. The book, which documented and analyzed the total content of the three major network evening news shows for the seven weeks preceding the 1968 election, charged them with shocking bias, ideological advocacy, and lack of balance in favor of Democrat candidate Hubert Humphrey and against Republican candidate Richard Nixon.

Efforts to nullify the potency of the book, including one network's campaign to kill its effectiveness, was the subject of Miss Efron's second documentary book. Although many of the printed and broadcast media did not review or mention the book, it did get wide circulation. One reason was that Edith Efron is contributing editor of TV Guide, which has the biggest national circulation of any periodical in America; and she is a prominent professional journalist with distinguished achievements and recognitions. She has written for the New York Times, Time and Life magazines, was Managing Editor of the Special Editorial Department of Look Magazine, and was co-owner with Mike Wallace (CBS star) of the Mike Wallace syndicated column.

Elitist Values Sought

This background is given here to set the stage for our report on Miss Efron's speech at our National Education Program's 36th Freedom Forum. She spoke immediately following Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's speech to the Forum. In her Forum speech she charged that the three networks—CBS, ABC, and NBC—are not really supporting First Amendment freedom of the press but are actually conducting a systematic offensive to override traditional American values and gain power to rule the people.

"The liberal media voices raising such a clamor about the First Amendment lavishly. They have actively accepted, defended, and eagerly sought Government intervention into broadcasting in the area where they are seeking to impose elitist liberal values. They are only defending broadcasting from the Government in the area where those values are already enthroned."

Abolishing Traditional Values
Miss Efron said there is under way in America today two parallel battles being waged by liberal and "counter culture" forces against the moral values which a majority of the American people support. She said one battle is being waged against the First Amendment through an attack by Government, urged on by the left-liberal forces, on TV violence—when that violence represents fighting to uphold traditional American values. The second battle is the one, which now is more visible, in which the major media centered in New York, seeks to silence public and government accusations of bias in news handling and news broadcasting.

She told her Forum audience of more than 400 persons from 25 states that both battles were begun long before the Nixon Administration entered the White House. And she documented the fact that the first accusations of biased news handling came from public sources, not government or political people. Miss Efron voiced the belief that this attack upon TV fictional violence centered on such shows as Gun Smoke and Bonanza. She said the public had been fooled by the attack which, she said, originated with the left-liberal elite in the East. She said that what the attackers objected to was the violent defense against traditional evil by traditional "Horatio Alger" heroes such as Sheriff Matt Dillon and the Cartwright family. The networks, she said, made no effort to stem this attack.

Ruling Other Men

But it is in the network news departments, she said, that headway is being made today toward creating a new set of values for Americans—dictated, she said, by liberal—democrat and "counter culture" forces.

"Men who seek freedom of expression for their values alone," she said, "and who wish to muzzle those who disagree with them, do not believe in the First Amendment. They only believe in ruling other men. And this is the deepest problem that we face in the media today. This is what underlies the crisis and makes it so enormously bitter. Whenever the intellectuals of the country massively ignore or are hostile or indifferent to the values of a

Computers In Education

The advent of the computer in the schools today has created major changes and is causing reorganization problems. The computer has changed education from a man system to a man-machine system.

Educators are greeting the computers with mixed emotions. Some are fearful that the machine will eventually replace them and in many cases if the machine can truly replace them, then they deserve to be replaced. Other educators feel that the computer will do the burdensome tasks and free them for more educational planning and decision making.

Just what is a computer and great majority of the people, and seek to rule them by imposing their values in an authoritarian fashion, they are going to face the danger that people will try to rule them back. And this is the threshold at which we are now standing."

what can it do to improve the quality of education?

A computer is a type of calculator that can replay what has been put into it. It is not a mechanical brain and has no mysterious powers. It can and will do only what the program or instructions tell it to do. The information that is on the tape can be replayed by special manipulation.

The computer can be of great assistance to the educator in dealing with record keeping, scheduling, processing test scores, grade reporting, fiscal accounting, and in handling attendance registers and other burdensome tasks.

Children are benefitting from individual instruction provided by the computer. Computer-controlled teaching machines are capable of presenting material to children and requiring a response to the material. An evaluation of the child's response is given with additional information if necessary. The remedial instruction which can be given by computer has been extremely helpful in individualizing instruction.

Many computer programs have provided children with an immediate source of information upon request. The limit of the computer is based on the programmer's limitations. The variety of learning programs is as wide as the educators and children using the equipment.

A computer can also be used in education to simulate or mimic behavior. It can be programmed to represent problem-solving behavior or situations. All the possible situations or answers can be put in the computer and used as a teaching tool for children.

BUSINESS AND THE STOCK MARKET

A Look At The Cement Industry

By Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass. June 7, 1973—As a result of the post-World War II building boom, cement shipments increased at a rapid rate between 1947 and the mid-1950s. Cement manufacturers operated at or near capacity level with confidence bolstered by what appeared to be a favorable industry outlook, a long-delayed expansion of facilities was undertaken. This led to the addition of about 22 million tons of capacity between 1955 and 1960. Unfortunately, projections of demand for cement were over-optimistic. As new capacity was added, construction activity began to slacken. Capacity utilization in the industry fell to 70%, causing a fiercely competitive battle among the cement producers to maintain their market share.

Prices were reduced, rising costs were absorbed by producers, and severe shrinkage of profit margins ensued. These chaotic conditions prevailed throughout most of the 1960s. The industry's return on investment, which had averaged close to 14% for several years in the 1950s, dropped to 4.7% in 1969. As a consequence of this exceedingly low return, capital for new production facilities became scarce and the gap between capacity and output began to narrow. Sharply rising construction costs also served to put a crimp in new building plans.

Problem Of Ecology

With the coming of the 1970s, a new factor—ecology—further aggravated the supply situation. More stringent pollution - control regulations made it uneconomic to modernize dust-control equipment and many marginal plants were closed. It has been estimated that the cost of adding sufficient pollution - control equipment for the average cement company could amount to $5.50 per ton of capacity. Faced with this prospect, cement producers have found it impractical to put additional funds into a marginal or substantially unprofitable plant.

For this reason, Lehigh Portland Cement has shut down four of its ten cement plants, and Alpha Portland Industries has closed two of its eight plants. An industry study indicates that 23 more plants (representing 9 million tons of capacity) would be potential candidates for closing before 1976. It seems likely, therefore, that total industry capacity may decline somewhat at a time when the demand for cement is expected to show significant growth.

Demand On The Rise

The total value of new construction put in place in 1971 exceeded $100 billion for the first time—in fact, it totaled $109.4 billion, as compared with a disappointing $91.3 billion the previous year. Construction spending for 1972, liberally aided by the continuing boom in residential housing, climbed another 13% to $123.4 billion. Although a fall-off in residential activity is expected this year, total construction outlays should show a moderate increase stemming from gains in non-residential segments of the industry.

Cement producers are well situated to benefit from improvement in the non-residential construction markets. As a matter of fact, increased demand is foreseen for cement throughout most of the 1970s. Latest industry projections suggest cement production of 583 millions barrels by 1980, 140 million barrels more than the theoretical capacity of producers in 1971. Cement Stocks Offer Good Value

The improved outlook for the cement industry has yet to be generally reflected in the price action of cement stocks. The Research Department of Babson's Reports, feels, however, that many issues offer good value at current prices. Among the cement stocks we think well worth holding are Alpha Portland Industries, General Portland, Ideal Basic Industries, Kaiser Cement & Gypsum, Lehigh Portland Cement, Lone Star Industries, Medusa, Penn Dixie Industries, Puerto Rican Cement, Vulcan Materials, and Giant Portland Cement.

FREDERICK COUNTY BACKGROUNDS

BY SAMUEL CARRICK
More Winter Family Burials
"Crossing the uplands of time,
Skirting the borders of night,
Scaling the face of the peak of dreams,
We enter the regions of light,
And hastening on, with eager intent,
Arrive at the rainbow's end,
And there uncover the pot of gold
Buried deep in the heart of a friend."

Grace Coolidge
The Winter family of Pennsylvania and Maryland were of German origin—at least they came into William Penn's Province with others of that nationality and took the oath of allegiance to the British monarch as "foreigners." The name does not appear to be of German origin—but the family may have lived in that country having fled their own due to religious or political differences. They came to this country seeking what they failed to find in the war-torn old world.

The inscriptions from the tombstones of the members of the Winter family buried in Elias Lutheran and Reformed churchyard have been given in this series. However members of the clan are interred in other burial grounds—as follows:

The Harbaugh Family Graveyard—located a short distance east of Sabillasville—
13. In memory of John Harbaugh of Jacob, born May 27, 1764, died June 18, 1834.
14. In memory of Elizabeth Winter Harbaugh, wife of John Harbaugh of Jacob, and daughter of George Winter, died August 10, 1827, aged 64 years.

Note: A branch of the Winter family but little known at the present time. The marker at the grave of Elizabeth (Winter) Harbaugh is badly eroded and the inscription therein, in a short time will be impossible to decipher. In addition she is interred in a family burial ground, located in the middle of a field, and such plots have a tendency to disappear. This particular one is not too well cared for and is unenclosed.

Mount Olivet Cemetery, Frederick—
15. In memory of Harry Johns Haller, born 1858, died 1942, veteran of the Indian Wars, 12th Infantry Regiment, U. S. Army.

16. In memory of Frances Winter Haller, wife of Harry Johns Haller, born April 12, 1864, died 1955.

17. Harry Francis Haller, son of Harry J. and Frances Winter Haller, born October 11, 1894, died August 28, 1926.

Note: At the present time there is no material available pertaining to this branch of the Winter family. It will be noticed, however, that the family name "Francis-Frances" is carried on.

Mountainview Cemetery, Emmitsburg—

18. In memory of Harvey H. Lantz, born September 5, 1851, died May 21, 1914.

19. In memory of Mary C. Winter, wife of Harvey H. Lantz, born August 4, 1854, died January 10, 1931.

20. In memory of Charles R. Lantz, of Harvey H. and Mary C. Winters Lantz, born 1893, died 1950.

A son of Harvey H. and Mary (Winter) Lantz is interred at the Germantown Bethel Church of God churchyard, located near Port Ritchie, in the Cascade area. The inscription follows:

21. In memory of Elmer R. Lantz, son of Harvey H. and Mary (Winter) Lantz, born 1883, died 1944.

A daughter of Harvey H. and Mary (Winter) Lantz is interred in the Eyer's Valley United Brethren churchyard. The inscription follows:

22. Sacred to the memory of Bessie M. Lantz, daughter of Harvey H. and Mary C. (Winter) Lantz, died July 3, 1890, aged 1 year and 6 days.

Two other Winter family graves are to be found in Emmitsburg's Mountainview Cemetery—as follows:

23. In memory of Harvey C. Winters, born May 16, 1830, died March 9, 1914.

24. In memory of Teresa Winter, wife of Harvey C. Winter, born June 16, 1826, died January 24, 1898.

In the churchyard of Saint Luke's (Winter's) Lutheran church, located near New Windsor, Carroll County, Md., the following marked graves of the clan are found:

25. In memory of Catherine Winter, died August 20, 1851, aged 77 years and 10 days.

26. In memory of Christian Winter, died March 9, 1810, aged 25 years and 3 months.

27. In memory of George Winter, Sr., died August 6, 1831, aged 45 years, 11 mos. and 7 days.

28. In memory of Elizabeth Winter, wife of George Winter, Sr., died January 16, 1866, aged 73 years, 1 months and 20 days.

29. In memory of J. Winter, died October 13, 1731 (probably 1831), aged 61 yrs.

Note: This stone is badly eroded and the inscription is almost indecipherable.

30. In memory of Jacob Winter, died December 1, 1845, aged 58 years, 1 month and 18 days.

Note: This inscription was taken from Scharf's "History of Western Maryland," as contained in his list of inscriptions from Winter's churchyard.

The notes pertaining to the Winter family of Pennsylvania and Maryland will be concluded in this series next week.

VA Reminds Veterans Of Deadline Dates For Benefits

Veterans are returning to civil life at a slower pace than during the 1970-71 peak period for military discharges, but the Veterans Administration has not relaxed its "Outreach" program for veterans.

Mr. George A. Davis, Director of the VA Regional Office in Baltimore this week issued a checklist of important deadline dates as one of the timely reminders issued periodically as part of the "Outreach" effort. Other steps include counseling at military separation points, in military hospitals, mobile van visits to rural and urban areas and direct mail follow-up to veterans after discharge.

The veterans' timetable: —Within 90 days, apply to former employer for reemployment.

—As soon as possible, register with local state employment service office. Veterans have up to a year to apply for unemployment compensation, but applications filed after a long period of unemployment could result in a lower rate of unemployment compensation.

—Within 120 days (or one year if totally disabled at time of separation), convert Servicemen's Group Life Insurance (without examination) to commercial policy.

—Within one year from date of notice of VA rating on disability, apply to any VA office for GI life insurance based on service-connected disability.

—Within one year, apply to any VA office for dental care.

—As soon as possible, apply to any VA office for GI education or training. Education or training under the GI Bill must be completed within eight years of separation from military service.

—In 30 days, register with Selective Service or any local board, if not already registered.

—In 10 days, report address to Selective Service through local board.

There are no time limits for veterans to:

—Apply to any VA office for GI loan guaranty to buy a farm, or buy, build or improve a home.

—File claims with any VA office for compensation for service-connected disabilities or disease.

—Apply for hospital care.

—Seek assistance from state employment office for jobs or Labor Department job training programs.

Mr. Davis said VA's 72 assistance centers around the country are ready to help veterans get a quick start in civilian life.

"No! We can't afford it!" How many times have you heard that?

Well, if a little planning would have gone into that person's savings program, they could have pretty well afforded to purchase whatever they choose.

Make it a habit to put a little aside every payday, then should the occasion arise, you won't have to say, "No! We can't afford it!"

Library Receives New Books; Lists Local Historical Books

Some new books that have been donated to the library recently were donated by Mrs. Roger Zurgable, Mrs. Frank Ligorano, Mrs. Thomas Seess, and Mr. Jack Kaiser.

There seems to be a stir in an historic vein in the town. The library will soon own a copy of "Notes From the Moccasin," by Dr. Louise Tracey. Already we own a copy of the "Shields Family History," the history of Thurmont, "Gateway to the Mountains," by George Wireman. The library has both volumes of the "History of Frederick County," and three volumes of the "History of Western Maryland." One copy of the "History of Emmitsburg" has been photocopied so as to circulate. Also a "History of the Catholic Church," and a and report on them either orally or a written report. Small children may draw a picture of their favorite character. This is one of the best ways to encourage your child to read in the Summer months—bring your child to the library and register him now for the Summer Reading Club.

The library is pleased to announce that more new youth books are being bought for the library. Buying in that area has been slight in the past few years. We now own a paperback rack and have many new and interesting books for the teenage crowd.

Complete Bible Study Course

Local persons completed a five-week Bible Study on the Book of Job last Thursday evening under the leadership of Pastor Ronald Fearer. The Bible Study, sponsored by the Emmitsburg Council of Churches, was the second leadership study course to be offered in conjunction with Key '73.

Recognition was given Pastor Fearer, who was observing the fifteenth anniversary of his ordination, by those who have participated in the five week course. Hostesses were Mrs. Mildred Breining and Mrs. Elsie Lawson who served an anniversary cake and punch to the assemblage.

A third Bible Study has been scheduled for June 18-29, also sponsored by the local Council of Churches. It will be held simultaneously with the Vacation Church School. Lecturer will be the Rev. Eugene Ackerman of the United Presbyterian Church.

Catoctin High Athletes Honored At Sports Banquet; Receive Awards

The Second Annual Sports Banquet for Catoctin High athletes was given by the Catoctin Boosters Club in conjunction with the Athletic Dept. of Catoctin. The banquet was held Tuesday, May 29 at Catoctin High School, with 250 people in attendance. Rev. Raymond Kingsbrough gave the invocation. The dinner was served cafeteria-style under the capable hands of Mrs. Doris Willard, some PTA members, students from Catoctin, and 19 girls from the Middle School.

Coach George Kuhn introduced those seated at the head table with the exception of the guest speaker, Mr. Finzell, who was then introduced by Mr. J. Kile, a science teacher at Catoctin. Mr. Finzell said what keeps him coaching is the students—he puts the welfare of the players above the sport. He also said Catoctin was in a "hotbed" of sports activity, with many of the schools representing Frederick County at the State level. Coach Finzell then spoke briefly about some of the coaching experiences he has had over his many years as a coach.

Awards were given to each group of athletes by their coach, with some remarks about the sport they represented. Awards were given to the individual players of the following sports: Baseball, basketball, cheerleaders, Tennis, Track and Field.

At the time of the banquet the baseball team had one more game to play with Frederick High to determine the Class B championship, which they played and won, bringing Catoctin its first championship team. The baseball team is coached by Mr. Dominic Massett and Mr. Dave Simpson. The senior players on the team were: Bernard Sweeney, Robert Henke, Mike Harris, Bill Carr, Jeffery Poff, Gene Stitely and Steve Gills.

The juniors were Steve Sprankle, Bruce Larson, Ken Oland, Casey Fitzgerald, and Greg Eyer.

The sophomores were Bill Gray, Bruce Baust, George Martin and Jim Smith.

The benediction was given by Rev. Kingsbrough.

The next meeting of the Catoctin Booster Club will be held in Monday, June 18, at 8 p.m. in the Faculty Room at Catoctin High School.

Mount Slates College Workshop

Mr. Richard Rowe, Deputy Director of Student Financial Aid for the federal Office of Health, Education, and Welfare, will be a featured lecturer later this month when Mount Saint Mary's College hosts a workshop on College Admissions and Financial Aid, from June 26-29.

According to Mount Saint Mary's Director of Admissions, Lawrence J. Riordan, the program is aimed primarily at high school guidance personnel and college admissions counselors, and will include in-depth discussions of such pertinent topics as admissions procedures at both large and small institutions, analysis of the Parents' Confidential Statement, and federal financial aid programs.

Mr. Rowe will provide particular insight into the federal aid programs, especially the Basic Opportunity Grant program which goes into operation this summer. The Basic Opportunity Grant is expected to be of major interest to the participants since, as an entitlement grant, it is required by law to go to any qualified applicant.

"Counselors will probably be more involved in this program than in any previous one," said Riordan, "since applications will be distributed through high schools, post offices, and other local agencies."

Riordan, who has been Director of Admissions at Mount Saint Mary's since 1971, has an extensive background in both admissions and financial aid. He served on the National Merit Scholarship Selection Committee from 1969-70, and the Massachusetts State Scholarship Selection Committee in 1968. He has also served as a special lecturer on the Financial Aid Act of 1965 on behalf of the

School Children Take Field Trips

This spring, grades 1, 1-2, and 2 at Emmitsburg School, have taken three field trips. The first trip was to Catoctin Mountain Park. The children toured the craft shops, had a picnic, and hiked on the Hog Rock Trail.

Grades 2 and 1-2 also went to the Baltimore Brick Company in Rocky Ridge. The children were given a tour of the factory and saw how bricks were made from beginning to the end product. They also were lucky enough to bring back some bricks.

The most exciting trip for the children was the trip to Washington Zoo on Thursday, May 24. For two hours, the classes toured the zoo and got to see such animals as the giraffes, elephants, snakes, apes, monkeys, birds, panda bears, leopards and rhinos. Everyone is ready to go back again.

Many parents helped the classes on our trips and we wish to thank them now. Without them the trips wouldn't have been as successful or as much fun.

New moldings for doors, window frames, baseboards and other uses look like real wood but are made mostly from common salt.

U. S. Office of Education. The entire cost of the four-day workshop is $85.00 which covers room, meals, and all materials connected with the program. All guidance and admissions personnel are invited, and further information may be obtained by contacting the Office of Admissions at Mount Saint Mary's College, Emmitsburg, Md. 21727, or phone (301) 447-6122.

There are three ways of getting to South America.
By plane, by ship, and by Land-Rover.

Land-Rover was chosen for the Trans-Darien Expedition, organized to drive overland from North to South America. We remind you there are no roads going into the South American continent. Instead there's the Darien Gap. Over 200 miles of the most incredible and inhospitable jungle in the world.

It's the kind of terrain the Land-Rover can conquer. Indeed it's the reason Land-Rover was chosen for this adventure.
