Most Anything At A Glance!

- By Abigail -

In past columns, most of you have read our comments on the town's sidewalks. Since we have been silent on the subject for some time, we should give credit where credit is due. When you walk around town, you see a few houses with spanking new concrete out front. We should be thankful these folks have shown this consideration for the pedestrians. I would like to add my whole-hearted appreciation for these tired old feet.

On the other hand, there are still some walks needing work. How about it, townspeople?

Fall is fix up time and we did see some of the merchants in the square painting signs not too long ago. Too bad others did not take the hint and splash a little paint on buildings in need. However, you don't have to get too far from the square to see residences that have been painted this fall and really do shine. Keep up the good work!

If you stop to notice, there seems to be almost an avalanche of mailboxes springing up in town. This means more and more residents are having their mail delivered. I feel sorry for the loss of their shining faces at the post office in the morning because it is one of my most enjoyable times. I wouldn't miss it for anything. My trip down there gives me a chance to get caught up on happenings overnight and see many people I would not see too often otherwise.

With steel climbing into the sky, we have seen a little progress on the school this past week. That cold snap last week made me think work would be about over for the winter, but balmy days this week have given the contractor a new lease on life. I sure wish he would get his insulation and get the building under roof. All of us are hoping to see our children in the new building next fall. It won't happen unless we keep an eye on those education fellahs.

Congratulations are in order to the Ladies of Brute for planning a record hop for the teenagers. It shows some of our clubs are concerned about the youngsters & willing to put forth a little effort to see that their needs are met. When others get on the bandwagon, there will be something going on most of the time and there won't be too much work for anyone.

An energetic public relations man for one of the largest independent meat-packing establishments on the East Coast has been peddling a package of jokes and old-fashioned American philosophy which has placed him in high demand in the banquet circuit this fall in the Mid-Atlantic area.

He's Clyde S. Hartlove of the Woodlawn area, vice president for public relations at Schluderg-Kurdle Company, Inc. (Esskay Quality Meat Co.) in east Baltimore.

Hartlove's package speech is titled "What's Your Image?" He gave it to the Maryland Cattlemen's Association annual dinner meeting held Nov. 3 in the Cozy Restaurant in Thurmont.

At the statewide cattlemen's meeting—held within the shadow of Camp David, Hartlove declared "We must have courage to stump for what is right. America needs image-building, as does the food industry which we represent.

"Our free enterprise system of supply and demand has made food the best buy in the nation today, and yet all segments of the food industry are under public attack."

Hartlove noted that "sometimes we must look through another person's eyes. We should stop and think how others see and hear us. We've got to give people a chance to understand us. That will build our image.

Mrs. Seess Speaks At Workshop

Mrs. Mary Seess, Emmitsburg, was the principal speaker last Friday at a pre-kindergarten workshop held at the Robinwood Center, Hagerstown Junior College, Hagerstown. Mrs. Seess spoke on "Volunteers — Seen from Both Sides."

The morning session dealt with recruitment and retention of volunteer workers for day-care and pre-kindergarten facilities. The intelligent use of volunteer help will add an important dimension to early childhood programs, according to Mrs. Seess, but the volunteer in-put cannot be allowed to develop haphazardly. The personality and special abilities of each volunteer must be considered if the total program is to prosper.

Mrs. Seess displayed a variety of educational toys made by volunteers for the "Toy Library" at Seton Center, Emmitsburg.

During the afternoon session, Mrs. Seess critiqued role-playing episodes presented by participants in the workshop. These little dramas zeroed in on problems which arise in the development of a volunteer program. They included confrontation and irritation situations between teacher and volunteer; between one volunteer and another; and between a child and a volunteer.

Discussion of the need for a volunteer handbook concluded the afternoon program. Material is being collected for inclusion in such a book. The Saturday morning meeting was devoted to group sessions.

The workshop was planned by Jill Kogelschatz, parent co-ordinator of Federal programs for Washington County, Md. It was funded through a grant by the Appalachian Regional Commission.

Mrs. Seess is a volunteer worker at Seton Center where she recently contributed many hours to the development of the Toy Library. Last month Mrs. Seess demonstrated her educational playthings for a meeting of volunteers and guests at the Waynesboro Day Care Center.

Mrs. Seess also teaches basic adult education at Seton Center in a program funded by the Frederick County Board of Education.

Mrs. George Wilhide of Emmitsburg, announces the engagement of her daughter, Elizabeth Kay, to Edward James Tanner, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward James Tanner of Slidell, Louisiana.

Mr. Tanner is a graduate of Clarkson College of Technology and Graduate School in mechanical engineering and is doing graduate work at Johns Hopkins while employed by Westinghouse.

The wedding will take place on December 23.

A Record Hop for area teenagers was discussed at the monthly meeting of the Ladies of Brute Auxiliary. The meeting was held Monday evening, November 12, with Nancy Danner, president, presiding. The dance will be held on December 8 from 8:30 to 11 p.m. in St. Euphemia's Hall for all area teenagers. An admission of 50c will be charged. Soft drinks can be purchased at the dance with light refreshments to be provided by the auxiliary.

The bake sale to be held Saturday, November 17, was also discussed. It will begin at 10 a.m. at the Senior Citizens Club, Center Square. Cakes, pies, and home made candy will be available.

The anniversary party to be held for Brute Council will be December 15. A covered dish social will be held that evening with auxiliary members bringing covered dishes. The auxiliary will furnish meat and rolls. Music has been obtained for the evening's entertainment.

A note of thanks was read to the members for entertaining the Sisters of Villa St. Michael in October. Mrs. Ann Gerken also wrote the auxiliary a thank you note for the planter sent to her during her recent hospitalization.

An application for membership was received from Sharon Danner and favorably voted upon. Becky Stover won the handcraft kit and Nancy Danner won the draw prize. Next month, members will hold their annual Christmas party and gift exchange. Gifts are not to exceed $2. Refreshments were served to the ladies after the meeting by Becky Stover and Helen Oster.

There are some very nice articles left from the Bazaar. Also some good second hand clothing can be had at real bargains. Stop by! Don't forget that the Senior Citizens Club will hold its monthly meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 20 at 7:30 in the center. Dr. Seess Testifies At D. C. Meeting

Dr. Thomas P. Seess, professor of political science at Mount Saint Mary's College, testified on Wednesday, November 7, before the Democratic National Committee's Commission on Vice Presidential Selection in Washington, D. C.

Also called the Humphry-Kirkpatrick Commission, the body has been set up to study ways of improving the selection of the nation's vice presidential candidates.

Dr. Seess advocated a system whereby presidential and vice presidential candidates would run on a regular two-man ticket in the Primaries. In addition, the candidates would run on a tandem ticket at the party conventions. Such a system, said Dr. Seess, would force an earlier choice of running mates and would eliminate the frantic search for a candidate in the hectic atmosphere of the conventions.

Dr. Seess was asked to speak before the Commission by one of its heads, Dr. Kirkpatrick, a professor of Political Science at Georgetown University. Also testifying Wednesday was Congressman James O'Hare (D-Mich.). The Commission met in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Chambers in the new Senate Office Building.

Carnochan indicated athletics will be curtailed in counties where it all other extra curricular activity is reduced because of the fuel shortage.

Other athletic awards went to Joe Tyler and Randy Wivell of the soccer team, and Donna Perry of the girls field hockey team. Ted Benchof was awarded the Hill and Dale Award for cross country. Head football coach Bill Hodge announced that Bill Gray has been selected captain of next year's grid team.

Head soccer coach George Kuhn, who will lead his Cougars into the State final against Sparrows Point, Saturday, said his team has achieved two of its goals by winning the District I soccer title and advancing to the State finals, but missed on a third goal of winning the Monocacy Valley soccer title.

Members of the various fall sports teams at the school as well as parents, school officials and other guests, attended the banquet.

LOOKING AHEAD

By George S. Benson, President, National Education Program
Searcy, Arkansas

By "The Experts?"
A frightening quotation from a vitally important book—that apparently has been expressed by powerful interests centered in New York and London—is being presented here as the foundation for a series of columns. The content of the columns is of transcendent importance to every American who cherishes his freedom. Here is the quotation—from the book, Tragedy and Hope, by Professor Carroll Quigley, of Georgetown University in Washington, D. C. "It is increasingly clear that, in the 20th Century, the expert will replace the industrial tycoon in control of the economic system even as he will replace the democratic voter in control of the political system. . . . In general (the individual's) freedom and choice will be controlled within very narrow alternatives. . . ."

ard before taking his post at Georgetown's Foreign Service School in Washington. His previous book, Evolution of Civilizations, received acclaim from university history faculties throughout the world. Yet his Tragedy and Hope, published in 1966, was such a bombshell in the seats of power in the United States that it almost immediately disappeared from bookstores. I tried to obtain the 1348-page book from the publisher, The MacMillan Company, only to be informed that it was "not available." I obtained a copy elsewhere.

"The Circle"
One of the bombshell revelations of Professor Quigley's book was its documentation on the formation of a secret society known to its insiders as "The Circle of Initiates" and with the objective of gaining control of the world through expansion of "The Circle" into the major countries.

The co-founders of the secret society were Cecil Rhodes, the multi-millionaire Englishman who got a virtual monopoly on diamond production through his secret society political influence; and William T. Stead, English journalist described in history books as "an ardent social reformer." Rhodes left money in his will to set up the famed "Rhodes Scholarships" for the explicit purpose of preparing exceptional young men from English-speaking nations for service in the elite power-seeking organization which, he felt, would ultimately rule the world.

"The Establishment"
Professor Quigley apparently finds no fault with the goal of the secret "Circle" whose subsidiaries, under the names of "The Round Table" and "The Establishment," now function in the United States and other major countries. His book says that "The Establishment" in the U. S. virtually controls the two major political parties (and even finances some Communist activities); and that it has controlled an overwhelming amount of the nation's productive capacity. He seems to believe that consolidation of political and economic power in the hands of an elite of "experts," in spite of its suppression of individual freedom, constitutes an advancement for mankind. The system he foresees would be a form of State Socialism, with Government bureaucrat "experts," evidently chosen by the secret society, controlling the social and economic lives of the people.

Step By Step Socialism
Political, governmental and economic developments in the United States in recent years would seem to indicate how such a scheme of consolidated power and control could be progressively instituted. On the day I began writing this series of columns, the New York Times published a comprehensive article on "The nationwide movement toward land-use regulation." The Times said the movement "poses an array of important and rather inescapable policy decisions that the public is going to be called on to resolve." Here are the significant paragraphs:

"The concept of land as a purely private commodity to be regulated by economics seems to be giving way to the concept of land as a national resource. Implicit in the new 'land ethic' are two fundamental shifts of power. One is movement of the initiative owners and developers to the general public, acting through governmental agencies. The other is a certain redistribution of wealth implied in large-scale land-use control: Individual freedom to maximize profits from land is replaced in various decrees by collective decisions about the disposition of land." Any way you spell it out, this is State Socialism, and it follows the Marxist Socialist maxim which calls for the abolition of private ownership of property and redistribution of wealth. Quigley's book significantly says "The Establishment" has exerted a controlling influence on the New York Times, the Washington Post, the Christian Science Monitor, and other powerful media.

Capitol Comment

U.S. Senator

Keeping Bank Records Private

With several of my colleagues, I was pleased to introduce legislation recently to insure that disclosures by financial institutions to government officials and agencies of the details of private bank accounts are made only in accordance with reasonable procedural safeguards.

As all of us know, an individual's bank account is not just another collection of paper. It is extremely rich in details of the customer's personal and political life. The information revealed by checks, other withdrawals, or deposits, mirror the activities of the account holder—the political causes he supports, publications to which he subscribes, the debts he owes, the purchases he makes, the source of his income, and so forth.

Because information in bank accounts is so rich in details, it is quite understandably sought after by various government agencies and officials. But, just as in other areas such as telephone conversations or private records maintained in homes, the same characteristics which make information contained in bank accounts useful to government agencies also mean that basic individual rights and liberties can be trampled by abuse of the information or of the process by which the information is obtained.

Abuse of these rights is now encouraged by the fact that government personnel seek to, and do in fact, examine, copy and retain information from financial institutions without any notice or consent by any court or the individual bank customer. The government admitted to this practice in testimony last August before the Senate Subcommittee on Financial Institutions.

The practice was defended as being in pursuit of noble objectives. The fact remains, however, that procedures which involve no judicial review, no notice, no showing of cause, threaten to violate, and do violate, rights of privacy which are protected by the Constitution and should be ensured by specific acts of Congress.

The financial institutions are not in a position to staunchly defend the interests or rights of their customers against unwarranted invasions by such agencies—particularly when the Congress and the courts have thus far failed to spell out what the rights of these customers are. I am pleased that the effort represented by this bill has the support of the bankers' association at the state as well as the federal levels.

The bill would prohibit government agencies from obtaining records from financial institutions, and prohibit financial institutions from disclosing records to government agencies and officials, except in accordance with four methods outlined by separate sections of the bill.

Fire Safety Tips

(By Frederick County Fire Prevention Committee.)

To have a clothing fire, you need air (oxygen). That's right, even a fire must breathe air. So let's check how some fabrics have a better supply of air than other fabrics.

Take a loosely woven fabric like a loosely knitted sweater, gauze, fishnet, or other open-textured cloth. See how plenty of air is available and can even flow right through the material to feed a fire. But if the fabric is tightly woven, less air gets to the fuel, less fire danger.

Then there is the lightweight fabric, such as frilly party clothing, sheer nightgowns, and cool summer wear. Because it is so thin, it can catch fire easily, and it gets a good supply of air to continue burning. But a heavy-weight cloth is more difficult to ignite. It's the same idea as a thin shaving catching fire more easily than a thick board.

Finally there's a fuzzy-surfaced fabric. The fluffy pile, "brushed" nap and fleece lining have plenty of air for a fire. But a smooth surfaced cloth has less air and less fire danger.

So, we see that loosely woven, lightweight or fuzzy surfaced material can be a much greater clothing fire risk. Tightly woven, heavy and smooth-surfaced material will not catch fire and burn so easily.

In dress, men's clothing is more fire safe than women's clothing. Men's clothing is styled to be closer fitting. Less air on the inside, most is only on the outside. Women's clothes are styled where air reaches both the outside and the inside surfaces of her dresses easier. Her clothing can burn on both sides; a faster and hotter fire. A woman's dress sticks out, easier to brush against fire sources. A conclusion can be drawn: dresses are more of a fire hazard than trousers.

When you combine the natural you can make the burning danger even worse! For example: if you were wearing a cotton jacket and synthetic shirt, you would be combining faster burning (cotton) and melting synthetic fibers. Or how about a dress made from a blend of rayon and acetate? Again combining faster burning fibers with melting fibers. So you see, our modern clothing is a fire danger. Very likely, right now you are wearing a combination of natural and synthetic fibers.

Inflation, like some disease, is dangerous because of its after-effects.

Last Notes On The Hoke Family
"The earth has yielded up its precious gifts of fruit and grain. The world may suffer many changes, but these things remain: the glory of the harvest and the bounty of the soil. Rich reward for weary hours of hard and patient toil.

"Life, too, has its harvestings when youth's bright days have flown. Down the furrows of the years we reap what we have sown. Bitterness or happiness. Remorse or sweet content. Too late then to sigh for years gone by and hours misspent."

The data pertaining to the Pennsylvania-German family of the first Michael Hoke is continued at this time with additional notes regarding the brothers and sister of Peter Hoke, of Emmitsburg, Md.

William Hoke, who died unmarried, a brother of Peter, Michael, and Sarah (Hoke) Rowe, is interred in Elias Lutheran and Reformed churchyard and his grave is marked. Joseph Hoke, another brother, was a storekeeper in Emmitsburg. He and his wife are buried in Elias churchyard. The inscriptions follow:

33. In memory of Jacob L. Hoke, born January 4, 1838, died June 27, 1900.
34. In memory of Lydia A. (Ziegler) Hoke, wife of Jacob L. Hoke, born 1846, died February 13, 1911.
35. In memory of Norman Z. Hoke, son of Jacob L. and Lydia A. Hoke, born 1877, died 1948.
According to the memory of one of Emmitsburg's older residents, Michael Hoke, who married Laura Smith, and became a Roman Catholic, was the father of a fairly large family. His children were listed as follows: Frank Hoke, Joseph Hoke, Harry Hoke, Fanny Hoke, Annie Hoke, Lily Hoke, and Sally Hoke. There were probably other children but—at present—their names are not known.

In addition to the Hoke family graves already listed—located in burial grounds in Emmitsburg, the following must also be included—
Mountain View Cemetery:
37. In memory of Charles R. (Rowe) Hoke, born 1865, died 1934.
Note: The son of Peter and Frances Ann (Rowe) Hoke. Charles Rowe Hoke was a stone cutter. He was married to Sarah Miller.
38. In memory of Jacob Hoke, born January 21, 1848, died May 12, 1930.
39. In memory of Mary E. Hoke, wife of Jacob Hoke, born January 4, 1859, died March 21, 1913.
40. In memory of Joseph E. Hoke, born 1863, died 1949.
Saint Joseph's Roman Catholic churchyard—
41. In memory of Joseph R. Hoke, born 1886, died 1955. Michael Hoke, the brother of Peter, William, Jacob, Sarah (Hoke) Rowe, and Katharine (Hoke) Krise, served in the Union Army during the War Between the States, better known as the Civil War. He (Michael) kept a saloon and restaurant in Emmitsburg. This concludes, for the present, at least, the account of the Hoke family, of Pennsylvania and Maryland.
The Sheets Family—
In the historical and genealogical study of the families, both at Tom's Creek and the later Elias church, all except two, Sheets and Eyster (Oyster), have been included. Today the study of the Sheets (Sheads)—insofar as known—

Plan Butchering At Round Meadow

Very few people in today's urbanized society are aware of the steps required between seeing a farm animal in the field and slicing the ham for Sunday dinner. Even most farm families rarely butcher their own meat now. If you would like to view a demonstration of this vanishing tradition, we invite you to visit the Round Meadow Folk Craft Center at Catoctin Mountain Park either Sunday, November 18 or Sunday, November 25, between 11 a.m. and 5 p.m. to witness an old-time country butchering. A dressed hog will be cut into the different parts of meat which appear in the grocery meat case. During the continuous exhibit, the hams will be prepared for smoking, the chops, loins, and ribs cut out, sausage ground and stuffed, lard rendered and pressed. Pudding will be used in scrap, from which scrapple will be prepared. Fresh ground sausage, scrapple, and other pork products may be purchased at the demonstration site.
Mountain craftsmen will also be demonstrating kitchen arts, quilting, spinning, weaving, broommaking, shingle-riving and carpentry, pottery, leather crafts, and blacksmithing. The General Store will be open for the purchase of craft center products and other locally handmade items.
Do not forget to visit the Environmental Center while you are at Round Meadow. Its exhibits and displays tell the story of the role man has played in the history of Catoctin Mountain and how he has used its resources to feed and clothe himself and earn his livelihood.
All activities and exhibits will be going on from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.—in spite of the weather. So rain or shine, wind or snow, come and join us for the country butchering.
Catoctin Mountain Park is a unit of the National Park Service, U. S. Department of the Interior. It is located three miles west of Thurmont, off State Route 77.

BUSINESS AND THE STOCK MARKET

State Tax Prospects

By Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass., November 15, 1973 — This year the states are experiencing good gains in revenues, deriving mostly from larger-than-expected tax income generated by record or near-record business activity. Federal revenue sharing, too, has made a big favorable impact on the balance sheets of the states.

Some Levies Slashed

So marked has been the improvement in state revenues that legislatures have cut state levies by about $500 million this year. Tax Foundation, Inc. reports that this net cutback resulted from tax law changes in 27 states where reductions totaled about $1 billion to more than offset boosts of $500 million. While this net paring is less than 1% of current tax yields, it is significant because so many years have passed since last the states in toto cut back on tax levies.

In many recent years boosts have been staggering. They totaled $4 billion in 1969, $5 billion in 1971. This year property tax relief (mostly for the elderly) has been enacted in 21 states and 12 have cut personal income taxes. Such tax increases as were voted were levied mostly on business, chiefly via corporate income imposts. There were few changes in general sales tax rates (two boosts, two reductions), but eight states okayed new exemptions from the sales tax base.

Course Of Business

Current economic statistics indicate considerable business vitality, buoying hopes that good business will continue at least into early 1974. While there has been some slippage from the 1973 highs, there are relatively few sectors of the economy that are not registering a volume substantially higher than a year ago.

So it appears that the states can count on continued good revenues at least during the first half of 1974, and probably for some time thereafter since the slide-off is not expected to be sharp. Of course, the apple cart could be upset if fuel shortages should be exacerbated by prolonged severe weather this winter. Ensuing widespread economic dislocations could play hob with state tax revenues.

Delayed Inflationary Impact

Also causing concern is uncertainty about costs. There is no doubt that costs for the states are on the way up. The question is how much and how soon. Food and materials costs have already shown sharp upside pressure. Expenses for maintenance of residential schools, hospitals, and other state custodial institutions are rising at a rapid rate, owing in large measure to persistent boosts in the cost of food, fuel, and other operating necessities.

And in 1974 the states will feel the brunt of sizable wage increases for their own employees along with mounting pressure for upward adjustments in pension plans and other fringe benefits. So we predict that over the next several months outgo will more frequently match or exceed state income, leading to new tax hikes. But in most instances these will not be legislated until next spring or summer, and some may not become effective until early 1975.

How The States Rate

New Hampshire is the only state that has no personal income tax and no sales tax. Thirteen states impose one or the other, and all the rest levy both. The total tax burden is rated lowest in Connecticut, Florida, Indiana, Nevada, New Jersey, Ohio, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Washington, and Wyoming. The heaviest tax burdens are found in California, Hawaii, Minnesota, Montana, New York, Oregon, Vermont, Wisconsin, and the District of Columbia. The 30 remaining states occupy a vast middle range. But it is difficult to draw hard-and-fast conclusions from such ratings. Not all the high-tax states are poorly administered or all the low-tax ones superbly run. Much depends on the natural resources available and the quantity, variety, and quality of the services offered.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

This is to give notice that on the 5th day of November, 1973, a Bill to Quiet Title was filed in the Circuit Court for Frederick County by the Plaintiffs against the Defendants, some of whose addresses are unknown. The Bill alleges in substance that:

FIRST: That on or about January 31, 1969, your Plaintiffs took possession of all of that certain land enclosed by an ancient fence, as more particularly described as follows: Beginning for the same at a fence post found set in the ground on the North side of Fish Hatchery Road and at the Southeast corner of the land conveyed by Howard T. Perkins and wife to Richard L. Kline and wife by deed dated 31 January 1969, and recorded among the land records of Frederick County in Liber 797, Folio 552, thence as now surveyed by D. K. Sutcliffe & Associates, Inc., January, 1968, and running and binding on the outlines of said land as defined by fences the following four (4) courses and distances, N 13° 26' 12" W 251.46 feet to a fence post found set in the ground, S 74° 51' 15" W 220.00 feet to an iron tee bar with Registered land Surveyor's Cap Number 2046, set in the ground, and hereinafter referred to as a standard marker, S 74° 35' 45" W 332.19 feet to a fence post found set in the ground, S 08° 38' 31" E 150.70 feet to a fence post found set in the ground on said north side of Fish Hatchery Road, thence running and binding on said North Side and on the South cut line of said land, the following two (2) courses and distances, N 75° 08' 00" E 353.17 feet to a standard marker, N 74° 36' 19" E 219.92 feet to the place of beginning. Containing 2.805 Acres more or less of land (a copy of D. K. Sutcliffe & Associates, Inc. Plat No. F-971-B, revised 2/18/69, of subject real estate is attached to the Bill to Quiet Title, incorporated by reference, and filed in these proceedings marked Plaintiffs' Exhibit 1).

SECOND: That your Plaintiffs' Exhibit 1, by deed recorded among the land records of Frederick County, in Liber 797, Folio 552, (a certified copy of said deed being attached to the Bill to Quiet Title, incorporated by reference, and filed in these proceedings, marked Plaintiffs' Exhibit 2).

THIRD: That the streets and alleys located within Plaintiffs' fenced in area (as shown on the aforementioned Plaintiffs' Exhibit 1) have not been maintained by the Frederick County Board of Commissioners for a period of twenty (20) years prior to July 1, 1973, and in fact are non-existing, were never opened and have never been properly dedicated to or accepted by Frederick County, Maryland.

FOURTH: That record title to Lot Number 77 on the aforementioned Plaintiffs' Exhibit 1 is vested in Henry Agnew by virtue of that certain deed recorded among the land records of Frederick County in Liber JS2, Folio 118 (a certified copy of said deed is attached to the Bill to Quiet Title, incorporated by reference, and filed in these proceedings, marked Plaintiffs' Exhibit 3). That your Plaintiffs do not know whether or not the said Henry Agnew is alive or dead, and if dead who his heirs, devisees or personal representatives are, nor do your Plaintiffs know their addresses.

FIFTH: That record title to the aforementioned streets and alleys remained vested of record in one certain Daniel Fundenburg and/or his heirs, devisees, or personal representatives by virtue of that certain deed recorded among the land records of Frederick County in Liber WR18, Folio 377 (a certified copy of said deed is attached to the Bill to Quiet Title, incorporated by reference, and filed in these proceedings, marked Plaintiffs' Exhibit 4). That your Plaintiffs do not know whether or not the said Daniel Fundenburg is alive or dead, and if dead who his heirs, devisees or personal representatives are, nor do your Plaintiffs know their addresses.

SIXTH: That record title to the land identified by the diagonal lines in Plaintiffs'

Exhibit 1 is vested in Paul H. Baer by virtue of the deed recorded among the land records of Frederick County in Liber 406, Folio 423 (a certified copy of said deed is attached to the Bill to Quiet Title, incorporated by reference, and filed in these proceedings, marked Plaintiffs' Exhibit 5).

SEVENTH: That record title to the land identified by asterisks in Plaintiffs' Exhibit 1 is vested in Randolph S. Stull and Mary C. Stull by virtue of the deed recorded among the land records of Frederick County in Liber 457, Folio 371 (a certified copy of said deed is attached to the Bill to Quiet Title, incorporated by reference, and filed in these proceedings, marked Plaintiffs' Exhibit 6).

EIGHTH: That record title to the land identified by the check marks on the Plaintiffs' Exhibit 1 is vested in Ella Irene Toms, Agnes May DeGrange, Grace Harriet Smith, Dorothy Virginia Smith, Alice Mary Shafer, Carrie Elizabeth Zimmerman, Betty Rebecca Pearl, Gladys Katherine Yeager, Melton Eugene Holt, Leslie Shurden Holt, Jr., Charles Lewis Holt and Carl Salvester Holt, by virtue of the deed recorded among the land records of Frederick County in Liber 891, Folio 63 (a certified copy of said deed is attached to the Bill to Quiet Title, incorporated by reference, and filed in these proceedings, marked Plaintiffs' Exhibit 7).

NINTH: That your Plaintiffs and their privies have record title of the abovementioned real estate, have had actual, open, notorious, exclusive, hostile and continuous possession of all of the real estate enclosed by that certain ancient fence and bordered on Fish Hatchery Road as herein more fully described above and in Plaintiffs' Exhibit 1 under said claim of title or ownership for over the last twenty (20) years immediately preceding the filing of the Bill of Complaint using said title and improvements as a farmette.

TENTH: That your Plaintiffs have actual peaceable possession of subject lands but that the claims as set forth in Paragraphs Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh and Eighth constitute hostile outstanding claims though not being actively asserted against Plaintiffs' title, interfering with Plaintiffs' right to absolute ownership and rights of disposition.

WHEREUPON (it is ordered by the Circuit Court for Frederick County this 5th day of November, 1973, that the Plaintiffs cause a copy of this Order to be inserted in a newspaper published in Frederick County once a week in four successive weeks, before the 8th day of December, 1973, giving notice to the said Defendants of the object and substance of the Bill and warning them to show cause, if any there may be, on or before the 8th day of January, 1974, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

TALKS

By Warren B. Davis
Director, Energy Economics
Gulf Oil Corporation

"What are the prospects for next summer? Will we experience a gasoline shortage equal to or greater than the 1973 problem?"

"While it's not inevitable, we probably will be short of gasoline. The conditions that have caused the shortages this summer cannot be radically changed before next summer. All our refineries are running essentially at capacity and we will not solve the problem until we get more refineries built. It will take several years to build enough refineries to overcome the shortage."

• Mr. Davis was principal author of the National Petroleum Council's "U.S. Energy Outlook" prepared for the U.S. Interior Department.

PERSPECTIVES IN LEARNING

By Hazel Brown, President Harry Lundeberg School Higher Education—What Next?

A study of higher education has been completed by the Carnegie Commission whose members consist of college and university presidents, industrialists, politicians, and educators. This commission has filed the final report, "Priorities for Action."

The report sets forth challenges for higher education which are broad and encompass a wide area for consideration. The report suggests that priorities for higher education must be established rather than just restating purposes. Once there is a clarification of purposes then some restoration of confidence can begin to develop. Presently, the erosion of interest in education has created much concern and the members of the commission believe it will take time to restore confidence in higher education.

Colleges and universities were also challenged to preserve and enhance the quality and diversity of educational opportunities. This would include improved techniques, curriculum reform, improved campus environment, and the preservation of unique institutions. Colleges and universities have been charged with dragging their feet in the development of innovative learning experiences.

These are much encouragement in the advancement of social justice. Education must meet the challenge and accept some of the responsibility for the realization of equality of opportunity. New alternatives to meeting the needs of life and work must be provided. More women and more members of minority groups must be recruited into faculty positions. Higher education should feel the responsibility to create a more open society and to help eliminate the inherited class structure which now exists.

Change must be encouraged rather than discouraged at the college level. The recent student unrest brought this to the attention of everyone. Student involvement and greater public input must become a significant part of future consideration.

More effective means of governing and operating higher education must be evaluated and encouraged. Collective bargaining is spreading rapidly and the politicalization of education is becoming common. The commission found the present governing structure improvements to be adequate, but saw no need for basic reforms. Members of the committee opposed student membership on boards of trustees and faculty senates. Instead, they encouraged greater involvement of the students as voting members of select committees and groups which might parallel trustee committees and act as advisory groups.

Recommendations for parents and students were also suggested. Parents were asked to continue to relax the pressure for attendance of their children in college directly after high school. Sympathy for alternatives to college by young people who are reluctant to attend college was also requested. The commission feels that students must explore lifetime vocational and nonvocational interests. This would necessitate the expansion of guidance pro-

Tom's Creek 4-H Reports Variety Of Events

Members of the Tom's Creek 4-H Club enjoyed the summer months along with their parents. A picnic was held at the Hill residence with a covered dish supper. Softball was played by all with spectators.

Part of their program consists of Halter Making for the shows coming up in the fall as well as banquet and fair committee reports.

The Jersey Field Day was attended by Stanley Gregg with the assistance of Charles Kaas. The Canton Show was attended by Allen Bassler. The Frederick County Holstein Twilight meeting was attended by Mike Weimer, Naomi Weimer, Stanley Gregg, Mike and David Hill and Russell White.

Cathy Wivell reported on her trip to A.I.C. Conference which was held in New Orleans, La.

At another meeting held at the Joseph D. Wivell residence, Cathy Wivell reported on her trip to A.I.C. Conference which was held in New Orleans, La.

grams early in life so that realistic job expectations can be developed. The parents and youngsters must be seeking a broad general education while becoming aware of the many alternatives for life fulfillment. All youngsters are encouraged to have work ann servie-experience along with academic learning. Parents must cease the overprotection of the youngsters and give them opportunities to explore and realize meaningful job expectations.

The Carnegie Commission on Higher Education explored the situation and examined the reasons for the recent crisis and have offered recommendations for the recovery of higher education. It is essential that we give the suggestions some consideration and become involved in constructive change.

Lois Remsburg spoke to the club. Miss Remsburg gave an interesting report on her trip to Europe to judge cattle with the U. S. Dairy group on a whistle tour of her Judging Team. She took the trip by tapping out her route and showing pictures.

The Fair Committee report was given by Stanley Gregg. Allen Bassler and Stanley Gregg reported that they attended the Montgomery County Fair. State Fair was attended by Mike and Naomi Weimer, Mike and David Hill, Ronnie Kling and Stanley Gregg.

At another meeting County Dairy Judging was reported on by the Junior and Senior teams. The 4-H Club placed a booth for "June is Dairy Month" at Carter's Drug Store in Emmitsburg. Naomi reported on the booth to be placed in the Frederick Mall. Mike Weimer reported on the radio program.

Dr. Templeton was the guest speaker of the evening, after demonstrations were given on calldown diseases by Allen Bassler and Russell White. Dr. Templeton's talk was interesting as well as informative.

Lottery To Offer Merchandise Prizes

George P. Mahoney, chairman of the Maryland State Lottery Commission, has announced three new plans to promote weekly ticket sales. The three plans are:

Machine Sales. The first of five new automatic ticket sales machines went into operation recently and will sell tickets up until one hour before weekly drawings.

Holiday Bonus Prize. Beginning with the weekly drawing November 29, new cars, color television sets, cameras and radios will be given away as bonus prizes over a six week period. The merchandise prizes will be in addition to the regular weekly cash prizes.

Season Ticket Plan. Starting early in December, out-of-state residents and Marylanders alike will be able to subscribe to lottery tickets for 13, 20, 26, or 52 week periods and receive the tickets automatically.

The new ticket sales machines are being provided by Tele Vend, a Baltimore electronics equipment firm. They will be located in the Baltimore area.

erate either on dollar bills, which return two lottery tickets, or two quarters, which will bring one ticket. They do not make change. Stephen R. Krause, of Anton Farms road, Baltimore county, is the machine's inventor and the principal owner of the company.

The Holiday Bonus program will offer 10,000 merchandise prizes beginning with the weekly drawing on November 29.

Immediately following the selection of the regular weekly six digit number, a second sixdigit number will be chosen by members of the audience attending the drawing. Lottery participants with winning combinations on the regular weekly number will receive the usual cash prizes. Those with winning combinations on the second number will receive the following prizes:

All six digits in correct order—1974 Dodge Charger.
Last five digits in correct order—Zenith Color Television set.

Last four digits in correct order—Kodak Camera Kit.

Last three digits in correct order—Transistor radio.

Lottery tickets during the six week period will be printed in holiday colors of green and red. Both the cash prizes and the merchandise prizes will relate to winning combinations on the single lottery number printed in the usual place on the ticket. "If you don't win a cash prize, check your lottery number against the second number drawn," Mr. Mahoney explains. "You may have won a merchandise prize."

Details of the season ticket plan call for subscription blanks to go out early in December to thousands of persons around the United States and from overseas who have written the lottery for tickets over the past five months.

A $25 subscription will buy one ticket for 52 weeks, 2 for 26 weeks, or 4 tickets for 13 weeks. A $10 subscription buys one ticket for 20 weeks.

Mr. Mahoney said the lottery computer will automatically notify season ticket subscribers if they have a winner in the weekly drawing. The computer also assigns numbers to each subscriber and the same number is kept for the length of the subscription.

Courses Going Well At Seton Center

The Governing Board of the Emmitsburg Lifelong Learning Council met recently at the Seton Center with President Bernard Welty presiding. The following members were present: Mrs. Ann Marshall, Mrs. Mary S. Scott, Sister Mary Magdalen, Mrs. Marguerite Smith, Mrs. Delores Henke, Mrs. Mariah Baker, Sister Mary John, Sister Norma, Mrs. Mary Theresa Miller and Sister Celestine.

Ann Marshall reported that all the classes planned for the Fall Semester were in operation, i.e. Sewing, Painting, Shorthand and Typing, Physical Fitness and the usual Adult Basic Ed and General Ed (or High School Equivalency). The possibility of day-time classes for General Education courses was discussed. So far it has not been possible to find teachers for the Flower Arranging and Cake Decorating classes. Other courses in which local people have evidenced an interest are Comparative Religions, Political Science and an English Literature course (Modern Classics). It was thought the latter would be on a college level and if sponsored by the Mount would probably carry the $45 per credit hour charge. If possible, arrangements will be made to present travelogues through the winter and spring months.

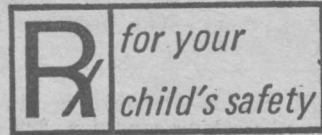

Thank-you letters were read from Sister Mary Magdalen and the Marshall family for the spiritual remembrances extended by the Council at the death of family loved ones.

The full Council meeting was scheduled for January 31, 1974 at Seton Center at 7:30 p.m. This will be followed by the annual meeting of the Governing Board.

It was also decided that the Council would hold an informal reception at Seton Center on Thursday, November 15, to honor Mr. Smith, recently re-appointed Adult Education Supervisor for Frederick County; this will afford the opportunity for Mr. Smith to meet Council-members and teachers.

Congratulations, Alice!

Your own back yard may be a serious threat to the life and limb of your youngsters, warns Dr. Albert H. Domm, child safety specialist and medical director of the Prudential Insurance Co.

"If you have children under five years of age, you may find death lurking in many disguises," he says. "Look for lily pools, fish ponds, boxes of garden poisons, insecticides, and ladders."

"Swimming pools and driveways are major threats."

Dr. Domm says that only a fenced pool is a safe pool, provided the toddler can't climb the fence or get through the gate.

"The driveway is a constant hazard," he says. "Know where your child is before you start backing out. Better yet, have him in the car with you."

Among some of the other safety precautions Dr. Domm suggests is to convert the fish pond or lily pond to a flower bed until the youngster grows up. Then change it back.

"There is no doubt that your yard should be fenced," according to Dr. Domm. "All your precautions are useless if the youngster can wander into the hazards next door or farther down the street."

He urged that specific care should be taken to avoid standing ladders that permit dangerous falls, and insecticides that are good for the garden, but bad when ingested by the youngster.

All items such as ladders, ant poison, fertilizer, snail bait, and similar deadly materials should be kept under lock and key.

Mrs. Irene Stinson Morley has returned to her home in Toronto, Canada, after spending two weeks with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Oscar Stinson, Copenhaver Apts., West Main Street.
