Birds, millions of them, continue to cause a problem for residents of nearby Graceham this week. With the publicity they have been receiving, the feathered fiends have turned what started out as a bird problem into a people problem as hundreds of curious motorists continue to turn Graceham roads into car-lined spectator stands each evening. Hopefully, for everyone concerned—especially the orchard owners, the birds will soon be done away with through whatever means seem necessary.

Emmitsburg residents may feel lucky that they are not plagued by the blackbirds, starlings and grackles, but a problem with birds faces this town also. We may soon face an overpopulation of pigeons. Evidence of these birds—which often carry diseases harmful to human habitation—can be seen everywhere in town. Some residents have even taken to feeding the pigeons—perpetuating what may soon become a serious problem. Town officials would do well to look into this situation before it gets out of hand.

The new school, which nears completion day by day, is once again experiencing difficulties. It seems that the school board, in an apparent oversight, has funded the school as an elementary school rather than what it is in fact, an elementary and middle school. Now it looks like the school will be under-equipped. Without proper equipment the school cannot function as it should. Our tax dollars are used to build and equip schools. Our school board should hear how we stand on this issue.

There seems to be little progress being made on the traffic light project in the square. The lights have been hanging for over a week now and they are still not in operation. I heard they were supposed to be in working condition last Tuesday.

Some state projects sure seem to take a long time to complete. We are promised something for a particular date and all of a sudden there is some delay involved setting the completion time back. For example, nothing much has been done on the dualization of Route 15. Members of the communities involved are apparently willing to forget about the whole matter, as accidents continue to happen on the unimproved section of the highway project. When the roads are torn up during the nation's bicentennial year, it will be too late to voice our opinions.

I don't understand too much about the construction and upkeep of our roads and highways, but the number of workmen needed to handle state highway projects still amazes me. It sometimes takes three or four men, for instance, to paint little marker dots on the road, and even more to perform more difficult tasks such as street light installation and maintenance. Could be this is the reason highway projects cost the taxpayer so much.

Seeks Re-election

Mrs. Charlotte W. (Yarroll) Kerrigan has announced that she will be a candidate for re-election to the office of Frederick County Treasurer.

A lifelong resident of Frederick County, Mrs. Kerrigan is the daughter of Mrs. Pearl Dertzbaugh Whitmore and the late James H. Whitmore. She is married to Matthew R. Kerrigan.

Mrs. Kerrigan began employment in the County Treasurer's office in 1939. In 1944, she was appointed Deputy Treasurer by the late James H. Falk, serving in that capacity until May, 1960, when she was appointed County Treasurer by Gov. J. Millard Tawes to fill the vacancy created by the death of Mr. Falk. In the 1962, 1966 and 1970 elections, Mrs. Kerrigan was re-elected County Treasurer, in which office she has won statewide recognition for her ability and efficiency. Year after year, both County and State auditors have commended her for the outstanding manner in which the office records are maintained.

Mrs. Kerrigan is active in local church and civic work. She is treasurer of St. Francis Chapter and a member of the choir of All Saints Episcopal Church in Frederick. She is also treasurer of the Women's Democratic League, a member of the Jeffersonian Auxiliary, the Zonta Club of Frederick, the Maryland Public Finance Officers Association, and was recently elected treasurer of the Salvation Army Auxiliary of Frederick County. Mrs. Kerrigan also holds membership in the Frederick County Historical Society, and is a member of the advisory board of the Fredericktowne Mall branch of the Farmers and Mechanics National Bank.

EDITORIAL

Now that the oil-producing Arab nations have lifted the embargo against the United States, it appears that gasoline rationing, per se, will not be necessary this summer.

In northern Maryland, however, many service stations continue to have problems in obtaining needed gasoline allotments.

At one of the local stations the gasoline allocation has been cut by 55 per cent this month, and, according to the owner, the prices he pays are almost equal to what the customer pays at the pump in a neighboring Pennsylvania community. While many service stations in other areas of the state and nation seem to be receiving the promised increase in allotments along with reasonable prices, this station—and others in northern Maryland—has had his allotment decreased by almost 10 per cent since January 1.

Tuesday evening, President Nixon told the National Association of Broadcasters that "it will not be necessary for us to have compulsory rationing in the United States," yet some area stations have found it is still necessary for them to limit purchases.

Nixon announced that additional oil and gas allocations would be forthcoming, yet many local stations have not received the additional allocations promised in February.

Nixon said that he has rescinded the order which closed all service stations on Sundays, yet limited supplies in this area continue to make it necessary for stations to close early on weekdays.

If meager gasoline supplies are now limiting local purchases, what will happen when warmer weather brings thousands of campers and tourists through our area?

Northern Maryland has received little more than promises of increased gasoline allocations. Unfortunately, automobiles cannot run on political "hot air."

Heart Association Program Popular

During the past month, over 70 people have participated in the Blood Pressure Screening Programs sponsored by the Frederick County Heart Association, announced Mrs. Mary Hargis, Program Director.

At the Frederick County Square Mall during "Heart Week" (February 11-15), approximately 355 participants were counted in this popular community service program. In addition to the successful screening program at Frederick County Square, there were demonstrations of Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation given by local CPR instructors: Andrew S. Donnan, Richard Himes, Alvin Ridgely, Faye Bevard, R.N.; Richard Stine, Susan Nichol, Clarence Jewell, Dr. Benedict Thompson, Thomas Powers, Michael Spurrier, Edward Bell, Robert Brashears, Bernard Cole, and Timothy Ganley. In addition, films were shown concerning exercise and risk factors in heart disease, and Phil Castleberg demonstrated "Smoking Sam."

On March 9 at three locations in Frederick City, more than 400 persons had had a Heart Check consisting of a blood pressure check and a stethoscope examination by a local physician.

Experience is what those who need it most can never have.

WASHINGTON REPORT FROM SENATOR J. GLENN BEALL JR.

The Fuel Shortage Is Real

It was possible to do quite a bit of traveling around Maryland during the congressional recess that just ended, and the fuel shortage seemed to be the chief concern among the people I met.

Many people still doubt that we are really faced with an energy crisis. For the most part, they are finding sufficient amounts of gas and oil, even though they are paying a higher price just about every time they make a purchase.

To the shortage they say, "I don't believe it," and to the prices they ask, "Who is to blame?"

Yet there is a growing volume of evidence that, even if the Arab oil embargo is lifted, the United States and the other nations of the world will be faced with an energy shortage for years to come.

Several reports on our fuel and energy outlook have been prepared by government agencies. One of the best over-all studies was done by the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, in conjunction with the Atomic Energy Commission.

Since 1950, the AEC has been predicting that our nation would be facing an energy shortage by 1975. The oil embargo helped bring on the problem sooner than expected, and we are now anticipating an energy shortage of 8-15 per cent this year. Even so, we also are expected to double, or even triple, our demand for energy by the end of the century.

Thus, the most important issue now before the Congress is to resolve the differences that bottled up the Emergency Energy Act as we adjourned last month.

This legislation must be enacted without further delay if there is to be a coordinated and comprehensive national effort to conserve energy, to find alternatives to our present fuel supplies, and to develop new sources of energy.

Another problem is to get a timely and accurate accounting of the fuel resources we have on hand. At present, the government has no mechanism for gathering information about the fuel inventories that are owned or controlled by the various oil companies, refineries, distributors and dealers.

To get this important information, I have introduced legislation which would require the petroleum industry—at all levels—to provide regular reports on their fuel holdings and reserves. The reports would be submitted to the Federal Energy Office, and through that agency to the Congress.

Unfortunately, it is difficult, if not impossible, to assign the blame for a worldwide energy crisis. However, we should make certain that corporations and individuals are not allowed to reap windfall profits by exploiting the fuel shortage.

An excess profits tax on the oil business would be a deterrent to runaway price increases, and I think we will have to pass such a law.

Thus, for the time being, we must concentrate on programs to manage our fuel shortages as best we can. But we cannot let ourselves lose sight of the ultimate goal of becoming wholly self-sufficient in our use of energy.

Medieval scientists said that if the red quality of red sulphur were removed, gold would result.

Can you stop in time?

This chart, prepared by the Safe Winter Driving League, summarizes results of stopping distance tests conducted by the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards at Stevens Point, Wisconsin. Comparing various types of tires and chains on the rear wheels, these tests have disclosed that conventional snow tires are of no help in stopping on glare ice. Studded tires, on the other hand, reduce braking distance by 19%, and reinforced tire chains by 50%.

Pointing out that with regular tires the stopping distance on glare ice may be nearly nine times the normal, dry pavement distance, the League reminds motorists that far slower than normal speeds are a must when driving on icy pavements.

Beall Proposes Special Tax Credit

Senator J. Glenn Beall, Jr. (R-Md.) introduced legislation this week to establish a special Bicentennial Tax Credit to stimulate interest in and support for efforts to celebrate the 200th anniversary of our Nation's independence.

The Maryland senator said, "I am deeply concerned that current efforts to celebrate the Bicentennial of the American Revolution have failed to rally measurable support from our citizens. To be truly successful, the Bicentennial effort must blend historical scholarship, festive celebrations, and a reaffirmation of the basic values and principles upon which our nation was founded. In the wake of the turmoil and uncertainties of the last decade America needs a successful Bicentennial effort to show us that we have not lost our way."

In a statement on the floor of the Senate, Senator Beall described the proposed legislation as follows:

"The objective of my Bicentennial Tax Credit Bill will be to mobilize grass roots support for Bicentennial efforts.

I am seeking to involve small contributors, the people who file the standard short tax form, in the spirit of the Bicentennial. Several years ago, Congress decided that it was important for small contributors to give to political campaigns. An individual who contributes $25 to the party or the candidate of his choice is allowed to deduct that amount or take a tax credit of $12.50. A couple is allowed a $50 deduction or $25 tax credit.

"My proposal was patterned along the same lines and is designed to achieve the same basic objectives. People who contribute $25 ($50 per couple) to an officially sanctioned Bicentennial project on either the federal or state or local levels will be able to deduct that amount from their income tax or take a tax credit of $12.50 ($25 per couple). This legislation will take effect upon enactment and will expire on December 23, 1983, a date which marks the Bicentennial of General Washington's resignation of his Commission as Commander-in-Chief of the Continental Armies in Annapolis, Maryland."

BUSINESS AND THE STOCK MARKET

Auto Accessory Stocks And The Energy Crisis

By Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass., March 21, 1974—Beginning last November the news of cutbacks in production of Arab crude oil set back most auto accessory stocks — both original equipment and replacement. This is not surprising in view of the impact on the entire auto industry, with even a Blue Chip such as General Motors reaching a ten-year low. Although the whole market reflected the oil shortage and the consequent energy crunch, auto and auto-related issues were especially hard hit. The expected slump in new car output and the energy uncertainties made investors extremely wary, since company results would now be affected by a new variable distorting consumer demand.

Decline Forecast

Several auto industry leaders had forecast that auto production in calendar 1974 would fall below the levels of a year ago. Since the advent of the punishing Arab oil embargo and its adverse effects on the overall economy, industry spokesmen have widened their estimates of the ongoing decline in auto output. The Research Department of Babson's Reports is convinced that the curtailment will be in excess of 15%. Should this estimate turn out to be reasonably near the mark, an extremely significant question is raised: What action should investors take regarding the auto accessory stocks?

Analysis has been made of the issues of several of the important companies in the field, all of which conduct the bulk of their business in the original equipment sector of the auto market. Weighed were merits of holding the stocks for an eventual rebound or of switching out of some of them in an effort to attain more favorable market action. It is our aim to position investors in those areas which, in our opinion, offer best rebound chances in today's clouded situation.

Strengthening One's Position

Simply because auto and auto accessory stocks have been substantially reduced price-wise, investors obviously should not just toss them overboard. Nor should they settle for portfolio stagnation. Rather, investors interested in growth and appreciation might consider switching out of some of the original equipment stocks in the hope of better rebound possibilities in the issues of certain replacement parts companies. Because of the evergrowing pool of vehicles on the road, replacement parts firms are noted for their ability to stand up well even during economic downturns. This time, however, some of these have fallen victim to the weak market atmosphere and, rightly or not, have suffered from investor concern over the impact of the energy crisis on the whole auto field.

So, some buying opportunities have been created in the auto replacement parts issues, and it could be advantageous to switch from certain original equipment into replacement stocks.

Rebound Candidates

Companies serving the auto replacement market (or aftermarket), because of their differing characteristics, should be considered in a separate light from their sister suppliers of original equipment. For some time many replacement companies' stocks have commanded higher price/earnings ratios than the original equipment issues. This is because the replacement companies have a built-in growth factor for sales, have traditionally experienced larger margins of profit, and over the last decade or so have had greater investor appeal because of their resistance to downturns in the economic cycle.

Therefore, the Research Staff of Babson's Reports is of the opinion that when the market climate does improve, auto accessory replacement company issues will very likely rebound more rapidly than those of the original equipment makers. Currently, we recommend the purchase of the common stock of Echlin Manufacturing and Champion Spark Plug, both of which are traded on the New York Stock Exchange. Those interested may have a free copy of a report on either or both companies by writing to Babson's Reports, Wellesley Hills, Mass. 02154.

Traction tests measure your ability to go!
Traction tests by the National Safety Council at its winter test site in Stevens Point, Wisconsin, show that conventional snow tires provide only a small improvement in pulling ability on glare ice as compared with regular tires. Studded tires, on the other hand, develop about three times the pull and reinforced tire chains about seven times the pull of regular tires.

FREDERICK COUNTY BACKGROUNDS

BY SAMUEL CARRICK
"Here Lies Buried . . ."
"Country Churchyard—"

"Quiet lies the town
Where all men go to rest;
The blue sky clear above them,
Good earth about them pressed.

"The old, the child, the lover
Here all found peace at last.

Against the heat of living
The gates of time are fast.

"This is the place where pathways
Are printless night and day,
And all the silent footsteps
Go gently, all one way."

The data, regarding the early history of and burials within, the Mountain View Cemetery, is continued at this time.

In studying the record book of the late Millard F. Shuff it would appear that there are a number of unmarked graves in the Mountain View Cemetery. This is by no means unusual—nor does it imply that some graves were not marked at one time or another. Burial grounds have felt the "vandal's hand" since time began and many tombstones, originally placed at graves, were "lifted" and put to other, less exalted, uses.

There has been vandalism at Mountain View in the past and that same state of affairs will continue—not only today but tomorrow as well. Human nature does not change and to steal from the dead is an old, old custom.

Now to return to the Shuff record book—

Pherson studies. At the time these lists were made, in the late forties and early fifties, it must be assumed that the grave of William Koontz was unmarked.

36. Ezra Rowe Zimmerman — died May 15, 1905—aged 58 years.

34. In memory of Ezra R. Zimmerman, born 1847, died 1905.

In memory of Margaret C. Zimmerman, wife of Ezra R. Zimmerman, born 1846, died 1884.

In memory of Edna May, infant daughter of Ezra R. and Margaret C. Zimmerman. (No dates or age given).

In memory of Charles Francis Zimmerman, son of Ezra R. and Margaret C. Zimmerman. (No dates or age given).

No. 3: Ezra Rowe Zimmerman was descended from the old Zimmerman family of Carroll's Tract, located in what is now Adams County, Pennsylvania. Previous to their settlement in this part of Pennsylvania, the Zimmermans had been part of the "Madame Mary Lefever" settlement in Paradise Township, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania. The mother of Ezra Rowe Zimmerman was Sarah (Rowe) Zimmerman, a descendant of that Anthony George Row, who came into Maryland from Pennsylvania, with the so-called Monocacy Settlers.

Ezra Rowe Zimmerman was first married, on November 12, 1872, by the Rev. E. S. Johnston, to Margaret C. Maxell, the daughter of Samuel and Jane (Ferguson) Maxell, of Maxell's Mill, located on Tom's Creek, east of Emmitsburg. This mill was known in colonial times as the "Crabb's Mill." Margaret (Maxell) Zimmerman died in 1884 and some years later Ezra Rowe Zimmerman was married, for the second time, to Emma Motter, a school teacher in Emmitsburg. This second wife is also interred on this plot and her grave is marked.

Edna May Zimmerman, the daughter of Ezra R. and Margaret (Maxell) Zimmerman, was born December 28, 1881 and baptized April 1, 1882. (Elias Lutheran records).

It is interesting to note that Margaret (Maxell) Zimmerman and her two infant children, Edna May Zimmerman and Charles Francis Zimmerman, were first interred in Lot #197, of Elias Lutheran and Reformed churchyard, but some years later, the bodies were removed to Mountain View Cemetery.

37. Mrs. Edna Springer — died May 26, 1905—aged 82 years.

Note: There are two marked graves in the Edwin (Edward) Springer plot in the Mountain View Cemetery. The inscriptions follow:

35. In memory of Edwin Springer, born September 25, 1821, died August 16, 1899.

36. In memory of Mary M. Springer, wife of Edwin Springer, born November 7, 1823, died May 26, 1905.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks. Letters should be sent to me c/o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515.

When is Congress going to consider no-fault auto insurance?

A bill (S. 354) to establish a no-fault automobile insurance system is tentatively scheduled for a vote in the Senate the end of this month. A House version of the bill has yet to clear committee action.

Did your questionnaire bear out the view that Congress must put some sort of controls on the Federal budget?

Yes. Approximately 75 percent of all citizens responding to the survey favored a Federal spending ceiling.

Where can I obtain a copy of the "Statistical Abstract of the United States?"

Paperbound copies of the Abstract may be ordered for $6.30 from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402.

Please explain the new Federal law which allows consumers to return merchandise bought from door-to-door salesmen?

Effective in June, a new Federal Trade Commission ruling will give consumers a three-day "cooling off period," if they buy merchandise costing more than $25 from door-to-door salesmen. The rule will require all contracts for door-to-door sales, which exceed $25, to carry a notice to the buyer that he may cancel of David H. Brown—as follows:

37. In memory of David H. Brown, born January 19, 1847, died June 17, 1905.

38. In memory of Malinda Brown, wife of David H. Brown, born January 23, 1848, died November 11, 1907.

These notes will be continued in this series next week.

the contract within three days from the date of the agreement.

I understand that you can't carry any firearms into the C&O Canal National Park. How, then, can I gain access to hunting areas on the other side of the park?

Hunters are permitted to cross the canal lands by the most direct route, with guns unloaded, to gain access to the Potomac River or to non-park owned lands lying between the canal and the river.

My husband has been disabled with black lung and was due to receive social security benefits several months ago.

Can you please straighten this matter out?

Upon receipt of your letter my office contacted the Social Security Administration in your behalf. Officials assure me that your husband's check has been mailed out and that he will be receiving a regular benefit check each month.

THINGS YOU NEVER KNEW ABOUT LEMONS

Consider the lemon. In other countries it's called citron, limon, limon, eytryna, limone and limao, although it is Greek to the ancient Greeks who never heard of it. Yet, throughout history, man has put the lemon to more uses—from lemonade to lemon-freshened cigarettes—than any other citrus fruit.

The lemon seems to have been unknown to most ancient civilizations, and originated from central or eastern Asia. The Arabs carried it to western Asia, and some time between the year 1000 and the year 1200 A.D. it was introduced into Spain and the north African countries.

In medieval days, the lemon was called "Persian apple." And during that time, it was further distributed throughout Europe by the Crusaders who found the fruit growing in Palestine. Lemon growers knew they had a good thing growing, but its many uses were still undreamed of then.

In 1494 the fruit was being cultivated in the Azores and shipped largely to England. In China the lemon is found only as a plant of relatively recent introduction and is very rare even in the southern provinces where other citrus is grown.

The lemon is a close relative of the orange and has followed it into many countries. However, the lemon is much less hardy than the orange, and the area of its cultivation is therefore more restricted. This close relationship between the orange and the lemon is seen very clearly when you realize that most Florida orange trees have lemon-tree roots, while almost all California lemon trees have orange-tree roots.

Man has truly benefited more from the lemon than any other citrus fruit. The pulp of the lemon yields juice, which contains citric acid and citrate of lime. It's an excellent source of vitamin C. The juice is used in flavoring food and drinks. In fact, lemonade was the rage of all Paris in 1630 when it was invented there following a sudden drop in the price of sugar. About a third of the California production is processed as juice or concentrates. Lemon juice may also be used as a bleach in the printing of cotton fabrics. Lemon oil, or extract, is obtained from the rind. This extract is used in perfumes and some medicines. The rind can be cooked with sugar to make candied lemon peel. As for its many uses in consumer products, the lemon is squeezing through to everyone's delight. And, now, they even have added a dash of lemon freshness to new menthol Twist cigarettes, which taste fresher than ordinary cigarettes and give you a smoother cool.

California is big on lemons—in fact, it grows practically all the commercial crops and about half the world crop of lemons. Lemon trees flower continuously and have fruit in all stages of development most of the year. A tree bears as many as 3,000 lemons annually. Lemons are gathered while still green, when they become too large to pass through the rings (2 1/4" in diameter) carried as gaugers by pickers. The fruit is cut from the trees and placed in canvas bags. Gloves are worn in handling the fruit, and every care taken to avoid the slightest injury to its skin.

Because it's a small, bitter fruit, it has come to mean the poorest of a lot-thus the expression, "You certainly picked a lemon!"

We've come a long way since the botanist Linnaeus named the lemon Citrus limonia, and we can be certain that the lemon will continue to bear new fruitful uses for all mankind.

Heads List Of Opinions In Byron Poll

THE PEOPLE SPEAK—Rep. Goodloe Byron studies the responses to his recent questionnaire in which over 7,000 Western & Central Maryland citizens registered support for restoration of the death penalty, foreign aid cuts and a federal spending ceiling.

Resoration of the death penalty headed the list of opinions by 6th District citizens based on 7,000 responses to a recent poll taken by Rep. Goodloe E. Byron.

Over 84 per cent of the respondents from Central and Western Maryland favored capital punishment for certain crimes of violence with opinions favoring foreign aid cuts (78%), a federal spending ceiling (74%) and troop cuts in Europe (64%) not far behind.

On the question of whether Congress has delegated too many decision-making powers to the Executive Branch of government, 68 per cent responded in the affirmative.

In other areas, 57 per cent of the citizens think less severe environmental controls will be necessary in order to make more fuel oil and gasoline available to meet the energy crisis.

In the two closest tabulations respondents favored continuation of wage and price controls 55%-28%, and favored expansion of trade exchanges with China and the

With regard to Federal campaign reform, 52 per cent favored an overall spending limitation while 40 per cent favored both a spending limitation and public financing of elections.

On the open-ended question concerning the energy crisis, Byron said he received a diversified reaction from constituents who generally felt that the energy situation was not being properly handled by the Federal government. While rationing was not specifically asked, only 10 per cent of respondents indicated that it should be imposed as a solution to the current gas shortages.

Byron said the final essay question, "What is your opinion of Watergate and its effect on the President?", also brought varied opinions and could not be tabulated into definitive categories. Asked how many citizens favored impeachment, Byron responded by saying that 21 per cent of the respondents did indicate that such action should be taken against the President.

Other dominate Watergate responses were "waste of time and money," "the President is innocent," "the President should resign," "the scandal has damaged the President badly" and "Congress should get on with other business."

Trojans Eyes Are On Championship

The Trojans of St. Joseph's figure this is the year. Coaches Tom McKay and Bob Custer think so. The town of Emmitsburg thinks so. The players are aglow over their chances of winning big for the first time in 15 years. A Blue Ridge Conference Championship is in sight.

Coach McKay, himself an AAA ballplayer in the S. F. Giants system, remarked, "The best way to describe our players is that they are eager. I am very pleased with their hard work and cooperation."

The Trojans finished with five wins against seven losses last year but figure to double the win mark this year.

A veteran team returns with experienced players at every position but second base. The pitching picture is the brightest of all with three lettermen returning, led by four-game winner, Joel Neighbours, and backed up by Steve Myers and Harold Engelstatter. Veteran letterman Dick Glass, will again handle the catching duties.

Steve Myers, when not pitching, will play center and can be used at first base when Engelstatter pitches. Steve batted .353 last year as a junior. A trio of newcomers will battle Mike Deatherage for the right field position.

The infield is the only question mark. Engelstatter will handle first and Bruce Hollinger, coming off a good frosh year, will hold down third. Neighbours, a good shortstop, leaves a gap to be filled when he is pitching. Greg Adelsberger appears to be the back-up shortstop at the moment.

Second base has three candidates fighting for that position: Donnie Miller, Adelsberger, and freshman, Jim Enright. Once the second base problem is solved the Trojans will be ready.

Key games with Lingonore, Walkersville, and Middletown, will prep the Trojans for an ambitious march to the Blue Ridge Baseball crown.

The next game will be Tuesday, March 26, 3:30 p.m., at Community Field with Lingonore furnishing the opposition.

MOSHA Training To Be Offered

Free training on the Maryland Occupational Safety and Health Act will be offered by the Baltimore chapter of the National Safety Council in April for employers in Frederick and Carroll Counties.

Employers are welcome to send an unlimited number of representatives, according to Cody L. Godman, administrator of the program.

Cooperating with the Baltimore Safety Council is the State Division of Labor & Industry which enforces the provisions of the law. Top officials from the staff of Commissioner Harvey A. Epstein will be present at each course to explain the state plan which superseded the federal program last July.

Two one-day courses will be held at the Holiday Inn in Frederick located at 999 W. Patrick Street, off Routes 40 and 15. Courses are held 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

An Orientation Course will be conducted on Tuesday, April 2. The program covers the general scope of the act, including record-keeping requirements, inspections, citations and penalties.

On Wednesday, April 3, a Safety and Health Program Course will be offered. It explains how to initiate and operate an effective accident prevention program.

A four-day Voluntary Compliance Course is scheduled for Hagerstown on April 23-26 at the Holiday Inn on Route 40, one mile west of I-70S. This course looks at major MOSHA standards such as fire and electrical codes, machine guarding, personal protective equipment and health hazards.

Reservations can be made by writing the Baltimore Safety Council, 1401 W. Mt. Royal Avenue, Baltimore 21217. For further information call 1-301-462-6678.

Craftsmen To Demonstrate Skills

The Catocin Mountain Park Craftsmen will demonstrate their skills for school groups each Tuesday, April 30 thru June 4, from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m.

According to Superintendent Pridemore, the Folk Craft Center located in the Round Meadow Camp, will be in operation as an extension of the classroom during this period on a reservation basis for teachers and students.

For reservations call 301-271-7447 or 824-2574, or write the Catocin Mountain Park, Thurmont, Maryland 21788.

Students will be given an opportunity to observe the almost extinct culture indigenous of the mountain area before the advent of modern energy-consuming conveniences: cooking and heating by wood and charcoal; handcrafted machinery powered by human muscles. In addition to demonstrations of blacksmithing, broommaking, weaving, pottery, and other related crafts, the Environmental Center is available that will encourage the students through self-discovery to become aware of their place in the ecological chain of nature.

Little League Elects Officers

The first meeting of the Emmitsburg Little League for 1974 was held March 21 at the VFW with fourteen attending. Due to the resignation of President Tip Harbaugh, the meeting was brought to order by the Secretary-Treasurer, Jerry Joy.

Election of officers for the new year was the first order of business. Officers elected were as follows:

President, Bob Saylor; vice president, Phil Topper; secretary-treasurer, Bill Wivell; player agent, Butch Myers; umpire-in-chief, Don Byard.

The new president took over the meeting at this time. It was then voted to stay in Williamsport Little League for the year 1974.

Pat received many lovely gifts, and refreshments were served to over 100 guests.

The next order of business was registration which will take place from March 18, until April 15. Tryouts will take place on Sunday, April 21, Monday, April 22, and Tuesday, April 23. It was decided to let eight year olds register, however, they must be eight before August 1, 1974.

Anyone that wants to register must contact Player Agent, Butch Myers, by April 15. No boy will be allowed to join a team after registration date unless he is a new arrival in the community. Managers were to check with their sponsors for uniforms. The meeting was then adjourned.

The next meeting will be held in the VFW on Sunday, March 31 at 1 p.m.

California and New York received $1.3 billion and $967.7 million, respectively largest shares of Veterans Administration expenditures on veterans and dependents during fiscal year 1973.
