

Bands To Present Concerts At MHS

On Tuesday, April 9 at 8:00 p.m., the Frederick All-County High School Band and the Frederick County Elementary Orchestra will present concerts at Middletown High School.

The Frederick County Elementary Orchestra, which will perform first on the program, will be directed by Calvin Wacker, string instrument instructor in the Frederick County schools. This group is made up of some 60 young musicians from grades 4 through 6 in the county elementary schools which offer string instruction. The orchestra has been rehearsing weekly at Gov. Thomas Johnson High School since early March in preparation for what will be the first public performance for many of the members.

Participating elementary schools include: North Frederick, East Frederick, Parkway, Urbana, Yellow Springs, Waverley, Middletown, Walkersville Woodsboro and New Midway. Teachers involved in the instruction of these students besides Mr. Wacker include: Miss Barbara Ralbourne, Edward Arrington, John Barnes and William Ey-

Following the elementary orchestra selections, string students from Gov. Thomas Johnson and West Frederick will perform to complete the first half of the program.

The second part of the program will feature the Frederick All-County High School Band. This group of 104 musicians was selected by audition from some 200 candidates. All public secondary schools, grades 9-12, in the county, are represented in this group. The band is preparing eight selections for the concert and will have spent five evening rehearsals prior to the arrival of the guest conductor.

The guest conductor, Mr. John Wakefield, is Director of the University of Maryland Bands at College Park. Under his direction, the band will rehearse on Monday evening, April 8, and all day on Tuesday, April 9, culminating with the concert that same evening. Participating band directors include: Howard Andrews, Henry Lewis, Jr., Jerry Marone, John Slezak, Gary Smith, Jay Wiles and Jimmie Worsley.

Thomas W. Fugate, Acting Supervisor of Music for the Board of Education, explained that current policy requires that events such as this be financially self-supporting, and in line with this policy an admission fee must be charged. Tickets will be available at the door only and will cost $1.50 for adults, 75c for students, with pre-school children admitted free.

FREDERICK COUNTY BACKGROUNDS

BY SAMUEL CARRICK
Historical Preservation
"Wild Geese—"

"Hark, that is more than wild geese going north, That cry from a cloud at the spring sunset's edge, As keen as the word in the lonely prophet's mouth— It is a promise and a pledge.

"They will return, they will break the old earth's grieving With clear, sweet clamor preceiling on and on; And they will be more than a wedge of wild birds cleaving Home through an April dawn."

It is fairly well known to all and sundry, by this time, that the Mountain View Memorial Cemetery is now operating under new management—a Board ministering the affairs of the facility for the use and benefit of the people of Emmitsburg and vicinity—for all who have buried loved ones in this plot of ground—set aside many years ago by public-spirited men and women for this very purpose. It is the purpose of this board that the cemetery shall be well kept and beautified. There is a great deal to be done and all of this takes money. As with other grounds all family plots are open to perpetual care or to an annual charge for upkeep. The latter will be three dollars per year for each grave—that is for each burial space in each lot. A small sum—but the regular fee charged by other burial grounds.

It is to be hoped that the community will join in the good work.

Now—to return to the burial record of the late Millard I. Shuff:

39. Mrs. William H. Ashbaugh—died June 31 (?) 1905—aged 70 years.

Note: Oddly enough there is a marker at Mountain View for William H. Ashbaugh—but none for his wife. Both the Holdercraft and MacPherson lists have been checked but no inscription has been found.

William H. Ashbaugh did not die until the year 1912.

40. Frank Caldwell—died September 30, 1905—aged 77 years.

Note: The grave of Francis (Frank) T. Caldwell is well marked. The inscription follows:

39. In memory of Francis T. Caldwell, born April 22, 1828, died September 30, 1905.

41. Mrs. Isaac Bowen, Jr.—died December 8, 1905—aged 42 years.

Note: No marker can be found at Mountain View for Mrs. Isaac Bowen, Jr.

42. Mrs. Peter Gearhart—died January 21, 1906—aged 69 years.

Note: There are two graves in the Gearhart plot at Mountain View. The inscription follows:

40. In memory of Peter Gearhart, born March 14, 1844, died February 5, 1922.

41. In memory of Sarah Gearhart, wife of Peter Gearhart, born August 2, 1847, died January 21, 1906.

43. Jacob Reeves—Soldier—died January 23, 1906—aged 70 years.

Note: The grave of Jacob H. Reeves is marked by a government stone—one furnished by the nation for those who have served their county. The inscription follows:

42. Jacob H. Reeves, Company C, 165th Pennsylvania Militia. (No dates or age).

44. Mrs. David Whitmore—died February 24, 1906—aged 90 years.

Note: The Whitmore family plot has been mentioned before in this series regarding Mountain View Cemetery. It is located at the top of the hill—to the right—and is enclosed by a pipe fence. The graves from the old Whitmore family burial ground on Tom's Creek (stones) were moved to this site some years ago.

43. In memory of David Whitmore, died May 8, 1839, aged 79 years, 1 month, and 24 days.

44. In memory of Rebecca Whitmore, wife of David Whitmore, died February 25, 1906, aged 89 years, 9 months, and 2 days.

45. Mrs. Philip Long—died May 2, 1906—aged 78 years.

Note: No marker can be found at Mountain View Cemetery for Mrs. Philip Long.

46. Mrs. J. Theophilus Gelwicks—died July 11, 1906—aged 63 years.

Note: The graves of Mrs. Gelwicks and her husband are marked. The inscriptions follow:

45. In memory of Joseph Theophilus Gelwicks, born March 17, 1843, died (No date of death given but apparently sometime after the death of his wife.)

46. In memory of Martha Isabella Gelwicks, wife of Joseph Theophilus Gelwicks, born May 24, 1844, died July 11, 1906.

47. William Bensill—died September 24, 1906—aged 33 years.

Note: No marker can be found at Mountain View Cemetery for William Bensill.

48. Elizabeth Hockensmith—died September 24, 1906—aged 33 years.

Note: No marker for Elizabeth Hockensmith is to be found at Mountain View. It will be remembered that the majority of Hockensmith family members are interred at old Tom's Creek Lutheran and Reformed churchyard. A few are buried in Elias Lutheran and Reformed churchyard and some in Mountain View.

It was at the old Hockensmith Tavern that the name of Emmitsburg was given to the community formerly known as Silver Fancy.

49. George Cox—died November 5, 1906—aged 86 years.

Note: This grave is marked. The inscription follows:

47. In memory of George Gibson Cox, born November 1819, died November 5, 1907.

50. Mrs. William Smith—died November 5, 1906—aged 58 years.

Additional notes pertaining to early burials in Mountain View Cemetery will be continued in this series next week.

PERSPECTIVES IN LEARNING

By Hazel Brown, President Harry Lundeberg School Textbooks Are Not Enough

The textbook has long been the favored tool for teaching and it would appear that this trend is here to stay.

A recent textbook evaluation prepared for the Association of American Publishers, Inc., disclosed that the basic textbook is still the fundamental tool used for teaching.

About sixty-four per cent of the students questioned preferred relying upon a single textbook because they were most familiar with that procedure for learning. Mention school and they think books!

The majority of professors felt that the basic text used alone was not enough and suggested that additional reading sources were necessary over half the time. That gives the textbook about fifty per cent favored use.

The broadening of available materials for learning experiences is a very encouraging indication. A total teaching package of textbooks, supplemental readings, outlines, study guides and audio-visual materials has much to offer in the way of providing a variety of learning experiences.

If the results of the textbook survey are valid, most faculty members are still using textbooks in spite of the hundreds of wonderful films, programmed study guides, television programs and other audio-visual materials.

This suggests slowness on the part of educators to utilize new materials as they become available. The trend is to recognize that using one basic textbook is not enough but the process of implementing that philosophy of multi-materials is very slow.

Hopefully the day of the textbook course will soon be over. There are too many meaningful materials available to rely solely upon one textbook or all the knowledge on any one topic or subject.

Using just one textbook assumes that every student in the class can read and fully understand that particular book, that every student learns best by reading books, and that one textbook can contain all that one needs to know about the subject.

I just can't believe that these situations exist in any classroom. It would appear that a variety of materials might better serve the variety of needs that are found in any given classroom.

Textbooks are just not enough!

Last Call For Freedom!
"We lacked enough love of freedom; and even more, a consciousness of the real situation." So the Russian people lost their historic anchorage and now march in a distressing and painful procession down a darkening road toward human disintegration.
This is the over-riding summation of Alexander I. Solzhenitsyn's courageous autobiography, his inside story of Russia's existence (today) under a brutal tyranny, of Communism's unchanging evil nature, and of its continuing threat to all mankind.
In his "we" he is speaking of the Russian people—their willingness, when confronted with a Communism they did not understand, to give up substantial freedoms for the promise of a utopia. . . "we lacked enough love of freedom."
And when he speaks of a "lack of consciousness of the real situation" he means simply a lack of understanding, in the early days of Communism, its true nature, its goal, its capabilities of establishing a tyrannical dictatorship over the Russian people—and the world.

Fate Of The World
The plight of the Russian people, he says over and over again and with overwhelming authority, is the plight now awaiting the rest of the world, and particularly the United States of America.

Solzhenitsyn's book, which has received widespread publicity even before publication in the U.S. (scheduled for April), is entitled "Gulag Archipelago." The direct quotations given here and in subsequent columns are from excerpts of an English translation published in a copyright series by the New York Times.
The noted Russian writer, whose criticism for 20 years has been a chronic, deepening thrust between the ribs of the Soviet bosses, smuggled the 260,000-word manuscript out of Russia for publication (first in a Russian translation) with the expectation that the book would serve as his death warrant—or worse. . . through unspeakable torture and the gradual transformation of a human personality from normal to animal with drugs and electronic equipment newly developed in Soviet psychiatric prison "hospitals." He said that it could be a death warrant also for anybody in Russia who touches it.

Proves Anti-Communist Voices Valid
"If freedom does not come to my country for a long time in the future, then the very reading and handling from person-to-person of this book," he said in a recent statement, "will be very dangerous—so that I am bound to salute future readers as well—on behalf of those others who have perished." "Those others" who have perished number in the millions.
The importance of this monumental expose of present-day as well as earlier-day Communism cannot be overstated. If read by enough people around the world it could result in a house cleaning in all nations whose leaders presently lend prestige and power to World Communism by accepting its self-elected bosses and giving formal diplomatic respect. This is the purpose of Solzhenitsyn's book and the possible sacrifice of his life for publishing its truth. A purpose achieved is a challenge to the morality of present day America.

A secondary importance of the book is that it documents beyond all challenge, proof that the lonely voices raised in America in an attempt to achieve public understanding of the Communist menace are authentic and valid, and that the anti-anti-Communists who try to smother the truth have been in fact supporting the goals of Lenin-Stalin-Khrushchev-Brezhnev and their self-appointed elite to control the human race.

The Archipelago Of The Damned
In opening his report, Solzhenitsyn recounts the discovery in a remote Siberian area of a frozen subterranean river containing frozen lizards and fish perhaps 50,000 years old. "We" (who had suffered the tortures of the prison camps) could picture those present, he says, "flouting the lofty interests of ichthyology and elabouring each other to be first as they tore off pieces of the prehistoric flesh and dragged it over the bonfire to thaw it and bolt it down." Thus the "archipelago" of his book is a malignant growth, not of land but of human beings so starved and "programmed" in the horrible Communist prison system that they would de-your prehistoric lizards with pleasure. These archipelago denizen (of which he was one) are the broken bits of humanity that have so far survived the worst Communist inhumanities. Some have come home, and the stories of millions who haven't now spread across Russia, giving the "archipelago" substance and form; degrading and disintegrating the historic Russian character, the ideal of freedom and the truth of a living God. This is part of the basis for Solzhenitsyn's shattering call to the free world. Will it find at last a massive righteous response, or will it become smothered in apathy—and become perhaps the greatest tragedy of history; the last call for freedom?

Someone is remembering you And someone always will For you've a place within my heart No one can ever fill In my heart I'd like to stray Thru the roads of yesterday To hear you laugh To see you smile Just to talk to you, Mom for a little while Though your smile is gone forever And your face I cannot see I shall never lose the memories of the one I still love so much If I had the whole world to give I'd give, yes and more To hear your voice and see your smile And greet you at my door But all I can do dear Mom Is go and tend your grave And leave behind tokens of love To the best Mom God ever made I like to think when life is done Where ever Heaven may be That you'll be standing at the door Up there to welcome me. Luther Leaguers See Karate Feats Highlighting a recent Luther League meeting at Elias Lutheran Church, was a Karate demonstration given for the Luther Leaguers and their friends. Presenting the various Karate forms was Mr. Donald Tyler, assisted by Mr. Joseph Tyler. Both avid Karate enthusiasts, the demonstrators captured their young group's attention with the many feats of Karate showmanship. Developed in the Orient, it involves striking an opponent with the hands, elbows, knees and feet. It was noted that persons who are skilled in Karate usually use it only in self-defense or in emergency situations. Luther Leaguers from the local congregation will meet Sunday, March 31 at 1:30 for an early Spring hike. Plans have been made for the youths and their advisors, Mr. and Mrs. D. Richard Smith, to hike in areas of the Catocin Park.

MSM Group To Present 'Damn Yankees'

With the advent of the baseball season, sports fans can get in shape by watching the Sock 'N Buskin production of the hit Broadway show "Damn Yankees," at Mount Saint Marys' College from April 4 through April 8. The show will be presented in Flynn Hall every night at 8 p.m., except on Sunday, April 7, when there will be a 2:30 matinee only.

Based on the book, "The Year the Yankees Lost the Pennant," the musical comedy spins a fanciful tale of devilry and delight and has brought to popularity the songs "You've Got to Have Heart," "Whatever Lola Wants" and "Two Lost Souls." It tells the story of Joe Hardy, an aging real estate man from Washington, D. C., who vows he would sell his soul to see his hometown team, then the Senators, beat the seemingly invincible Yankees. The Devil, in the guise of the personable Mr. Applegate, obligingly makes a pact with him, transforming him into a young, unbeatable athlete in return for his soul.

The comedy revolves around the devilry of Mr. Applegate, who covertly plans an upset victory for the Yankees, the struggle of the new baseball star to exercise his escape clause and return to his former life and wife, and the sizzling tricks of Lola, the ravishingly beautiful witch hired by Applegate to seduce Joe in staying.

In keeping with the setting, Flynn Hall will be transformed into a baseball stadium, according to Phillip Wyehodski, Mount drama professor and director of the musical. The theatre will be arranged to approximate the look and feel of a major league park, even to the point of seating the audience in "bleachers" rising away from the "playing field" where all the action will take place. Assisting in the production will be Lewis McAllister, professor of music and chairman of the Fine Arts Department, and Brenda Holmes, a professional choreographer from Washington, D. C.

Starring in the production will be Tim O'Brien as the young Joe Hardy, Bernie Delia as Mr. Applegate, and Cathy Greenville as Lola. Hugh Breslin plays the middle-aged Joe, Kathy Griffith his wife, Lou Fabmri, the Senator's irrepressible manager, and Katie Marshall, the suspicious newshound who spends her time trying to dig up the truth about Joe's past.

Also, Dave Griest, Leonard

Knight, Stan Reed, Joanne Fay, Debbie Guyton, Ginger Kemp, Peggy Kemp, Colleen Long, Georgiana Scott, Rob Mattaliano, Jim Madigan, Robby, Elaine and Tricia Marshall, and Julie Glenn and Kenney Garrett.

Involved in aspects of production and publicity are Karl Chudnoff, Peggy Kemp, Ed Horn, Bill McDermott, Jim Parker, Colleen Long, Jerry Holmes, Debbie Guyton, Jean Acheson, Jim Madigan, Mike Kincaid, Steve Colferai, and Nance McAllister.

Tickets for the production are $2 and will go on sale Monday, April 1. Reserved seating only is available. For ticket information call 447-6122, ext. 310 (Flynn Hall) after 6:00 p.m.

Crime Statistics For Md. Released

The crimes statistics for the State of Maryland compiled by the State Central Crime Records Bureau for the last six months of 1973 shows an 11.9% decrease in the number of murders reported as compared to the last six months of 1972.

A 2.4% increase in the number of forcible rapes was reported along with an increase in robberies of .46%; Aggravated Assaults 4.62%; Breaking and Entering 18.12%; Auto Theft 13% and Larcenies 148.7%.

It should be noted that previously to January of 1973, only those larcenies amounting to $50 or more were recorded in the Uniform Crime Report. Since that time all larcenies are being recorded and would account for the drastic increase. The increase in all categories in some cases can be attributed to the increase in reporting agencies and the more accurate accounting procedures that have been instituted.

Then there are people who would rather be sick than working.

PUBLIC NOTICE OF INTENT TO ADOPT REGULATIONS

Newspaper Notice

In accordance with Article 41, Section 245 (c), Annotated Code of Maryland, (1971 Replacement Volume), the Secretary of Health and Mental Hygiene hereby publishes notice of his intention to adopt regulations as follows, at 10:30 A.M., Wednesday, April 24, 1974 in the 4th Floor Conference Room, 610 N. Howard Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21201

10.23.04 REGULATIONS OF THE MARYLAND STATE BOARD OF EXAMINERS IN OPTOMETRY GOVERNING CONTINUING EDUCATION REQUIREMENTS

Copies of the proposed regulation are available in the offices of the Board of Examiners in optometry, 610 N. Howard Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21201.

Interested persons have the opportunity of submitting data or views, orally or in writing, to the office of the Regulations Coordinator, 610 N. Howard Street, Baltimore, Maryland 21201, prior to, or at the time of, the intended action by the Secretary.

Upon failure to submit data or views, orally or in writing, the regulations may be adopted upon the statements of parties present.

Farmers Who Need Fuel Receive Help

What do you do if you are a Maryland farmer or waterman and find that you need gasoline or diesel fuel in a hurry? Officials from Maryland's Department of Agriculture, Energy Policy Office and Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office have allied their forces to help food producers cut red tape.

State Secretary of Agriculture, Young D. Hance, has worked out the program in cooperation with watermen's officials and everyone concerned has pledged themselves to redoubled efforts to cut paperwork delays and keep fuel flowing to the state's food producers.

"Our plan," said Mr. Hance, "is to make the local, county, ASCS office the first place to go. These people have the forms, know the paperwork and are pledged to sit down with the farmer or waterman and fill out the forms step by step with him."

"Once the forms are filled out they flow through the Maryland Energy Policy Office and the regional Federal Energy Office in Philadelphia. However, at all times the local ASCS office is the primary contact. If the problem can't be solved there, the state ASCS office goes to bat, if the fuel still can't be made available quickly, then the State Energy Policy Office goes to work with the Maryland Department of Agriculture assisting in any way possible.

"In the case where a dirt farmer, or waterman, is out of fuel and needs it now, the local ASCS office in most cases can follow emergency procedures to help. However, the important thing for all of us to do, and what many people never had to do before, is to project their needs and keep a sharp eye on the fuel gauge or tank dip stick and plan ahead so they don't run out.
