The excitement is starting to mount as that time of year approaches when this area is turned into a gala of events. But something is different this year. We've taken notice of the absence of Emmitsburg's activities in the advertising brochures of the Catoctin Colorfest. And now I understand the famous Firemen's Parade and all of Emmitsburg's activities will not be part of the Catoctin Colorfest this year.

Supposedly, the situation developed when the Catoctin Mountains Tourist Council asked the Fire Company to contribute funds for the event. The Fire Company, realizing their funds were received for their purpose alone, did not feel authorized to turn any of this money over to another cause. The CMTC apparently took this to mean that their request was rejected, so now suddenly we have two separate events and no communication taking place between both groups. Well, two questions come immediately to mind.

First, I wonder if the reasons behind the Fire Company's decision were conveyed to the CMTC. Secondly, I wonder if the CMTC made an honest attempt to satisfy Emmitsburg with other proposals and plans. After all, Emmitsburg offers a lot to the Colorfest by way of its parade and would like to know what it will receive for its efforts.

So far, this lack of communication has not affected the plans of any community and I'm sure the Colorfest Weekend and Fireman's Parade will be as successful as ever without the tourists ever knowing the difference. But if this official squabble is to be prevented from spoiling future years, something must be done to reunite Emmitsburg in the Catoctin Colorfest. There has even been talk of separate dates for the events. Before anyone gets serious about these changes, however, both the CMTC and Emmitsburg should take heed.

Together we offer the people of surrounding counties and states one great fun filled weekend. But we all know, these days of tight money and high priced gasoline are making it tougher to get around. Motel owners and businessmen alike should take note, it would not take much to persuade people to only stay for one day or go to another one of the growing number of fall attractions in other areas. To offer anything less than this combined weekend of fun might make us all losers.

As is true of most disputes, this one will not be resolved until one man from each community has enough courage and concern to meet with the other somewhere in between the cause of the misunderstanding. Discussion and compromise can settle this matter easily—the tough part is for it to begin.

Revival Meeting To Be Held Here

Reverend Martin A. Case, former pastor of the local Methodist Church, will preach at Revival Services at Tom's Creek United Methodist Church October 13-16, at 7:30 p.m. each evening.

Asbury College, Wilmore, Kentucky, was the scene of his undergraduate work, and he received the Bachelor of Divinity degree from Asbury Theological Seminary there in 1957.

After serving churches in the Mississippi Annual Conference of the Methodist Church for several years, Rev. Case transferred to the Baltimore Annual Conference where he was assigned to the Thurmont-Emmitsburg Methodist Churches from 1962-66.

While in this area he did graduate studies at the Lutheran Theological Seminary in Gettysburg. His interests led Rev. Case back to Mississippi where he is presently serving as pastor of the First Methodist Church in Laurel.

A cordial welcome is open to all who want to share in the Good News—the Gospel—through word and song.

Mount Saint Mary's Seminary To Get New Wing

Seminarians and priests at the building site of the new wing at Mount Saint Mary's Seminary

Construction is under way on the new wing for Mount Saint Mary's Seminary.

The Mount Seminary stands out today as one of the few seminaries in the country operating beyond full capacity. It is now accommodating a record enrollment of 164 students and has had to turn 30 applicants away this year.

"With this new addition, every seminarian will be able to have his own room," says the Rev. Harry J. Flynn, Rector of the Seminary. "Having a private room is absolutely essential for the spiritual and personal development of young men studying for the priesthood."

The $375,000 wing, which is being financed by Mount Saint Mary's current capital campaign, Achievement II, is expected to be completed by April 1, 1975. It will include 42 private rooms for students, six guest rooms and three priest suites. Construction is being done by Roy Kirby & Sons of Baltimore.

The second oldest seminary in the United States, Mount Saint Mary's Seminary was founded in 1808 by the Reverend John Dubois, a French emigre priest who later became the third Bishop of New York. The Seminary serves 30 dioceses and four archdioceses and has given forty-five bishops to the Church in its one hundred and sixty five years of existence.

Support from the Bishops, whose diocese are served by the Seminary, has totaled nearly $225,000. In a phase of the campaign conducted for the faculty and seminarians, an additional $20,800 was pledged. The student chairmen were Patrick J. Gillis of Washington, D. C., and Paul F. Gerosky of Seranton, Pa. The faculty appeal was headed by the Rev. John Holley, Ph.D., who is Vice Rector and Assistant Dean of Studies at the Seminary. Additional support is now being sought from foundations and members of the Mountaineer Priests Alumni Association.

Book Published On Decathlon

Frank C. Zarnowski, Mount Saint Mary's College cross-country coach and assistant professor in the Business Department, is the author of a recently published book entitled "How To Organize And Run A Decathlon."

Published by the United States Track and Field Federation, the book deals with such practical matters as "How To Score" and "How To Save Time" as well as a discussion of "Qualifying Standards" and "The Ten Events: Common Problems and some Suggestions."

Zarnowski explains his reason for writing the book in the Preface: "This manual was born out of need. With growing interest in the event there was a necessity to interpret the present sketchy decathlon rules. As a meet director who was certain he must be doing something wrong, I began by doing a bit of research. I visited the Library of Congress in Washington. Four books on the decathlon are on file. Two are in English. They are a 1934 scoring table and a children's book relating the exploits of Bob Mathias. A third was written in German. A fourth in Russian. No help."

For several years Zarnowski has organized and run the Eastern Decathlon Championships held at Mount Saint Mary's College each spring. He has also announced every NCAA Decathlon Championship and announced the 1972 Olympic Trials in Eugene, Oregon. He is Chairman of the National Decathlon Hall of Fame.

Work Published Of Area Professor

Dr. Robert Ducharme, Associate Professor of English at Mount Saint Mary's College, has recently had published a critical work entitled "Art and Idea in the Novels of Bernard Malamud: Toward the Fixer."

Dr. Ducharme's work, which is the first book-length critical study of Malamud, has been printed by Mouton Publishers as Volume XIII of their series "Studies in America Literature."

About the book one critic comments, "The significant contribution of Professor Ducharme's scholarship and criticism is his ability to uncover an ambiguity in this attitude toward suffering in the heroes of 'The Assistant and A New Life' and to connect it significantly to Yakov Bok of 'The Fixer,' whose rebellious rejection of suffering at the end of that book seems to set him apart from previous Malamud protagonists. Professor Ducharme's study persuasively argues that this significant shift in the Malamud hero's attitude toward suffering has been gradually foreshadowed in earlier works."

A past president's pin was presented to Mrs. Gail Graff by the PTA in appreciation for her years of hard work and dedication to the new school project.

Six new faculty members were welcomed to the school by Vice President John Watkins, with a gift of flowers. The school personnel was introduced by Principal Richard Van Tries. The room banner was won by Mrs. Joan Scheck's first grade for having the most parents present.

After a tour of the school, everyone enjoyed refreshments in the Home Economics area served by the first and second grade room mothers. The next meeting will be October 23.

The annual Firemen's Parade will take place next Saturday afternoon, October 12, in Emmitsburg. With the general theme of "Fire Prevention," the parade committee has announced that "Smoky the Bear" will be present. This year's parade is expected to be as large as last year's which included over 100 units. Chairman James Kitinger said that everything is looking good for next Saturday's parade with many majorette groups participating, along with numerous fire companies, rescue companies and county fire queens. Several floats are also expected to be in the line-up.

In addition to marching units, drill teams and bands, a color guard, clown, antique cars, a drum and rifle com-

The Block Party, sponsored by the Vigilant Hose Co., will begin in the morning on DePaul Street, also the site of majorette, color guard and drummer competition. A delicious chicken barbecue will begin at 10 a.m. and continue throughout the day. Also to be featured at this year's Block Party will be homemade chicken - corn soup. Many games can be enjoyed by all ages along with a variety of food and drinks at the event. Chairman of the Block Party is Eugene Myers. His various committees have been busy in making the Block Party more exciting than any before.

Many Attend First PTA Meeting

The new Emmitsburg School PTA started the school year off with a bang last Wednesday night when over 70 parents and teachers joined at the first meeting. The PTA was especially pleased to have all the school personnel, including faculty, aids, and special educators on hand, except one.

President Eric Glass called the meeting to order in one corner of the large teaching area of the school and the parents could get some idea of how the students related to the open school.

Various committee reports were presented by the committee chairpersons. Mrs. LeVerne Bennet noted that all room mothers have been selected. Chairman of the Book Fair Committee, Mrs. Ottoloe Hewitt, reported that this year's fair will be Oct. 22 thru Nov. 1. This fair will be different than other years in that the books will all be paperback and therefore less expensive. Mrs. Dot Damuth, membership chairman, said the membership drive will be the month of October.

A past president's pin was presented to Mrs. Gail Graff by the PTA in appreciation for her years of hard work and dedication to the new school project.

Six new faculty members were welcomed to the school by Vice President John Watkins, with a gift of flowers. The school personnel was introduced by Principal Richard Van Tries. The room banner was won by Mrs. Joan Scheck's first grade for having the most parents present.

After a tour of the school, everyone enjoyed refreshments in the Home Economics area served by the first and second grade room mothers. The next meeting will be October 23.

Teen Center? Possibility

An open meeting of the Emmitsburg Park and Recreation Board and all interested members of the community was held in the Fire Hall on Sept. 25, to discuss the possibility of a teen center in Emmitsburg. Eugene Myers, president of the Park Board, presided.

Father James Delaney, from Mt. St. Mary's College, spoke to the 22 people assembled, of his efforts on behalf of the community to organize this center. The YMCA of Frederick, has shown interest in supporting the group by making personnel available for teaching various skills. Funding from Frederick County and Maryland State organizations is available, and Group Action Project students from Mt. St. Mary's College also showed great interest and a desire to aid the center.

There was some discussion from the people present, plus verbal promises from representatives of the various organizations to assist, if and when needed, with the functioning of the center.

The availability of funds for a paid General Program Director for the center was also discussed, and will be investigated by Mr. Myers.

The meeting was adjourned to be reconvened when more information is available.

Cause Of House Fire Unknown

Fire officials are probing a "suspicious fire" that caused an estimated $3,000 to $4,000 damage to the east wall of a two-story frame home on Friends Creek Rd. in Liberty Twp., 3 miles west of Emmitsburg, shortly after 4 o'clock Monday morning.

Firemen from Emmitsburg and Fairfield responded to the alarm with five pumps and quickly knocked down the flames engulfing the wall before they could spread to the roof.

Fairfield Fire Chief Lawrence Eversole said the three tenants, Paul Sick, Edwin Thompson and Carl Reichart, were awakened by the smoke and one ran to a nearby neighbor's house to phone for the fire companies. The home is owned by W. B. Shank, who resides near the dwelling at Fairfield Rd.

Adams County Fire Marshal John W. Murren and Chief Eversole agreed that the fire definitely originated on the wall outside the dwelling. They said there was a possibility the fire might have been set. The firemen confined the blaze mostly to the exterior of the dwelling except for a small fire that broke through into a second floor bedroom.

Both fire companies were on the scene two and a half hours conducting mop up operations and attempting to establish the definite cause of the fire.

Three Students Receive Notice

Three seniors at Catoctin High School have been named Merit Program Commended students by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

Scholarship Harper Long announced that the following students have received Letters of Commendation: William J. Gray, Warren H. Keefe, and Steven B. Love.

These students are among the 38,000 Commended students named on the basis of their high performance on the 1973 Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. Commended students are in the upper 2 per cent of those who are expected to graduate from high school in 1975. Although the Commended students ranked high on the test, their scores were just below those of the 15,000 Semifinalists who were announced in September by NMSC; Commended students do not continue in the Merit Scholarship competition.

Frederick Teachers To Meet

The public schools of Frederick County will again close by "articulation areas", a secondary school and three elementary schools which feed into it, for a teacher in-service training meeting on one of several dates during October.

Dr. Alfred Thaskston, Jr., Assistant Superintendent for Instruction, announced that on October 16, Catoctin High School, Thurmont Middle and Elementary, Emmitsburg and Sabillasville will be closed.

FREDERICK COUNTY BACKGROUNDS

BY SAMUEL CARRICK
A George Smith Genealogy
"The sun be warm and kind
to you—
The darkest night, some star
Shine through,
The dullest morn
A radiance brew,
And when dusk comes—
God's hand
to you."

Before continuing the data regarding the Eyster (Eister-Oyster) family, of Pennsylvania and Maryland, some information pertaining to a rare book—A Genealogy of the Descendants of George and Christina Smith of the Cattail Branch (now Bridgeport). This study was done by James Helman, the author of "A History of Emmitsburg, Maryland," and a descendant of George Smith.

In 1906, shortly after his history of Emmitsburg was published, James Helman made a trip to Ohio to attend a reunion of the descendants of George and Christina Smith, and he told the Editor of the "Chronicle", Sterling Galt, of his genealogy of the Smith family, published as a pamphlet, which he had researched and written. This is sure proof that such a study existed—at one time.

It will be remembered that George Smith, who is interred with his wife and some of their children in the old Tom's Creek Lutheran and Reformed churchyard, was the first man to receive a patent for land in Tom's Creek Hundred, Frederick County, Maryland. He called his plantation "The Cattail Branch."

In Tom's Creek churchyard, near the center of the plot, stood the George Smith memorial—it can now be seen lying flat near the front panel of fence. James Helman raised the money for this monument and saw to its erection. In addition he wrote the inscription that is cut thereon—

1. "To the memory of our ancestors. They were amongst the earliest settlers in this locality. March 16th, 1746, a patent was granted for a Tract called Cattail Branch, where they lived and died.
"George Smith, born 1720, died 1793.
"Christina Smith, wife of George Smith, born 1720, died 1790."

George and Christina Smith were the parents of eleven children—four boys and seven girls. Their son, John (2) Smith, was a member of Captain William Blair's Company during the War of the American Revolution. This soldier is interred near his parents in the old churchyard and his grave is marked.

Following the trend of that day some of the children and grandchildren of George and Christina Smith "followed the frontier" and sought their fortunes "in the western lands." Only a few of the clan remained in Frederick County, Maryland, and James Helman was probably descended from one of the Smith daughters. One of these daughters, Christina Smith, married Michael Row, a soldier in the Revolution. Both are buried at old Tom's Creek. Another daughter married Corporal John Crabbs, of the famous Gamecock Company, and the owner of one of the first mills built on Tom's Creek. Susan Smith, a third daughter of George (1) and Christina Smith, married John Sluss. The latter couple are also interred at old Tom's Creek.

The four remaining daughters of the pioneer George Smith remain a mystery. Nothing is known, at this time, pertaining to them.

A genealogy, such as the one written by Mr. Helman, would solve "many a mystery" in the early history of the Tom's Creek Settlement. Somewhere, perhaps in an attic or an old bookcase, long undisturbed, there must be a copy of the Smith Genealogy. If you have a copy of the book—please make it available or the use of historians and those interested in the early history of the community of Emmitsburg.

BUSINESS AND THE STOCK MARKET

Shift In Tax Patterns May Be Near

By Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass., October 3, 1974—Investors can take some comfort from the news coming out of Washington regarding the prospects for the reform and the shape that reform may take. The recently concluded Economic Summit talks just may have provided the spur that will assure action this year. But a tax measure in 1974 is by no means assured.

However, the House Ways and Means Committee has of late been giving new attention to tax matters. If, as we expect, Congress resumes its deliberations after a pre-election recess, work on a comprehensive tax bill will go forward with dispatch. Even so, the component issues are complex and time will be extremely short. Hence, it will certainly take some doing to achieve a compromise that can pass both chambers and be acceptable to the White House as well.

Pluses For Investors

Such a bill could include broad easing of the levy on capital gains. One of the units of Ways and Means earlier agreed to exempt from taxation as much as 70% of any gain, compared with the current 50%. In addition, there is some sentiment within the committee favoring a sliding-scale level that would be of benefit to investors. There is, however, stiff opposition—not only in the committee but also in the House and Senate—from those who believe that the present capital gains exemption is an expensive loophole that provides the nation's investors with an unfair advantage.

found in the churchyard of Harbaugh's church at Sabillasville. The inscription follows:
7. In memory of Mary Eyster, died April 18, 1843, aged 56 years, 7 months and 27 days.
This concludes, for a time at least, the notes pertaining to the Eyster (Eister-Oyster) family, of Pennsylvania and Maryland.

Despite Chairman Mills, there is expectation that the plight of the securities markets and the urgency of the extraordinary need for boosting capital investment will tip the scales in favor of an easing of levies on capital gains. In sharp contrast, there is less hope that Congress will go along with proposals for a boost in the tax credit allowed business for plant and equipment expenditures.

Changes In Personal Exemptions, Deductions

We must, of course, await word from President Ford as to what he wants to have included in a tax package, but it is fairly certain he will recommend that capital gains treatment be eased and that business be given adequate tax credit as an incentive to lay out more for plant and equipment. Nor is he expected to raise any serious objection to the efforts now afoot in Congress to reduce or even completely eliminate certain exemptions and deductions at present allowed individuals on their tax return Form 1040.

The President's post-Economic Summit message on taxes should be ready for Congress in the early part of next month. It could well include a plea for some increase in the personal income tax rate as a device to help cool inflationary fires by holding down consumer demand. Such a proposal would likely win wide favor on Capitol Hill. But if it were to be adopted, it would also lead to an expansion of government spending and further inflation unless the new funds raised were earmarked exclusively for reduction of the federal debt.

Excises And Vat
Right now, Congress does not seem disposed to tinker very much with present federal excise levies or to incorporate in a tax package completely new types of imposts. But if, as he is being urged, the President were to seek a boost in the federal excise on gasoline, the solons might go along—not with anything like a hike to 10c a gallon, but they might accept as much as 5c a gallon.

Some White House advisers are still much interested in the idea of a value-added tax but there is little support for such a radical departure in Ways and Means. The Research Department of Babson's Reports doubts that the Administration will send a proposal for this to the Hill. It may be a hot item in a year or two, but right now it is so poorly understood, its impact so uncertain, that there is no disposition to add it to our present tax structure.

Early Warning Signs of a Heart Attack

Every year, over half a million Americans die of the nation's number one killer—heart disease. Many of these deaths were needless because the victims did not recognize the early warning signs of a heart attack and seek help in time. Minutes count when a heart attack occurs; unnecessary delay can be fatal.

What are the symptoms of a heart attack? The Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States says watch for the following danger signs:

- Temporary or prolonged heavy pressure or squeezing pain in the center of the chest.
- Chest pains that spread to the shoulder, arm, neck, or jaw.
- Sweating, nausea, vomiting or shortness of breath accompanying such chest pains.

Half the people who die from heart attacks apparently do not recognize these symptoms in time. They never reach a hospital.

So, even if you think your discomfort may be due to a stomach upset or similar problem, get to a doctor for a diagnosis. If your doctor is not available, go to a hospital emergency room at once. Hospital coronary care units have reduced the death rate of heart attacks by at least half.

Remember, your good health begins with you.

A Warning Worth Rereading

Back in 1944 a great Congressman (Samuel Pettengill) warned that communism wanted America to spend itself into bankruptcy and was striving in every way to get Americans to become totally dependent on a centralized government. He gave to his fellow members of the House of Representatives the 12 points of the Socialist Manifesto for the economic destruction of free governments. We freed, desperately, to review his words. In order to prepare a nation or socialism or communism he said: (quote)

"The people must be made to feel their utter helplessness and their inability to solve their own problems. While in this state of mind, there is held up before them a benign and all-wise leader to whom they must look for the cure of all their ills. This state of mind is most readily developed in a time of economic stress or national disaster.

"The principle of local self-government must be wiped out, so that this leader or group in control can have a political power readily at hand.

"The centralized government, while appearing in form to represent the people, must dutifully register the will if the leader or group in control.

"Constitutional guarantees must be swept aside. This is accomplished in part by ridiculing them as outmoded and as obstructions to progress.

"Public faith in the legal profession and respect for the courts must be undermined.

"The law-making body must be intimidated and from time to time rebuked, so as to prevent the development of public confidence therein.

"Economically, the people must be kept ground down by high taxes, which, under one pretext or another, they are called upon to pay. Thus, they are brought to a common level, and all income above a meager living is taken from them. In this manner, economic independence is kept to a minimum, and the citizen is forced to rely more and more upon the government that controls him. Capital and credit is thus completely within the control of government.

"A great public debt must be built up so that citizens can never escape its burdens.

This makes government the virtual receiver for the entire nation.

"A general distrust of private business and industry must be kept alive, so that the public may not begin to rely upon its own resources.

"Government bureaus are set up to control practically every phase of the citizen's life. These bureaus issue directives without number, but all under the authority of the leader to whom they are immediately responsible. It is a government of men, and not of laws.

"The education of the youth of the nation is taken under control to the end that all may, at an early age, be inoculated with a spirit of submission to the system and of reverence for the benevolent leader.

"To supplement and fortify all the foregoing, there is kept flowing a steady stream of governmental propaganda designed to extol al that bow the knee, and to vilify those who dare to raise a voice of dissent."

These are the twelve points in the blueprint of the communists to take over this nation via economic manipulation as presented by Samuel Pettengill. Stop and go back over them and ask yourself how near to total completion and fulfillment America is at this present moment to every one of them. It will frighten you and it will disturb you . . . and all America needs to be disturbed and frightened into taking constructive action to avert the dangers of debt.

Remember Lenin said in 1921 . . . "They will spend themselves into bankruptcy . . . they will commit national suicide." Stalin said, "We won't have to fire a single shot . . . they will fall, like overripe fruit, into our hands."

But finally, let us remember the words of our own Thomas Jefferson, author of the Declaration of Independence, third President, and one of the wisest of our founding fathers. He said: "If we let Washington tell us what to sow and when to reap, the nation shall soon want for bread."

SAFETY FEATURE PROTECTS CHILDREN

Frustration shows as this young child can not reach the spray button under the "Child Protector-Top" Closure, found only on Shell Chemical Company's new line of aerosol insecticides.

Government regulations require that certain medications and household aerosol sprays be capped so that they are reasonably resistant to the curiosity of young children. Some of these are so complex that even adults have a hard time using them.

Now comes a new child-resistant cap for household aerosols that is so simple that even a young child can't operate it. But adults can.

Is the cap effective? In tests devised by the federal government, not one of the young children, all under age 51 months, could operate the spray cans, either with or without instruction. But all adults in the tests were able to use the aerosols either without or with instruction. The result is an aerosol cap that has scored 100% in the protection of young children and in adult usage.

This is an anatomical approach to safety. The child's finger is simply not long enough to reach into the plastic safety cap far enough to find the spray button. And the adult finger is.

Even if a child knocks the cap from the container, when the cap comes off it takes most of the spray mechanism with it, leaving it extremely difficult to operate.

There is an adult safety feature as an added bonus. When the aerosol is actuated the can is naturally aimed in the direction the finger points. This makes spraying away from the body practically automatic.

This simple mechanism, called the CHILD PROTECTOR-TOP® Closure, is found only on aerosol insecticides marketed by Shell Chemical Company through supermarkets, hardware and drugstores, and discount houses.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks. Letters should be sent to me c/o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515.

I recently read that G.I.'s can now select the duty station of their choice — Please explain?

You are probably referring to a new Army Retention and Reenlistment Program that is available to qualified first term soldiers who are scheduled to leave the Army this year. In order to provide an incentive to extend current service these soldiers will be allowed to select a station of choice for a twelve month extension. Selected station of choice assignment will be dependent on skill and grade position vacancy.

How do you feel about the proposal for sending nuclear reactors to the Mid-East?

I do not support the idea of nuclear sales to foreign nations because there are too many risks and uncertainties involved. Fears of weapons production and terrorist attacks, questions about the stability of recipient foreign governments, and the need to cut back on foreign aid are just a few reasons for my stand.

Paperbacks Score Hit In Library

On The Paperback Rack
This week we received nine new paperback books at the Library that are worthy of your attention and reading time. Paperback books are the coming thing in libraries across the nation. Especially for popular books that cannot be purchased in hardback in such numbers to fill the demand. These paperback books appeal to many. Drop in and browse. "The Search for Anna Fisher," by Florence Fisher. This story of Anna Fisher could be the story of any adopted child that does not know his or her natural parents. What is more natural than the desire to know one's origin. What is more natural than the desire to learn something of one's heritage? All children love to be regaled with anecdotes and details, about their parents or grandparents. They look at their parents and try to find something of themselves in the way these people walk and talk, in their interests and their talents, in their strengths and flaws. Such information provides a frame for their lives, and a continuity with their pasts.

This story of a young woman's search for her real parents is one of the most dramatic and moving true-suspense stories ever written. "Sybil," by Flora Rheta Schreiber. This book has been a national best seller for over six months. You have seen it advertised in TV—read about it and it is at your library now in hardback as well as paperback. Sybil's true story provides a rare glimpse into the unconscious mind and opens doorways to new understanding. A reflection of abnormal psychology and of an extraordinary developmental pattern, the case of Sybil Dorsett supplies new insight into the normal. The true and extraordinary story of a woman possessed by sixteen separate personalities.

"Upstairs at the White House," by J. B. West. Mr. West was the chief usher of the White House from 1941 thru 1969. Over five months on the best seller list! Mr. West was the man to see to get slats put in the Presidential bed when the Trumans broke it during the night. To scrounge up enough food for over a thousand people when the Johnsons gave an impromptu party; to help Jacqueline Kennedy search the storerooms for antiques or to help Mamie decorate for every holiday, Halloween to Christmas. Mr. West is too discreet to tell everything, but he tells a lot more than we knew before. The intimate family details he provides can help all of us understand our First Families better.

"I Lost Everything In The Post - Natal Depression," by Erma Bombeck. You have not lived if you have never read any of Era Bombeck's books.

These local crimes are taking place just as a general increase in crime is sweeping the state. The Maryland State Police have just released their figures showing an increase in crime of 21.44% during the first six months of 1974, compared to the same period in 1973. Interestingly enough, the largest proportion of this increase were property crimes (up 23.50%) and not violent crimes (up 8.87%). This development might be a direct result of the economic climate of the times. It has long been claimed that there is a strong association between crime and the economy. One answer then might be for Washington to straighten out this economy and get people jobs again. But the best answer might be to add to our earlier statement and not just to watch over our neighbor but also to lend him a helping hand.

Even if you read her column in the Morning Sun, it brightens your day. Before you read her book there are a few things you should know about her: She considers ironed sheets a health hazard; children should be judged on what they are—a punishment for an early marriage; there are no virtues in waxing your driveway; husbands are married for better or worse—but not for lunch; and mothers-in-law who wear a black armband to the wedding are explicable. Erma Bombeck is one of the most popular journalists writing in America today. She describes herself as housewife, garbage hustler, and pretty face, has once again produced an irreverent, hilarious account of family life in this book.

"I'll Tell Them I Remember You," by William Peter Blatty. Reveals the influence of the supernatural on his own life and in the writing of his great best selling novel, the Exorcist.

Catoctin High Plans Homecoming

Catoctin High School will hold its fourth annual homecoming this year on October 11 and 12. Homecoming was introduced to enable all alumni to return, visit teachers, and see the changes that have taken place.

The festivities will begin with a pep rally outside on the football field at 1:30 p.m. on Friday, followed by a powder puff football game at 2 p.m. During these events, the queen and her court will be announced. All alumni are welcome to come to the powder puff game. The soccer game with Middletown will begin at 3:30 p.m.

Friday evening, a contest will be held for the best decorated car. All the cars will then form a calvacade which will pass through Thurmont and the surrounding area. Prizes will be awarded for the best decorated cars.

October 12 will bring the parade marching through Thurmont toward Catoctin. The best class float will be judged during the parade. The football game, which starts at 2 p.m., is against Williamsport. Hafttime activities will start with a selection from Catoctin's band. The parents of the senior players will be recognized at this time. The queen and her court will be escorted to the field, where the queen will receive her crown, after which the game will continue.

Saturday evening, the student council will sponsor a dance from 8 'til 11, featuring "Butterfly Lane", to end Homecoming. All alumni and friends are invited to join in the activities with Catoctin's students.

Mrs. Virginia Sanders, Mrs. Ann (Rotering) Miller, and Mrs. Monica Elder, spent several days recently visiting Mr. and Mrs. Michael Bobanic and sons of Aliquippa, Pa. While there, they toured the summer home of the famous Kaufman family. It is named "Falling Water" because it was built over a waterfall. It was designed by the world-renowned architect, Frank Lloyd Wright.
