Most Anything At A Glance

- By Abigail -

This coming Sunday, Mother Seton School will be the site of a special presentation. The Boy Scouts of America, Troop 284, will be honoring one of their most distinguished members, Lawrence E. Kehne. The National Court of Honor ceremony will climax with the Medal of Merit presentation to Kehne. This young man deserves the high award, and for that matter, he also deserves a "thank-you." In a sense, he has done this community a service by setting an excellent example; that's something we shouldn't overlook.

By now you're probably aware of the recent repaving done on Emmitsburg's South Alley. In most places, the roadway is now a standard sixteen feet wide. That should be a help. As part of the repaving process, the telephone poles on South Alley were taken down and the wires relocated.

I heard Commissioner Norman Flax say that the town could use those poles... probably around the park. For that reason, the poles were left behind by the utility company. It seems, though, that someone else in Emmitsburg had a use for them. The poles mysteriously disappeared one night recently, and from what I can gather, the culprit cut them into small pieces in order to truck them away. Perhaps I'm misinformed, but last time I checked, town property wasn't available for the taking on a "first-come, first-served" basis.

Some folks in town must be doing things right, though, for why else would we be blessed with rain for a second time in two weeks? We could always use more, that's true, but so far the Civil Defense pump hasn't been pressed into use to aid us in our water shortage. It's here if we need it, thanks to Commissioner Flax and all the other town officials.

Last month, if you recall, Boyle's Market purchased a trash compactor to replace their incinerator. This change-over was initiated by the Environmental Protection Agency, which is also responsible for putting a halt to open trash burning at Emmitsburg's dump. The deadline for the end of open-burning is December 15th, after which time we'll have to use another system of garbage removal.

County officials have in mind a transfer station where Emmitsburg's trash would be compacted. It would then be hauled to a landfill in the Frederick County area. This system would eliminate the hazards of open-burning, and as an added bonus, it would be cheaper! In these days, if it's cheaper, I'm for it.

Beall Co-Sponsors Cut-Back Bill

Taking positive action in the fight to limit government spending, Senator J. Glenn Beall, Jr. (R-Md.) is co-sponsoring legislation to cut back travel allowances by 25 percent for Federal officials. The measure is intended to cut costs of transportation for out-of-town meetings, while also reducing the amount of fuel used by the Federal government.

More specifically, travel expenditures at the Federal level are expected to reach nearly $2 billion this fiscal year. By cutting such costs by 25 percent, the government would not only save nearly a half billion dollars, but the savings in energy usage would also be of major significance. (Recent energy saving programs within the Federal structure have already saved $240 million.)

Beall adds that the legislation will be offered as an amendment to the Supplemental Appropriations Bill during the remaining session of the 93rd Congress.

To improve big-game habitat, the Forest Service will burn 19,000 acres of brushfields throughout Idaho over the next two years.

The Gospel Road

The story is old, but the perspective is up-dated and brought into sharp focus by the film, "The Gospel Road," to be shown throughout Maryland on Sunday, December 1. In this local area, the film will be at Trinity United Methodist Church, West Main Street, Emmitsburg, and at Weller's United Methodist Church, Altamont Avenue, Thurmont. The showings will begin at 7:30 p.m.

The Gospel Road, distributed by World Wide Pictures, was conceived and produced by Johnny Cash and his wife, June Carter Cash, whose desire was to tell the story of Jesus Christ in a realistic and meaningful way.

The film is a unique blend of scripture-based narrative, an abundant supply of specially written songs, and a series of in-depth character portrayals, with itself as the mixing bowl.

You are there, walking beside the Jordan and the Sea of Galilee; you are there, seeing Him in many human situations that establish a practical and personal rapport with every viewer.

You are there, being introduced to the disciples, and gaining insights into their varied personalities. You are there, experiencing the highly charged emotional impact of the trial before Pilate, and becoming so personally involved that you feel sympathetic pain when Robert Elstrom, in an outstanding portrayal of Christ, suffers the physical attack that precedes the Crucifixion.

Adding to the effectiveness of The Gospel Road in its endeavor to convey reality for this day are: the fascinating treatment of the Crucifixion, making this tragedy an event of significance that reaches from its own time across the years to take on meaning for all men of all ages; and the songs and background music of Johnny Cash and other outstanding musicians, whose contemporary style is not out of keeping with the story... a story that reveals that His darkest day has become our brightest.

Everyone in the area is invited to one of these locations to see the film. An offering will be received to meet the expenses of the film.

GAP To Collect Items For Rearded

Group Action Program (GAP) at Mount Saint Mary's College is sponsoring a drive to provide occupants at the Victor Cullen Center for Mental Retardation with items to brighten their rooms.

GAP is looking for new or used items, such as scatter rugs, throw pillows, artificial flowers, potted plants, preschool toys, building blocks, wooden puzzles, stuffed animals, pictures, and costume jewelry.

A collection center has been established at the college in the Chaplain's Office, which is open from 9 to 4 daily. The drive will begin on December 2, when school will again resume after the Thanksgiving holiday.

Due to Thanksgiving falling on the regular publication day next week, the Chronicle will be published on Wednesday. All copy for insertion in next week's paper should be in this office no later than Monday morning, November 25.

Many old barns and buildings are now being torn down and sold because of the high prices paid for their beautiful weathered wood siding.

Area Deaths

LORETTA M. FLORENCE

Miss Loretta M. Florence, 57, Gettysburg, died at the Warner Hospital on Friday at 5 p.m. She had been in declining health for some time.

Born in Emmitsburg, she was a daughter of the late Romanus and Mary Adams Florence. She was a member of St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church, Gettysburg, and was a graduate of St. Joseph's High School, Emmitsburg. She was a former employee of the Electric Map.

Surviving are a sister, Mrs. Martin A. Redding, with whom Miss Florence resided; a brother, Richard Florence, Orlando, Fla., and a number of nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held Monday morning at 10 o'clock with a Mass of Christian Burial at St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church, with Monsignor Alphonse T. Marcincavage officiating. Interment was in St. Joseph's Cemetery, Emmitsburg.

MRS. ALVERNA C. HILBERT

Mrs. Alverna Crum Hilbert, 54, Emmitsburg, died last Thursday at 5:10 a.m. at the Warner Hospital, Gettysburg.

She was born in Adams County, Pa., a daughter of Mrs. Martha Steinour Crum, Emmitsburg, and the late Martin Crum.

Surviving in addition to her mother are: her husband, Earl H. Hilbert; one son, Richard Crum, R2, Emmitsburg; five grandchildren, six brothers and sisters, Mrs. Ruth Harman, Hanover; Mrs. Helen Bowling, Gettysburg; Mrs. Herma Carson, Hanover; Robert Crum, R2, Biglerville; Mrs. Ethel Kuhn, Gettysburg, and Mrs. Mae Brawner, Emmitsburg.

Funeral services were held on Saturday at 2 p.m. from the Wilson Funeral Home, Emmitsburg, with the Rev. Philip Bower officiating. Interment was in Elia Lutheran Church Cemetery, Emmitsburg.

Palbearers were Bernard Kuhn, Maurice Eyer, David Wantz, Ralph Carbaugh, Samuel Cool, Jr., and Conrad Wagerman.

J. F. 'GUY' HARTDAGEN

James Francis "Guy" Hartdagen, 72, 275 DePaul St., Emmitsburg, died Monday evening at the Frederick Nursing Center.

He was born in Adams County, a son of the late Charles Edward and Mary Virginia Sebald Hartdagen. He was a member of St. Joseph's Church, Emmitsburg; the Knights of Columbus of Emmitsburg and the Moose of Catonsville. He was a retired male nurse at St. Charles Seminary and University, Baltimore.

Surviving are three sisters: Mrs. Nora Wetzels, St. Anthony's; Mrs. James F. Bouey, Emmitsburg, and Mrs. David Edgar, Emmitsburg, and a number of nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held this morning (Thursday) with a Mass of Christian Burial at St. Joseph's Church at 10 a.m., with the Rev. Harry T. Kuhn officiating. Interment was in the new St. Joseph's Cemetery. Wilson Funeral Home, Emmitsburg, was in charge of arrangements.

MRS. MARY SULLIVAN

Mrs. Mary (Felix) Sullivan, formerly of Emmitsburg, died Monday, November 18. She was the wife of the late Claude Sullivan.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Joseph (Sarah) Byrnes, and two sisters, Mrs. Sarah F. Sullivan, and Mrs. Ann F. Thompson.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday at 12:30 p.m. at St. Louis Church, Clarksburg. Interment was in the New Cathedral Cemetery.

Mount Closes Early, Saves E-Burg Water

Mount Saint Mary's College will close for Thanksgiving vacation on Friday, November 22. The following Wednesday, November 27, was originally scheduled as the start of vacation, however, Dr. Dillon, in talking with Mayor Sprinkle, agreed that a longer Thanksgiving vacation would help alleviate Emmitsburg's water shortage.

Sawmills were operating in America in the early 1600's, many years before any were built in England.

New Slogan Sought For Ag Week 1975

The second annual Maryland Agricultural Week slogan contest is now open to all champions of short, zippy and timely writing.

Robert Rawlins, chairman of the 1975 Ag Week Committee, says, "we are seeking the help of people throughout Maryland in coming up with a catchy slogan which will emphasize the role of agriculture in today's modern world. What we are looking for is something that is positive and which will attract the thoughtful attention of both the rural and city dweller who are so strongly linked through the production of food."

"Last year," Mr. Rawlins noted, "the winner was a Charles County housewife who by her own admission had no direct connection with agriculture. Her slogan, 'Farmers Raise American Energy' was timely and thought provoking coming as it did just at the crunch of the energy shortage." (The 1974 winner was Mrs. Virginia Herrin of White Plains, Maryland.)

The 1975 contest is open to everybody, 4-H members, farmers, housewives, businessmen, students, etc. The winning slogan will be used as a theme for the 1975 Maryland Agricultural observances which will be held all through the month of February.

The winner will be a guest of honor at the February 6th Maryland Agriculture Banquet to be held at Martin's West in Baltimore.

Ground rules for the contest are simple: submit as many original short slogans as you wish with your name and address by December 31, to: "Slogan Contest, c/o Maryland Agricultural Commission, Parole Plaza Office Building, Annapolis, Maryland 21401," Mr. Rawlins concluded.

ZIP COLUMN

Our office will be closed on Thursday, November 28, to observe Thanksgiving Day.

However, the box lobby will be open, the usual hours, from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m.

No rural delivery service performed on this day.

Our two rural carriers both received safe driver awards from the National Safety Council during the past week. C. Richard Harner, Route 2, received a 16 year pin and certificate, and A. Wayne McCreaf, Route 1, received a 10 year pin and certificate.

Congratulations go to these employees, for this fine performance.

It is that time of the year again to ask your usual fine cooperation in the Christmas "Mail Early - Campaign."

Although, to most of you, this may sound rather early to be sitting at your desks, preparing your Christmas greeting list.

However, many of our local customers have friends and/or relatives, in foreign countries. Mail to many countries, by boat, takes nearly six weeks!

There is a schedule at our office, giving suggested Christmas mailing dates, some of which have already passed, which are available upon request.

Along with this advanced planning, possibly some of our customers may be interested in purchasing a gift for a potential or professional sales collector? Or maybe an automatic stamp affixer, for that overworked secretary? Come in and see our selection.

George E. Rosensteel, PM.

Glee Club Hosts Madrigal Dinner

Tickets are now on sale for the third annual Madrigal Dinner to be held at Mount Saint Mary's College December 6 and 7.

The Madrigal Dinner, which is produced by the Mount Glee Club under the direction of Rev. Dr. David Shaum, is set up so that those attending are treated as guests in a great English manor house of the Tudor period. They take part in the festivities and witness the carrying in of the wassail bowl and the boar's head. Included in the evening's entertainment are a procession, fanfares, strolling minstrels and a court jester.

One innovation this year will be "Ye Olde Ale House," where guests may purchase drinks beginning at 6:15. The dinner begins at 7:15.

The first part of the program is a welcome by the Lord of the Manor, featuring a duet by Anthony J. Agnone and Alice M. Schlegel singing "Come, Ye Sons of Art" by Purcell. The first royal fanfare will be the presentation of the Wassail bowl and a toast by the Earl of Chatham, played by Robert Henke, Jr.

The second royal fanfare will be for the Boar's Head, presented by John J. Losinski, Jr. and Thomas W. Bladear to the accompaniment of "The Boar's Head Carol." A dinner featuring cornish hens and flaming plum pudding will be served, while entertainment is provided.

"In the Bleak Midwinter" will be sung by Frederick P. Bremer, Diann S. Prate, Jeffrey L. Russelavage and Robert Henke, Jr. Bremer and Henke will also do Ayres for the flute and guitar, and Robert Guempel will cavort as the court jester.

Among the other songs will be "I sing of a Maiden," performed by Dayle M. Harabedian; "This Enders Nygzt," by Kathleen Griffith and Walter C. Orlewski; "The Friendly Beasts," by the Hill 'N Dale Singers; "What Child Is This?" by Kathleen Griffith; "Who's Knocking There?" by Timothy J. Kirchner, Anthony J. Agnone, Marie A. Eschmann and Diann S. Prate; and "Joseph Dearest," by Michael B. Shaum and Alice Schlegel.

Dances of the court will be presented by Anthony J. Agnone, Thomas W. Bladear, Marie A. Eschmann, Robert J. Henke, John Losinski, Patricia Normoyle, C. Michael Palazinski, Diann Prate, Jeffrey L. Russelavage, Alice Schlegel, Michael Shaum and Donna M. Titus.

After an appearance by the Earl of Jersey, played by John Losinski, there will be a recessional to "How Far Is It To Bethlehem."

Information on obtaining tickets may be found by contacting the Office of College and Alumni Relations on campus.

Teen Dance Nov. 23

There will be a dance at the Teen Center on Saturday, November 23, from 8 until 11 p.m. Music will be furnished by "Mama Kin" (formerly Sugar & Spice). Admission will be $1.50 per person.

Ed Adelsberger, Teen Center Director, announces that all persons 12 years old and over are welcome.

Seaman James A. Saylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Saylor, Emmitsburg, has returned to his ship, the USS Trenton, in Norfolk, Va., after spending the past week with his parents.

St. Joe's Principal Challenges School

"I have a challenge for you!" With these words the most recent school-wide project began at St. Joseph's High School. The words were those of Sister Ethelreda, principal, and here was the challenge: Sister had won $74 from the "50-50 Raffle" at Mother Seton School bazaar. Her challenge to the students was to match the total in money or food to be used for the needy at Thanksgiving.

The students accepted the challenge, and are now collecting donations for those less fortunate than they. Turkeys, canned goods, and fruit will be among the items arriving in the classrooms to be distributed next week. Class officers, together with class moderators, are co-ordinating the effort. Eric Rosensteel, junior class president, commented, "I think we would have collected the baskets as in other years, but Sister's challenge gave us added incentive." He felt some of the students would be willing to help deliver the food and added that working on the food baskets "will help us celebrate Thanksgiving since we realize we are lucky to have enough to share with others."

A 1938 graduate of Allegheny College, he served in the infantry during World War II, retiring in 1946 with the rank of major. He then joined the staff at Allegheny College where he stayed for seven years as alumni director.

He was associated for 14 years with Ketchum, Inc., a national fund-raising organization headquartered in Pittsburgh. As a senior director of the firm, he directed campaigns for educational institutions and hospitals as well as for other charitable organizations.

At the Development Council workshop McFarland will conduct a session on corporate and foundation relations and participate in a round-table on deferred giving.

Lifelong Learning Looks At 1st 4 Years

As 1974 ends, flashbacks of the four years since the Emmitsburg Lifelong Learning Council's inception highlight the personalized, ongoing quality of adult education in Emmitsburg.

From the handful of twenty brave students who enrolled in the first classes organized in the fall of 1970 to the enthusiastic vanguard of nearly two hundred people participating in this year's varied offerings, we have seen the pendulum swing from the very basic to college-level courses. In fact, it may be said that one of every five residents of our community is involved with the Lifelong Learning Council in the role of student, teacher, or interested sponsor.

It is no wonder then that Doctor Robert Smith, Frederick County's Director of Adult Education, proudly points to our local effort as the outstanding Adult Ed program in the County and, perhaps, in the State; while Sister Jane Marie Perrot, Director of Adult Education for the Daughters of Charity, wrote in her recent report:

"Seton Center in Emmitsburg is the base for the most viable and varied offering in adult education... in the Southeast Province. Seton does not operate the program but rather provides the setting, support and stimulation for the Emmitsburg Lifelong Learning Council... We suggest that other missions (of the Daughters of Charity) wishing to engage in adult education activity, visit Seton Center and learn first-hand how its Adult Ed program functions."

This has been an exciting year opening new vistas of adult-learning in Emmitsburg. The period ahead should prove even more exhilarating. As we congratulate ourselves on a job well done, let us determinedly assure the future success of this Emmitsburg-conceived and Emmitsburg-produced cultural opportunity for Emmitsburg people.

Thanksgiving Service Announced

The Council of Churches has announced that the Thanksgiving Service will be held in the Presbyterian Church on Thursday, November 28, at 10 a.m. Delivering the sermon will be Rev. Walter Bowers. Host minister is the Rev. Eugene Ackerman.

Sat. Smorgasbord At Stone Chapel

The historic Stone Chapel, built in 1783 as the meeting house for the Society of Methodists of Frederick County, and still an active United Methodist congregation, will be hosting a sumptuous fall smorgasbord from 1:30 until 6:00 on Saturday, November 23. Tickets at the door will be $4.25 and $2.25 for children under 11. However, reservations for the advance sale of tickets at the prices of $3.75 and $1.75, can be made by calling 848-1820 or 635-2102. Stone Chapel is one mile west of Md. Route 27 on Stone Chapel Road, south of Westminster. Call for further directions.

Poverty Forum To Be Held Tonight

A forum on poverty, sponsored by the Sociology Club at Mount Saint Mary's College, will be held tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m.

The public is invited to participate in the forum, which will be held in the small meeting room of the Student Union Building. One of the participants in the discussion will be Professor Richard R. Muller of the Sociology Dept.

John R. McFarland, Jr., Director of Development at The Johns Hopkins University and President of the Johns Hopkins Fund, will speak at Mount Saint Mary's on Saturday, November 23, for a workshop to be held for the Mount's National Development Council.

Prior to coming to Johns Hopkins, McFarland was the Vice President for Development at Kalamazoo College in Michigan, and before that, at Grinnell College in Iowa.

The total cost of the project is estimated at $257,000.00. Seventy-five per cent of this total will be paid for by the State of Maryland. The bulk of the remaining 25% will be paid for by VFW Post 6658 Emmitsburg. The town of Emmitsburg is responsible for the balance, a comparatively small estimated figure of $37,000.00.

Cost of the project has been reduced by the town's agreement to aid the contractor whenever possible, particularly in the area of plumbing. Hook-ups with town water mains and sewer lines will be made by Emmitsburg crews.

"Old Oil" Prices Could Save Millions

Power consumers in Maryland's two largest residential areas could save up to $136 million in 1975 if the Federal Energy Administration adopts certain pricing procedures for petroleum products, according to Senator J. Glenn Beall, Jr. (R-Md.).

Johns Hopkins Dr. Pool Contract To Be Awarded Dec. 2

Monday evening, town officials met with architects Tom Wallace and Jack Richards, and contractor Joel Koehl, to further solidify the contract for Emmitsburg's community pool project. The construction contract is scheduled to be awarded to Mr. Koehl December 2.

Further discussion of the project before the contract was awarded was deemed necessary, however, for numerous changes have been made from the original plans. Such changes must be reflected in the final contract. The pool is scheduled for completion by Memorial Day, 1975.

The total cost of the project is estimated at $257,000.00. Seventy-five per cent of this total will be paid for by the State of Maryland. The bulk of the remaining 25% will be paid for by VFW Post 6658 Emmitsburg. The town of Emmitsburg is responsible for the balance, a comparatively small estimated figure of $37,000.00.

Cost of the project has been reduced by the town's agreement to aid the contractor whenever possible, particularly in the area of plumbing. Hook-ups with town water mains and sewer lines will be made by Emmitsburg crews.

"Old Oil" Prices Could Save Millions

Power consumers in Maryland's two largest residential areas could save up to $136 million in 1975 if the Federal Energy Administration adopts certain pricing procedures for petroleum products, according to Senator J. Glenn Beall, Jr. (R-Md.).

In a letter to Secretary of the Interior, Rogers C. B. Morton, Beall says that if the FEA's recent proposals for cost equalization of "old oil" is enacted, Maryland customers of PEPCO and BG&E would be greatly benefited. The FEA is currently trying to establish an equitable distribution of low-priced "old oil" among all sectors of the petroleum industry. Old oil prices are set by the government, based on 1972 production levels, at $5.25 per barrel. The so-called "new oil" prices, or production levels higher than 1972 are unregulated and have a market price of about $11 per barrel.

Beall says that under present FEA regulations, East Coast utilities have been locked into historical supply patterns using primarily imported residual fuel oils, forcing their customers to pay far more than their rightful share of the nation's escalating oil bill. "It is vital," says Beall in the letter to Morton, "that this price equity be corrected without delay and that it be shared equally by all regions of the country."

According to Senator Beall, the FEA's Alternative Number 3 plan for cost equalization would be of the greatest benefit to Maryland consumers. Under that plan, imported residual fuel costs, as well as domestic supplies, would be equalized to residual fuel burning utilities. "The Baltimore Gas and Electric Company," says Beall, "and the Potomac Electric Power Company serve the majority of Marylanders. PEPCO estimates that the adoption of Alternative Number 3 would result in a saving of $75 million based on a projected use of 15 million barrels of imported oil in 1975."

"In addition," Beall continues, "Baltimore Gas and Electric estimates a savings of $61 million if Alternative Number 3 is adopted, based on their use of slightly over 12 million barrels of imported oil in 1975. Under existing law, this means that a total savings of $136 million from electricity generation alone must be passed on directly to the consumers of Maryland and the District of Columbia."

"It is my opinion," says Beall, "confirmed by the Maryland Energy Policy Office, that Maryland would be greatly benefited by the adoption of Alternative Number 3 of the FEA proposals. By adopting this measure, and enacting it now, an immediate and direct savings of $136 million to PEPCO and BG&E customers will be realized."

TAX—Q &amp; A

Q. Are any of the campaign expenses of those running for our city council or the state legislature tax deductible?

A. No. Campaign expenses of a candidate for any office are not deductible. Registration fees for primary elections are also non-deductible, even for incumbents seeking to remain in office.

Q. I formed a partnership with two other people this summer to paint houses for a living. How do we report our earnings to the IRS?

A. Partnerships pay no income tax, but they must submit an information return using Form 1065, U. S. Partnership Return of Income, showing the results of the partnership's operations for its tax year. As a partner, you must include as income on the Supplemental Income Schedule (Schedule E) of Form 1040 (U. S. Individual Income Tax Return) your distributive share, based on your partnership agreement, of earnings, gains, and losses. You have to report these items whether or not they have been distributed to you. Detailed information on partnership income is available in the IRS free Publication 541, "Tax Information on Partnership Income and Losses."

Q. I had a casualty loss recently when a thunderstorm caused a tree to fall on the roof of my garage at home. I know the damage to the garage is deductible but what about loss of the tree?

A. If ornamental trees and shrubs on residential property are damaged or destroyed by a casualty, you may have a deductible loss subject to the $100 limitation on personal casualty loss deductions. To deduct this loss, you must establish that there has been a decrease in the total value of your real estate. When you have the damage appraised, remember that the fee you pay for establishing the amount of the loss is tax deductible also.

Q. My daughter has just taken a job as a sales clerk three nights a week at a large department store. She gets a discount on merchandise she buys at the store. Is the discount a taxable fringe benefit?

A. Courtesy discounts on purchases from your daughter's employer are not income if they are of relatively small value, are offered to employees generally, and are offered merely as a means of promoting her health, goodwill or efficiency. But if she buys property from her employer at a reduced price, she must include in her income the difference between what she paid and its fair market value as additional compensation.

Q. I am a music teacher in the school system, but I'm going to take a new job as music director in my church. The church will give me a rental allowance in addition to my salary. How will this affect my taxes?

A. The rental allowance will be taxable income to you. Your church may commission you as a "minister of the gospel of music," but unless it authorizes you to perform all the ecclesiastical duties of an ordained minister, you are not a member of the clergy. Therefore, you won't be eligible to exclude the rental allowance from your taxable income—a tax benefit available only to members of the clergy.

Q. I just inherited several pieces of gold jewelry from a relative. I may sell them and invest the money. What taxes may be involved as a consequence of this inheritance?

A. Bequests and inheritances you receive are not income to you for Federal tax purposes. But if property you receive in this manner later produces taxable income, such as interest, dividends or rentals, you'll have to pay tax on the income. For example, if you wait and sell the jewelry at a later time for more than its fair market value at the time of the previous owner's death, then you'll have to pay tax on the gain.

Crippled Children And Others
Receive Help From VFW Auxiliary

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary to Emmitsburg Memorial Post 6658, Veterans of Foreign Wars, was held November 7 with President Evelyn Ott presiding. There were 33 members present.

Six ladies were voted upon favorably as new members. They were: Bessie Romsburg, Elizabeth Lunny, Lottie Trigg, Margaret Wagerman and Mary Wetzel.

It was announced that the pet project for our State President has been changed from Arthritis to Crippled Children.

Motions were passed that we donate to the following: Firemen, $50; Crippled Home in Eaton Rapids, Mich., $25 for Christmas treats; Seton Center, $25; Lifelong Learning Council, $10; and Life Member in National Home, $25.

Final plans for the Christmas party are: Menu, turkey and beef; cost per person, $4.40. Reservations with money must be made by Nov. 22. Gwen Topper is taking reservations.

The ladies of the Auxiliary have been very busy with civic activities such as: Church works, visits to the sick and aged, sending flowers, cards, baby sitting and blood donations.

The Membership Chairman reported that the group has just 30 more members to pay their dues.

President Ott reported that the first visit to the Veterans at Newton Baker Hospital went well. The following ladies returned to attend a workshop that would enable them to become volunteers: President Ott, Rita Byard, Susan Glass, Jane Orndorff and Dolores Ray. President Ott will arrange the visits with Mrs. Alice Bushman. It was suggested that we try every other month at first. Fourteen members attending the meeting planned to help with this project.

The ladies have decided to sponsor a cottage at Victor Cullen Hospital for the Mentally Retarded. Karen King will arrange the first visit which will be a Christmas party. Small presents such as scatter rugs, pictures, cosmetics and pretty things, will be taken to the patients. Sunday afternoon was suggested as a good time to make the visit.

A motion was made that Gloria Martin choose a committee of five members to help with our Christmas Cheer activities.

Arlene Martin's name was drawn for the door prize but she was not present.

Sr. Citizens Plan
Christmas Party

The Emmitsburg Senior Citizens Club will hold its Christmas Party on Monday evening, December 9, at 6 p.m. in the VFW Annex. All members please make reservations at the Center before Friday, November 29. Any guests invited will be expected to be paid for.

Wednesday mornings from 10 until 12 will still be observed by members as the regular workshop morning. Come join the group!

The Microwave Chef...

The 'Pizza Bowl'—It's A Winner

What's your favorite kind of pizza? Almost everyone has one. Pizzas run the gamut from simple cheese and sausage to more exotic versions featuring ham and pineapple. There is even a four-tiered wedding pizza or a five foot giant that serves a crowd.

Pizza can be a nutritional food, too. A quality pizza made with a meat topping contains items from the four basic food groups: grains, dairy products, vegetables and meat.

"Pizza Bowls" are a fun pizza idea developed by home economists at Litton Microwave Cooking Products. The recipe calls for English muffins instead of dough, so these "party" pizzas are ready in no time—just two minutes when cooked the microwave way. (Conventional cooking instructions are also provided.)

After the game, after school, after anything—Pizza Bowls are fit for hungry appetites anytime.

Pizza Bowl

1 package (14 oz.) English muffins
1 1/4 cups chili sauce
Italian seasonings
Green pepper, sliced
Pepperoni, sliced
Green onion, bias-cut
Mushrooms, sliced
Olives, sliced
Mozzarella cheese, shredded
Split English muffins in half—toast, if desired. Top each muffin half with 1 1/2 tablespoons chili sauce, Italian seasonings and favorite pizza ingredients. Cook until cheese is melted, 12 pizzas.
Microwave preparation: Place 2 pizzas on paper towel and cook 1 1/2 to 2 minutes.
Conventional preparation: Place pizzas on broiler pan and broil on top shelf 5 to 5 1/2 minutes.
TIP: Pizza may be cooked on Micro-Browner for microwave cooking. Preheat Micro-Browner 2 minutes.

New higher interest rate on U.S. Savings Bonds.

Now U.S. Savings Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity.

Here's how it works:

The higher interest rate applies to all new Bonds purchased since December 1, 1973, raising their rate from 5 1/2% to 6% when held to maturity. And the maturity period on Series E Bonds is shorter, too. Now E Bonds mature in 5 years, with a first-year rate of 4 1/2%.

Series H Bonds, with a 10-year maturity, will earn 5% the first year; 5.8% for the next four years; and 6 1/2% for the last five years. This gives you an average 6% yield over the 10-year period.

It works for Bonds you now hold, too. There's no reason to redeem your older Bonds to buy new ones.

Their yield has improved, too.

All outstanding E Bonds will receive a 1/2% increase in yield for each semiannual interest period beginning on or after December 1, 1973, payable upon redemption. This also applies to any Freedom Shares you may still hold.

All outstanding H Bonds will receive a 1/2% yield increase for each semiannual interest period beginning on or after December 1, 1973. This is payable in the form of increased semiannual interest payments.

It all works to your advantage. Now, more than ever.

it makes sense to buy higher-paying U.S. Savings Bonds and hold them to maturity or beyond.

BUSINESS AND THE STOCK MARKET

The Sea And Its Wealth

By Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass., November 21, 1974—In the late 1960s the Vietnam war, first moon landing, social problems of the cities, and the environmental program all took precedence over the U. S. effort to harness the resources of the oceans. However, one significant development was the creation in 1969 of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, to carry on federal research in oceanography. With worldwide shortages of food, fuel, and other vital commodities becoming more severe each year, nations have found it imperative to reach an agreement on usage of the oceans.

In mid-1974, some 150 countries were in attendance at a 10-week conference in Caracas, Venezuela in an attempt to hammer out an international treaty for the rights to fish, mine, and explore the oceans. Also discussed by the participants was the question of sovereignty rights up to 200 miles offshore. A supplementary conference is scheduled for 1975 in Vienna to take a vote on the issues.

Offshore Oil Leading The Field

While oceanographic progress has been slow, there has been one related area where growth has been dramatic — the offshore oil industry. Long before the threat of Arab monopoly was critical, oil management foresaw the rich opportunities in underwater operations. Up until now, most offshore drilling has been confined to the continental shelves. But engineers now have the technology and equipment to explore and extract in almost any body of water to virtually any depth.

Currently, offshore activity is yielding 19% of the world's total oil output. By the late 1980s, offshore wells are expected to provide 50% or better of the world's production. The petroleum companies' outlays are over $3 billion annually, a figure that is expected to double by 1980. A United Nations report estimates proved reserves of offshore oil at 127 billion barrels with 434 billion barrels more on continental shelves—10 times the proved U. S. reserves and three times those of Saudi Arabia. Small wonder that over 100 countries are involved in offshore work! Of these about 40 countries are now producing, about to produce, or have made promising discoveries. U. S. firms involved in the industry include Santa Fe International, Reading & Bates, Offshore Company, Global Marine, J. Ray McDermott, SEDCO, Zapata, and Halliburton. The Research Department of Babson's Reports maintains hold advices on stocks of all these companies. Minerals From The Ocean

Potentially the second most lucrative oceanographic activity is the harvesting of nodules of manganese, docklike deposits usually found in deep waters far from the continental margins. One mining authority believes there could be 1.5 trillion tons of high-grade nodules in the Pacific Ocean alone. Contained therein are manganese (20%), nickel (1%), copper (0.8%), and cobalt (0.2%). An economical recovery — processing method for these nodules would importantly reduce America's dependence on the import of such metals.

Several U. S. companies are engaged in exploring for these nodules along with other ocean minerals. Two publicly owned American companies operating ships and equipment are Kennecott Copper and Tenneco. Privately owned Summa Corp., controlling arm of Howard Hughes enterprises, is also engaged in this work.

Babson's Reports is currently recommending purchase of the common stock of General Electric, Honeywell, Southern Natural Resources, Tenneco, and Union Oil of California, all of which have important interests in the oceanographic field. Though their major endeavors thus far lie in other directions, it is our opinion that these enterprises all offer solid value at their current prices. For free detailed reports on any of these corporations, write to Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Massachusetts 02181.

PERSPECTIVES IN LEARNING

By Hazel Brown, President
Harry Lundberg School

Learning isn't sexless. Individual differences in learning are extensive and include sex differences as well as differences among individuals. This phenomenon of learning differences is generally agreed upon by educators, but very little is being done within the classroom to meet the problem.

Studies have shown that about three times as many boys underachieve in school as do girls. There are four times as many boys who are poor readers as girls. Eighty per cent of the children in the hands of juvenile authorities are boys. Speech clinics have upwards of seventy-five per cent boys as their patients.

Why are these statistics so slanted for the male population? Does it mean that boys are basically inferior? I think not. The facts seem to indicate a deficiency in learning by boys, but could it not also suggest a deficiency in the way educators teach boys?

An experiment conducted by F. J. and E. W. Estvan indicates sex differences in the way children react to pictures of a village, city, farm, and factory. From the investigation came several generalizations: Girls are more sensitive to human relationships than boys; girls have more positive reactions to situations that children experience directly; and the sex role of boys and girls influences perception of their world.

Another study made by H. A. Wetkin found females less analytical than males. He found that males were able to perceive subjects independently of the background.

If girls are more sensitive to people than are boys, then it would seem possible that girls might adjust better to a teacher and the usual classroom setting found in most schools. In the normal classroom boys might have difficulties because they make greater use of internal cues. Boys tend to make their own decisions and don't rely on the teacher for suggestions and directions. The teacher therefore feels less close to boys.

Teachers usually report that boys are "hard to manage" in the classroom. Boys are usually more active than girls and have a shorter attention span. This could be because boys have a higher metabolic rate than girls and are generally more restless.

Boys have a slower maturation in the use of verbal language. This might have some effect upon the difficulty boys have in learning the language skills necessary for success in school.

Boys and girls are taught very early in life to behave in appropriate ways according to their sex. Girls learn to be unaggressive, quiet, and helpless while boys learn to be aggressive, capable, and independent. These behaviors are evident in the ways boys and girls learn.

We don't want schools to eliminate the sex differences, but they must be considered as another of the individual differences. The way boys learn must be considered. Learning isn't sexless.

Reasons For Optimism

As one travels around the country there are many voices raised in dire forebodings about the future of the United States. Prophecies are heard on every hand that our very system of freedom is about to go down the drain. Most of these voices are basing their pessimism on the rate of inflation plaguing our economy. There is no doubt that America is facing one of its greatest crises in our history. There is no doubt that the dangers are great, and there is no doubt that our very system of freedom is at stake. But, there are many reasons for optimism about our future.

To put the problem squarely in perspective let's look at the options open to Americans. First, we can go the route of most of Europe and many other nations in the world and permit inflation to run away. Once inflation reaches and remains at more than 10 per cent per year, pensions, Social Security, savings and other provisions for the welfare of a large percent of the population are soon destroyed. This brings a demand for government to take full responsibility for feeding those dependent on such provisions. In order for government to take such responsibility, it has to have total power over the incomes of those still in the work force. Simply put, it means government has to control all means of production and distribution of what is produced. This is what happens in Communist countries from an economic viewpoint. Add to this the political fears of a government afraid of the people it governs and you have the modern version of tyranny. Russia and most of the other so-called "iron curtain" countries, came to this position via the use of brute force. The advocates of Communism knew where they wanted to take the people and they took them there at the point of a gun. Some other countries in Europe have arrived at the same economic position via uncontrolled inflation. Students of Communism will remember that Marx, Lenin, Stalin, Khrushchev and the present leaders of Communism have never deviated from the goal of "taxing the middleclass" out of existence. That has now happened in England. It has also happened in other countries where inflation has been permitted to stay in double digit figures. We are in danger of it happening in the United States, but there are reasons for optimism!

The alternative to this is to bite the nail, to pull in our belts, stop spending beyond our income and bring inflation under control. No one believes it will be easy. Most of Congress and most State governments have been accustomed to being elected on the basis of "what we will do for the people." But the cold, hard realities of our present situation are these: The federal government must cut expenditures down to the level of its income. Labor should cut its demand for higher pay down to the level of its income. Labor should cut its demand for higher pay down to what the company can pay without raising prices. In short, we Americans are going to have to lower our standard of living, lower our demands for luxury items in all areas, do without some things we would like to have to go in debt and tough it out for the next year or two. If we are willing to do this, then inflation can be brought under control in a period of 12 to 24 months. Production will begin to exceed demand, the buying power of our dollar will increase, prices will stabilize and freedom itself will have been saved, and our jobs preserved.

What are the reasons for optimism? First, the present administration has given strong indication that it is willing to take a hard nosed position and reduce federal spending to the level of federal income. The President has named the curbing of inflation as his number one objective in the coming months, and has put Congress on notice that he will not tolerate another deficit budget. What is important, he has said reduction in federal spending must take place now... not a year from now... in the budget which has already begun. A year from now, when the new fiscal budget is put together under the new Congressional Budget Responsibility Act would be too late. It wouldn't do anyone any good then to say they couldn't be held responsible. The country could very well be in total chaos by that time and politics as usual could be gone forever.

For the record, let's review the history of federal spending in the past few years. Since 1969, an enormous deficit of more than $110 billion has been incurred. Seventy per cent of this deficit was due to laws passed by former Congresses for programs of long duration and over which neither the Administration or Congress felt inclined to exercise any control. In other words, during the past five years, America has been paying through the nose for the promises of former political leaders. While many voices have been raised in warning, over many years, that continued deficit spending would bring America to her knees, yet political candidates have continued to promise more and more, and voters have sent to office those who promised the most. So we are all to blame, and we must all get in the act in order to correct the trouble.

Arizona State University tested the fuel consumption of two homes—one built of wood and the other of masonry. It found the wood house used 23 per cent less energy for heating and 30.2 per cent less for air conditioning.

People once believed that a serpent could have a head on each end.

YOUR LIFE INSURANCE
Prepared by the American Society of Chartered Life Underwriters, the national society of life insurance professionals who have earned the C.L.U. designation by meeting high educational, ethical and experience requirements.

Q. Is it true that when I die, the government will take a tax bite out of the cash, securities and property I leave, but not out of my insurance proceeds?
A. That's true if your beneficiary is not only the beneficiary, but also the owner of the policy.

The government can tax only what you leave. If the insurance is in the name of your beneficiary, it's not something you own, hence it's not something you can leave. It's the beneficiary's!

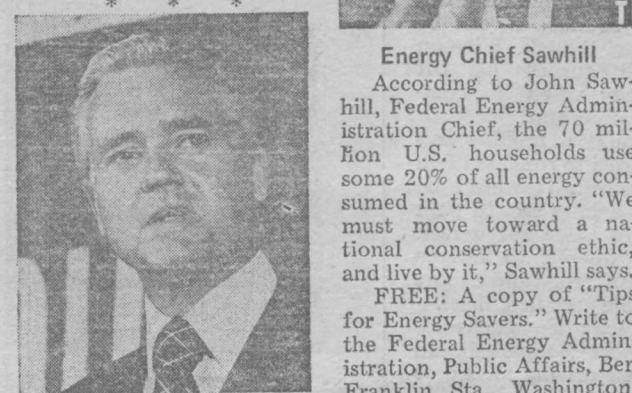

The drawback to making your beneficiary the owner is that, if you ever want to change beneficiaries while the present beneficiary is alive, you can only do so with the present beneficiary's written permission.

WASHINGTON EVENTS AFFECTING OUR COMMUNITY

U.S. Census Bureau statisticians predict that in the next 15 years, the greatest population jump is slated for Florida, a 43% increase by 1990. Next is Nevada, with almost 39%, followed by Arizona, Maryland and Virginia. Biggest population losses are predicted to be in North Dakota, Montana, South Dakota and Wyoming.

Where does your gasoline dollar go? Of each one dollar purchase, gasoline costs are 40¢; taxes, 24¢; dealer margin, 19¢; and transportation and marketing, 17¢. For a free study to help you get a fix on what it costs to operate your car, write to the Federal Highway Administration, 400 Seventh Street, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20590. Ask for "Cost of Operating an Automobile."

Senator Hollings

Conservation of energy continues to be a major topic in Washington. Senator Ernest Hollings (D-S.C.) has championed the cause by introducing legislation for federal standards on auto fuel consumption. Those in favor of this concept think it is superior to taxes on car weight or horsepower, for it gives manufacturers an incentive to improve auto efficiency.

Biggest gasoline conservation innovation of all may well be the "light foot" concept, according to Department of Transportation mileage studies. Cutting back your average speed from 60 mph to 50 can save six miles per gallon with a standard 4000 lb. car, a 30% increase in fuel economy.

Stocking up on meat? Department of Agriculture reminds consumers that beef can be kept safely 8 to 12 months in a good freezer.

PLATINUM FACTS & FANCIES!

HOW WRONG CAN THE DON BE? A SPANISH NAVAL OFFICER, DON ANTONIO DE ULLOA, NAMED PLATINUM IN 1735. HE CALLED IT "PLATINA" MEANING "SILVER OF LITTLE VALUE." A HIGHER OPINION OF ITS VALUE DEVELOPED FAIRLY QUICKLY, HOWEVER, AND TODAY AS AN EXTREMELY RARE, PRECIOUS METAL, IT SELLS FOR NEARLY $200 AN OUNCE!

PLATINUM PLAYS A VITAL ROLE IN HEALTH! BECAUSE IT'S INERT, IT CAN BE IMPLANTED IN THE HUMAN BODY WITH COMPLETE SAFETY AND WITHOUT TRIGGERING THE BODY'S PROTECTIVE REJECTION MECHANISM. A RECENT APPLICATION IS IN THE CARDIAC PACEMAKER.

PLATINUM IS RARER, HARDER AND HEAVIER THAN GOLD. BECAUSE OF THIS MANY WOMEN PREFER IT FOR RINGS: IT RESISTS WICKS AND SCRATCHES, YOU NEVER HAVE TO POLISH IT—NEVER—BECAUSE IT NEVER TARNISHES, IT SHINES AND REFLECTS THE LIGHTS FROM YOUR DIAMOND AND IT IS THE MOST SECURE SETTING A GEM CAN HAVE. IT LENDS ITSELF EQUALLY WELL TO BOLD, MODERN AND TRADITIONAL JEWELRY DESIGNS.

MSM Librarian To Head Round Table

Kelly Fitzpatrick, Librarian of the Hugh J. Phillips Library at Mount Saint Mary's College, has been asked to plan the program for a Round Table on Cataloguing and Classification to be held at the annual meeting of the Catholic Library Association in Atlantic City in April.

Fitzpatrick has been instrumental in bringing about the abandonment of the Lynn-Paterson Alternate Classification for Catholic Books. After conducting a study on the system, he concluded that few institutions use it and fewer are able to update it.

"In addition," he said, "the Library of Congress is paying greater attention to the classification of religious and theological materials than had been prevalent twenty and thirty years ago."

In an effort to promote the abandonment of the outdated system, Fitzpatrick organized and chaired a meeting held at the Pittsburgh Convention of the CLA last spring. That meeting resulted in the decision by the CLA to establish the Round Table on Cataloguing and Classification to be held this spring.

A 1951 graduate of Mount Saint Mary's, Fitzpatrick earned his M.A.L.S. at Wesleyan University in Connecticut and his M.L.S. at the University of Maine. He regularly reviews books and visual aids for several professional journals and most recently wrote the article "I Have a Child," which appeared in the November 7 issue of "Church World."

Men Like Luxury

When the ultimate in elegance and quality in men's sport shirts is sought, it's natural to immediately think of "Qiana" nylon, the luxury fiber. America's favorite colors—red, white and blue—form a patriotic geometric print in this striking example by Simba. And shirts of this prestige fiber are amazingly easy-care, with no wrinkling or fading problems.

NEWS For Mature Americans

GUIDELINES TO SAFE DRIVING BY THE ELDERLY
Drivers over 60 have fewer accidents than younger ones. Basically, older people are safer drivers because they have learned to adjust to their physical limitations and not take chances.

Although reflexes do not necessarily deteriorate with advanced age, there is generally some prolongation of reflex time for older individuals who must adapt their driving styles to their slower reactions. In cases where the average young person will take three-quarters of a second to react to sudden changes, an older individual may take up to a full second to respond.

Younger drivers may react faster but, on the average, they're not safer because they're more apt to get into tight situations. Most older motorists have discovered how to avoid potentially dangerous incidents by functioning within the physical restraints imposed by age.

One insurance company's experience with older drivers is so favorable that mature drivers are insured without regard to age as long as they have good driving records and are medically fit. Earlier this year, a 91-year-old was issued auto insurance by the company.

According to Robert Pollock, president of Colonial Penn Insurance Company which specializes in auto insurance for older persons, safe older drivers follow these guidelines:

- Anyone, regardless of age, who is taking special medications must be sure to follow his physician's advice about driving. Many drugs are known to affect reaction time and cause drowsiness.
- Visual defects present a older eyes may not react quickly enough.

If a hearing aid is necessary, it is prudent to turn down the volume while driving to minimize distracting sounds. It can be overdone, though. Winston Churchill turned his off completely when his companion bored him!

Should a midday nap be part of the routine of an older person, it would be wise on a long trip to park in a safe place for a rest. Pushing oneself to fatigue can be dangerous and a short nap can be very beneficial.

If a long trip is unavoidable, older people should limit their driving to five or six hours a day, always in the daytime. To improve the circulation, it is a good idea to stop and stretch the legs by walking a bit at least once every two hours. Too many hours behind the wheel becomes a tiring, boring chore for anyone.

NOTICE
The Emmitsburg Planning Commission meets the third Wednesday of each month at 8:00 p.m. in the Town Office. The public is invited to attend these open meetings.

Enough trees are lost each year in the National Forests to insects, fire, disease and other natural catastrophes to create 50,000 jobs in the forest products industry and build half a million homes.

Party-wise Hostess

Whoever said the housewife has a non-productive, dependent and oh so leisurely life-style!

Whatever else, the housewife is hardly overwhelmed by leisure time. According to Department of Labor statistics, the woman who is "just a housewife" works an average 99.6 hours a week!

Ironically, she's envied by the working woman who must leave beds unmade, dishes in the sink, as she gulps coffee and rushes for the commuter train. In turn, the housewife envies her advantages: career, independent income, activity, accomplishment.

Home-tied or work-tied, neither woman enjoys much personal freedom — not, at least, without guilt. Since both roles are defined by the needs and demands of others, women find it increasingly necessary to step out of their "wife" or "worker" jobs to pursue personal interests. As one woman expressed it:

"I give myself little gifts of time."

Women are attempting to balance the often-harried pace of their lives by creating little areas of personal freedom and satisfaction.

For example, one woman who feels she needs self-esteem beyond her housewife role, hires a cleaning woman twice a week, retreats to her basement and spends the day painting. She achieves enormous satisfaction from pursuing her creative talents.

Full-time working women, too, are creating time to "do their own thing," setting up little "nooks" in the home where they can be assured of privacy.

Ideally, the pursuit of self expression should also provide tangible rewards, and this may explain the growing interest in part-time sales careers. Home party plans, such as the nationally popular Tupperware home party, are ideal in this respect, since the housewife has a chance to socialize as well as develop her sales potential.

Since the role of hostess comes rather naturally to women, and Tupperware parties feature in-demand products that can be properly demonstrated, working women as well as housewives have begun to discover their potential for personal satisfaction as well as profit.

"Doing my own thing" needn't necessarily be a solitary pursuit or one relying on a specific talent. The important thing is to step out of the wife/mother/worker role at least occasionally and pursue something personally rewarding.

As the cliché has it, "women don't find time, they make time." Whether she's employed or "just a housewife," setting aside just a few hours a week for personal satisfactions can make an enormous difference in any woman's outlook.
