- By Abigail -

This past week has been agonizing for at least one family in Emmitsburg — the VanBrakles — who, as you know, lost half of their home and personal belongings in the fire Sunday morning. No one was hurt in the blaze, fortunately, but still the family has a lot of pieces to pick up, and it's good to see the local folks responding to the situation. Already, groups and individuals are pitching in to help the VanBrakles out.

The Vigilant Hose men deserve a hearty congratulations for their prompt efforts which avoided a total loss of property Sunday. It's nice to know they're around, isn't it?

The new Superthrift supermarket moving into town is now the owner of the former Corbin (Nester) house on East Main Street. The land that the house sits on will be the site for the new store—but of course, that means the house will have to go.

I've been told there are some valuable items in the house: wood paneling, curved glass windows, mantles, etc. The Historical Society had hoped they could salvage such items, but now it seems they will be lost to the community. The society was too late in getting involved, for as I understand it, the "salvage rights" that Mr. Corbin had on the house have since expired.

I suppose the lesson has been learned from the Corbin house. You've got to act fast to save our history... and in this case, it just wasn't fast enough.

After a week of tension, things seemed to have quieted down on the square. I'd like to say "things are back to normal," but even under "normal" conditions, it's usually not this peaceful. Don't misinterpret that as a complaint, however.

Have you decided yet what you're going to do with your tax rebate the President has planned? Yes, that refund from the federal government will certainly come in handy... may even pay for the increase in heating oil over the past year!

Sister Joins Staff At Seton Center

Sr. Rose Marie Gerace, D.C., has joined the staff at Seton Center, Emmitsburg, where she will supervise the center's program of social services. Her work will include family counseling, home visits, outreach efforts, and parent education.

Sister brings an M.S. in Social Work and a broad range of experience to her new post. She most recently served as administrator of Mt. St. Joseph Home for Girls, San Francisco. Earlier positions included teaching and administrative duties in many institutions staffed by the Daughters of Charity. Her graduate work was at Boston College School of Social Work.

Sr. Rose Marie is a member of the Academy of Certified Social Workers, National Association of Social Workers, National Conference of Catholic Charities, and the National Association for the Education of Young Children.

Ambulance Logs 13,000 Miles In '74

Three hundred sixty-two calls were answered by the Emmitsburg Ambulance Corps, according to a report for 1974 given at the monthly meeting of VFW Post 6658, held Wednesday, January 8. Of these calls, 215 were emergencies, while 125 were non-emergencies and 22 calls where transport to medical facilities were refused or the ambulance was not needed. The ambulance traveled over 13,000 miles with destinations including York, Gettysburg and Hanover, Pa.; Frederick, Baltimore, Hagerstown and Westminster, Md.; Washington, D.C., and Martinsburg, W. Va. Ambulance personnel used approximately 975 man hours answering calls. 378 patients were transported by the Corps including 192 males and 184 females. Fourteen of these were children under the age of six. 245 calls were answered between the hours of 6 a.m. and 6 p.m., while 89 were between the hours of 6 p.m. and midnight and 28 between 12 midnight and 6 a.m.

Answering the most number of calls was Jack Hoke. He assisted on 122 calls during the year while David Copenhaver assisted on 105 calls. Following closely were Larry Little with 96 calls, Leo M. Boyle, 95, and James Kittinger, 91 calls. Others answering calls included Sam Cool, Jay Dickinson, Charles Champlain, Paul Humerick, Thomas L. Topper, Donald Byard, Carl Angleberger, June Hoke and Douglas Orner.

Chairman of the Ambulance Corps, Leo M. Boyle, reported that the Corps has the services of ten qualified drivers, two others presently in the Emergency Medical Training Course at Frederick Community College, and one other person for transports. Mr. Boyle expressed gratitude to Post 6658 for their continued support, financially and otherwise, for maintaining the ambulance thus giving excellent emergency service to the community of Emmitsburg.

Emmitsburg Youth In Auto Crash Sat.

Hugo Henry Diehl, 19, Emmitsburg R1, was treated at the Warner Hospital and the York Hospital after his car smashed into guard rails off Route 116, in the borough of Carroll Valley, at 1:40 a.m. Saturday.

He was taken to the Warner Hospital in the Emmitsburg VFW ambulance and forwarded in the same vehicle to the York Hospital for further treatment of head injuries suffered in the crash.

State police said Diehl's west-bound sedan skidded off of control on the wet highway, ran off the south berm and collided with four guard rails and a station marker. Police estimated there was $800 damage to Diehl's 1970 Dodge sedan and $150 to the PennDot guard rails and marker.

Fire Co. Answers 114 Alarms In '74

The annual statistical report was given by Chief Eugene Myers at the monthly meeting of the Vigilant Hose Company held Tuesday evening, January 14, at the Fire Hall. President James Kittinger conducted the meeting with forty-nine members attending. Fifty-one first due calls were answered, twenty-seven mutual aids; and thirty-six non-fire alarms were responded to during 1974. An average of 31 men answered each call with man hours totaling 3,717. Mileage during the year was 1,751. Throughout the year only one injury was sustained by a fireman in the line of duty.

The estimated value of property and contents involved by fire was $3,456,030, with a loss of $213,355.69 incurred as a result of fires. Twenty-one alarms answered involved private dwellings, these included chimney fires; farm properties, including barns, sheds and tractors showed 12 alarms; field, brush and woods fires numbered 12; motor vehicles, 13; commercial occupancies, 12; community property, two; multiple dwellings, one; and miscellaneous alarms, six. The company recorded two false alarms for the year and held 18 drills during 1974.

In his monthly report, Chief Myers reported that 12 alarms were answered since the last meeting, and two service calls were responded to by the Vigilant Hose Company.

The Fire Company will hold three Evenings of Games during the winter. Terry Myers, chairman, has announced that the first of the series will be held Saturday evening, January 18 in the hall, and will be open to the public. Games will start at 7:30 p.m. Refreshments will be on sale. Dates for the other events are February 15 and March 15.

A thank you note was received from Fred Wolfe. Thomas White will be in charge of the FD license tags. Members desiring these tags are asked to see Mr. White. Delegates to the County Association will vote favorably on a regional fire school to be conducted at Frederick Community College. This was recommended to the delegates and then favorably voted on by members present at the meeting.

Larry Glass, Michael Shorb, Harry Green and Michael Myers completed and successfully passed the special training classes held recently.

Appointments were made by President Kittinger for 1975. These appointments include: Investigating committee, Guy R. McGlaughlin, Harry Green and Arthur Damuth; Training committee, Eugene Myers, Harry Green, Thomas White and James Kittinger; 200 Club, Eugene Myers and James Kittinger; By-Laws committee, Paul Keepers, Thomas White, Guy R. Fire Destroys 2nd Floor Of VanBrakle Home Sunday Morning

Eleven units and four fire companies spent an hour battling fire that gutted two bedrooms and caused extensive smoke, water and heat damage at the home of Mrs. Doris M. VanBrakle, 439 Lincoln Ave., Emmitsburg. The fire broke out at approximately 9:30 a.m. Sunday.

Mrs. VanBrakle and her three children were forced to flee the dwelling when the fire broke out in a second floor bedroom. Emmitsburg firemen, assisted by firemen and units from Thurmont, Fairfield and the Cascade Air Unit from Frederick, knocked down the blaze before it could spread throughout the attic rooms of the two-story structure.

Myers tentatively estimated damages at $10,000 to the house, and $5,000 to personal belongings.

He noted that firemen salvaged most of the downstairs furniture while others fought the second floor blaze.

Firemen remained on the scene for four hours. Cash-town firemen stood by for Fairfield during the alarm.

Library Will Show 3 Children's Films

The Frederick County Public Libraries have announced the following events of interest to residents of this area:

On Wednesday, January 22, at 7:30 p.m. in the Thurmont Public Library, there will be a program for fanciers of antiques and historic homes. Titles of filmstrips to be shown are: "American Houses: From Wigwam to Mansion," which features photographs of authentic rooms and pieces of furniture; and "Furniture Restoration," which features step by step procedures for refinishing furniture.

On Saturday, January 25, at 10:30 a.m. in the Emmitsburg Public Library, the following films for children will be shown: "Harlem Globe Trotters," "It's Not Cricket," and "Make Way For Ducklings."

Fire Co. Sponsors Evening Of Games

The first in a series of Evening of Games to be sponsored by the Vigilant Hose Co., will be held this Saturday beginning at 7:30 p.m. in the Fire Hall. Everyone is invited, and refreshments will be on sale.

Mardi Gras 1975— At Frederick Mall!

Frederick's Mardi Gras 1975 February 8, at the Frederick Towne Mall—is in its final planning stages by members of the Frederick Woman's Civic Club, and the evening will be a gala one for all who attend.

Reigning over the festivities will be the traditional Three Kings of Mardi Gras. They will be Rex Elmer Munshower, assisted by King Edward Thomas, Jr., and King John Derr. Announcement of the Kings was made recently by Mrs. Donald B. Rice, president of the club, at a Twelfth Night Dinner hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Rice for club officers and husbands, Kings and their wives, and Mardi Gras committee chairmen and their husbands.

Forty young ladies of the greater Frederick area will be presented at Mardi Gras. Chosen as Queen was Miss Debralee McClellan, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James McClellan of Frederick. She picked the lucky charm from the special "partridge in a pear tree" decoration, which held charms for all the girls, with one one inscribed as "Queen." Selection was made at a tea and reception for parents and the girls which was held recently at Steiner House, the Civic Club's historic headquarters house.

The Frederick Town Mall will be transformed into a gala ballroom on the night of Mardi Gras. Following the presentation of the princesses, Queen, and Kings at 10 p.m., there will be dancing to the music of three bands, and refreshments will be available until 2 a.m. Tickets are now on sale, and with expanded facilities, no one will be disappointed. Ticket information can be had by calling 662-4902.

Mardi Gras is the main fund raising activity of the Frederick Woman's Civic Club. Patterned after the famous one in New Orleans, the ball also has its own distinctive style. Costumes will be the dress for the evening; judging will be part of the program.

Blue Cross To Open Enrollment

Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Maryland today announced that an open enrollment period for their recently expanded Medicare Supplemental program will be held through March 31.

This low-cost program provides benefits which supplement Medicare coverage without duplicating its benefits. It is available to all Marylanders eligible for Medicare coverage, physical examinations required with no health statements or for enrollment. Some 140,000 Marylanders currently are covered.

Blue Cross benefits under the Supplemental program were expanded on January 1 to cover a 9.5 per cent increase in the deductible and coinsurance payments required of Part A Medicare beneficiaries. Specifically, the expanded coverage will include:

- the initial deductible for each hospital inpatient admission which increased from $84 to $92;
- the additional charge for the 61st through 90th day of each inpatient hospital stay which increased from $21 to $23;
- the additional charge for each of the 60 "lifetime reserve" hospital days which increased from $42 to $46; and,
- the additional charge for the 21st through 100th day of each skilled nursing facility stay which increased from $10.50 to $11.50.

The open enrollment period applies to those senior citizens who are not now Blue Cross or Blue Shield members; current members automatically will be converted from their present coverage to the supplemental program when they reach age 65.

Also eligible are beneficiaries presently having Blue Cross and Blue Shield protection, the corporations have requested that they notify the Plans to convert their coverage to the Supplemental program.

Anyone eligible for Medicare may enroll in the Medicare Supplemental program by contacting their nearest Blue Cross and Blue Shield office. The Medicare Supplemental program is available to individuals for $5.00 per month, payable quarterly.

FFA To Renovate Ball Park Areas

The monthly meeting of the Catoctin FFA Alumni was held January 9, with 18 members present. President Lee Bassler presided at the meeting.

Orchard Chairman, Lee Black, Frederick County Agricultural Supervisor Edward Reiley, Dave Simpson, and Rodman Myers, met to plan renovation of areas surrounding the athletic fields. They have set the date of Saturday, January 18 at 9 a.m., for clearing the areas. All FFA members and Alumni are encouraged to attend and help with this project. Chain saws, axes and tree trimming equipment are needed.

Catoctin FFA Chapter President Mike Weimer reported 125 FFA members went to the Pennsylvania Farm Show in Harrisburg. National FFA Week will be observed February 16-22. A new Catoctin Junior FFA Chapter has been formed with 65 members.

Patty Keilholtz and Lee Bassler will represent the Catoctin FFA Alumni on the Thurmont and Emmitsburg Community Show Committee.

Agriculture teacher, Tom Armbruster, announced that tractors in need of repair will be received at the agriculture department. The horticulture class has chrysanthemums for sale.

Jim Keilholtz and Paul Baumgardner were welcomed as new members.

Refreshments were served by Russell Moser and Denny Wolfe. The next meeting will be held February 13 at 8 p.m., in Lecture Hall B, at Catoctin High School.

Museum Contest

Contestants are wanted to create an exhibit suitable for display at Rose Hill Manor's Children's Museum. Exhibits can be suitable for hanging or free-standing, but should not exceed four feet. Exhibits should be imaginative, durable and easily movable. They should illustrate a craft, person, anecdote, place or area in Frederick County history, and should appeal to a child of the 4th, 5th and 6th grade level.

All exhibits must be turned in to Rose Hill Manor by March 1, and will be on display at the Manor through March and April. All exhibits will remain the property of the museum. First prize for adults is $100, and first prize for children under 12, is $100.

For further information call 663-8300 or 663-4121.

Girl Scout To Join Alpine Gathering

On January 18, Donna Athey, a Senior Girl Scout from Thurmont, will leave Dulles International Airport for the Swiss Alps and a two-week adventure in skiing and international friendship. Donna's destination will be "Our Chalet," near Adelboden, Switzerland, one of four World Centers of the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts.

At "Ski Session—Our Chalet," Donna and the five other United States Girl Scouts chosen for this event, will meet and mingle with approximately 100 Girl Scouts and Girl Guides from around the world. Together they will hike and ski in one of Switzerland's leading winter sports areas.

Chances to learn about one another's customs and cultures will come during and between sessions on the slopes and in the fun of living together dormitory-style.

In evening programs the girls will share songs, skits, dances, and slide-and-talk presentations about their homelands.

Part of the expense of attending "Ski Session—Our Chalet" for the six United States Scouts has been under-

March Of Dimes Campaign Begins

An estimated 250,000 children are born in the United States each year with birth defects. This misfortune strikes about one in every ten American families. For a long time it was assumed that nothing could be done to prevent birth defects. But that idea has proved to be outdated. Uses of vaccines is already saving thousands from being born malformed, severely crippled, or dead. If you want to help to protect tomorrow's child from birth defects... if you want to improve the quality of life at birth... give generously to the 1975 March of Dimes campaign.

The Mothers' March in Emmitsburg will again be sponsored by the Auxiliary to VFW Post 6658, under the chairmanship of Gloria Martin.

The following ladies will give generously of their time to collect in the different areas. Please welcome the collectors listed in your area, between January 19th and 26th (majority will solicit either Sunday afternoon or Tuesday evening).

North Seton, Lois Hartdagen and Dixie Vivaldi; South Seton, Rita Byard and Gloria Martin; Mountain Road, Betty Lupinski; Federal Ave. and Hill, Mary Topper and Ev Ott; Tract Road, Dolores Henke; Waynesboro Road, Eleanor Eiker; Toll Gate Hill (old Rt. 15), Charlotte Buch; Gettysburg Road, Maxine Keilholtz; Emmitt Gardens, Betty Ann Baker; DePaul St., Susie Glass and Mary Wetzel; W. Main St. (upper), Dolores Ray; Lincoln Ave., Phyllis Joy; W. Main St., Danelle White; Lisa Finneyfrock; Maxine Keilholtz, Judy Larsen; E. Main St. (lower), Anna Bushman and Shirley Little; E. Main St., Jane Orndorff and Gloria Maddox; St. Anthony's, Florence Knott and Joyce Orndorff; Mt. St. Mary's and Old Frederick Road, Gloria Martin.

Catoctin Winter Festival Feb. 1 & 2

Want to learn all about cross-country skiing or thrill to the sight of sled dogs running? Then came to the third annual Catoctin Mountain Winter Festival on Saturday and Sunday, February 1 and 2. The event, sponsored by the National Park Service and the Catoctin Mountains Tourist Council, will be held snow or no snow from 12 noon to 5 p.m. at Round Meadow in Catoctin Mountain Park. The entrance to the park is 3 miles west of Thurmont on State Route 77.

Outdoor activities will include cross-country ski clinics with members of the Potomac Appalachian Trail Club Ski Touring Section informing you of the ins and outs of America's fastest growing sport. If you can walk, you can cross-country ski. Learn how to get started—what you need, where to get it, and how to use it. If conditions permit, exciting sprint races on skis will be held.

The sled dog teams will be on hand even if there is no snow, as owner Warren Keifer has wheeled carts for training his purebred Siberian huskies. Visitors are asked not to bring their pets because of the excitability of the sled dogs.

In the absence of snow, hay rides will also be offered for a small fee. All other activities, however are free of charge. If snow is available, let your imagination go and try your skill at snow sculpture—contest for young and old alike.

Inside the heated Round Meadow gymnasium, a variety of activities will be taking place. There will be continuous movies of cross-country skiing and dog sledding, continuous slide programs, and displays of winter camping and recreational equipment. Members of the Potomac Appalachian Trail Club and the Maryland Mountain Club will be on hand to inform you about back-packing, winter camping, and mountaineering skills.

Take time to watch wood sculptor Arthur Wehrer, the fly tiers of the Potomac Valley Fly Fishermen, and other craftsmen.

Hot food and drinks will be available at the cafeteria. Join in the festivities and enjoy winter in the Catoctins February 1 and 2.

Mathias To Sponsor Special Committee

Sen. Charles McC. Mathias, Jr. (R-Md.), will introduce legislation in the 94th Congress to lessen individual economic burdens, conserve energy, guard against abuses of governmental authority, and improve services and benefits for veterans and handicapped children.

Legislation Mathias will sponsor includes a measure to create a Special Senate Committee to review federal government intelligence activities, and a resolution supporting a continuation of arms limitations negotiations.

On matters of particular interest to Maryland, Mathias, in cooperation with Sen. J. Glenn Beall, Jr., (R-Md.), will submit legislation to protect Assateague Island National Seashore from future commercial development; extend the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal National Historical Park to Cumberland; expand and preserve the Antietam Battlefield; and give the Governor authority to delay offshore drilling for oil and natural gas.

The Maryland Senator said economic and energy programs, as well as tax reform, health insurance, and welfare realignment, must head the agenda for the new Congress.

To lessen economic burdens on individual Americans, Mathias will introduce legislation to equalize the federal income tax rate for married couples so that it is consistent with taxes paid by single persons; reduce overwithholding of federal income taxes; and provide income tax credits for college tuitions.

To conserve energy, Mathias said he will propose measures to establish import quotas on oil; impose a gasoline tax; and impose a weight tax on heavy automobiles.

On tax reform, Mathias said he will introduce legislation to end obsolete tax advantages of major oil corporations, including the oil depletion allowance and the tax credit for foreign taxes paid by such corporations.

Mathias said if these and other reforms within the tax code are adopted, Congress can consider a tax cut for low- and middle-income persons. He said such a tax cut could be achieved by raising personal tax exemptions from $750 to $850, increasing specific deductions and exemptions provided in the code.

All these measures were put forward during the last Congress, Mathias said, but neither the House Ways and Means Committee nor the Senate Finance Committee reported a significant tax reform bill that was considered on the floor.

"It would be scandalous for the Congress to again treat such an important subject in such a manner," he said.

To guard against abuses of governmental authority, Mathias will reintroduce legislation that he proposed last year calling for a thorough Senate investigation of all domestic intelligence activities. He will also put forth measures ending four states of national emergency; and providing checks on military surveillance, executive agreements, and the use of criminal justice data banks.

To protect the rights of government employees, Mathias will submit measures to prevent unfair and arbitrary downgrading of federal jobs, and to establish a bill-of-rights that would guard against invasions of privacy and other abuses.

Mathias will also introduce bills to give voting rights in federal elections to Americans living abroad; provide for public financing of Congressional election campaigns; open Senate committee mark-ups meetings; and require full financial disclosure by members of the House and Senate.

On other matters, Mathias will introduce legislation to provide direct tuition grants to Vietnam-era veterans; extend federal aid for the education of handicapped children; change federal estate tax laws to preserve farmland and other open spaces; create an independent board to stimulate new high-level governmental interest in science and technology; provide for a thorough review of antitrust laws and their enforcement; and encourage the promotion of American arts and handicrafts.

PERSPECTIVES IN LEARNING

By Hazel Brown, President
Harry Lundeberg School
A Dream For Education

As the new year begins it gives the opportunity to reflect upon the past but most of all we dream for the future and the world if education certainly provides a paradise for dreams. People of all ages need learning opportunities and deserve a brighter future through education.

In my dream our schools will brighten the future of more students by developing a "try again" attitude rather than the existing emphasis on failure which now too often prevails. Teachers will accept the true challenge and reject failure as an option to any student. All students can succeed if given the proper understanding and encouragement. Our schools will all ways be able to speak of success regardless how small the degree.

Interest will become the sole motivational force. Students will learn because they want to learn. They will not be overly concerned about receiving credits for courses but rather will see learning as a meaningful end.

As teachers begin to work with motivated students, they will realize that labeling and grading is unnecessary. There will be no more A's or F's, no more robins or bluejays, and no more need for mentally retarded or gifted groupings. Students will become individuals with individual needs. Discipline problems will be come almost unheard of because the students are attending classes that they recognize as meaningful and rewarding. The students see themselves as worthwhile individuals with unique abilities. They have no need for conflict because the only competition is within themselves. A school with no need for evaluations will become accepted. There will be no need for graduations or diplomas because students frequently return to school for continued educational experiences as they are desired. Continuing education will become a true reality. As persons recognize the need for education, training, or upgrading, they will return to school with a desire to learn because they realize the need for learning.

These dreams for the future can come true if we keep in our minds the importance of education and maintain the desire to provide successful educational experiences for all students.

Festive Chicken

How to entertain and still keep the budget in line? Your guests will love this luscious chicken with wine and herbs, a sure-fire hit from the cookbook, "Muller's Classic Recipes."

CHICKEN WITH WINE AND HERBS

1/2 cup olive oil	1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 1/2 pounds chicken parts	1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1/2 pound salt pork, cut in strips	1/2 teaspoon basil leaves, crushed
1/4 cup chopped onion	1 tablespoon salt
1 teaspoon chopped garlic	3 quarts boiling water
1/2 cup Marsala wine	8 ounces (5 cups) klops egg noodles
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (35 ounces) Italian-style tomatoes	Grated Parmesan cheese

Heat oil in a Dutch oven or large pan; brown chicken on all sides. Add salt pork; onion, and garlic; cook until lightly browned. Add Marsala and butter. When wine is completely reduced, add tomatoes, pepper, parsley, and basil. Simmer uncovered about 25 minutes, stirring occasionally, until sauce begins to thicken. Meanwhile, add salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add noodles so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, 7 to 9 minutes until desired tenderness. Drain in colander. Return noodles to pot; pour in sauce from chicken. Mix well; turn into serving dish and top with chicken parts. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Anti-Tank Gun?

No... it's the Prince Tennis Trainer, which fills the popular need for tennis training when there is no partner around or when a tennis pro is giving instruction. Made to hold up to 125 tennis balls, the Tennis Trainer varies its delivery just like a pro and can send any tennis ball at the player from a baseline shot delivered two feet over the net to a gentle toss from service line to service line.

The Prince will also vary the timing of delivery from 2 to 12 seconds apart, do almost every service a pro can deliver and do it day or night, indoors or out, whenever the owner decides to practice. The Trainer is also being used as the service unit for multiple "tennis ranges" now growing overnight in the country.

It can also be remote-controlled by the pro standing right next to a student player, either by wired or radio control. And the entire trainer can be moved about easily or packed in the trunk of a car. Made in Princeton, New Jersey, the Prince Tennis Trainer is one step forward for budding tennis players of all abilities.

Small Cars Off and Soaring

New York (Ed) — There's a busy factory in Swansea, Wales, working three shifts a day, seven days a week turning out a production of small cars that simply dwarfs that of all Detroit.

These "small cars" are from three to four inches long and for their size are incredibly detailed and authentic. "They're like looking at the real thing through the wrong end of a telescope," says a famous New York retailer.

The cars made by Corgi, one of great Britain's largest toy manufacturers, are fabricated of die-cast metal and they are pouring into the United States at the rate of tens of millions annually mostly for children in the five to twelve year old bracket.

Research by Corgi puts the average owner's collection at 17 with the more serious buffs going into the hundreds and even thousands sealing upward according to the degree of his seriousness. Classy and sleek Formula 1 racing cars top the popularity lists. Next comes foreign Rally and Grand Turismo types such as Porsches, Ferraris, Lambrettas, then on to the family bus, military and emergency vehicles, farm equipment and then Fords, Chryslers, Chevrolets and the like.

At the present time Corgi makes about 150 different car models in two scales. One is about fifty times smaller than life the other is approximately 1/85th scale the same as the well-known Matchbox cars. Besides the U.S. Corgi sells to 200 countries worldwide.

The demand for authenticity the company imposes on itself sees teams of technicians going out into the field with tape measures and cameras poring over specifications sent to them by manufacturers, often on a confidential basis. Pinstaking drawings are made in the scaling down process. Later

Small Car Boom in Collecting

Small cars, authentic and in incredible detail are the big number in toys this year with storekeepers barely able to keep them in stock. Estimates are that as many as 100 million of these die-cast metal models will be sold to American kids this year. Powerful looking racing cars by Corgi, one of Britain's largest toymakers, are among the most popular. This one just released is a replica of the STP Eagle, winner of the 1973 Indianapolis 500. They are three to five inches long. Some of the company's earlier models have increased in price tenfold on the collector's market since they were introduced.

wooden patterns are made and resin molds cast. The final mold is cut with the aid of a Pantograph machine which accurately scales down to the finished miniature size from a larger mold. Tools for this exacting work include watchmaker's glasses, micro-meters and one as thin as cigarette paper specially designed to make the casting for die-cast spoke wheels.

Corgi buyers, the company has learned, are sticklers for accuracy and are quick to find mistakes. One time when it made a car with eleven slats on its radiator grill when it should have had twelve, the company received over two hundred letters from various parts of the globe pointing out the error. Corgi responded quickly by making costly changes in the casting die.

At this time trade estimates say total die-cast car volume will be close to 100 million individual pieces sold this year. Growth has been rapid and everything points to these tiny cars being among 1974's biggest toy categories.

The Yardley McLaren M 19A, one of international racing's most illustrious Formula 1 cars, winner of several European Grands Prix. The Corgi model is 4 1/4 inches long.

Corgi's newest model, the STP Patrick Eagle, winner of the 1973 Indianapolis 500.

The 312 B2, engineered by Italy's illustrious Ferrari. The Corgi 4 1/4 inch miniature is in Italian racing red.

Bicentennial Message

In less than two years, on the 4th of July, 1976, the United States will begin the celebration of its Bicentennial. There is no denying the greatness of this nation. From an obscure beginning known as the American Revolutionary War, thirteen struggling colonies won their freedom on the military field. They fought with their muskets at Concord, Lexington, Valley Forge and Jamestown because they had achieved a high and noble concept of man. That is why this Declaration: "We hold these truths to be self-evident. That all men are created equal and are endowed by their creator with certain inalienable rights such as life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness . . ." Grand, New Idea

Let's spell it out so there can be no misunderstanding. The American Revolution was fought and won to establish the fact that MAN is a CRE-ATED being, and that LIFE, LIBERTY and THE PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS are RIGHTS which were given to man by his CREATOR in the very act of CREATION. That civil government exists for the sole purpose of preserving not granting, LIFE, LIBERTY and THE PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS. So, the American ship of state was launched on the sea of political existence based on an entirely new idea. Man should be free because he is a created being, made in the image and likeness of his Creator, higher than the animals and just a little lower than the angels.

To put it another way, America was founded on the grand idea that if a people would "seek first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness, these things (the material blessings of God and nature) would be added to them." This formula of forces and ideas has produced in America the greatest degree of personal freedom ever known to mankind. It has produced the highest standard of living ever known to mankind. It produced the greatest scientific advances ever known to mankind. As Coldred Mackay puts it in a recent article, this noble idea which we ourselves are losing, should be the central message of the Bicentennial.

Beginning Of Socialism In U.S.A.

Four decades ago, this nation was flooded with Socialistic ideas—the overall plan of Utopia, the "planned Economy." Federal agencies controlling the economic life of the nation became so numerous they were designated only by the use of the alphabet. In the midst of what came to be called The Great Depression, there was launched in America, a most determined effort to change the very basis of our system of Government. Taking advantage of the dire circumstances of the depression, a group of "social planners" attached themselves to our national government in Washington and the war to destroy the "inalienable rights" of Americans made progress for the first time.

The bureaucrats were empowered to take control over the production of farms. Farmers were paid for not growing crops. Pigs, cattle and sheep were slaughtered to satisfy the planners. All this during a time of "bread lines" and starvation. The slogan "Tax, spend and elect" was the battle cry of the era to accomplish their Socialistic programs. The power to tax was the instrument to render dependent those who were not impoverished by the depression. The power to tax and spend was a big help to re-elect those in charge of the government at the time. This is clear from the following statement from the book entitled, Taxation for Prosperity, by Randolph E. Paul, Under Secretary of the Treasury at that time.

"Why do we have a Federal Tax system? In answering this question we shall do well to break with tradition and think with open minds. The first item of business is to reject the gospel that taxes are for revenue only . . . We need to look at taxes in a more positive way as an instrument of social and economic control wholly apart from the fiscal, making revenue yield, only part of the objective." Listen further to this socialistic philosophy . . . "The point is that taxes may be imposed, wholly apart from their revenue-producing qualities, to achieve desired effects on particular occasions . . . It is the highest function of taxes to accomplish positive social or economic objectives, beyond the revenue." Listen to still more of this Socialistic thinking—

"On this higher level, taxes may be used to express public policy on the distribution of wealth and income; . . . They may be used to penalize particular industries and economic groups . . ."

It Is Unconstitutional

I affirm that the Constitution does not grant to Congress or to any bureau the right to penalize, by the taxing power, citizens who have not violated the law. Yet, the objective of the "social planners" both in and out of government at that time was made clear by Harold L. Ickes, Secretary of the Interior by this entry in the Diary of Harold Ickes: "We are working toward a society of modified Communism." (The Los Angeles Times, July 16, 1935.)

President Johnson said in 1964:

"We are going to take all the money we think is unnecessary being spent, and take it from the 'haves' and give it to the 'have nots.'" (Cong. Rec. 1964, p. 2227, White House speech of Jan. 16, 1964.)

Abraham Lincoln once said: "Any society that takes away from those most capable and gives to those least capable will perish." He also states: "Our defense is in the spirit which prized liberty as the heritage of all men, in all lands everywhere. Destroy this spirit and you have planted the seeds of despotism at your doors."

Today, from every dollar earned in America, an average of 43.5 per cent goes to pay taxes at all levels. Pending in Congress is legislation to add new taxes to meet the new crisis of inflation and recession, called by some other names. If passed most all of the remaining freedom we have in America would be gone. The Tax Equity Act of 1973 could be used to liquidate the middle class.

With the passage of this Bill into law, free Americans would lose their financial ability to resist total Socialism in the form of Washington "planning." Private education would largely cease, because it is chiefly dependent on charitable and tax deductible contributions.

Cecil B. DeMille Said: The principle of the separation of church and state has never meant and need never mean the exclusion of moral and religious values from education or the exiling of God from our national life. If you believe that it does mean that, you must cut out of the Declaration of Independence its most potent clause . . . endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights . . . and when you cut that out, you have cut out the heart that pumps the life-blood of liberty through the nation's veins. If men will not be ruled by God, they will certainly be ruled by tyrants . . . We must choose

Please explain the Educational Opportunity Grant Program—someone told me my son may be eligible for financial help under this program?

You are probably referring to the Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant Program which is for students of exceptional financial need, who without the grant, would be unable to continue their education. Your son may be eligible to apply if he is enrolled at least half-time as an undergraduate or vocational student in an educational institution participating in the program. Detailed information may be obtained by writing the Maryland Higher Education Loan Corporation, 2100 Guilford Avenue, Baltimore, Maryland 21218.

Under the Foreign Assistance Act Amendments of 1971 the President may suspend all assistance to Turkey.

Does the government publish any literature on bicycle safety?

The Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) has published a free fact sheet on selection, uses and maintenance of bicycles. For a copy, write to: Bicycle Safety, CPSC, Washington, D.C. 20207, or phone the agency's toll free number 800-638-2666.

TIME-SAVING TIPS

There's a lot of truth in the saying, "Beauty is as beauty does." Because an important part of beauty is good grooming. And good grooming takes a little effort. Here are a few time-saving tips to add to your personal beauty ritual:

1. Keep your face flower-fresh by washing it twice a day in warm water (hot water roughens the skin) and finishing up with a cold water rinse for a velvety texture.

2. Use an astringent to remove dirt that might form blackheads. And if you have especially oily skin, use cleansing grains to remove excess grease to smooth skin.

3. If you're in a hurry, one way to keep hair soft and stylish without a lot of work is by using the Norelco Curly Q Curling Wand with mist. It takes seconds to shape and seconds to set your hair with a gentle mist. And the curls last, too!

4. A short bath provides a beauty treatment no shower can. It can relax you when you're tired and a brisk towel-drying afterwards can help you prepare for a peppy day. Avoid extremes in water temperature. Very hot water not only reddens the skin but speeds the heart action as well. Very cold baths should be used only when you need a quick and drastic stimulant.

If you take the short time needed to prepare yourself to be beautiful, you'll probably succeed!

BUSINESS AND THE STOCK MARKET

Distress Signals Along The Labor Front

By Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass., January 16, 1975—Under ordinary circumstances, 1975 might well be considered as one of the cyclically quiet years in terms of labor relations. Unfortunately, there is growing concern on the part of government mediators that there may be far more blowups than earlier anticipated because of the critical economic dislocations affecting both the workers and the employers of the nation.

While the roster of big union contract expirations for the current year is relatively limited, negotiations — both scheduled and unscheduled — promise to be more complex than usual and conducted more militantly. Employees suffering from a sharp reduction in the purchase value of their wages are becoming more aggressive in their demands for good-sized raises to make up for inflationary price hikes for virtually all goods and services. They are also insisting upon job and income protection.

tion for the future, reflecting government admission that jobless totals may reach 8% as the year moves along.

Management Will Be Tough

As of now, it appears that there will be a considerable rash of labor disputes at the local level, frequently involving smaller businesses. Since such companies are already beleaguered by skyrocketing materials and labor costs, they will stiffly resist exaggerated union demands that could well put them out of business. So the battle lines are already forming, even where they were not thought to be threatening at all only a few months ago. The probability of local trouble is further indicated by the fact that of 4.7 million workers involved in 1975 renegotiations only about 50% are in units employing as many as 1,000 workers.

As long as the cost of living continues to soar, specialists in employee benefits and executive compensation are generally agreed that corporations will be urged to provide more in immediate cash than in the various types of fringe improvements that were an expected feature of agreements before the inflationary runaway. Workers would prefer to be able to pay for their food and rent here and now than to have the promise of things to come later on. Both lower- and upper-echelon personnel have their eye on substantially more generous base pay without any reduction in the size of the benefits package.

If workers get what they want, it will, of course, mean further sizeable increases in operating costs, and these will not be easy for smaller and/or marginal concerns to support. Nor will it be a simple matter to pass larger labor costs along to consumers who are already resisting high prices in many products fields. The impasse caused by the tendency for workers and their representatives to describe employer proposals as "unacceptable" will be at the bottom of many disturbing altercations along the labor front in 1975.

Escalator Clauses Sought
Many unions are determined to have escalator clauses tying pay to the consumer price index included in their contracts. They feel that otherwise any new raises they rack up from bargaining sessions could easily be wiped out by another upjag in consumer prices. Such protection is an easy concept to sell to the workers since their raises have too often been eroded or actually offset by repeated inflationary price jumps. Management, too, finds it difficult to fight such a provision when it is already in pacts throughout most industries.

New pension regulations are going to cost employers perhaps 6%-15% more to operate already established plans. The boosts will stem not only from alterations in eligibility and vesting provisions but also from insurance payments and fresh administrative expenses. This advance in labor expenditures will make many employers even more set against handing out huge raises without a real struggle.

YOUR VETERINARIAN SPEAKS

Emergency First Aid For Pets

What you do in an emergency may save your pet's life, according to the Maryland Veterinary Medical Association.

Although it is important, first aid measures will not take the place of experienced medical attention. Take your pet to your veterinarian as soon as possible after an accident or should your pet suddenly become sick.

The most common of all accidents is being hit by a car. If a dog is hit he is always frightened and often in pain.

A. In any accident case there are three steps to follow:

1. Protect yourself from being bitten by wrapping a cloth around his mouth and tying it behind his ears.

2. Prevent the dog from running off. You will be embarrassed if the dog runs off with a bandage half applied.

3. Prevent further injury to the dog.

If a leg is broken, do not try to apply a splint. A splint improperly applied may do more harm than good. Carefully slide the dog onto a rug or heavy blanket and get it to a veterinarian. Let him do the splinting. However, if there is heavy bleeding, apply pressure directly over the wound with clean gauze or handkerchief.

To help prevent infection of a cut or wound, keep it clean and healthy by covering it with a moist cloth and keep it moist. Never put strong antiseptics or ointments on wounds. If you do, it may be impossible for your veterinarian to close the wound by suturing.

If poisoning is suspected, the animal must be taken to the veterinarian at once. If that is impossible, the pet may be made to vomit by throwing a handful of table salt into the back of the mouth. However, this may produce too much vomiting and result in dehydration and weakness.

When a dog or cat continually claws at its mouth, use extreme care. It may indicate rabies or a foreign object such as a piece of bone or a stick caught in its teeth. Gently remove the object if you can see it. If the object has been swallowed and is lodged in the throat, your veterinarian can extract it from the esophagus.

Red, inflamed or blistered skin may be caused by a burn. To relieve the pain, apply cool wet packs of strong tea solution or a weak solution of washing soda to the damaged area. Do not use grease or ointment. Extensive burns or those on the feet, require professional treatment.

Clean eye injuries with warm boric acid solution or a weak salt solution (one teaspoonful to a quart of warm water) and check the eye for wounds. If none are found and the condition persists over several days, see your veterinarian. Irritation or injury to the eyes may result if the dog is allowed to ride with his head out the car's window. Keep pets inside the car when it is in motion.

Prolonged exposure to high temperatures, such as leaving your pet in the car in hot weather, may cause heatstroke. Get the pet's temperature down as soon as possible. Get him to a cool place at once and sponge him with cold water or if possible, put him in cool water.

Use common sense to keep your dog out of emergency situations. Keep him on a leash when walking. Keep caustic chemicals in safe places and foreign bodies out of reach. But for added safety, ask your veterinarian to help you make a list of items for your pet's first aid kit he will be glad to help but, remember, the kit cannot take the place of professional medical assistance.

NEXT: Leptospirosis.

SAVE YOUR HEART

Picking up the leaves scattered over your lawn may make your heart beat faster, and not alone because of the beauty-and bounty-of nature. The exertion can strain your heart.

You can save time and effort with a new low-cost invention called the "Griffin Leafeater." It helps people pick up leaves two-thirds faster than by using the hand-raking method. And it's easy. All you do is rake the leaves into many small mounds and then pick up two-to-three bushels of leaves-including grass cuttings and twigs-with every scoop of the Leafeater.

This product is sold direct for $4.95 (postage paid) by Griffin Products, Inc., P.O. Box 562, Greenwich, Conn. 06830.

The economy, however, will be one of the paramount issues before the Congress, and several of my proposals will be addressed to resolving our economic difficulties.

To lessen economic burdens on individual Americans, I will introduce legislation to equalize the federal income tax rate for working married couples so that it is consistent with taxes paid by single persons; reduce overwithholding of federal income taxes; and provide income tax credits for college tuitions.

I also will introduce legislation to end obsolete tax advantages of major oil corporations, including the oil depletion allowance and the tax credit for foreign taxes paid by such corporations.

If these and other reforms within the tax code are adopted, Congress can consider a tax cut for low- and middle-income persons. Such a tax cut could be achieved by raising personal tax exemptions from $750 to $850, increasing specific deductions and exemptions provided in the code.

All these measures were put forward during the last Congress, but neither the House Ways and Means Committee nor the Senate Finance Committee reported a significant tax reform bill that was considered on the floor.

It would be scandalous for the Congress to again treat such an important subject in such a manner.

TAX—Q & A

Q. When must I give my employees their W-2 forms?

A. Give your employees their Forms W-2, Wage and Tax Statements (or Social Security statements), for a calendar year, or any corrected statements made in the year, not later than January 31 of the following year. If someone leaves your employ before the end of the calendar year and you don't expect that employee to return to work within the calendar year, you must give a wage and tax statement to the employee not later than 30 days after you pay the final wages.

Q. Last summer I earned a few hundred dollars to cover some of my college expenses this semester. Do I have to file a tax return and report this income?

A. Single individuals who have $2,050 or more gross income for the year must file a return. Any individual who may be claimed as the dependent of another taxpayer must file a return if he or she had a gross income of $750 or more and received any unearned income during the year. Even if you did not make enough money this year to require you to file a return, you may have had income tax withheld from your pay. If so, you should file a return, claim your personal exemption and get your refund.

Q. A great uncle of mine recently died, naming me executor of his estate. His will states I'll receive a small amount of cash. In addition, I will receive a fee for performing the executor's duties. Do I have to pay tax on this money?

A. Gifts, bequests or inheritances you receive are not income. But if property you receive in this manner later produces taxable income, such as interest or dividends, that income is taxable to you. The fee you receive as executor must be included in your gross income, however.

Q. In addition to prescribing medicine and new eyeglasses to relieve my headaches, my doctor sent me to a clinic for acupuncture treatment. I know the drugs and eyeglasses are deductible medical expenses, but what about the acupuncture services?

A. Payments for acupuncture services qualify as deductible medical expenses.

New Congress, New Start

The convening of the 94th Congress allows a new start on legislation of vital concern to all Americans. Economic and energy programs, as well as tax reform, health insurance, and welfare realignment, must head the agenda for the new Congress.

I plan to introduce legislation in a number of these and other areas. On matters of particular interest to Maryland, I will submit legislation in cooperation with Sen. Beall to protect Assateague Island National Seashore from future commercial development; extend the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal National Historical Park to Cumberland; expand and preserve the historic Antietam Battlefield area; and give the Governor authority to delay offshore drilling for oil and natural gas.

The economy, however, will be one of the paramount issues before the Congress, and several of my proposals will be addressed to resolving our economic difficulties.

Many of the checks performed by Hertz mechanics as a part of the program require sophisticated equipment; some, however, can be done by car owners at little or no expense to keep their cars in good running order.

For long-range maintenance of car, Hertz recommends:

- Rotate air filter 180 degrees at 2,000 — 3,000 mile interval.
- Check transmission fluid level once a month. Drain and change it every 15 thousand miles.

- At every oil change, check air conditioner, alternator, and power-steering belts for tightness.
- Replace pollution control valve near air cleaner at time of every tune-up.
- Clean battery terminals weekly to get full charge from alternator and full cranking power, and check master brake cylinder fluid level under hood at the same time.

- Check brake linings. If brake drums are moist, you may have leaks on the wheel cylinders.

Clean windshield wipers weekly to prevent streaks, and change their blades twice a year; earlier if rubber dries out.

Use quality grade motor oil.

Senior Citizens May Get Extra Income

15,000 older Marylanders may be eligible for monthly cash payments under Supplemental Security Income.

Those in financial need who are 65 years or older or blind or disabled may receive additional income from the Federal Government under Supplemental Security Income.

People who have little or no regular cash income and who do not own much in the way of property or other assets, which can be turned into cash, may qualify.

The Maryland Commission on Aging is launching a special effort to find the estimated 15,000 older Marylanders who may be eligible for Supplemental Security Income but have not as yet enrolled.

Supplemental Security Income, begun one year ago, already aids approximately 20,000 elderly people in Maryland. According to the Commission, another 15,000 could be helpful if they were aware of the program and would apply.

If you think you are eligible and want to apply for this supplemental income, call your nearest Social Security Office listed in the telephone directory.

Ladies of Brute Plan Heart Fund Drive

With February nearing, the Ladies of Brute discussed the forthcoming Heart Fund Drive at their monthly meeting held Monday, January 13.

President Nancy Danner presided with twelve members present.

This year's chairman of the Heart Fund Drive is Loretta Sprinkle. Her report indicates that volunteers have been obtained to collect all streets in the community and surrounding areas. Material for each volunteer will be distributed in the near future.

Thank you notes were read by secretary Alice Boyle from Mrs. Cheryl Paugh, Mrs. Anna Brewer and Bruno, Inc. A new monthly refreshment committee chart will be made by the secretary.

Auxiliary members were asked to make aprons for gifts at the annual State K. of C. convention. Members also voted to give a door prize for the convention.

The auxiliary agreed to assist a family that lost most of their possessions in a fire recently.

All members will be receiving a letter from the secretary asking for a donation for a bakeless bake sale. Sharon Danner won this month's draw prize.

Following adjournment refreshments were served to members by Sharon Danner and Dolores Davis.

written by the Juliette Low World Friendship Fund. Juliette Low, who founded Girl Scouting in the United States, dreamed of bringing girls of all nationalities together in friendship. To further this dream, the Fund established in her name finances exchange programs such as "Ski Session—Our Chalet" in which young people from all parts of the world can share ideas, cultures, and friendship.

Donna has been a Girl Scout since Brownie days. After many years of resident camp experience, she served last summer as an apprentice counselor at Girl Scout Camp Shadowbrook. As part of her training to be a Girl Scout leader through the Leadership Development Program, Donna has been an assistant with a Thurmont Brownie Troop.

At Catocin High School where she is a senior, Donna is sports editor for the school newspaper, a cheerleader, and a member of the Senior Class Steering Committee. After graduation, she plans to enroll at Frederick Community College to prepare for a career in social work.

Although she has never skied, Donna is eager to learn and she has been working to strengthen her muscles through regular exercise. Other preparations include a meeting with three Baltimore Girl Scouts who visited "Our Chalet" last year and talked with her about what to expect.

Girl Scouts of Central Maryland makes possible a wide variety of opportunities, close to home and far away, for girls 6 to 17 in Baltimore City and Anne Arundel, Baltimore, Carroll, Frederick, Harford, and Howard Counties. It receives partial support from the United Fund of Central Maryland and the United Girls Fund of Frederick County.

Psychiatrist To Speak At G-Burg

Dr. Thomas S. Szasz, "perhaps the most controversial psychiatrist in the United States," has accepted an invitation to speak at Gettysburg College on Thursday, January 23.

Dr. Szasz, who insists that the concept of "mental disease" is fraudulent, will speak on "Disagreement is not Disease," at 11 a.m. in the College Union on campus.

Interested persons are invited to attend the public lecture at no charge.

"Disease can only be verified under the microscope," Szasz asserts. "The diagnostic lexicon of psychiatric 'disease' consists not of factual description of organic conditions but of politically motivated, stigmatizing labels; and involuntary psychiatric intervention—whether for the good of the patient or society—is an outrageous crime against humanity."

Born in Hungary, Dr. Szasz (rhymes with jazz) was educated in America: he received his A.B. (physics) and M.D. degrees from the University of Cincinnati, completed his psychiatric residency at the University of Chicago Clinics, and received analytic training at the Chicago Institute for Psychoanalysis.

Since 1956, he has been a Professor of Psychiatry at the Upstate Medical Center of the State University of New York in Syracuse.

He is participating in the Navy's twentieth season of providing logistic support for the U. S. scientific research effort on the frozen continent.

St. Joe's To Join March For Life

January 22 is the second anniversary of the Supreme Court's infamous abortion decision. It coincides with the opening of the new 94th Congress, and is a fitting date to make known to our elected representatives that we consider all human life sacred! Therefore, the students of St. Joseph's High School are joining the Frederick County Right to Life Organization in going by bus to our nation's capitol. There we will participate in the peaceful and impressive demonstrations on the Capitol grounds . . . a demonstration that numbered 20,000 people last year and of which we were also a small part. Those of us who attended last year know the intense emotions of patriotism and civic responsibility that we experienced as we participated in this dramatic presentation of our Pro-Life convictions.

We hope that you will join us on this historic trip to Washington, D. C. The school is hiring a bus that will leave from school on Wednesday, academic day, at about 10:00 a.m. The March For Life begins at 1:00 on the Capitol steps with speeches by pro-life Representatives, Senators, and other prominent persons. The entire group will then march slowly around the capitol. You may carry signs, song sheets, etc. The march closes with a short musical program at about 3:45. We will board the bus at 4:00 and be back at school as close to 5:30 p.m. as possible.

If you wish to go, you will need to read carefully the following:

1. All students attending the March For Life will go on the bus. No cars!
2. The bus fare will be $2 round trip, payable Jan. 20.
3. All students will observe the dress code. We wish to show our elected representatives that we are serious and responsible young adults.
4. The bus will not stop for lunch. Pack a lunch and bring along something to drink and for a snack later.
5. No one will be permitted to leave the area of the Capitol where the march is taking place. Stay near your "advisor" at all times.
6. The art classes will provide each marcher with the symbolic red rose that represents the Pro-Life movement or provide your own artificial rose.
7. At all times conduct yourself as young Christian men and women engaged in a struggle over an issue that literally is a "life and death" matter for hundreds of thousands of babies.
8. If all this sounds serious to you, it is! But we also can promise you a lot of fun, the tremendous thrill of being a part of a great cause, and the excitement that comes from participating first-hand in the decision making of your government.

Insurance Advisors To Help Public

Maryland Insurance Commissioner, Thomas J. Hatem, this week announced that a member of the Insurance Advisory Service of the Department of Licensing and Regulation will be available at the Western Maryland Area on Monday, Jan. 20, from 10:00 a.m. until 2:00 p.m. in the Conference Room, 2nd Floor, Court House, Hagerstown, to answer inquiries from the public concerning insurance.

The Advisory Service visits Hagerstown on the 3rd Monday of every month, in order to provide more convenient assistance to citizens of Washington, Frederick, and Carroll Counties.

Mr. Hatem said the service representative will attempt to obtain insurance for members of the public who do not now have coverage. In addition, the representative will attempt to resolve any complaints which may be made to him about insurance service.

If any individual is unable to visit the representative in person, he may address any inquiry to Mr. Hatem in care of the State Insurance Division, 1 S. Calvert Building, Baltimore, Md. 21202.

E.L.L.C. Members To Meet Jan. 30

The annual meeting of the full membership of the Emmitsburg Lifelong Learning Council will be held at Seton Center on Thursday, Jan. 30, at 7 p.m.

The January meeting is the most important ELLC meeting of the year, the only one which seeks to have delegates present from all member organizations. These delegates comprise the full council which annually elects the members of the governing board. The governing board is the body which is ultimately responsible for the policies and the day-to-day operation of the ELLC.

In addition to elections, the agenda for the meeting includes a report on council activities during 1974.

Good Advice:

Keep Your Nose Clean

The odds that you'll catch a cold this year are pretty good. Approximately 60 per cent of the American population gets a cold two or three times a year. Other statistics gathered by the folks who make Scotties facial tissues indicate that at least half the population will catch a cold in the winter months.

How do you avoid sniffles and sneezes and keep your nose clean? Simple. Fight the "cold war" with an ounce of prevention.

Two good ways to prevent catching a cold: 1) maintain a proper diet; 2) keep your body in top physical condition.

A body in "top physical condition" is one that is well-exercised (even walking is better than nothing) and clean.

You should wash your hands before and after eating, before going to bed and any time you come in contact with a germ-laden area.

That also includes those "germy" cloth handkerchiefs stuffed in a pants pocket or purse. It is much more sensible to use disposable paper tissues to catch sniffles and sneezes. Germs will end up in the wastebasket, not back in your pocket or purse.

In addition to maintaining the body in top physical condition, we should all be more concerned about the quality of air we breathe. Although we can't do much to control the air outdoors, we can make sure the air in our homes contains moisture.

Moisture prevents chilling and dryness in the nose and throat, with perhaps less chance of infection and certainly less damage to the mucous membranes.

To increase moisture in the home use a humidifier.

If you'd like to know more about the common cold, send for a booklet entitled, "Germsundheit!" Send 25¢ to cover postage and handling to: Germsundheit, P.O. Box 9513, St. Paul, Minn. 55195.

UNDERSTANDING OUR ECONOMY

HOW SCIENTISTS ARE HELPING TO FIGHT INFLATION

The next time you buy something made out of plastics, give a thought to how you're helping to fight inflation with that purchase.

In fact, you — and the nation's industrial scientists — are fighting inflation two ways. One is by saving on expensive energy. Lightweight and durable plastics products can be frequently produced at less energy cost than an equal poundage of metal from its natural ore.

The second way: Many of our metals are becoming increasingly scarce, and that boosts their cost — to manufacturers and to you. Most plastics are based on carbon, hydrogen and other plentiful elements which are potentially available from many sources. At present, petroleum is the most economically feasible feedstock for producing plastics.

The use of petroleum and natural gas as the primary source of raw materials for plastics is regarded by many researchers as one of the most efficient uses of these resources, says Ralph L. Harding, Jr., president of The Society of the Plastics Industry, Inc., the principal trade association for the plastics industry.

In a statement before the Senate Committee on Commerce on June 10, 1974, Harding referred to Stanford Research Institute figures showing that, because of density differences, one pound of polyethylene can replace between 2 and 5 pounds of metal or 8 and 10 pounds of glass in typical end uses.

"Less energy is needed in processing plastics on a volumetric basis and less energy is required for distribution. On a kilowatt-hours basis, it takes more energy to produce one pound of aluminum, copper or steel than an equivalent amount of high density polyethylene or polystyrene," he explained.

The 27 billion pounds of plastics produced in 1973 amounted to only 1.3 percent of U.S. petroleum consumption. Plastics are a part of petrochemicals, and all petrochemicals used about 5 percent of the nation's petroleum and gas supply. Petrochemicals cover a very broad spectrum of products from man-made fibers, chemicals and other synthetics, to fertilizers and a multitude of materials which spin off through the entire industrial world.

The Shah of Iran has remarked that oil is too valuable to burn, and that it ought to be reserved for petrochemicals.

Stanford Research Institute bears this out: According to its figures, gasoline is worth about 2 cents per pound as motor fuel; the hydrocarbons in it are worth 3 to 5.5 cents per pound if converted to ethylene. If the ethylene is then converted to polyethylene, the same hydrocarbons are worth 11 to 16 cents per pound, and finally, if the polyethylene is made into a cross-linked polyethylene for use in wire and cable insulation, the hydrocarbons are worth $2 a pound.

This is true through all the plastics and petrochemical industry, which uses these synthetic building blocks to produce even more valuable products.

James E. Guillet, professor of chemistry at the University of Toronto in Canada, says "since the energy cost of plastics is lower than that of competitive materials — and the one thing that seems to be certain about the future is that the cost of energy will go up considerably — it would seem likely that plastics will continue to retain a substantial advantage over competitive materials."

"Contrary, therefore, to popular opinion, far from reducing the production of plastics, the energy crisis should encourage a further expansion in the use of plastic materials for all purposes."

For another reason, too, plastics may become a replacement for many of our traditional metals: they're becoming scarce. In 1972 we imported 87 percent of the bauxite and alumina used to produce our aluminum, 92 percent of our cobalt, 93 percent of the platinum group, 95 percent of our manganese and all of our chromium and tin.

Is there any wonder, then, that scientists and consumers alike, are coming around to thinking that plastics are among the most useful materials of our time — and perhaps of all times?

How to Interpret Appliance Warranties

Practically every piece of consumer information dealing with "How to buy . . ." cautions the consumer to read and understand the warranty. That's easier to do now than it once was.

Until recent years, many warranties (which, incidentally, are the same as guarantees) were long, complex legal documents, nearly defying reading, let alone comprehension.

While long, complicated, legalistic warranties still can be found, most major manufacturers of consumer goods have simplified warranties so that buyers can ascertain quickly what is and is not covered in the warranty contract.

For example, the warranty on General Electric dryers has been reduced from a 600-word document to a 176-word statement.

When you read a warranty, remember that it not only outlines what is covered by the manufacturer, but also specifies exceptions to the coverage.

There are about 11 exceptions which may occur in some major appliance warranties. If you are aware of them, it may help you evaluate warranties when you are appliance shopping. Most commonly found are:

- Home use only—other uses excluded from coverage.
- Warranty registration card required or suggested.

—Valid only for original purchaser.

Other common exceptions could be called the "who pays for what" clauses. Read them carefully, for they often exclude from warranty coverage:

—Transportation and shipping costs and/or serviceman's travel fees.

—Consequential damages, such as a floor damaged by a flooding washer.

—Service labor—the warranty may be limited to parts only or to specific parts.

Other restrictions might include:

—Disclaimer of implied—and all other—warranties.

—Filters, plastic or glass parts not covered (light bulbs).

—Warranty void if product serviced by unauthorized servicer.

—Opinion of the seller determines whether a part is defective.

—Void if serial plate defaced.

Remember that the warranty is part of the appliance when you buy it, so don't hesitate to collect on it when you are justified in doing so. Remember, too, that verbal agreements or promises from the dealer are subject to misinterpretation and misunderstanding. If the dealer makes a promise that goes beyond the manufacturer's warranty, get it in writing.

These RCA XL-100 Super Value portables feature RCA's advanced AccuLine picture tube system!

Here's XL-100 and more! These XL-100 sets have RCA's advanced AccuLine precision in-line black matrix picture tube system for brilliant, sharply detailed pictures and natural, warm, pleasing flesh tones. The AccuLine picture tube system is custom-designed for portable color TV. RCA's design eliminates 12 dynamic convergence service adjustments which dot-screen portable TVs can require. Plus, RCA's AccuLine picture tube system eliminates 61 components required in RCA's comparable conventional color portables! Other features include:

- XL-100, 100% solid state reliability. No chassis tubes to burn out.
- Energy saving! Because they're solid state, these models use 27.5 percent less energy than comparable RCA sets with tubes.
- Laboratory tested! Chassis design has been rigorously tested for the equivalent of over 5 years average home use, to help assure reliable performance.
- AccuMatic IV pushbutton color control! Just a touch of a button automatically brings color, tint, brightness and contrast within a normal viewing range. (On models ET355 and ET396.)
