After a week of dreary weather, I think I'm ready to see some sunshine. When the days are this hot and humid nobody seems to have much energy and this is just the time of year when so many things need to be done!

I want to say "Welcome home!" to the 19 boys from the Emmitsburg Boy Scouts who just returned from New Mexico. I'm very proud of them and I know you are too. They had to put a lot of hard work into this project, especially since they were the largest group in the Francis Scott Key District to travel to the ranch. On the eleven-day trip they hiked about 53 miles—eating K rations! I know I would never have made it.

There are many fund-raising projects in full-swing now for the Bobby Valentine medical fund. Bobby is a resident of Thurmont and the father of two children, who was critically injured when a tree fell on him. The family needs help to pay the enormous medical bills. One way to help is to try out the Kiwanis Club Driving Range in Thurmont when they have their Bobby Valentine Benefit Days on July 26 and 27.

I'm sure you know how high the cost of intensive medical care is today, and I'm also sure that anything you can contribute will be greatly appreciated.

If you see anyone studying the outside of your house and making notes, don't be alarmed. It will be a member of the local historical society noting the important features and characteristics of your home's architecture. The society is helping the Maryland Trust and the Frederick Land Marks Foundation to complete their files.

If you know any old tales or folklore about your own property or about any other buildings in the community, please make it a point to tell them to the surveyors.

In years to come you'll be glad that this part of our heritage has been preserved.

Just a quick reminder — Don't forget the Citizen's Committee meeting, Thursday, August 14, at 7:30.

There certainly is a lot going on in baseball and softball in the next few weeks. The Little League All-Star game will be played Monday night at 6:00. Their opponent will be Skylesville. Wish them luck and come see the game if you can.

Next weekend, the 26th and 27th, will be the slow-pitch softball tournament, sponsored by the Emmitsburg Slowpitch Softball League. That will be two full days of softball games. Take your pick or see all of them, it sounds like a lot of fun.

I hear that the town is hiring a third policeman to supplement the police force but I haven't heard any details. I suppose it's a good idea if we can afford it. I'll let you know what the arrangements are going to be as soon as I find out.

Saturday is the big day for the pool. I hope we have good weather for the dedication ceremony and for all you swimmers after that. I saw the workers start filling it up with water in Tuesday. It certainly looks inviting. See you there!

By the way, do you have your membership yet? Gene Myers is the man to see if you don't.

ELLC MEETING

The Governing Board of the Emmitsburg Lifelong Learning Council will hold its regular quarterly meeting on Thursday, July 24, at 7:30 p.m., in the faculty room at Seton Center. The members of the Publicity and Curriculum Committees are urged to attend this meeting.

Softball League Slates Tourney

On July 26 and 27 the Emmitsburg Slowpitch Softball League will sponsor a double elimination tournament with twelve area teams participating.

This is the first annual tournament to be held in Emmitsburg. The proceeds from the two days' games will go to the League which has plans for supplying Emmitsburg's new ball field with benches, equipment, and other necessary items.

Participating in the tournament will be: Myers Radio & TV, Knights of Columbus and Country Cousins of Emmitsburg; Blue Mountain from Thurmont; Libertytown Fire Co.; Carroll Manor Fire Co.; Rocky Ridge Fire Co.; Middletown Ford; Mack Truck and Air Freight, both from Hagerstown, and Mason Dixon of Gettysburg. One more team is needed to complete the roster.

The tournament will consist of about 23 games, the winner to be presented with a trophy and declared champion.

In the latter part of September, the Mason-Dixon Tournament of Champions will be held in Emmitsburg. Any team from Maryland or Pennsylvania that was a winner of its division and its league, is eligible for entry.

Methodist Church To Show Film

"Time To Run," a film that is a mixture of problems and solutions, will be shown at Trinity United Methodist Church, 313 West Main Street, Emmitsburg, on July 27, at 8:00 p.m.

Filmed on location in the Southern California area, "Time To Run" deals with a family that has failed in the process of communication with each other. The film allows the viewer to become involved on any one or more of three different levels, entertainment, emotional, and religious.

It's not easy to run away.
It's even harder to come back.

Warren Cole, because of over-involvement with his work, ignores the opinions of his wife, Fran, and his son, Jeff. In an attempt to find freedom from the ever-growing hostilities, Jeff takes to the road, hoping to discover some meaning in his confused life. Amid his confusion, Jeff remembers the spiritual dimension of his girl friend, Michelle, that she tried to share with him. Finally, Jeff finds himself at a Jesus people gathering with Michelle, where he glimpses the possibility of a new lifestyle based on love and understanding.

"Time To Run" is a film that can help strengthen love relationships between people. It is a film that was made for families to attend — together. The public is cordially invited to the Sunday evening showing. An offering will be taken to benefit the Billy Graham Evangelistic outreach which was responsible for making this film.

Mrs. Anne Felix Thompson of Columbia, Md., spent approximately two weeks visiting in Emmitsburg with Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Baker, Mrs. Virginia Sanders, and Miss Elizabeth Neck. While here, she saw and spent time with many of her old friends and neighbors.

Lions Club Holds Regular Meeting

The regular meeting of the Emmitsburg Lions Club was held recently. The meeting commenced with dinner at the Palms Restaurant, followed by a business meeting at the Fire Hall.

The minutes of the last meeting and treasurer's report were read and approved.

A discussion followed as to how the club could raise money for its various purposes. Clarence Peiper indicated that light bulbs could be obtained from the Noland Company, but that it would be necessary to buy bulbs in large quantities. He also indicated that light bulbs may be purchased from Lions International. It was decided that the club would not sell bulbs at this time to raise money.

Norman Flax then proposed that the club conduct a 50-50 raffle in order to raise money. After discussion, Clarence Peiper moved and Joseph Welty seconded the motion that the Lions Club conduct a 50-50 raffle. The motion passed unanimously.

Jack Humerick then initiated a discussion concerning the possibility of holding a Chess Tournament on a district wide level for the Lions Clubs of this district. It was his belief that interest could be aroused and that money could be made. It was decided that Mr. Humerick should further investigate the possibilities in this area.

Clarence Peiper then indicated that he thought that the idea of a Farmer's Market would be a good idea for the Town of Emmitsburg and it was passed that Mr. Peiper should investigate the possibilities of a Farmer's Market to be held on Town property.

President Jack Humerick informed the club that several honors had been bestowed upon the club. He noted that a 25 year pin was being presented to Lion Ralph McDonnell, and that a 45 year pin was being presented to Francis S. K. Matthews. He also noted that the Emmitsburg Lions Club has received a 45 year patch, said patch to be attached to the Club Banner.

The following donations were discussed and approved: $25 to the Emmitsburg Community Chorus; $10 to the Frederick County Mental Health Assn.; $10 to the Dynamics; and a donation to the Emmitsburg Senior League.

Bob Schumann was present as guest for the evening. He presented to Clarence Peiper the 100% Secretary Award which is awarded to Mr. Peiper in recognition of his fine job as past secretary of the Emmitsburg Club. Mr. Schumann reported that the activities for the annual meeting of the Lions Club at Atlantic City were well attended and that Mr. Paul Shaffer was elected District Governor.

In further business, the subject of Emmitsburg's need for an additional physician was discussed. As a result, it was decided that Clarence Peiper would talk to Dr. Morningstar, and Jack Humerick would talk to Dr. Cadle about the possibilities and procedures which might be used to get a new physician to settle in Emmitsburg.

Historical Society Survey Scheduled

During the next three weeks, a survey will be made of the election district of Emmitsburg. The Maryland Trust and the Frederick Land Marks Foundation, in an effort to complete their files, have asked members of the local Historical Society to help them gain information about the town of Emmitsburg.

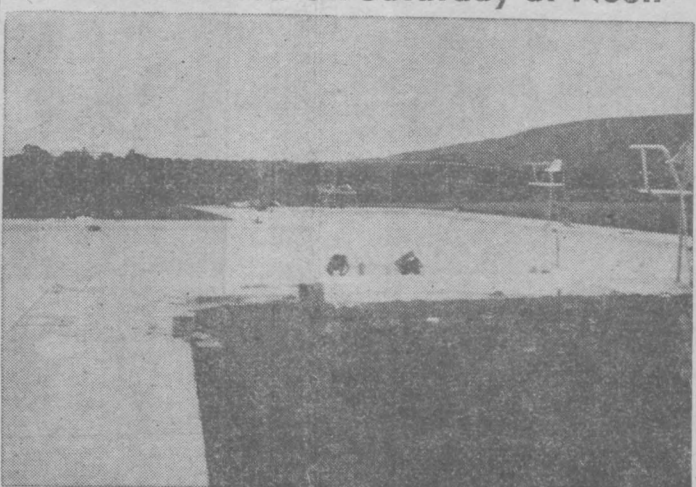

The outlying areas have already been surveyed and now required are descriptions of the buildings in Emmitsburg proper. The surveyors will note a description of the exterior of the buildings and it is hoped that owners will supply dates of buildings where possible or any particularly interesting stories or information.

Little League Concession Stand Open

A concession stand on the Little League field was recently completed, thanks to the generosity of local contributors.

On behalf of the Emmitsburg Little League, I would like to take this opportunity to sincerely thank all who have made monetary, labor or material donations to our league this prosperous year. Your contributions are reflected in our new concession stand and restroom facility which greatly enhances our Little League field. We sincerely appreciate your total support this season and we can assure you that you have added great enjoyment to the boys and girls who play Little League baseball.

Thurmont Kiwanis Open Golf Range

Frederick County Commissioner Donald Lewis (right) tries out the Kiwanis Club Golf Range in Thurmont. Glen Rickard (left), a club member, is passing out the necessary equipment.

The Kiwanis Club of Thurmont has opened a Golf Driving Range in the community and the members want to make a special point to invite all Emmitsburg area residents.

Everything needed to enjoy the sport is provided at a nominal cost of $1.00 per bucket. Every Wednesday is Ball 'N' Barrel Night. Players who land their ball in barrels placed on the driving range will receive gifts and prizes sponsored by area businessmen. All the proceeds from the new driving range will be used for community projects designed to better serve the needs of area residents.

The weekend of July 26 and 27 is Bobby Valentine Weekend. The members of the Thurmont Kiwanis Club ask you to join them in raising money to help support the Bobby Valentine Medical Fund. Proceeds from the Kiwanis Driving Range for both days will be donated to the fund.

Seton Canonization Details Announced ... In Emmitsburg: ... At The Vatican:

The Seton Shrine at Emmitsburg is priming for the influx of visitors expected on September 14, the day Elizabeth Ann Seton will be canonized at Rome.

A "first" for a native of the United States, the canonization has no precedent to serve as a guideline for the scope of public interest in the event, in particular the number of visitors that might be expected at the Emmitsburg Shrine that day to celebrate the event. Estimates range from a conservative low of 8,000, four times the population of the small town located in northern Frederick County, Md., to a speculative high of 50,000, the number of visitors to the New York Shrine of Italian-born Mother Cabrini the day of her canonization.

To accommodate visitors who wish to attend Mass at the Shrine of St. Elizabeth Ann on September 14, six Eucharistic liturgies in honor of the canonization are scheduled. Principal celebrants are as follows: 9 a.m., Bishop Joseph H. Hodges, diocese of Wheeling - Charleston; 11 a.m., Bishop Michael J. Begley, diocese of Charlotte, N.C.; 1 p.m., Bishop Walter F. Sullivan, diocese of Richmond, Va.; 3 p.m., Bishop Ernest Unterkoefler, diocese of Charleston, S.C.; 5 p.m., Bishop F. Joseph Gossman, diocese of Raleigh, N.C.; 7 p.m., Bishop T. Austin Murphy, archdiocese of Baltimore.

Priests wishing to concelebrate are asked to write the Planning Committee, St. Joseph's Provincial House, Emmitsburg, Md. 21727, and indicate the time of the mass of their choice.

The Shrine is open to the public, and admission tickets are not required to the masses.

The Seton Shrine in the chapel of St. Joseph's Provincial House is being remodeled to provide added protection for the remains of Mother Seton, which are preserved in a bronze casket beneath the shrine altar. The casket reliquary is being enclosed in marble which will be inscribed with the name of the new saint, the dates of her birth and death, and the three historical dates associated with the progress of her cause toward sainthood: the date she was named Venerable, the date she was beatified, and the date of her canonization, September 14, 1975.

Extensive renovations are being made on the grounds for the convenience of visitors. Signs are being erected for self-guided tours of the sites Elizabeth Seton inhabited the 12 last years of her life. Ramps replacing stairways to several buildings are being constructed to permit easy access for visitors in wheelchairs.

Other innovations include the new Shrine Center to greet visitors and to orient them to the shrine sites with a narrated slide presentation, a gift shop, and expanded rest room facilities. The Cheverus Room in the White House is being renovated as a museum featuring Seton memorabilia.

On a year-round basis, the Shrine Center has no plans for a food concession, however, on Sunday, the fourteenth, light refreshments will be sold in the Student Center.

A Planning Committee, chaired by Sister Jerome Nossell, D.C., counselor for the Emmitsburg Province, is in charge of arrangements for September 14th. Heading various subcommittees are: Sister Margaret James Hussey, arrangements; Sister Camilla Harant, chapel; Sister Mary Augusta Von Drehe and Sister Marian Hagner, liturgy; Sister Ethelreda Flannagan, traffic, parking, and security; Sister Kathleen Hemelt, reception; Sister Anne William Riddle and Sister Margaret Hickey, Shrine Center and guides; Sister DeSales Wisniewski, refreshments; Sister Helen Marie Kling, commemorative program; Sister Carroll Ely and Sister Clare Lindner, information center; Mrs. Valli Ryan, publicity.

TOPS Club News
TOPS Club #MD303, Emmitsburg, reports that, in the four months since the club was formed, its members have lost 507 pounds. If you would like to join, come out to Seton Center any Tuesday night at 7:30 p.m.

Reverend Sylvester Taggart, C.M., vice postulator for the Cause of Mother Elizabeth Ann Seton, the first American-born to be canonized a saint in the Roman Catholic Church, in a special interview held at St. Joseph's Provincial House, Emmitsburg, explains the details concerning the canonization plans for September 14, 1975 during which time thousands of visitors will visit the Vatican during this Holy Year.

The Vatican arrangements are being made by Reverend Luci oPapalorcia, C.M., postulator general and his American assistant, Reverend William W. Sheldon, C.M.

Reflecting the Church's new Declaration of Simplicity, the ceremony planned is to be less resplendent than past occasions of this magnitude. There will not be any band or trumpets at the Consecration of the Mass, no fans nor plumes over the Papal chair, nor any banners as in the past. A painting, measuring 18 by 13 feet, of Mother Seton, painted by the Italian artist Ciotti, will be displayed over the Loggia outside the Basilica.

One of the major innovations will be the participation of the Emmitsburg Community Chorus. Comprised of about 66 persons (about 75% non-Catholics), the Chorus was formed eight years ago by Emmitsburg residents who meet weekly simply for the joy of singing. It has since expanded to include others from surrounding towns and cities. Sister Jane Marie Perrot, D.C., is the director. In order to sing at this event, a taped audition was approved by the Vatican.

The Emmitsburg Chorus will supplement the famous Sistine Choir, and will sing about 25 to 35 minutes prior to the arrival of Pope Paul, which is scheduled between 9 and 9:30 a.m. (Sunday, 3 a.m. EDT), and during Communion. When the Pope prepares to leave after the Mass, while seated in the chair in which he is transported, "he will turn, fix his gaze at the choir to acknowledge and honor them," say Father Taggart.

The procession will start from the rear of the Basilica and will consist of the Pope, household (about 50 prelates), a few Swiss Guards and the Holy Father. Members of the Diplomatic Corps will have been seated individually as they entered by layman ushers.

After the "Supplicia" and the decree have been read and the saint extolled, the Holy Father will be asked to accept and canonize the "Beata." "At this point," explains Father Taggart, "the Holy Father will stand and give the solemn Formula of Infallibility, speaking with the authority of Christ, St. Peter and the Apostles, and proclaim Mother Seton to be "... a citizens of Heaven and worthy of veneration by the Universal Church."

The Operatory procession will have eight persons bringing symbolic gifts to the altar. These gifts will include two candles, two bundles of flowers, two small wine casks with the crests of the Seton and Bayley families on each, and two birds. Six persons in the procession will probably be the high ranking Mother Generals of the Federation of Daughters of Elizabeth Ann Seton. The remaining two will be Mrs. Anne Hoe (pronounced Ho) and Carl Kalin (a Lutheran convert to the Church), both of whom were recipients of Mother Seton's miracles. Both of them will be presented to the Holy Father.

The distribution of Communion is another innovation from past canonization ceremonies. To accommodate the numbers expected, there will be 100 priests to distribute the Sacrament.

Immediately following the canonization ceremony, there will be a brief Papal audience at the rear of the Basilica or in one of the smaller side rooms. This is a departure from plans for a midday general audience with the Pope on Monday in the Audience Hall, which cannot accommodate the expected numbers of people.

Father Taggart also stated that a maximum of six prelates will concelebrate the Mass with the Holy Father; however, their names will not be known until a few weeks before the ceremony.

The Case Of National Health Insurance

Congress is considering about a half-dozen bills to establish what amounts to Socialized Medicine. These bills vary in the degree to which the National Health Plan of Great Britain would be copied, but none of them gets to the heart of America's problem of health care. Because of rising costs of health care, inflation, unemployment & the fact that 1976 is an election year, the probabilities that some form of National Health Insurance will be passed are great.

The Real Problem

The passage of any of the bills at the present time would result in total chaos in the medical health care field. The real problem is that America has only one doctor for every approximately 15,000 people, within any area totally without a single doctor. The real problem is that in 1910 America had 131 medical schools, in 1974 had only 114. The real problem is that while 44,000 pre-med students were enrolled in college last year, there were only 12,000 openings for first year medical students. The real problem is that demand for medical services has outstripped supply in this country to the point where now one third of the entire U. S. pool of physicians is made up of foreign medical graduates and up to 80 per cent of all the doctors in state mental institutions. The real problem is that medical costs have steadily risen since the beginning of World War II and that Medicare and Medicaid were passed without the planning necessary to avoid the chaos to which each has contributed greatly. Passage of a federal law at the present time which would give a card to every American which says he or she is entitled to total medical care at any hospital would not deliver that care. . . it would produce total chaos and actually reduce the probability of getting adequate treatment.

Facts Convince Even The Advocates

These facts, derived from testimony before the various Sub-committees studying the various bills and the statistics of the American Medical Association, are beginning to convince even the most ardent advocates of National Health Insurance Bills that it would be disastrous to pass such legislation at the present time. U. S. Senator Hubert Humphrey told Challenge Magazine, in the March-April, 1975 issue: "I happen to be one who believes that we ought to have a system of national health insurance. That kind of system is debatable. But if today everyone of us had a card that said he or she could enter any hospital, that he or she could go to any doctor and the expenses—or at least a large proportion of them—would be covered, the whole health care profession in this country would be in utter chaos. We are not ready. We've got to plan out-patient clinics; we've got to plan neighborhood clinics; we've got to plan radiological treatment centers. We've got to plan for the numbers of nurses, doctors, and paramedics needed. Health care is more than just an insurance policy out in the middle of the Sahara Desert to cover all your medical expenses, but if you've got no doctor, no hospital, what good is the policy?" (Unquote)

The Best Solution

The problem of adequate medical care, supplied at a reasonable cost will not be solved by a federal bureaucracy. Medicare and Medicaid have proven this premise. An adequate supply of doctors, nurses and hospitals will certainly help in that direction. As one witness before the House Sub-committee studying the problem stated: "It is entirely possible that, if the supply of doctors can be brought into more reasonable balance with the effective demand, that competition alone under the present system will more than satisfy all reasonable expectation of the public and that bureaucracy can be kept to a minimum."*

The free-enterprise system of supply and demand offers the best hope for a long-range solution and makes the best case against the passage of a national health insurance law at the present time.

Mathias Comments On Soviet Trip

By Sen. Charles McC. Mathias Jr.
Over the July 4 Congressional recess, I was one of 14 Senators in the official United States delegation to a parliamentary conference in the Soviet Union. We spent many hours in official discussions in Moscow, including one lengthy session with Secretary General Brezhnev.

We also had an opportunity to walk around Moscow, unaccompanied, and to visit with ordinary Soviet citizens in their homes, their stores, their factories.

We met with a group of dissident Soviet Jews who want to leave Russia and go to Israel, and we discussed their plight with government officials. We were invited to leave individual names of particular cases with Soviet officials with the promise that they would be investigated.

One of the things that impressed me about Russia was the constant reminder of the great losses that country suffered during World War II. Twenty million people were killed in that conflict. We visited the great cemetery outside Leningrad, which contains unmarked graves for 650,000 Russians who were missing in action. The terrible reminder of the cost of war is constantly with the Russian people.

I also was impressed by the weakness of the Soviet economy. There is a great shortage of consumer goods, and the agriculture is not strong enough to assure a stable food supply at all times.

Of course, this makes it all the more foolish to engage in an arms race that is costly both to the Soviet Union and the United States. It obviously is crippling the ability of Soviet citizens to raise their standard of living, because they are spending as much or more on arms as the United States, but their gross national product is only half that of the United States.

What can we do about this situation?

It seems to me that improved communication between the two countries is necessary—the simple exchange of ideas and hopes and aspirations—because I believe there, like people here, want to avoid war.

I think we should declare a kind of verbal detente—stop shouting at each other, stop rattling the sabre in speeches. The time is over for that kind of talk.

While we work at improving our relations through better communication, we must, of course, continue to be vigilant and keep our strength up, so that, hopefully, we can emerge into an era of peace.

Bronze Medal And Stamps Honor...

Paul Revere And The Minuteman

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Two hundred years ago Paul Revere made his famous ride, Minutemen fired "The shot heard countryside on the night of April 18, 1775, warning Minutemen that a British force had set out from Boston to find and seize arms and ammunition stored by the Americans in anticipation of conflict with their mother country. The other side of the medal remembers the first engagement of the Revolution, a skirmish on the village green at Lexington, Mass. Today, a statue of a Minuteman, which is reproduced on the medal, marks the spot where the first Amer-tional grassroots observance," John Warner, Administrator of the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration (ARBA), said recently. The ARBA is using the proceeds from the sale of the Congressionally approved medals and the licensing of Bicentennial commemorative items in accordance with the public law "to help fund the many state and local Bicentennial efforts in all parts of the country."

The presentation envelope in Buff and Blue, the color of George Washington's uniform, bearing the stamps and containing the medal will be postmarked Washington, D.C., July 4, 1975. It is prized by collectors, and offers a fine opportunity for any American who wants to remember his country's beginnings to have an attractive memento of those stirring times.

icans died in the war that eventually set the colonies free.

The commemorative stamps on this year's first day cover, which will be postmarked July 4, 1975 from Washington D.C., will commemorate the founding of the four armed forces that helped win the Revolution and which still exist. Although there is no longer a militia as such, the concept of the citizen-soldiers ready to defend their country lives on in today's National Guard. The stamps show a man from each of the Armed Forces, in the colorful uniforms of the period. "The Bicentennial is a na-round the world", and the Army, Navy and Marine Corps were founded.

To mark these events, the official 1975 Bicentennial commemorative stamp and medal set will be available to the public during the months of July and August, 1975.

The fourth in a series of Philatelic-Numismatic Combination packages, called PNC, is offered by the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration (ARBA), in cooperation with the United States Mint and the United States Postal Service.

While everyone is not a stamp or medal collector, the ARBA points out that the PNC is an official commemorative of the Bicentennial itself and may well be a keepsake desired by all citizens living during this unique moment in history.

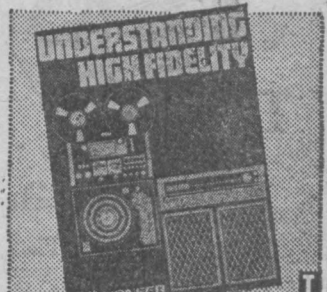

This year's Bicentennial medal honors Paul Revere, patriot courier, who galloped through the Massachusetts

BUSINESS AND THE STOCK MARKET

Labor Rank And File Restless

By Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass., July 17, 1975—Union leaders and their memberships are pretty well agreed that unemployment will be extremely serious for a long time to come, even though a number of other business barometers have shown at least tentative signs of revival. Even the drop in the Labor Department's unemployment rate from 9.2 in May to 8.6 in June has brought unionists no true sense of encouragement, since the Bureau of Labor Statistics earlier warned that the actual June rate might well be higher than that published. It claimed that this would be due to a deficiency in the seasonal-adjustment procedures. Not until the July statistics appear in August will it be known whether or not there has been any definite betterment in the jobless picture.

Hence, labor's viewpoint on the unemployment situation remains pessimistic, an attitude that is not eased by AFL-CIO President George Meany's frequent ticking off of "the cold facts" which is "admittedly the most critical jobless crisis since the depression of the 1930s. The total of long-term unemployed (jobless 15 weeks or more) has risen by 250,000 in the latest month of record to reach 2.9 million. In the April-June term, those too disheartened to seek work reached an all-time peak of 1.2 million. Over the past year June-to-June the number of unemployed jumped 65%. More Government Relief Wanted

Union members are deeply concerned over the fact that the government is not doing far more to create emergency jobs than it has so far. Some labor economists are predicting that even after the recession has come out of the country there may still be more than 2 million men and women earless for employment who will not be able to find permanent positions. They stress how long it takes to reduce the unemployed part of the labor force after a serious economic setback. A spokesman for the United Electrical Workers, a union suffering from heavy layoffs, is telling his people that as many as 25% who have lost their jobs may not get back the positions they originally had, and many may not be reinstated at all.

Laborites are prodding the government to create several hundred thousand more openings, and to bring up to date the federal-state compensation system for the unemployed. Mr. Meany insists that if the government does not take immediate action to cut back jobless totals there could be a real explosion of unrest among the unemployed. As for the call for an overhaul of the 40-year-old jobless compensation system, Labor Secretary John T. Dunlop does not deny the validity of the request but has advised Congress not to undertake such an expansive project at a time when so many are out of work and the direction of the unemployment rate is still so controverial.

Problems For Employers

Management does not want to let people go since it is in the long run a self-defeating move, but the exigencies of recession often require it. Efficiency and productivity must be increased if profits are to be maintained. The lackadaisical production and sales methods permitted to develop during a lush upward phase of an economic cycle must be tightened and streamlined. Labor sees this as a threat to job security, but employers have no alternative.

There has been considerable recession-bred installation of automated equipment, combining of related jobs, elimination of hiring, reduction of overtime, and other forms of cost-saving retrenchment. This has taken place over the past year or so at an increasing pace, and it will persist until the bottoming out gives way to a clearly defined business recovery. So, for some time workers will continue to be uneasy, even if the government comes through with further job-making plans. But, once we head firmly upward again, there will be more hope in the labor camp and more openings at all levels.

Natural Gas Pipeline Safety Act Amendments of 1975 amends previous bills and deals with Natural Gas Safety problems such as those explosions which rocked Annandale, Virginia and Columbia and Bowie, Maryland, in recent years.

The bill would make several changes in the present act to promote pipeline safety. Specific priority is given for research, development and design of safer pipeline facilities. The bill would also mandate that required utility plans include provisions for emergencies and procedures in response to gas leaks and direct the Secretary of Transportation to evaluate the performance of the respective states in the safety area. The amendment would also authorize a $30.6 million program to include full federal funding for a safety engineer and inspectors in each state, and establish state-wide utility coordinating councils.

"Gas distribution systems are plagued with leaks," says

Beall, "an estimated 900,000 such leaks in 1973, or an average of approximately one leak per mile throughout the nation. This is an unacceptable level and we cannot stand idly by, waiting for the next explosion before taking action."

The "Natural Gas Pipeline Safety Act Amendments of 1975" is a follow-up of the growing and serious problem of natural gas explosions in residential areas. Senator Beall originally introduced natural gas pipeline safety legislation in 1973. In 1974, Beall included pipeline safety in a bill which he introduced in 1974 to strengthen the National Transportation Safety Board.

"Fortunately," says Beall, "few gas leaks produce the spectacular blasts that grab headlines, such as those in Annandale, Virginia and Bowie, Maryland in the past few years. However, while public concern is high in the wake of such disasters, such concern recedes with the passing of time until another disaster occurs. We can't allow this to happen. We must recognize the potential dangers inherent in shipping natural gas and correct them before any problems occur. There is no room for complacency on this subject when the potential for catastrophe looms so large."

New "Junior Jumbo" Rolls Out

The first Boeing 747SP (Special Performance) airliner (top) was recently rolled out from the 747 Division factory and lined up beside the original 747 which was completed in 1968 and is now a test airplane. The new "Junior Jumbo" is 47 feet shorter than the standard 747s and carries about 100 passengers less. It is designed to fill the size gap between 707s and standard 747s, providing spacious wide-body service on routes which do not require capacity as great as that of the standard 747 but more than the 707. The new airliner, one of 13 ordered by four airlines, is now being prepared for its first flight. It will be one of three 747SPs employed in the flight test program leading to U.S. Federal Aviation Administration certification of the new airplane for commercial service, which will begin early next year.

Help for the elderly: As of July 1, Social Security beneficiaries received an 8 per cent cost-of-living increase in their monthly benefit checks. For the average retired couple, the benefit would increase to $341. from $314. . . . Free booklets available from your Sixth District Washington office include a Directory of Maryland Campgrounds, the Resource Book for Drug Abuse Education, and a pamphlet by the Maryland Higher Education Loan Corporation entitled "Low-cost Loans for Education" A limited supply of Veterans Benefits Calculators are also available to interested citizens.

On Capitol Hill: An emergency bill signed into law June 30 has extended through 1975 the temporary program giving jobless workers up to 65 weeks of unemployment benefits In committee: The Commerce Committee on which I serve has begun hearings on legislation to authorize funds for public service jobs to upgrade the nation's railroads

Emergency note: The Senate Public Works Committee is currently considering a bill which would require the eventual substitution of coal for other fossil fuels now used in electric powerplants.

Looking ahead: I will oppose the land use bill because community growth requirements and questions on how an owner can use his land are sensitive and complex matters that are best settled at the state and local level . . . there is also the matter of a half billion dollar price tag for the proposal in a time of increasing budget deficits and inflationary pressures Want to know how much money is credited to your Social Security account? Just fill out the form entitled "Request for Statement of Earnings" which is available from your local Social Security office.

YOUR VETERINARIAN SPEAKS

Altering Your Pet
Should you have your pet cat or dog neutered?

Unless you specifically plan to breed the animal, the answer is yes, according to the Maryland Veterinary Medical Association.

There are several reasons. You will be helping to solve the problem of pet overpopulation. You will, in some cases, lessen the possibility of medical problems as the animal grows older. And you will have a more tractable, friendlier pet.

It is technically possible to alter a dog or cat when it is only a few weeks old, but veterinarians do not recommend doing the surgery so soon.

It is not wise to put a very young animal under general anesthesia as it is not yet strong enough to stand the disruption to its system well. Also, an animal needs hormones to grow; long bone growth and general conformation can be affected by the early loss of hormones, and your pet may not grow up to look the way you expected it to.

Whether a female cat or dog should be spayed before or after it has come into heat is a question that is debated even by veterinarians.

You will have to make an individual decision, in consultation with a veterinarian whose opinion you respect. It is not true, by the way, that the animal should have a litter before it is spayed.

Spaying has a great medical advantage in that it eliminates the possibility of an infected uterus, which can be very serious in an older dog or cat. Removing the organ when the animal is old and feeble is risky. It is much better for removal to take place while your pet is young and strong.

Male dogs and cats should not be castrated until they are at least nine months old. Castrating a very young cat increases its chances of developing a urinary blockage if the cat develops cystitis, a bladder disease.

Castrating a dog or cat tends to lessen its aggressive instincts, particularly towards other animals. You will also find that your altered pet does not wander far from home, and is friendlier and more interested in human companionship.

In general, neutering slows down all of an animal's instincts. Your pet will not eat more than it normally would, but it will be less interested in exercising, so there is a real chance that it will gain too much weight. You should be careful to see that your pet gets the proper amount of exercise, and that its intake of food is limited to an amount that will maintain its weight at a healthy level.

Rx For Garden Ailments

WORMING OUT WORMS

When it comes to prescribing for the ailing, the home gardener is very lucky. He needs to use only one effective broad spectrum insecticide to rid his garden or lawn of the bugs that are attacking it.

If you notice irregular dying or dead areas in your vegetable garden, with roots half eaten away, the cause may be wireworms, which gnaw away at roots. Wireworms are slender, shiny, hard-shelled worms often found in the root zone of a garden. They are usually rust-colored and 1/2 inch to 1 inch long. These larvae can spend up to six years in the soil.

Cutworms are another destructive insect which might be causing damage to your vegetables. Cutworms come out at night to chew off plant stems and newly set seedlings at ground level, especially on vegetables and flowers. They are smooth, fat, dull-gray, brown or black caterpillars. During the day they stay curled up in the soil, or hide under trash. The adults are somber-colored moths and are readily attracted to lights at night.

If you have wireworms or cutworms, it's smart to destroy them with an effective, all-purpose insecticide like Ciba-Geigy's Spectracide® either in a liquid application or the Garden Insect Dust. Read the label for specific instructions. Identify your insects and apply the proper cure.
